TOURNAMENT DAY.

On Monday, Nov. 11th, several athletic events combined to make a spirited Tournament Day. A handicap golf tournament, the Tennis Tournament, Field Hockey and the Basket-ball game between Seniors and Freshmen made the afternoon exceedingly lively. The schedule of events was as follows: 1 P.M., Golf Handicap Cup Tournament; 2 P.M., Tennis; 3:15, English Field Hockey; 4:15, Basket-ball.

Golf.

About ten days ago the following notice appeared on the athletic bulletin-board: "A cup has been offered for the best woman player in a handicap tournament to be played on Monday afternoon, November 11th. Morning. The best twelve women with scores ranging from fifty to a hundred. The first players were started promptly at one o'clock and the monster team was decided by five. The cup, which had been exhibited for two days before the tournament, near the athletic bulletin-board, was much admired.

Golf Scores and Entries. Handicap, Gross Score, Net Score.

Miss Edwards, 15 122 104
" Foote, 22 146 124
" McClure, 18 118 100
" McDonald, 18 129 111
" Snyder, 22 110 88
" Walton, 44 154 90
" Wells, 8 135 90
" Orvis, 90 165 108
" Ward, 31 125 94
" Goodale, 42 139 88
" Colton, 62 121 80

The cup was won by Miss Elizabeth Colman, 1904.

Tennis.

The finals in tennis resulted in a victory for the Sophomores. The preliminaries, which took place last week, had resulted in the following class champions: senior, Anna B. Vaili; junior, Mrs. H. Bruce; Sophomore, Lila Kitchen; Freshman, H. A. Tufts. The Sophomore Championship however, was unsatisfactorily decided, as it went to Miss Kitchen by default. The one set which was played between Miss Kitchen and Miss Marvin resulted in favor of Miss Kitchen. The remaining two sets were not played on account of the illness of Miss Marvin.

In the preliminaries the playing most worthy of mention was the contest between Miss Diel and Miss Marvin. The scores for the three sets were 9-7, 6-3, 8-6.

English Field Hockey.

The exhibition game in English Field Hockey, 1904 and 1905, was the novelty of the day, and was watched with interest and enthusiasm by an appreciative audience. The game was played by four typical teams, (both chosen last Saturday) were Elizabeth Hardman of the Sophomores and Florence Bement of the Freshmen.

The result was a tie, the scores for the two halves being respectively 2-2 and 1-1, making the total score 3-3.

Basket-ball.

The game between the Freshmen and the Sophomores played a week ago Tuesday, resulted in a victory for the Freshmen by a score of 16-8. A week ago today occurred the game between the Seniors and Juniors, the former winning by a score of 6 to 4. Neither the Seniors nor the Freshmen secured over confident of winning the final.

The great event of Tournament Day was the Basket-ball game between 1902 and 1905, for both teams went in to win, and both seemed pretty evenly matched as to skill and prowess.

The tournament around the field were filled with an excited throng of girls. The girls in each class were grouped together and the impromptu cheers were given with all the force possible. As the Seniors ran onto the field 1902 cheered lustily, "Slack! Slack! Slack! It's up to you! To win the game for 1902."

"Wells! Wells! Our courage swells When we look at Julia Wells."

Meanwhile the Freshmen had come in view, when 1906 madly cheered for them. Then shouted 1906, "19-6 aren't you proud of your captain, Maria Dowd, Maria, Maria, Maria Dowd?"

At the end of the first half the score stood 5-4 in favor of the Freshmen. The Seniors took a brash in the second half, tying the score to 7-7. Time was expiring. The Freshmen scored one and 1905 cheered until they were hoarse. The Seniors scored one and 1902 made "Rome howl."

The Freshmen scored again and the game was over — score, 9-8 in favor of the Freshmen. Pandemonium reigned.

On Friday night, November 15, the Agora of Wellesley College will celebrate its birthday with a party in the new house.

After the Harvard-Yale game on Saturday, November 23, a Thanksgiving Dinner will be served at The Tea Room, at 75 cents a plate. If possible, order your tables reserved beforehand.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Miss Helen J. Sanborn of Somerville, a Wellesley alumna of the class of '84, has now become the librarian of the English Literature department, with a generous gift of books, including Longfellow's "Hans Brinker," "Tales of a Fourth-of-July Fireman," and the handsome sets of Goldsmith, Hazlitt and Montaigne.

This department is indebted to Miss Sanborn for past favors, also; especially for the present volume of "Green's History of the English People.

August 26, 1901, at Point Shirley, a young woman to Mrs. Ethel Stanwood Bolton, '91.
College News

At the trustees' meeting on Thursday, November 7th, President Hazard made her annual report. According to this report in full, several students in the college have increased greatly, being about one hundred more students this year than last. Among these are 23 students on advanced standing from 18 different colleges and universities: the University of Michigan, Western Reserve, Kansas, Nebraska University, and last, but many of the colleges in the middle West are represented. The English literature classes are larger this year than last. Dr. Josephine Prentis Peabody, whose volume of verse recently published has been most favorably noticed, gives a course of study in modern poetry. In the department of philosophy, very brilliant arrangements have been made to cover the time of Professor Calkin's leave. Dr. C. S. Mace, head of the English literature department, and Miss Swander, head of the English language and literature department, and Miss Sweeney in English, both of Yale University; Misses R. A. Walling and Miss Thompson, in mathematics and science; of the University of Pennsylvania, and Miss Margaret F. Ferguson of the botany department, from Cornell University, in the course of the year $15,000 have been paid in for permanent endowments, $125,000 of this amount being for professorships, the remainder for scholarships.—B. COLLEGE NOTES.

The official directory for 1901-1902, edited by the class of 1901, was put on sale last Friday morning. The book is most attractively bound in green paper and, besides the directory proper, contains, as usual, the personnel of the different societies, class officers, Glee and Mandolin Clubs, Barnswallows, permanent committees of the Wellesley Magazines and the censors, Student Government. The directory is one of the few appreciated blessings of College life.

Miss Suhrde, who at present is in Venice with her mother and Miss Florence Converse, writes to friends in College that she is steadily improving in health and expects to return to this country in May or June. Miss Converse returns this month to resume her literary work and her duties as the editorial staff of The Churchman.

At a meeting of the Christian Association it was passed that a committee of eight be appointed by the chair, to investigate means by which the present basis of membership may be made more effective. The following committee was appointed: Miss Case, Miss Caswell, Miss Knapp, Miss Columbus, and Miss Sanborn.

On the 11th in College Hall Chapel, Mr. C. Howard Walker gave an illustrated (stereotyped) Lecture on The Artistic Treatment of Municipal Architecture—its defects and possibilities. Mr. Walker discussed the treatment of Waterfronts, Public Parks, and the Buildings, the oriagin and Landscape Architecture. Mr. Walker, who is a Boston Architect and also a Lecturer in the Architectural Department of the Institute of Technology, has just returned from extended travel in Europe. The lecture was followed by a reception given by the Faculty Parlor, Madame Sarah Grand, the English writer, lectured last Saturday afternoon on Mere Man at Chickering Hall in Boston.

Mrs. Florence Kelley, Secretary of the National Consumer's League, spoke before the Economics Club, in the Faculty Parlor, Friday evening, Nov. 8, to a large audience. The Subject was Factory Legislation and its Enforcement. In answer to questions, Mrs. Kelley spoke of the work that Smith College students are doing in refusing to purchase certain goods, which do not bear the label of the League. Thirty or more Wellesley graduates have written to Mrs. Kelley to further the work of the League in their localities. Many of them are systematically visiting the stores at their homes and reporting to Mrs. Kelley which firms carry label goods and in what line. Anyone who wishes to become a member of the Consumer's League should apply to Sarah G. Tomkins.

Professor Whiting gave two receptions in the Observatory last week. The one on Wednesday, November 8, was in honor of Mrs. North and Mrs. Thompson, the Alumnae Trustees. The Alumnae members of the Faculty were among the guests.

On Friday evening the Astronomy club was invited to meet Mrs. John C. Whiting, when an informal hour was spent by the fireside in the observatory library.

Mrs. Whiting was the guest of Professor Whiting at Fiske Cottage, on Saturday and Sunday, when some additional to the observatory were authorized.

Julia Wills and Lucy Harrison, '02, entertained the Southern Club on Thursday evening, November 7th. After Mary Jenkins, '03, and Juliette Poynter, '04, had read some charming selections, a delicious "spread" was served.

"Mr. and Mrs. Nutty Frairs request the pleasure of your company at the fifty celebration of their diamond jubilee on November 9th." This invitation was received with glee by the favored few who were "called." The jubilee was a huge success, but the details are carefully suppressed.

Miss Hurd has sent out cards for an "at home" on Thursday evening, November 14th from 7.30-9.30. There will be "music" by Mr. Keller, of the Symphony Orchestra, at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Watson, formerly of Wellesley, who now lives in Brookline, has invited her college friends to two "at homes" on November 11th and 15th.

The faculty Dramatic committee has been appointed and consists of the following members: Miss Hazard, Miss Brown, Miss Schefield, Miss Jackson, Miss Kelsey. No plays will be acted upon by them, which have not been in the hands of the secretary, Miss Jackson.

The Senior play committee for the Senior play, to be given by the class of 1902, has been appointed and consists of the following members: Lillian Libby, Chairman; Elvira Shack, Anna E. Snyder, Bess Manwaring, Emily Pinkin, Constance Draper, Annie McClure.

Miss Marian Cashman, '01, spent last Sunday at College, the guest of Miss Julia Tyler, '04.

Miss Annie Van Nyse, who has been in Rochester the last two weeks, recovering from her recent illness, has returned to College and resumed her studies.

President Hazard has issued invitations for a "college reception," to be given in the parlor of Stone Hall on Thursday afternoon, November fourteenth, from four to six.

Anyone wishing Dinner at The Tea Room on Thanksgiving Day will please leave her order at The Tea Room, by the Saturday previous, November 23rd.

The Stockholders of The Tea Room and their friends are having most social times at the afternoon teas served at The Tea Room every afternoon from 4-5.30.

College Notes.

During the recent excitement and enthusiasm over basketball, owing to the match games that are being played, a scrub team has been organized under the leadership of Miss Polly Storm, ’02. The qualifications for membership in the new team are as follows: 1st. Membership in the class of 1902 is requisite. 2d. The applicant must never before have played basketball, 3d. Each person must prove dense ignorance of all the rules and details of the game.

Miss Clare Conklin has offered her services as coach. Miss Alice Wilcox kindly acts as referee.

The team is composed of the following members: Misses Storm, Klingenberg, Forbes, Spink, Rice, Fooks, Anna Vail and Grover.

The Advisory Committee for Student Government was organized on last Thursday evening, with Miss Miss Ilce as Chairman and Miss Amy Gurlitz as Secretary.

The annual Sophomore reception, which is always given by the Sophomores to the incoming Freshman class, occurred on last Saturday evening, November ninth, in the barn. The decorations, which consisted mainly of much hunting, of the class color—violet—were in the hands of a committee consisting of Miss Maude Jesup, Miss Chris Haslak, and Miss Mary J. Jenkins. The music rendered by a stringed orchestra, was arranged and provided by the Misses Edna Summy, Ethel Haeford and Sophie Brown. Miss Hat-sinipiller, president of the class, Miss Hart, vice-president of the class, and Miss Charlotte Roberts received—both Miss Hazard and Mrs. Durant being unable to attend. The ushers for the evening were: Misses Bertha Platt, Clara S. More, Eleanor Bennett, Mary Eaton, Margaret Hanks, Margaret, Muriel Windward, Jeanette Kelly. The entertainment for the evening was dancing: the program consisting of ten regular dances and four “extras.” The evening was a notable success.

English Field Hockey bids fair to become a popular game among us. The Freshman and Sophomore classes are supporting it splendidly, with thirty in each class. The game was offered by Miss Lucile Eaton, who directed the return to College and was immediately received with enthusiasm. Later, Miss Constance Applebee of England, who was recommended to Miss Hill by Dr. Surope of Harvard, also gave the Freshman some two lessons and a joint lesson. Otherwise, to the Freshmen and Sophomores, the coaching has been done entirely by the Sophomore and Freshman Captains.

The following notice appeared on the Student Government Bulletin of Thursday, February 16th: “From week to week notice and criticism of those plays which are distinctly worth seeing will be posted upon this Bulletin Board. It is hoped that such indication of the best plays may be of help to students in choosing the plays they desire to attend.” For this week the play “Alice of Old Vincennes,” is posted as being well worth while.

Senior was held last year on last Thursday afternoon. Herein, the society will be at home on the first and third Thursdays of every month.

At the Musical Vespers on Sunday evening the following program was given: Choral, J. S. Bach; “Ode to Bach” 1781; Service Anthem, H. A. Woodward; Psalm 103 (Gloria Patri, 1729); Responses (Choir) “Softly now the light of day” H. C. M.; Organ, Fantasia; “Hymnus” (1560).

The College Basket-ball team has been challenged by the Radcliffe team to a game to be played in the Radcliffe gymnasium, the game to be played according to Wellesley rules. It is earnestly hoped that satisfactory arrangements may be made to meet this challenge.
