The President's Western Trip.

It is very good to leave the College sometimes to find out how much the College means to those who have gone out from its walls and are living their lives in distant places. And it is very true that the girls who have counted for most in the college life, when they go on and fulfill their promise are most delightful and inspiring people to see.

This was borne in upon me especially as I saw our first Student Government President, Frances Hughes of 1902, in her position as Principal of Ferry Hall, which is just out of Chicago. There she has one hundred and fifty girls in a delightful green building, and is filling her place as principal in a way to command most hearty admiration. She wanted me to speak to her girls, which I did, in their charming little chapel, and then afterward we came to the parlor where the fire had never yet been lit; so there was an impromptu firelighting, much after the manner of Cazenove, with the taper passed from hand to hand, so that every girl in the room had a share in the lighting, while I actually touched the fire to flame. The poetic fire, however could not burn at quite such short notice, but happily my memory served me and much the same verse with which the Cazenove fire was lit was repeated at Ferry Hall.

In Chicago the next day there was a large and delightful luncheon in the rooms of the Woman's Club. Mr. Henry James was speaking in the hall of the Club at the same time, and after our Wellesley meeting was over, some of us were asked in to hear the end of his lecture.

A visit to Ann Arbor enabled me to see something of the women students there, and I was asked to address them in the gymnasium. Their hours are a little longer than ours, so that the address came at five o'clock. They have a "beautiful" gymnasium building, with large parlors and a charming hall, well planned and good to speak in. Between five and six hundred girls attended and I told them something of the women's colleges in England as compared to our own. I found them a most responsive and delightful audience to speak to, as indeed all college audiences are.

A few days later there was a very beautiful breakfast in Cincinnati at the Queen City Club, to which all the Wellesley graduates and friends of Wellesley in and about Cincinnati came. This was followed by a reception to various friends of the Club and an exceedingly pleasant afternoon.

Then came Louisville, Kentucky, and Science Hill, a most charming and delightful place to hold a meeting. It was a very holy home, the place which seemed very homelike because it is the home of one who is so prominent in our college life of to-day. The girls were gathered in the great school-room at eleven o'clock, and I told them of the life of the College and its great privileges and opportunities.

The rest of my stay was taken up by the study of health conditions and methods of feeding for large numbers of people. The Battle Creek Sanitarium, which is conducted on the most advanced and scientific principles, is certainly an excellent place to study all these problems. Some of the methods of mechanical massage seemed to me could very appropriately be introduced into a community like ours. The theory of feeding, which they put into practice at Battle Creek, also has many interesting points. Mrs. Devey, who was the first librarian at Wellesley, found, was at Battle Creek studying the same questions to which Miss Davis and I were devoting ourselves, with a view to bringing up some of the problems for discussion in the Lake Placid conference.

So the time was quite full with affairs directly connected with Wellesley. The loyalty and affection of the alumnae for their college is very touching and inspiring to see, and one comes back with a new enthusiasm and a longing to make the College come up to its ideal. And the ideal is a place to the mind must be the ideal of us all, not of one person or any set of persons, but the ideal of each individual of this great number gathered here together. The College is founded for the training of a sound mind in a sound body, and with our possibilities of out-of-door life as well as all our opportunities for sound intellectual work, we ought to send out girls who shall become the leaders of their time. It is good to see that so many graduates have become this. We are sure that more and more rise to the level of their highest capacity, and make the most of the great opportunities offered them as students of Wellesley, living more and more fully in the spirit of the College motto.

THE SILENT WOMAN.

One is sometimes inclined to think about plays as worthy Sir Roger did about sermons that old "editorial" in the Macmillan's Magazine begins, "to the congregation" than new, and anyone holding this opinion would scarcely recognize the "good, true and lovely Nineteenth Century woman," as it was given by the Harvard Chapter of the Delta Epsilon. Ben Jonson's dramas seem peculiarly adapted to acting alone, or with minimal setting and characterless, and in this play the fact that the chief gentlewoman is done away with, and the roles of these withers still easier. The main incident of the plot is as follows:

A tall and slender man whose peculiar vexation is noise of any kind, however, resolved to acknowledge or help his nephew Dauphine, whom he—"with some justice—considers a noisy and extravagant fellow. Dauphine, with the help of his friends, plans to win back his uncle's good graces by a trick, which he carried out through a bar. More so, Morse's confidential lady, Epicerine, is introduced to Morose as "the silent gentlewoman, who never speaks" and he is so charmed that he makes her a present of such a pandemonium that the poor man, quite beside himself, goes at last to ask round at home and you, and he finds nothing but lot, offers to release Morose, but the price is to be the return of his uncle's favour. This promised, Dauphine presently shows the lady that the supposed woman is in reality a boy, one employed by himself to effect the very end he has just accomplished. With this long list ofDauphine's facetious experiments, ideas, tricks and tricks of Dauphine and his friends.

The acting throughout this rather involved and elaborate play was extremely good. Morose, at first a trifle stiff and cold, warmed as the play went on, and gave a very clever characterization of the stolid, monosyllabic, La Foole, the knight whose cousin is the mistress of a London ale-house, deserved especial praise. The women's parts were of course the least successful. The comportment with Dauphine was colorless, and Epicerine's distress at losing her husband was hardly feminine, to say the least. The discovery of Epicerine at the end was likewise rather dis-appointing, seeming to lack the spirit and fun of the rest of the play.

But all this is for a pleasant and tender than to find fault, and one who saw "The Silent Woman" could well find room for much admiring appreciation.

CAROLINE HAZARD.

HELEN C. BATELDER.
H. N. Cook & Co.

Hatters

THE FINEST TOUCHES IN MANUFACTURE

THAT ARE PRODUCTIVE OF THE SUPERLATIVE

DEGREE OF QUALITY AND STYLE

ARE UNIVERSALLY CHARACTERISTIC OF

OUR STOCK.

College News

PRESS OF R. A. LINSEY & CO., BOSTON.

Published weekly. Subscription price, 75 cents a year; single copies, 10 cents. All communications should be sent to Miss C. W. Rogers, Wellesley Inn, Wellesley.

All business communications should be addressed to HELEN R. NORTON, Business Manager, College News.

All subscriptions should be sent to Elizabeth Comp.

EDITORS-IN-CHIEF—Marie J. Warren, 1907
ASSOCIATE EDITORS—Mary McDonald, 1907
LITERARY EDITORS—Clara A. Griffin, 1907, Marian Hamner, 1899
ADVISORY EDITORS—Kathryn H. Vivian, 1894
Helen R. Norton, 1905
Elizabeth Camp, 1905
J. Gretchen Evans, 1906

"Entered as second class matter, November 12, 1907, at the post office at Wellesley, Mass., under the Act of Congress, March 3, 1879.

The newly editorial staff of the College News greets you, and asks for your heartiest cooperation in making the News a representative Wellesley publication.

It is almost startling to find the outside world engaged in trying to solve exactly those problems which are perplexing our college world. The recent ball (Senate, 258), which has been reported for passage to the Massachusetts Senate by the Committee on Probate and Chancery providing for the stricter preservation of the Sabbath, is interesting as it does at a time when our own legislative body has been discussing a bill for the stricter preservation of the Wellesley Sabbath. The idea of the "continental Sunday" is frightening the people of Massachusetts into action. Our boys might be called the "careless Sunday" and some of the more thoughtful members of the student body recommend that we adopt some method of driving it away.

There are almost as many different ideas as to the proper observance of the Sabbath as there are girls in the College, and it is almost impossible to gather a majority of opinions. One says, "Why, of course I would buy soap or postage stamps on Sunday, if I happened to run out of them. That are necessities." While another, who cries out in horror at the idea of making any purchase whatsoever on the Sabbath, says simply, "Oh, yes, I always darn my stockings Sunday morning." We believe, however, that the number of girls who have such opinions of the observance of Sunday is comparatively small, and of course, these views are outside the pale of regulation by the student body.

The thing that really menaces the peace of the Wellesley Sunday is the social side of the day. No one considers it harmful to spend the afternoon chatting with a friend. But if a half dozen or so girls happen to drop into the same room, and if the hostess refreshes her guests with rare bit or fudge, and if, over the transom or through the open window, peals of laughter, the sound of a confession of voices, and the smell of delectable things cooking float out, small wonder if more sober-minded neighbors criticize.

But it does not follow that it should be necessary for the Student Government Association to take action on this question. If the Association so decides, it is supposed for self-control—self-government—every member of it should be, in herself, a legislative and executive body, sufficiently powerful to maintain the quiet that every thinking girl realizes is due to our Sunday. It is too bad, it is not, for the Association to be obliged to pass, as a body, a regulation which would be totally unnecessary if the individual members would but live up to their convictions. Whatever may be our personal opinion about this matter of a quiet Sunday, as members of a community, there is only one possible sentiment, and it is certain that in this small world, this question can and should be settled without any other legislation than that of each girl for herself.

Important Notice.

All through the College year, and especially at this season, the Bulletin Boards at the left of the elevator on the first floor are crowded with a heterogeneous collection of advertisements, and while this, of course, furnishes a useful medium of exchange, it has occurred to the editors of the News that it might be of greater convenience to its subscribers if a department of classified College advertisements were introduced. It is proposed, therefore, to start such a department at once, in the News, if it is the wish of its readers. Want, and advertisements of articles to be sold or rented will be published weekly at the nominal charge of five cents each for one insertion. Such communications should be addressed to Clara Griffin, 66 College Hall, and should be in her hands before Friday noon of the week in whose issue it is desired that they appear.

Gifts for All Occasions.

JEWELRY

For Men and Women.

If It's New—We Have It.

Inducements

are

QUALITY,

STYLE

and PRICE.

E. N. Cook & Co.

24 Winter Street.

BOSTON.

HATS for College Girls

Suitable for All Occasions.

AGENT FOR KNOX HAT

HALL & HANCOCK.

420 WASHINGTON STREET,

3 Doors from Summer Street.

Try some of

The

Training Table

Specialties

at the

Wellesley Inn.

HOSE SUPPORTER

NEVER SLIPS, TEARS

NOR UNFASTENS

Every Pair

Warranted

The

CUSHION BUTTON

Saves Hosiyer

NEVER SLIPS, TEARS

NOR UNFASTENS

Every Pair

Warranted
COLLEGE CALENDAR.

April 20, 7:30 P.M., in College Hall Chapel, mid-week prayer meeting of the Christian Association.
April 23, 11 A.M., Easter services in Houghton Memorial Chapel. Sermon by President E. Benjamin Andrews, University of Nebraska.
7 P.M., vesper service. Special Easter music.
April 24, 4 to 6 P.M., at the Barn, Phi Sigma shirt-waist dance.

COLLEGE NOTES.

Grace Bennett, 1900-1902, spent a few hours at Wellesley on Tuesday afternoon, March 28.
On Tuesday evening, March 28, the graduate club met with Miss Cook, 1899, at the Inn. Miss Hart spoke of the work in the English Department.
On Wednesday afternoon, March 29, from 3:30 to 6 o'clock, at the Zeta Alpha House, the Graduate Club gave a reception to the Senior class, to meet the Committee on Graduate Instruction. Miss Calkins spoke on Graduate Work at Wellesley.
About twenty members of the Radcliffe Graduate Club were present.

Monday, April 2, a fire was started in the meadow by sparks from an engine. Simpson Cottage, Fiske and the Barn were threatened, but escaped harm.

Miss Mary Holmes, 92, who is teaching at Mt. Holyoke, visited the College the first day of the spring term.
Miss Marian Hubbard read a paper before the Science Club, Tuesday evening, April 2, at the Observatory. The subject was "Correlated Protective Devices in Some California Salamanders."

At a meeting of the Graduate Club, held Wednesday evening, April 2, in Stone Hall Parlor, Dr. Ferguson and Miss Ottley spoke on the work of the Botany Department.

Thursday evening, April 3, was Wellesley's regular evening at the Dennison House in Boston. The entertainment consisted of musical selections and recitations. Those who took part were Lucile Drummond, Julia Sternt, Ava Raze and Lucy Howell.

The mid-week prayer meeting held in College Hall Chapel, April 3, was conducted by Miss Faith Sturtevant. The subject was, "To be Strong in the Lord."
April 5, at 1:30 P.M., Mr. Robert A. Woods lectured on "Neighborhood Work in Cities."
"Nursing as a Profession for College Graduates," was the subject of a lecture by Dr. Alfred Worcester of the Waltham Training School for Nurses, in College Hall Chapel, at 3:30 P.M., April 15.
Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead spoke on "Arbitration Treaties," in College Hall Chapel, April 17. Mrs. Mead is an officer in the organization for promoting peace between nations.

The third illustrated lecture in the series given before the Latin Department was on Tuesday, April 1, at 4:15 P.M., in College Hall Chapel.
"Fremde und Heimat," a volume of poems by Fraulein Hermine Stueven of the German Department, is being published by C. Priester, of Dresden, Germany. Among the poems are several sonnets and songs dedicated to the life and interests of Wellesley College. The book may be obtained through Carl Schonhoff, the foreign bookseller, in Boston.

Miss Marion Adelaide Ingham, who attended Wellesley in 1900-1901, is to be married April 25, to Mr. Charles A. Agnew.

When caps and gowns are all around
And board walks vanish from the ground
And Zoo. I. birds are on the wing
Then everybody knows it's spring
And spring's the time to buy a batch
Of pleasurable things from Hatch
From food to pictures Japanese
Or any other things you please.

HATCH
Orientalist and Rug Merchant,
43 and 45 Summer St., Boston.

THE BAILEY, BANKS & BIDDLE COMPANY,
Philadelphia
Designers and Manufacturers of
CLASS PINS STICK PINS BADGES
CLASS RINGS CLASS STATIONERY
Designs and Estimates of cost mailed on request No obligation incurred

McFADDEN, Ladies' Hatter
Le Bon Ton

Latest Styles from Paris and New York.

167 TREMONT ST., BOSTON, MASS.
Formerly
507 WASHINGTON STREET
Mass. West Street
Telephone 1291-2 Oxford

A. SHUMAN & CO., Boston

A. S. HANSON,
General Passenger Agent.

Boston and Maine Railroad.
Lowest Rates. Fast Train Service between Boston and Chicago, St. Louis, St. Paul, Minneapolis and all points West, Northwest and Southwest.
Pullman Palace or Sleeping Cars on all through lines. For tickets and information apply at any principal ticket office of the Company.

FREE PRESS.

I.

"I thought that no one was supposed to write for the News unless some member of the staff of editors asked her to."

The editor of the above remark is a member of the Junior class! Are there other people in College who hold the same views? We wonder how they think the paper is to be made to express the interests, opinions, criticisms of the College at large if the College at large is not "supposed" to write for it. It is a shameful fact that people do have to be particularly invited by some member of the staff before they can be persuaded to contribute to the News. This has grown to be customary from necessity, not from choice on the part of the editor.

The Free Press editor should not be forced to corner her friends in the hall and demand expressions of their sentiments on matters of college interest. The Parliament of Fools editor should not have to assume the character of a detective and warily trace down girls who look as though they might possibly be able to write a nonsensical verse on the elevator. It should not be necessary for someone to pursue the secretaries of organizations and beg for reports of their meetings. You aren't fair to the willing, patient, but undoubtedly long-suffering staff! Sur prise them with an unasked article now and then, and see how their haggard faces will brighten. Seriously, girls, the News is our paper. It is not the exclusive property of the five girls chosen to manage. Why do we not write for it?

While the above is not the production of a member of the "willing, patient but undoubtedly long-suffering staff," they wish to subscribe to it most heartily.

II.

There may be a great deal to fault with in our little College world, but there are some things that stand out as preeminently praiseworthy and scholarly. One of these things is the spirit of individual devotion which we have in our work. When something worth while is read in class, for instance, the girls do not hesitate to come up and tell the author that they have enjoyed it. Of course, it is all done at their desks.

There is nothing like a really honest interest and appreciation for spurring people on to do still better. This feeling of interest is something we will find little of in the world outside, and it seems to me we ought to foster it all we can here. And when we are interested in a girl's work, let us not hesitate to tell her so. 1906.

In reading the Free Press article on the suggestion that a special committee should be appointed for the criticism of dramatic performances at the Bishop's Hall, or elsewhere, I felt that in order to obtain what the writer of this article wishes, namely, "to raise the standard of our College Dramatics," a more experienced and capable critic than can be afforded in the present may be needed. A girl's work is to receive a just as well as a fearless criticism; it must be criticized by someone who really appreciates the difficulties of giving plays and who is herself gifted and experienced in dramatic work. By the employment of such a committee, we have the only impartial way of getting out the praise or blame for a Barn Swallows' play, and the judgment coming through such channels must be more valuable than another. The voicing of the general opinion of the College is not so much to be sought for as a reliable criticism which will show the College what our girls have really accomplished. We have had criticisms of the News Board in the past and these are the criticisms which have proved inadequate. B. 1907.

EXHIBITION OF BOOK-BINDINGS.

A collection of old Italian, French and English bindings from the Plimpton library, is now on exhibition in the Billings Hall library. These bindings are especially interesting from their excellence of design and skill and their value as examples of the work of the best printers and bookbinders. The earliest bindings are examples of the Italian art, and date from the end of the fourteenth to the beginning of the fifteenth century. They are gilded and show the early use of thongs and stamping. The work of the latter part of the fifteenth century is represented by bindings in morocco and calf, the earliest done in 1485. Upon one of these volumes produced in 1400 no clasps are used.

Very interesting from a historic standpoint as well as from the beauty of its workmanship is a volume from the library of James I of England while he was yet James VI of Scotland. This is shown by the coat of arms tooled in leather, which presents the lion and the lily of the king of Scotland instead of the larger quartered arms which he afterwards bore as monarch of the United Kingdoms. The book is very valuable and much desired by bibliophiles. It is one of those few books which is gilded, and is especially noteworthy in having gilded edges, in which the gift edges of the leaves are cut in such a way that when the book is closed the gilded edges are perfectly visible. The fashion of ornamenting the edges of the book in this manner arose from the custom existing at that time of placing the books on one side the shelves instead of endwise as we do. In this fashion the ornamentation was seen better.

A bit of romance is connected with two books from the library of the Bishop Etampes de Valençay of Chartres, who lived from 1350 to 1401. One of these books was presented into the possession of the college with the gift of the Plimpton collection. This spring a book bearing the same coat of arms was discovered upon the shelf of the College Hall library, which had probably been there twenty years or more, having been brought by Mr. Durant for the College library. The recognition of the arms identified the book as one of the Bishop's Library, and it was immediately transferred to a place beside its fellow in the Plimpton collection. Who knows what vicissitudes those two old companions have seen since they last jostled each other in the Bishop's bookcase two hundred years ago?

Another volume, interesting historically, is one which belonged to Louis XVI, and bears his monogram, the crowned double L upon its back.

The first part of the nineteenth century belong the French bindings of Niepce and Dulleo. These are all signed and are especially beautiful for their graceful and delicate double border, the市场价格 tooling with a deep red leather, the borders being in a fine pattern. One volume of this period, with beautiful work in the double border, has a book plate of the kid, mirrored into the leather.

The English bindings belonging to a later period, two are from the hand of Roger Payne (1739-1797), most skilful of old bookbinders. He introduced a style of binding, uniting elegance with durability, such as no person had been able to imitate. He cut his own tools and did every part of the work himself. The examples which we have are plain but of exquisite workmanship and second only to the best work of Francis Bedford, of which we have seven examples. He was the first of English binders between 1785 and 1850 and although entirely wanting in originality, his work was the best of his order, unsurpassed for its thoroughness and finish.

The collection of wood engravings also on exhibition, has been enlarged by the addition of seven new books containing engravings of Savonarola's wood engraving, and for that reason is to be continued on exhibition. For C. A. Griffin.

MR. WOOD'S LECTURE.

On Saturday afternoon at 3:30 in Room K, Mr. Robert Archer Woods lectured to the students in Economics Seven, on "The World's Neighborhoods." Mr. Woods said, all attempts at the betterment of social conditions were made by the church, and indeed the first settlements in London were in close affiliation with parish work. In this country, however, where there is no established national church, where the great variety of religious opinions makes it harder for the more educated class to combine for social work, and where the race and religious prejudices of the lower class alienated them from the church, settlement work has become not only important, as in England, but absolutely essential. It provides a common meeting-place for social, political and moral improvement.

Democracy is an attempt to carr on government by co-operation, and the broader and more complicated the interests at stake, the greater is the necessity of co-operation and the diminishing of prejudice. So that the settlement is a force to be reckoned with on patriotic grounds, also.

Settlement houses work in a corresponding scale, including both social and educational. Beginning with the day nursery and kindergarten, and the work supplementing the public school, in recreation and industrial training, it carefully plans educational and moral training for the home life of the neighborhood, to co-operate with local politics and labor organizations. It joins with every form of helpful effort, such as municipal reform, charity work, and the securing of social-improvement legislation. Among the most important of all, the constructive college feature is its free and unhampered inquiry and investigation, from which its most telling work results.

Mr. Woods' next lecture will deal with the labor question.
HONOR SCHOLARSHIPS.

Honors scholarships have been established by the College for the purpose of giving recognition to a high degree of excellence in academic work, and of showing appreciation of loyalty to the high intellectual standards that the College seeks to maintain.

Attention is called to the following points:
1. These honors fall into two classes. Students in the first or higher class are termed Durant Scholars. Students in the second class are termed Wellesley scholars.
2. These honors are awarded to Seniors on the basis of two and one-half years' work, and to Juniors on the basis of one and one-half year's work.
3. The standard in each class is absolute, not competitive.
4. All courses in College are on the same footing.
5. A small amount of non-credit work will not debar from these honors.
6. In general, a condition on college work will debar, except when incurred in the Freshman year and made off before the beginning of the Sophomore year.
7. The names on the lists are arranged in alphabetical order.

DURANT HONOR SCHOLARS.

Cook, Helen D. . . Orvis, Edna A.
Hibbard, Laura A. Stone, Isabelle
Johnston, Helen M. Sylvester, Louise E.
Knox, Antoinette Venn, M. Florence
Manchester, Ellen P. Washam, Ethel P.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE HONOR SCHOLARS.

Bartlett, Hazel A. . . Jacobs, Mary L.
Beck, Florence E. McCurdy, Lena J.
Brooks, Rachel B. Mainhardt, Florence
Bruce, Clara H. Morse, Ethel A.
Curtiss, Louise S. Nelson, Carolyn P.
Holmes, Edna D. Seward, Marie L.
Houghton, Cecile F. Squier, Cora B.
Humphrey, Grace C. Stoddard, Abbie O.
Wolson, Flora J.

CLASS OF 1906.

DURANT HONOR SCHOLARS.

Cadwell, Mary L. . . Mackey, Susan
Copp, Florence A. Ptklin, Ethel I.
Gilday, Mary J. Washkins, Mary E.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE HONOR SCHOLARS.

Burdick, Mabel G. . . Jones, Catherine B.
Curtis, Mary F. Kilborn, Myra C.
Eustis, Sarah E. McQueen, Alice E.
Farrar, Eleanor E. McWhirter, Jeanette G.
Flickinger, Edith Ogden, Elizabeth G.
Foote, Florence R. Rhoades, Edith M.
Frances, I. Gertrude Sampson, Claire
Greene, Olive Shinner, Alma E.
Hunter, Olive Williams, Helen M.

PRIZE STORY CONTEST.

The Magazine Board announces a change in the distribution of prize money. There will be three prizes:
1. Five dollars for the best poem.
2. Ten dollars for the best piece of critical work.
3. Ten dollars for the best piece of imaginative work (story or play).

The contest is open to all under-graduates, except members of the Magazine Board.

All articles must be submitted by June 22, making it possible for the announcement of prize winners to be made in the fall. No piece of work offered in class, or having received Faculty criticism will be considered. The Magazine reserves for itself the privilege of using of articles handed in.

CREWS.

DEUTSCHER VEREIN.

The Deutscher Verein met for a "Dramatischer Abend" at the Shakespeare House, Monday evening, April 18. The entertainment consisted of two very amusing farces, "Die Gouvernante" by Karrer, and "Einer Muss Heiraten" by Zechmeister. The casts of the two plays were as follows:

"DIE GOVERNANTE."

Die Gouvernante........................................ E. Talkinghuth
Franziska................................. C. Carolyn Nelson
Luise........................................... Florence Martin

"EINER MUSS HEIRATEN."

Jacob Zorn Ziver Bruder...................................... L. Louise Sylvester
Wilhelm Zorn, Professor an einer Universitat, Helen Johnston
Gertrude Nichte............................................. M. Molly Stern

The plot of the first play is as follows: Two girls are left in the charge of their governess, while the father of one of them, who is the government of the other, is away. They expect letters from their respective lovers. The governess, on discovering this fact, is angry, and when the messenger comes, takes the billets doux herself. She cannot read them, however, for the girls have taken her glasses. After Franziska and Louise leave her, a gentleman (Franziska in costume), appears and demands her letter. Shortly afterward Louise appears, disguised as the old governess of the herself, and reproaches her for being alone with the young man. Thus the girls force her to give up both letters. Miss Nelson as Franziska, undoubtedly did the best work. She gave her role with sympathy and keen appreciation of the humorous passages. Miss Martin and Miss Wackenhuth were both excellent, but their acting lacked the finish of Miss Nelson's work.

The second play deals with two brothers who have been commanded to marry by their father before his death. It is decided that one at least must fail the test with-and as neither is willing, they draw lots. Jacob, the elder, draws the fatal paper, but he has neither the courage nor the manners necessary for a proposal, so that Wilhelm has to teach him. In doing this he discovers that Louise, whose his aunt had destined for the bride, is so charming that he falls in love with her and asks her to marry him. Jacob is displeased for the moment, but returns to his books without much demur.

The parts were very evenly taken. Miss Johnston and Miss Sylvester were as the two brothers were especially funny. Miss Sylvester's pantomime in particular provoking much laughter.

G. W. 59.

FORSYTHE'S SUITS

WALKING SUITS DRESS SUITS EVENING DRESSS
DRESS SKIRTS WALKING SKIRTS EVENING WRAPS
COATS, JACKETS TOURING COATS RAIN COATS

Waists

of every description and for all occasions; for street wear, house wear, dress, theatre, travelling, etc.

Everything new and fresh—no old goods—all garments marked in plain figures.

JOHN FORSYTHE

THE WAIST HOUSE

865 Broadway, 17th and 18th Streets.
ORTHIC SHORTHAND SOCIETY,
308 Boylston Street, Boston.

THOMPSON & CHRISTIE,
MANUFACTURERS OF
Ladies' Gymnasium
and Bathing Suits,
31 BLEEKER STREET,
Short block west of Broadway.

Telephone Connection 117-4

F. E. VETTER,
FLORIST.
Prompt Attention Given all orders.
Wellesley Square

Hot Chocolate
with Whipped Cream—the entirely different kind—served at our fountain for 5¢.
Coffee, Tea, Asparagus, Malted
Milk, Tomato, Cam Bouillon—all served hot in porcelain mugs.
5¢
Sexton’s Pharmacy,
John A. Morgan & Co.

PHARMACISTS,
Shattuck Building, Wellesley, Mass.

PREFERRED STOCK
MOCHA & JAVA COFFEE,
1 POUND AND 2 POUND CANS.

THE HIGHEST GRADE COFFEE.
Martin L. Hall & Co.,
BOSTON.

FRESH
Strawberry Shortcake
AT THE
Wellesley Inn
Every Day.

MUSIC NOTES.

Professor MacDougall sends the following statement of his account with the Wellesley Concert Fund, for 1904-1905
Dr.
200 tickets at $2.00 each. $400.00
450 tickets at $1.50 each. $675.00
Cash receipts at door. 86.65
Total receipts. $1,161.65
Artists’ fees. $555.00
Artists’ expenses. 18.65
Printing, etc. 20.75
Incidental. 5.80
Total expenditure. $1,100.00

April 13, ’05, deposited in Savings Department Wellesley National Bank $120.45
The Faculty and students of the Department of Music will give recitals in Billings Hall every Wednesday afternoon from now on until June 7, from 3 to 5 o’clock.

At the first of the Wednesday recitals, given April 12, the following program was given by Professor MacDougall and Miss Torrey:
1. Organ. March from the Occasional Oratorio……… Handel
2. Voice. Recitative and Aria from the St. Matthew Passion
"Never will my Heart Refuse Thee." ……… J. S. Bach
3. Organ. Aria in D. ……… J. S. Bach
4. Voice. Recitative and Aria from Theodora—"Angels ever Bright and Fair" ……… Handel
5. Organ. Andante from 4th Sonata……… Mendelssohn
On April 19, the second of the recitals will be given. Mr.
Arthur Farwell will lecture on Indian Music and Miss Torrey will illustrate the lecture with songs.

The program for the last Lenten organ recital did not come from the printers until after the recital. It is printed below for the benefit of those who wish to copy:
1. First Sonata………………………….. Mendelssohn
   Allegro moderato e serioso
   Adagio
   Andante (recitative)—Allegro assai vivace

2. Intermezzo in D flat ………… Alfred Hollins
   Concert Rondo
3. Scherzo from the American Symphony……… Dvorak
   At the vespers service, Sunday evening, April 23, there will be special Easter music. The service anthem will be, "For it has pleased thee Father," by Professor McDougall, and the choir will also sing "The Holy City" by A. R. Goul

NOTE!

Wellesley Students will find

Wright & Ditson’s Store,
344 Washington Street, Boston.
An ideal place to purchase Athletic Supplies. They have the best and latest goods for each pastime: FIELD HOCKEY,
TENNIS, GOLF, BASKET BALL, FENCING, SKATES,
SKATING and GYMNASIUM SHOES.
Wright & Ditson are getting out a catalogue exclusively for ladies which will be sent free to any address.

Lowney’s
CHOCOLATES
50c and 6c per lb.
DELICIOUS—DAINTY—PURE.
416 Washington St., (4th door North of Summer St.)

DOWSEY & LATTEC,
High Class Millinery,
168 Tremont Street,
Boston, Mass.

Discount to Wellesley and Dana Hall
Students and Faculty.

DENTIST,
Dr. Edward E. Henry,
Caytor’s Block, Wellesley
Telephone 118-Wellesley.

F. H. PORTER,
Hardware Store
Just received new lot Kitchen Ware, including good assortment of Aluminum Ware.
Typewriting done at this office
Taylor’s Block.

F. A. Coolidge & Co.,
Dealers in
Choice Meats & Provisions
Washington St., Wellesley.

Rassie M. Hall,
Successor to A. B. Clark,
THE GROCER,
Washington St., Wellesley.

HOLDEN’S STUDIO
20 No. Ave., Natick,
HIGH GRADE PORTRAITS.
Connected by Telephone.

STURTEVANT & HALEY
BEEF AND SUPPLY CO.
38 and 40
Faneuil Hall Market
BOSTON.

Telephone 633 Richmond.
ALUMNAE NOTES.
(In addition to items about Alumnae, this column will occasionally contain notes about members of the Faculty, past and present, and former students.)

A business meeting of the Philadelphia Wellesley Club was held at ’The Bartram,’ on Saturday, March twenty-fifth. The Entertainment Committee reported that they would give a play, “Deus ex Machina,” written by a 1906 Wellesley girl, at the New Century Club in May, to raise money for a scholarship at Wellesley. Adjourned.

Miss Mabel Ryland Keller, 1890-1893, is teaching in Mrs. Snow’s School, 102-108 Boylston Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Miss Marion Randolph, 1892, spent part of the winter with her sister, Mrs. Caroline Randolph Parritt, 1893. Mrs. Parritt will be in Plainfield during May.

Miss Carrie A. Mann, 1895, died very suddenly on March 18, of pneumonia, at Chestnut Hill, Pennsylvania, while teaching at The Misses Kirk’s School. She had for the past two years been attending graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania, and had just given a record on her efforts in Chemistry and Physics, and was already far advanced toward the doctor’s degree.

Miss Edith Dexter, 1893, is at Cornell this year, working for her master’s degree. Her major subject is Latin, under Professor Bennett, and her minor, Greek, under Professor Sterrett. Miss Sarah Fletchel Bailey, 1895-1897, whose death occurred in the fall after an operation for appendicitis, was spending the winter in New York with her mother.

Miss Eliza P. Craig, 1898, has leased the “Hotel Crownshield,” at Clinton, New Jersey, for the summer.

Miss Mary S. Hewett, 1899, has accepted a position for next year in the Montclair, New Jersey, High School, to teach German.

Miss Florence Brentano, formerly of 1900, and Miss Olive Rosenzweig, 1900, and also Miss Mabel Berry and Miss Louise Chase, both of whom are spending some time in California, are in the South.

Miss Mary Rockwell, 1901, sailed April first, from Boston, for Sydney, Australia, and Paris. Her permanent address is Care P. A. Bank, Limited, Bartholomew Lane, London, E. C.

Miss Eva Terry, 1902, is in Somerville, New Jersey, and is doing some private tutoring in Latin.

Miss Annie E. McCard, 1901, is doing some work in the Juvenile Court at Pasadena.

Miss Frances F. Bussey, 1901, is at the New York College Institute, 241 Lenox Avenue, New York City. Her connection with the Lockwood School at Mount Vernon, New York, was severed, owing to its removal.

Miss Julia Wells, 1902, sailed for Italy on April eleventh, with her sister, M. S. Panneton, Cumard Lane, New York. Miss Elizabeth D. Conover, 1903, has resigned her position with Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston, to accept a position on the editorial staff of the Ladies’ Home Journal. Her present address is 1826 Mt. Vernon street, Philadelphia.

Miss Vera Bowen, 1903, is giving private lessons in music at North Tonawanda, New York.

Miss Mabel E. Metcalfe, 1903, is a student teacher in the sixth grade at the Lowell Training School, Lowell, Massachusetts.

Miss Lucretia L. Wilson, 1903, is teaching English and Mediaeval History at the B. M. C. Durfee High School at Fall River.

Miss Ruth Whitney, 1903, has charge of the office, and is also private secretary, of one of the managers of the Greater New York Security Company, 41 and 43 Wall street. Miss Whitney had been taking the secretarial course at Simmons College up to the time when the position was offered her.

Miss Marion L. Proctor, 1903, is teaching in Revere, Massachusetts, in the fifth grade.

Miss Helen E. Feck, 1904, is teaching Arithmetic and Algebra in courses for mill operatives, and doing some private tutoring besides.

Miss Natalie Smith, 1904, is connected with the Domestic Relations League of the Women’s Educational and Industrial Union in Boston. Her address is 55 Eliot street, Watertown.

Miss Florence H. Fremmer, 1904, is teaching French in the East High School at Lawrence, Massachusetts.

Miss Ruth P. Lincoln, 1904, is teaching in the fourth and fifth grades at Sherburne, New York.

Miss Edith L. Moody, 1904, is teaching English, Mathematics, History, and Drawing at Gilmanton Academy, New Hampshire.

Miss Norma Lucile Gilchrist, 1904, is teaching English at the East Des Moines High School. During the fall she was at the Michigan Agricultural College. Her address is 1306 East Grand Avenue, Des Moines.

Miss Helen J. Halley, 1904, is Assistant Principal in the High School at Rapid City, South Dakota, and teaches English and Mathematics.

C. F. Hovey & Co.
Are Showing a
Large and Attractive Stock of New
Foreign and Domestic Wash Fabrics
For the Coming Spring Season
Samples sent on request.

BOSTON: 33 SUMMER STREET.
41 AVON STREET.

Miss Sarah F. Marsh, 1904, is teaching Latin, Greek, and Mathematics in the High School at Orange, Massachusetts.

Miss Louise Adams, 1904, has been studying stenography and typewriting at the Spenserian Business School in Cleveland, and forwards at the Normal School.

Miss Tusanda Nusbickel, 1904, is preceptress of the Greene High School, New York, and teaches English and History.

Miss Alice Lawson, 1904, is teaching Ancient and Modern History in the Academy of Lowville, New York.

Miss Elizabeth Lord, 1904, is assistant in primary grades in Stone, Massachusetts.

Miss Grace G. Crocker, 1904, has been filling a temporary position in the Milton, Massachusetts, High School, teaching Chemistry, Commercial Arithmetic, and Bookkeeping.

Miss Frances M. Webster, 1904, has been teaching in the third highest grades in the Grammar School at Linwood, Massachusetts.

PARLIAMENT OF FOOLS.

MASS MEETING.

Whan that the Russian with his warres hole The Ily of Wellesley perced to the rote. And bathed every mayde in swich favour Of whiche engendred is upoure: And rumour eek in every hous and halle Inspired hath with arder oon and alle. The tredre maydes, and thys yonge hert Are al y-w rent by thoght of Russian smertes. [Sop]prake thym pite in hir corage! Than longen folk to gyn on picheryng. And specially from every campus ende Of Wellesley, to college Hall they wend. The bowly, bussel moting for to sel That hem hath spurred whan that they weke.

NOTICES.

A new Remington Typewriter may be obtained for $90 through the business management. Anyone interested is asked to consult the business manager of the Wellesley Magazine.

An addition has just been made to the Editorial Office in the shape of bound volumes of the College News for the three years of its existence. These volumes are to be kept in the office for the convenience of the editors, but anyone wishing to refer to them is at liberty to go to the office and do so.
HERICK'S

THEATRE NOTICES

Amateurs, please observe that no admission will be permitted when an exchange is being prepared for the opening at a later date.

In connection with the above, an exchange is announced for the opening of the following plays:

1. The Importance of Being Earnest
   by Oscar Wilde

2. The School for Scandal
   by Richard Brinsley Sheridan

3. The Importance of Being Earnest
   by Oscar Wilde

4. The School for Scandal
   by Richard Brinsley Sheridan

These exchanges will take place at the following times:

1. The Importance of Being Earnest: 7:30 PM
2. The School for Scandal: 8:00 PM
3. The Importance of Being Earnest: 7:30 PM
4. The School for Scandal: 8:00 PM

Please note that no admittance will be permitted after the advertised time.

Society Notes

The annual meeting of the society will be held on the 25th of this month at the usual time and place. All members are invited to attend.

Fashions

The latest fashions will be displayed at the annual fashion show to be held on the 25th of this month. The show will feature the latest designs from Paris, London, and New York.

Meyer Jonasson & Co.

200 Devonshire St., Boston

London Hand Sewn Clothes

English Kilts and Trouser Legs

From Paris Vienna

Horse and Leather Novelties

London Harness Co.