On Tuesday, October 26, the following officers were elected for the Class of 1912: President — Ruth H. Beebe; Vice-president — Dorothy S. Bogle; Corresponding Secretary — Anna Christensen; Recording Secretary — Cathrine Peebles; Treasurer — Martha Chiles; Executive Committee — Mary Guernsey; Ida Brooks; Elizabeth Hart; Delia Smith; Ruth Howe; Factotum — Grace Richmond.

HALLOWE'en.

One of Wellesley's most spontaneous celebrations is that which marks the end of October and usher in November, Hallowe'en. While all our Hallowe'en parties may take on a tone of sameness to the eyes of the Senior, still to the Freshman guests and the Juniors and perhaps to the Sophomores, who would never divorce it, they mean right good fun, pleasurable things to erase the memory of first quizzes which are unfortunately contemporary with Hallowe'en.

This year the festivities fortunately fell on Saturday night and were of varying degrees of complexity and elaborate arrangement in the different campus houses. In many of the houses the time-honored customs were observed; the telling over of these is indeed an old story but suggestive to those who had a part in the making of the tale.

Stone Hall was a transformed place. As the Freshmen entered, guiltily feeling that they had been sent up from Botany books and garden tools, they were met by fantastic creatures which the imagination ranged to witcheries which conducted them to an enchanted land above. Here, from the chalidron that seemed appropriately untutored, received their summons to other places—all in Stone Hall, however. Some went to offer their palms to the scrutinizing gaze of gypsies, some to oblo for apples, and scores to freshen their memory of good old Hallowe'en days with all the fatsitic games that the holiday suggests. A trip to the inevitable Chamber of Horrors came next, a place of shrieking ghosts and clanking chains. This safely past, the guests returned to the parlor where a hypnotic performance was given. Last but not least came the spread with its typical menu.

Fiske sustained her reputation for informalty and a "good time" by indulging in a vaudeville. The extraordinary talents of the actors were shown by the variety of action and the range of subject—from a ghost dance to a tight-rope performance, and from Sleepy Hollow to the North Pole. But her guests were not allowed to forget the season of the occasion. Shadowy figures haunted dark corners, a "really-truly" fortune-teller revealed startling presents and brilliant futures, apples in a big tub tempted the virgins to the laundry, while doughnuts and cider and popcorn balls afforded more substantial employment. In spite of the many duckings and hair-right 'scares, each and every girl added her name to the list of those who are always glad to enjoy Fiske hospitality.

The Ectic festivities flavored of the impromptu but were none the less enjoyable. A varied program of the vaudeville covered the evening. The members of the audience occasionally lured into taking part in many of the "at home" by recreating a charm and simplicity. Fantastic dances were features of the evening: also a jubilee quartet; a dramatic auto act, all topped by much that was good to eat and some excellent fun in musical dancing.

Pomory gave a real old-fashioned Hallowe'en party. The dance-hall was decorated with corn husks and bright autumn leaves, while jack-o-lanterns threw a ghostly light over all. The girls' rooms were fitted up as booths, offering all kinds of Hallowe'en amusements. In some larder witches shrieked and moaned as they used their hypnotic charms upon some frightened captive; in others giddy dressed gypsies revealed the futures, while all ducked for apples and chestnuts. A burry-party furnished music for some rollick dances, and after refreshments of cider and doughnuts, all went home with the only regret that the evening had not been longer.

The Freshmen entertained at Beebe had been invited to a country party, and so came dressed as country girls, while the Beebe people were arrayed as their escorts. The evening was spent by dancing, not the formal kind, but barn dances and Paul Jones. Beebe had an unusual treat in the evening in that pieces of Miss Bennett's, to sing to them. The Hallowe'en spirit of the evening was kept well up by the trick or treating over the fireplace, and more especially by the refreshments.

College Hall was the scene of "the greatest show on earth." complimentary tickets had been issued to many of the village students who early thronged the circu- grounds thrilled by the strains of martial music furnished by a band of forty pieces. Excitement continued throughout the evening. Marvelous acrobatic feats, graceful tight rope walking held the audience in breathless delight. Trained animals performed feats never before witnessed on either hemisphere and the children in a state of shrieking mirth throughout the performance. Courageous children ventured to the mysteries of the side show; some to hear their fortunes told, some to gaze longingly at the fat lady or the living skeleton. With satisfaction, the audience sucked lemon juice through candy sticks, ate apples and sighed at their own misfortune in being only college students when the circus field held such alluring possibilities.

At Norumbega a fantastically acoutered orchestra and Globe Club furnished harmony and discord alternately. They occupied the last room which was more than was due them in their function of frame for the vaudeville performance which was really the feature of the evening. Many clever sketches and readings were given, there was a docile dog and wiggled with a scolding dog, there was the confusing drill by the Inside Out Kids, —all ending with an entirely original Ghost Walk, and settled down to enjoy "Our Aunt Robertine," a one act farce.

A successful exposition was given at Wood with a most unique Midway as one of the chief features. The mechanical dolls were unusually attractive—the Chamber of Horrors evoked alternate giggles and shivers. Dancing and bobbing for apples ended the evening.

At Cazenove the reception committee was appropriately ghostly. Not only did they arrange for an acrobatic exhibition, but those so invited served as reception committee, —they were guides and interlocutors in the personally autographed "Halloween" of the inviting host. This was a wonderful half of each guest's evening. The first trying experience which the newcomer had to undergo was the meeting of the House Fly, and in fact, the whole Fly Family. After worshipping the Idol, a trip was made to the Inferno,—its horrors relieved later by fortune telling and hypnotism. After a while the lights were turned off, refreshments became evident, and at length dancing completed the evening's fun.

COLLEGE NOTES.

Last week, on Thursday, the college was honored by a visit from some of the ladies of the Honorary Commercial Commission of Japan, who have visited America under the auspices of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the Pacific coast. A somewhat longer visit was made by Madame Inowie, travelling in this country to study the educational opportunities for women, and by Madame Teska, a student in Miss Farmer's School of Cooking in Boston.

Dorothy Summy, the new president of 1912, was serenaded by her class the night of her election, Tuesday, October 26.

There was a pleasant tea at Miss Hurd's house in the village on the afternoon of Sunday, October twenty-fifth. Professor Hamilton played. A Mendelssohn Prelude, Debussy's "Moonlight," a nocturne by Faure and a Berceuse of his own composition were a part of his delightful program. Mrs. Hamilton poured for Miss Hurd and four of the Juniors from college helped to serve. There were quite a few members of the Wellesley College Faculty there and some from Dana Hall, but the large majority of the very appreciative audience were college students.

The September meeting of the Colorado Wellesley Club was held on Saturday, the eighteenth, at the home of the president, Mrs. Emma Tyler, Denver, Colorado. The club had as guests the pupils of the various high schools who are planning to go to Wellesley, as well as the students of Wellesley in Denver for their vacation. Thirty-one guests were present, nine of whom are now in college. After a short address of welcome by Mr. Tyler, Miss Marshall spoke on "The Academic Life," Miss Rattle on "The Social Life" and Miss Martin on "Athletics." A college spread was served, college songs were sung and the meeting adjourned.

Mr. MacDougall and Mr. Foster are to give a sonata recital, Tuesday, November 2, at 4:15 o'clock to illustrate the wide contrast between classical and modern music.

The Magazine Club had its first meeting, Friday, October 29, at 7:30 o'clock, at the Agora House, and discussed "Editorials.

Miss Whiting gave a reception to the daughters of alumni at the observatory, on Monday, October 25.

ROOM 406

Special Attention Given to Order Work

President Hazard and Dean Pendleton spoke to the Freshmen on some of the peculiar difficulties of the first year at college in Billings Hall on Thursday, October 28.

Miss Alice Cummings, a new member of the music faculty, is to give a recital, Monday, November 15.

Notice has just been received of the unanimous election by sealed ballots, one hundred and four voting, of Professor Colin to membership in the Board of Administration of the Société des Professeurs Français en Amérique. This association has its headquarters in New York City. It was founded in 1904 and incorporated in 1906. It is honored by a yearly subsidy from the Ministère de l'Instruction Publique, and has lately obtained flattering recognition of its aims and scope in the form of the award of a prize by the Académie Francaise, that august body which dates back to 1635, when Louis XIII ratified its statutes.

SOCIAL STUDY CIRCLE.

The Social Study Circle held its first meeting Tuesday evening, October 26. The plans for the year were submitted by Miss Wood of the Biblical History Department. The circle plans to study the present movement towards Democracy with a special emphasis on the English budget situation. The circle was most honored by a visit from Madame the Baroness Francati, who kindly talked a little on the new work in the shuns of Rome. It was a most interesting glimpse of the ideals of young Italy and of the power and dignity of the new movement there. The leader of the work is a woman, Dr. Montessore, who brings scientific knowledge as well as boundless enthusiasm to her delicate task. Madame Francati would only speak slightly of work among the peasants on her husband's estates, but one could understand how marvelous it is.

THEATER NOTES.

MAJESTIC: "Rose of Algeria."

BOSTON: "The Three Twins."

PARK: "The Gentleman from Mississippi."

HOLLY: Grace George in "A Woman's Way."

CASTLE SQUARE: "Hamlet."

GLOBE: "Blue Mouse."

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

The regular meeting of the Christian Association was held on Thursday, October 28, in Billings Hall. Three hundred and three new members were received into the membership of the association. The order of the service was new this year. Miss Kilbourne spoke on "The Service of Christ" through membership in the Christian Association.

NOTICE.

The new students—poor things that are always being advised—are reminded of opportunities to do work or to have work done through the Christian Association. The most homely accomplishments are rare enough at college to have a good money value, and if one can typewrite!—wealth is to be had for the asking. For those who have the wealth and are without the accomplishments, the office provides willing workers.

Public opinion has been aroused against throwing paper bags in the street. Why, then, must the campus suffer? Because it belongs to us all and "Dump No Rubbish" signs do not remind us we are letting our carelessness conquer our personal pride. The meadow-walk, especially, has been marred by paper bags strewn about and left to blow in untidy confusion. If we remember that our own particular paper bags are to blame, and also if we collect all such disturbing remnants seen on our way from the village, this unsightliness will soon disappear. We can do this, for our personal pride is really strong.

Free Press is not always for the enlightenment of the Freshman mind, as almost everything at college seems to be, but we nevertheless make use of this column to add one more ray to the darkness of said mind. Village mail means that students who live in the village can take little notes out of the boxes in Room 116, but that does not say that because they live in the village the mail which they put into the little boxes will reach its destination wherever it may be. For instance, communications addressed to Miss Alice Porter, who does not live in the village, and to Miss Ellen F. Pendleton, who also does not live in the village, will stay in the boxes for all time unless some discerning and benevolent upper-classman carries them to their destination. But what shall you do with the notes which you wish to tend to people who do not live in the village? There is a way out of the difficulty. It is this: Put them in the resident mail. That means buy a stamp at the book store and put it on the envelope and drop the envelope in the box in the post-office (first floor, west end) and it will get there.

Because the Christian Association Book which ushered you into Wellesley said that Freshmen are to give precedence to Faculty and upper classmen on the board walk, it truly is no reason that they should be shouldered into the mud on rainy days. The picture of the lone Freshman hopping from the walk at the appearance of a Senior is ludicrous—and seldom seen. But the picture of four Freshmen walking abreast in rainy weather with an excited Senior dodging madly from side to side as she hurries to her class from Stone Hall, perhaps, is too frequent. Not because you are a Freshman and she is a Senior is this to be deplored, but because both of you are human beings. This is another of Wellesley's unwritten rules and not only does the Freshman have to be made aware of it but the memory of the forgetful one has to be jogged; when it rains, forego a little conversation and walk two and two,—it will save the expenditure of a great deal of expiration.
