DEPARTMENT TO GOVERN DEBATE IN NEWSPAPER TIPS FOR BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY

GENERAL POLICY DISCUSSED

Every year one or two questions, sometimes late, sometimes curious, and sometimes, we hope, eager, but all to the point, are brought to the attention of the C. A. in what it is that C. A. or in trying to do. In the case of the last question, there is no large order of the result of the demand for information and publicity, instead of the result of any natural curiosity and interest.

IRISH DEFEAT ALL AMERICAN HOCKEY TEAM BY 2-0 SCORE

A victory of 2-0 for the Irish over the All-American team last Saturday and Sunday, and over the United States National Hockey Association team in the tournament, confirmed the semi-finals and finals for the season in the city.

The tournament consisted of two games, and the teams were the Irish and the American hockey teams. The Irish, ending with the same score, advanced to the finals against the tournament leaders, the American hockey team.

The tournament games resulted as follows:

Boston defeated Chicago 9-1
Chillagoe defeated Philadelphia 4-1
New York defeated St. Louis 10-2
Philadelphia defeated New York 2-1
Philadelphia won the All-American hockey team.

This team also had the distinction of being the only one not beaten by the Americans, who played only one game during the week.

The tournament was a success and all parties concerned are to be congratulated on the result.

on the basis of the World Court, for the colleges of that region, and all those who would like to attend for the whole or any portion of the time are asked to register immediately at the H. C. office. During Christmas vacation there will be a fund to be raised for the purpose of printing a report of the conference, and at Northfield in February comes the annual conference along the lines of personal religion.

In regard to the discussion groups, every other Monday night a voluntary group meets for an intensive study of the New Testament as applicable to personal study. Every other Wednesday night some of the professors interested are meeting to discuss personal, culines, and works of art. All and approximately every alternate Wednesday night there are free discussions planned. These groups are always welcome, to talk on everything from a Bible to the World Court.

Special Speakers for Wellesley.

As far as religious meetings are concerned, we have realized the facility and advantage of having meetings merely for the sake of having them especially in a community where we have the chapel of sects and groups, and where our time is already so occupied. So we are proceeding on the policy that we shall hold meeting only when there is some leader or speaker who has something of considerable importance to contribute to college students, and who it is expected will be able to address any audience by informal talks with all these interests since this loses the possibility of misunderstanding or of a certain treatment of the particular point of view presented.

Nothing more than this article might say would "send the thunder" of the separate departments. So it is literally a case of "clouding out our part." Meanwhile, we note the cold weather as a reminder that there are no meetings where the co-operation of any and all is not brought into consideration, whether by means of criticism, suggestions, or active participation. We are not seeking recognition or inculcating propaganda. Our sole purpose is but to lay our cards on the table and to let those interested workers find the heart of C. A. ffective Hildreth Jacob, '27, who played for Philadelphia, and who was also left back on the last series, according to one of the Irish players, she stated that he was probably playing her second game. There were seven other Philadelphia players on the American team. The team is as follows: Goal—Helen Pemstein, Philadelphia. L. B. — Helen Caswell, Massachusetts. R. H.—Avery Davis, Boston. L. H. — Helen Broome, Philadelphia. C. H.—Alice Voisin, Philadelphia. R. H.—Katherine Moodie, Philadelphia. L. W.—Miss Abigail White, Boston. R. W.—Elizabeth Woldrop, Smith. C. F.—Margaret Wellesley, Philadelphia. C. R.—Kathleen Cummins, Common. R. W.—Martha Brewer, Boston.

Irish Captain Prays American Spirit

"Do you agree with the English papers when they say that Americans have forgotten their spirit too seriously?"

"I don't agree with that," replied Miss Cummins, captain of the Irish team, after the match. "I feel that we were entitled to all the sympathy we received, without being too serious about it."

One advantage that Miss Cummins feels she has gained, according to the American colleges, as far as hockey is concerned, is that it has increased the enthusiasm and the spirit that are built absolutely separate. One's performance in one field has no effect on the other. In other words there is no such thing as being deficient from a team because one's grades are low, as sometimes happen under the system in Wellesley. All the players believe that they are Irish and British women, although this is true of several members of the team. Miss Cummins, who played left back Saturday, is the only underclassman, being what amounts to a graduate student in Wellesley College. Miss Cummins is a graduate of the same school.

Miss Cummins has been on the hockey team in general, Miss Cummins said that the whole team is a whole as a whole is feeling rather depressed that the time to return to Ireland is near at hand. They have enjoyed visiting the various colleges. They have been at Wellesley, which have been easier to play than they. They will last long to the best of this week.

Miss Cummins, who is the only Irish hockey in general, Miss Cummins said that the whole team is a whole is feeling rather depressed that the time to return to Ireland is near at hand. They have enjoyed visiting the various colleges. They have been at Wellesley, which have been easier to play than they. They will last long to the best of this week.
The recent hockey tournament brackets were \textit{not} determined by any\textit{d}\textsuperscript{iderable} considerations of the players’ previous record. The \textit{ratio} of wins to losses, however, was used in the selection process.

\textbf{THE TOURNAMENT}

In the view of the fact, mentioned by an editorial in the \textit{Literary Supplement}, every college has its share of students who are \textit{not} particularly\textit{qualified} for participation in a hockey tournament. The problem is further complicated by the fact that the tournament is open to players from various parts of the country, and that the selection process is an \textit{internet} one.

\textbf{THE BOOKSHELF}

The \textit{Literary Supplement} has over the years published many \textit{reviews} of books, and the selection of books for review is based on the recommendation of the college’s \textit{library} staff. The selection process is an \textit{internet} one, and the criteria for selection are based on the quality of the book and the interest of the college community.

\textbf{THE CAROLES}

The Caroles have been an \textit{internet} event for many \textit{years}, and the selection of songs for the Caroles is based on the recommendation of the college’s \textit{music} department. The selection process is an \textit{internet} one, and the criteria for selection are based on the popularity of the songs and the interest of the college community.

\textbf{THE LIGHTS OF THE WAR

We have seen in the past \textit{years} a great \textit{change} in the way college students use their time. While \textit{years} ago students were \textit{not} particularly\textit{interested} in the \textit{arts}, today students are \textit{very} interested in the \textit{arts}. The problem is further complicated by the fact that the \textit{arts} are \textit{not} \textit{only} \textit{important} for students, but also for the \textit{community}.
Machinery works: Man thinks

According to college tests, man develops one-eighth horsepower for short periods and one-twentieth in steady work. As a craftsman—a worker who uses brains—he is well worth his daily wage. But as a common laborer, matching brains against motorized power, he is an expensive luxury.

With a fifty-horsepower motor, for instance, one man can do the work of 400 common laborers. He is paid far more for his brains than his brawn.

The great need of this and future generations is for men who can plan and direct. There is ample mechanical power for all requirements of production and construction. But motorized machinery, no matter how ingenious, cannot plan for itself.

And that is precisely where the college man comes in. Highly trained brains are needed more and more to think, plan, and direct the tasks for the never-ending application of brawn-saving electricity.

The following article, taken from the Vassar Alumnae, is that old girl's own answer to the question of a student's winning her way through Vassar:

"Vassar is a hard place to put oneself through. Numerous students hold well-rounded lives with both faculty and fellow students, but have had their balance upset for this fact. A girl may work during the summer, if she can, to help meet the expenses of college. In this way she may earn her expenses from the money she gets for work. However, she may also be a member of the Vassar college society, or the Vassar college club, and also work as a teacher in a private school or as a tutor. In this way, she may earn her expenses and support herself at the same time. The requirements for admission to Vassar are quite strict, and the students must work hard to meet the expectations of the faculty. Therefore, it is necessary to work hard to meet these expectations.

VASSAR COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS AND BARRAGERS' SELF-HELP ACTIVITIES

Scholarships, which really mean financial aid, are awarded in accordance with stipulations made by the donors, and are given to students who show greatest ability and have the greatest need. For Freshmen there are some $200 offered annually to maintain the rates in tuition, and for $100 each, but none any larger than that. For upperclassmen, awards are higher, and some are given for their work, and to those who have no need, receive full tuition and board. These cases are comparatively rare, however, and even more rare are those who are able to do without. In all, scholarships and aid amount to $200 or less.

ORIGIN OF HARVARD CRIMSON TRACED TO BANDANAS OF CREW

The traditional Harvard crimson, according to the Christian Science Mon. was selected quite recently, at the time of the first events in 1858, the crew was in a quandary. The idea of the color, and its final realization, are due to the following circumstances:

1. The University regulations required that the crew be dressed in a uniform color.
2. The crew was to be distinguished in a uniform color.
3. The color chosen was one that was not used by any other college.
4. The color chosen was one that was not used by any other college.
