VACATION PLAN CONTEST.

To the Undergraduates of Women's Colleges.

COLLIER'S WEEKLY.

Making this offer for the best account of a vacation—actual, not imaginary—a prize of Twenty-five Dollars.

In addition, payment will be made for this article at the usual rate of ten dollars per thousand words, and all other articles accepted will be paid for at the same rate—ten dollars per thousand words.

The articles must not exceed one thousand words. Photographs, if possible, should accompany articles.

Two dollars will be paid for each photograph accepted.

Whenever specified, faces in the photographs will be redrawn, so that they cannot be recognized.

These accounts will be judged for the novelty and practicability of the plans offered, not for the style in which they are written. A canoe trip, a bicycle trip, a trip abroad—any unusual or interesting vacation experience may be chosen. It need not be personal—that is, it need not be your own experience—but it must be actual. All details should be given—cost, transportation, method of getting food, solution of the laundry problem, etc.

The object of this contest is to furnish suggestions for spending the vacation season. The account should be complete so that anyone reading it could repeat the trip. Literary style and composition will not count. We want facts.

No limit is set to the number of articles one person may send.

Articles and photographs not accepted will be returned if stamps are enclosed.

Envelopes should be addressed "Vacation Competition," Woman's Department, Collie's Weekly.

The competition closes June 15, 1902.

Contributions may be sent at any time before that date, and should bear the name, address, college and class of the sender. Write on only one side of the paper; send manuscripts flat, not rolled; every photograph must be titled, in addition to being inscribed with the name and address of the owner.

The prize will be awarded, unless unforeseen contingencies arise to prevent, within two weeks after the contest closes.

The seniors entertained the juniors and graduate students in the Barn, at an old-fashioned country merry making, on Monday afternoon. The frolic was to have been held at Tupelo, but the rain prevented.

New Courses Offered for 1902-03.

For the coming year, the department of English will offer a new course, designed to afford practice in the various forms of discourse, with special emphasis on the expository, critical essay; this work will be open to students who have completed a course in advanced composition. An introductory course in art, open to freshmen, is offered; and a second course will aim to prepare students for further detailed work in the history of architecture, sculpture and painting. In these and other courses offered by the art department, drawing will be used as heretofore, as a help in the study of photographs. In the pedagogies department, under Miss Laing, two new courses will be given; one on the art and philosophy of teaching will have as a regular feature "laboratory work" or actual teaching on the part of students, in the neighboring schools.

The Federation of Women's Clubs.

The following is a clipping from a Los Angeles paper, written during the meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs:

"On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Adeline Emerson Thompson, class of '80, and alumna trustee of Wellesley, met and received Wellesley women at the Hotel Van Nys. Mrs. Thompson is secretary of the Illinois federation."

"On Sunday afternoon, from 3 to 8, Mrs. T. P. Stanwood, president of the Illinois federation, and Mrs. Adeline Emerson Thompson, secretary, gave a reception in the Hotel Van Nys to the Illinois women. The rooms were beautifully decorated with gold of opal roses and orange blossoms the ladies had gathered at San Gabriel mission, Sunday morning, a magnificent bunch of red roses sent by Mrs. R. J. Burdette from her home in Pasadena, and other flowers. About two hundred guests were entertained, the officers of the general federation being among the guests. Mrs. Grafton, Pittsburg, gave a negro dialect reading."

Bryn Mawr Has Raised $200,000.

Henry A. Haveremey of New York, whose daughter is a student at Bryn Mawr College, has subscribed $20,000 to the $250,000 fund now being raised by the institution to meet the conditional $250,000 gift of John D. Rockefeller for the erection of a dormitory and a general heating and electric light plant. Of the $250,000, which the college is required to raise by June 5, the trustees and alumni throughout the country have obtained $230,000. This will be used as a fund for a library and lecture room.

Economics' Department Reception.

An informal reception was given in the faculty parlor, Saturday afternoon, for Dr. Sarah S. Whitely and Professor and Mrs. Davis R. Dewey. Miss Whitely recently took her doctor's degree at Yale. Her thesis on the Labor Legislation of Massachusetts is a valuable contribution to our knowledge of actual effects of labor laws. She has been appointed instructor in economics for the coming year and will carry courses in economic theory, American industrial history and statistics. Professor Dewey will give a course of lectures in the spring term, 1905, on the financial aspects of our economical development.

SUMMER RESIDENCES.

Miss Bates would like to rent her home, 6 Howe Street, this summer to the right people—i.e., to people who would keep fresh water in the bird's bath and be sociable with chipmunks.

COLLEGE NOTES.

The requisite number of students have signed a petition asking for a Student Government mass meeting to amend Section III of Rules and Regulations by striking out the words "College Athletics." The rule now reads "Undergraduates shall not travel in the evening or attend college athletics or public evening entertainments outside of Wellesley without a chaperone approved by the faculty." If the amendment is passed, no chaperone will be required at college athletics.

On Thursday morning, May 15, the junior class appeared in chapel in white and garbed in a most interesting fashion. The fortunate juniors, who took Forensics this year, handed in their last Forensics on Thursday morning. This section of the class appeared in white, the symbol of joy, but with powdered hair, the symbol of the sorrows they had passed through. The rest of the juniors, those who have debates, wore black, mourning for the debates yet to come.

THE STUDIO RECEPTION.

On last Saturday evening, May 17, the Barn was transformed into a studio for the annual "Studio Reception" of Society Tan Zeta Epsilon. The decorations added much to the atmosphere of the occasion. The walls were covered with heavy dark green paper which formed an effective background for the armour and halberds. The model stands were draped with old tapestry and the easels held pictures by Mr. Charles Woodbury and other American artists. A picture which attracted much interest was lent by Frankau Miller, and is the work of his brother, Hans Müller—Dachau. The pictures, which were suggested by those of the Dutch School, were given with accurate Dutch coloring and with especial attention to light and shade.

The Faculty members of the Society, Miss Brown, Franklin Miller, Miss Keyes and Miss Carlyle, received with Miss Lorenzen and Miss Snyder, Miss Puffer and Miss Peabody.poured. Following is the programme:

Revels of May by Girls at Mt. Holyoke College.

The revels of May were held by the undergraduates of Mt. Holyoke College on May 14. The May festival procession formed on the campus and wound through the grove to the lake and up over Prospect Hill.

First came "Ye Nooisme Trumpeters," then Friar Tuck, Mabel Marian, Robin Hood and the crown bearer. Jack-o'-the-Green next appeared, leading the May Queen’s horse which drew her flower chariot. Following this were the May dancers, the neat of "The Faithful Shepherdess," the rainbow dancers and the Flowers and Bees.

Then came the presidents and vice-presidents of the four classes, the Morris Men, Noah and wife, his sons and daughters and the animals, the players of the York Mystery Play, and about seventy-five in every kind of costume, representing "Ye Audience of Ye Play in Ye XVI Century."

The festive procession at Prospect Hill was received by the May Queen, who was then crowned by Robin Hood. After varied dances and presentations, "The Faithful Shepherdess," re-arranged by Miss Jeanette A. Marks of the English literature department, was presented. It was like an enchanted grove of Pan when the colored lights were thrown upon the shepherds and shepherdesses as they appeared before Clarin’s bower.
