
THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

Zion, September 15, 1906.

It seems very strange to me to be writing a word of greeting to my Wellesley girls instead of speaking to it that first Saturday in the year, in less than three weeks time. To the new girls in especial I want to send a word of welcome, this new class of 1910, with all its bright promise, and high hopes. Wellesley girls are giving a good account of themselves all over the world. The college as I have often said is yours, it is for you to maintain its high traditions, and to add to its influence for good.

I am writing at the foot of the Matterhorn, in some ways the most wonderful of all the Swiss Mountains. This summer I have seen many of them, and lived in their inspiring atmosphere. It was on the trail to Zermatt, near the head of the lake, in an old post town, and there we took a carriage and drove through and up the Val Bregalia to the head of the Lake of Sils in the upper Engadine. The river Inn begins there in mountain stream, and comes tumbling into the lake, a rushing brook. The lovely chain lake ends at St. Moritz, and we learned to know and love that charming country. One morning I gathered and identified thirty-four different kinds of flowers, gentians, and blue bells, and charming thistles, and a tiny flower I innocently thought a violet, and discovered to be an orgre! After a delightful stay at Maloja came the lovely journey away. No railway or post, but a good carriage and a sturdy Johann to drive us, through St. Moritz and Poutretains over the Bernina pass, where the waters of the Lago Como run to the Danube, and the Lago Bianco to the Mediterranean, and the lakes, one of blue spring water and the other white glacier water, lie hardly more than twenty feet apart. We touched Italy again the next day at Tirano, and Bormio. Such beautiful bell towers as there are in that country! Each town might have its church, and each church its tower, with lovely arches and belfries treated in all sorts of ways. I took a lot of photographs, in case the time ever comes when we may have a bell tower at Wellesley. Then back again over the Stetvio, the highest mountain pass in Europe, to Trafoi in the Austrian Tyrol, and down along our old friend the Inn, now a roaring torrent, till finally we came to the railroad again at Laudech. From there we proceeded in ordinary fashion to Zurich and Interlaken, Geneva and Chamounix and after the Jungfrau and Mt. Blanc came here. The Matterhorn instead of one's ideal, was a great peak stretching up and up, far into the sky. Often there are clouds about it. And as the day grows later the vision still further, beyond all bounds of space, into the invisible and eternal.

So you see it has been a good summer for me, and I send you my hearty greet.

"Entered as second class matter, November 12, 1903, at the Post Office, at Wellesley, Mass., under the Act of Congress, March 3, 1879."

College News appears this year in its new form. Our former readers will remember the discussion in regard to the old cut on the front page. It was difficult to find out just what the majority of our subscribers would like to have for a heading, but it was quite evident that the plan for having a new cut of the old heading did not meet with general favor. The editorial board voted to announce a competition for new designs which should be open to both graduate and undergraduate members of the college.

All drawings for the heading were to be in the hands of the editor on or before August fifteenth. We had hoped for several good designs from which to make our choice, but when the day for closing the competition arrived, only two sketches had been submitted, neither of which was exactly fitted to our use. Whether this state of affairs was due to want of interest on the part of News readers or to lack of artistic ability, we do not know. It is difficult to say which reason is to be preferred.

We then had but two choices: we could either keep the old heading for another year or we could follow the plan suggested by several of our subscribers, of having College News printed in plain type at the top of the page. The decision in favor of the Old English letters which appear on the present issue was made by the vote of the five editors.

We regret our plan for a new design drawn by a Wellesley girl was a failure but hope that it may sometime be carried out by another board, should the present form not prove acceptable to our readers.

In starting the new year, the editors ask for the co-operation of all members of the college and also of the outside subscribers to the News. In the past, students have been quite willing to help us when asked to write reports of various events, and we are very grateful to them for their services. This year, however, we wish that we might have more unsolicited aid. It would make the work of the Associate Editor much easier if the secretaries of all organizations would "promptly" notify her of meetings and would take the pains to send to her accurate lists of all new officers elected.

During the past year the issues containing a good Parliament of Fools column have been altogether too few and far between. We do not believe that college wit and humor are deteriorating. It is, nevertheless, very evident that our readers care less about sharing their bright thoughts with the college public, or else they have forgotten that we want voluntary contributions to the Parliament of Fools column. Let this plea be a gentle reminder of our need.

And now a word in regard to our Free Press. This department of the News should not be a place wholly given over to continual fault finding and the parading of personal grievances. We want to make it a column through which we can discuss before a wider circle, the various matters of real interest and importance to the college at large.

We do not demand but we strongly urge that all articles submitted be signed with the full name of the writer and that the signature for publication be given in parentheses. Often times a few changes must be made in an article before publication; changes which we do not feel at liberty to make without consulting the author. All this can be arranged much more easily if the name of the writer is known.

Thursday, October 4, at 7:30 P.M., regular mid-week prayer meeting of the Christian Association in College Hall Chapel.

7 P.M., vespers with address by Mr. John W. Wood of New York. The service is in charge of the Missionary Committee of the Christian Association.

COLLEGE NOTES.

Registration closed for all students on Saturday, September 29, at 1:00 P.M. The College enrolment this year is larger than ever before. It is estimated that more than 365 new students have been registered. A list of new students will appear in the next issue of the News.

Sunday, September 30, was Flower Sunday. Rev. Henry S. Coffin of New York preached on the usual text, “God is Love.” At 7:00 P.M., was the vesper service with special music.

Miss Teneriffe Temple, 1908, who is convalescing from an attack of typhoid fever, will not return to College for several weeks.

A number of improvements have been made during the summer. Cement steps have been built leading up the hill to the south porch, and the wooden steps at the east porch have been removed. A new laundry is being built behind the Power House. The house given to the Astronomy Department by Mrs. Whitin is now occupied by Professor Whiting, Professor Hayes, Miss Rebecca Ellis and Miss Elizabeth Whiting. The interior of several of the buildings have been changed.

The following students will not return to Wellesley this year:
Of 1908, Helen Dewar, Katharine Schopperle, Hetty Terry, Marion Wallace, Edna Bruen, Marion Mason, Ethel Peterson, and Laura Townsend; of 1909, Mary Knowles, Ruth Bugbee, Katharine Hall, Nancy Tomlinson and Ethel Brown.

The first class prayer meeting of the class of 1910 was held in Billings Hall, Sunday evening, September 30, immediately after the vesper service. The subject was: “The First Thing.” Miss Pauline Sage led the meeting.

The recent purchase by the College of a large collection of zoological specimens brings out the fact that the nucleus of the present collections in natural history was formed by early and costly gifts from Mrs. Durant, including an especially rare specimen of moose, a leathery turtle, also of much value, and pairs of beautiful lyre birds and golden pheasants.

THE PRESIDENT’S LETTER.

ings to all my Wellesley friends, and wish I could send them some of the joy and inspiration of the mountains among which I have lived.

I shall be with you in spirit that Tuesday morning, when 1907 takes its place in chapel as seniors, when 1908 moves into the body of the chapel, 1909 goes into the sophomore transept, and the freshmen fill the east side. May it be a happy year for you all, a year full of good honest work, and hearty joyous play. If the work is thorough the times of relaxation cannot fail to be happy. Nowhere is there a better chance than in college to lend a hand, to live an unselfish life. Now is the time to live, not at some future time which may never be ours. The summits of life, like this beautiful mountain, pierce the clouds and are veiled from human sight. Each soul must live by the light of the Sun of Righteousness, as it can receive it. May these college days be days of growth not only in the things of the mind but in true nobility of spirit, as the meaning of our college motto sinks into our lives. “Not to be ministered unto, but to minister.”

I.
Many have commented on the improvement in the greetings this year. The squeal, long leap and frenzied embrace have, for the most part, given place to the cordial hand-shake. This seems to indicate the beginning of a new era, or, at least, a return to the dignity of the College's early days. Let's maintain the new standard and, at the same time, modify some of our other extravagances of speech and action.
B., 1907.

II.
We've all returned from the summer vacation with a calmness of spirit that is only stirred by the sight of "Katye dear," whom we "haven't seen for ages," or by the happy discovery of improvements made in the College grounds and buildings. So far we have not let the smallest frown appear on the collegiate physiognomy; even the non-appearance of our cherished trunks but is an excuse for an assembly of smiling co-sufferers.
We are all happy, all cheerful, all smiling aimlessly at everyone and everything. Can't we stay so? Must we lapse into the old phrases—"My dear, I never was so tired and never had so much to do." "I don't see how I can manage. I have—papers, simply pages of German—exams, and oh! just hours of work to do!" One grows too weary of the incessant cry and one feels, at each new outburst, a deeper academic gloom descending upon one. The strained look and voice are infectious. We all-enter a restless, unhappy state as unlike our placid summer selves as possible. Wouldn't it help if we all try to be a little methodical about our work, a little careful about the exaggeration of our woes and a little considerate about enumerating them unsolicited to others?

FRESHMAN CONCERT.

Freshmen and other new students with their friends were very delightfully entertained on Monday evening, October first, by the faculty of the Music Department, who gave the opening concert of the season on that night. Many familiar faces, as well as many new ones, were seen among the large audience which attended, and all alike expressed their appreciation of this kindness of the department, which permitted new students to hear the musical talent of its faculty for the first time, and other students to renew their pleasure in such opportunities.

Of special interest were the violin soli of Mr. Albert T. Foster, a new member of the department, who made his first appearance before the college world on that evening. Seven very charming numbers for the soprano voice were rendered by Miss Torrey. Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Foster were especially enjoyable in their first selection, a sonata for pianoforte and violin. Mr. Hamilton also gave very delightfully three piano soli.

The News is glad to express to the members of the Music Department the thanks of the College and its hope for many repetitions of their kindness.

The program consisted of the following:
1. Pianoforte and Violin
   Sonata in G major .................. Haydn (1732-1809)
   Allegro
   Finale (presto)
2. Songs for Soprano

CROSS COUNTRY WALKING CLUB.

The Cross Country Walking Club is planning to have some delightful walks these beautiful fall days. These walks will be every Monday, beginning October 8. Time and place of meeting, with destination, will be posted every week on class bulletin boards. There is absolutely no red tape, and every one is invited.

The chairman of the committee was appointed December, 1905, and the balance of the committee, in January, 1906. The object of the committee was to organize and enlist the alumnae and former students of Wellesley in the interest of securing additional college endowment, to the amount of $125,000, to match Mr. Carnegie’s generous gift, of a like amount, to a Library Building.

The first work of the committee was the preparation of an appeal which should place before the alumnae and friends of Wellesley, the terms of Mr. Carnegie’s gift and the conditions to be met. Ten thousand copies of this appeal were printed and ready for distribution by February 15, 1906. The committee most earnestly sought the co-operation of the class and club organizations in the distribution of these appeals; they desired that each appeal should be presented, accompanied by a letter from a personal friend, thus saving it from the waste paper basket fate of the printed circular. Many of the classes and clubs responded promptly, appointing committees, who apportioned the class and club members among their number. Sixty-five hundred of the appeals were distributed through these agencies. To five classes, 1894, 1895, 1897, 1898, 1904, and to the special and non-graduate students, the committee distributed thirty-five hundred appeals direct. These thirty-five hundred appeals bore little, if any, fruit, thus emphasizing the necessity and value of many individual centers of effort and activity, and the fact that each alumna or student has her own field and her own work to do.

The clubs which responded were:—New York, Chicago, Poughkeepsie, Washington, Colorado, Rhode Island, Boston, North East Pennsylvania, Minneapolis and Philadelphia; some of them, by distributing the appeals and soliciting contributions, notably New York and Chicago; five, by a club gift varying from $50 to $100. The clubs which were unresponsive were: Rochester, Buffalo, Cleveland, Connecticut Valley, Pittsburg, St. Louis, San Francisco, Southern California, Taunton and Worcester.

The Executive Board of the Alumnae Association, 1904-1906, gave a concert, raising for the fund $100; so also the alumnae and students of West Newton gave a Wellesley Concert, netting $82; Mrs. Marion Pelton Guild, ’86, contributed to the fund a charming collection of her own verses, "Semper Pius Ultra," published at the expense of her sister, Garnet Isabel Pelton, ’97, the sale of which has realized to this date $217. The further sale of this book and of "Persephone," the gift of the English Literature Department to the fund, printed by Miss Helen J. Sanborn, ’84, is suggested as an agreeable means of aiding the fund, available to all.

The amount contributed by classes and organizations through the agency of the committee, is as follows:—

Total.

$12,086.99

The classes of 1907, 1908, and 1909 raised $3,170.12; Dana Hall, $500; Miscellaneous sources, $10,751.72; President Hazard holds pledges as follows: $600 from the class of ’96; $285 additional from the class of 1905; $100 from T. Z. E. Society; $3,075 from miscellaneous sources, and—Have we saved the best for the last—$10,000 from Miss Helen J. Sanborn, of the class of 1884; $5,000 from the class of 1899; $2,500 from the class of 1900; $1,500 from the class of 1901; $1,000 from the class of 1902; $500 from the class of 1903; $500 from the class of 1904; $500 from the class of 1905.

We have, therefore, approximately, $79,000 more to raise. How shall it be done? By the enthusiastic and active co-operation and individual work of each alumna and student of Wellesley. The class of ’80 has demonstrated what one class, composed of only thirty-five members, animated by loyalty and enthusiasm can do. First let each alumna see that the class of which she is a member, has a committee appointed and is at work; then, that the Wellesley club to which she belongs is interested and working; if there is no Wellesley Club in her town or county, let her consider herself a committee of one to organize the Wellesley alumnae and students, and interest the friends of Wellesley, in her neighborhood, in the cause. It is indifference and ignorance of the demands and opportunities of the hour which must be overcome. The alumnae body is now nearly three thousand strong, and we ask you to aid us in awakening all to bear an equal share of the load. Individual alumnae have been most generous. I have already spoken of the one pledge of $10,000. We have had four gifts of $500 each, thirty of $200, eight of $100, one of $75, eight of $50. The alumnae to this time have contributed about one-half of the total amount raised, or $23,000, the total number of contributors being less than six hundred; the work therefore, is only begun, as by far the largest part of the alumnae and former student body has yet given no aid to the fund.

The committee begs all who have ever come in touch with Wellesley to read Miss Charlotte Howard Conant’s address delivered in memory of Henry Fowle Durant, in Wellesley College Chapel, February 18, 1906. Let us refresh our spirit and stimulate our courage by the record of those early years of ceaseless work, by the ideals and prophetic vision of the Founder of Wellesley, and extending to it a privilege to share, in such measure as we may in his work.

Isabel Darlington, ’86, Chairman.
THE FRESHMAN'S VIEW.

Girls to the right of me
Girls to the left of me
Shrinking with gladness
Making an awful din, Shouting strange welcomes in Acents of madness.

Over eight trunks they fall
Running down College Hall
To the meeting
With Mary grown "so stout;"
Twinning their arms about
In loving greeting.

I have been caught between Girls I have never seen
And they embraced me.
Fearful, I murmured then,
"Please I am 1910."
Blushing they faced me!

Murmured apologies—
"These halls—one barely sees—"
"Hope you don't mind it—"
No—here in Wellesley
May cordiality
Stay, as I find it.

No—I would hate to miss
One effervescent kiss.
—It is amusing.
Still all the restlessness
Strikes me, I must confess,
As quite confusing.

Strange little laughing peals
Strange little joyous squeals,
Mount to the ceiling;
Will it come over us?
Is Wellesley always thus Replete with feeling?
