Faculty Members Honored; Alumna Enters Diplomacy

Recently several members of the Wellesley Faculty have added new honors to their already incomparable achievements. Professor Sophie Chantil Hatul is now a member of the committee requested by the five Oxford Women's Colleges to join the executive committees of all American women students seeking admission. In the future, no one will be accepted when this committee has not endorsed. There are only three others similarly honored.

A new scholarship, endowed by Mrs. Frederick G. and Miss Mabel O. Edmon- dson, Alumnae Trustee of the College, has been won by Miss Ruth Elziva Chad, member of the class of 1927. The fund amounts to about $1000 and is awarded every other year to a student of the college, whose record has already begun, with the understanding that the recipient will return to Wellesley for two or three years, Miss Clark, who took her degrees of M.A. and Ph.D. at the University of Edinburgh, will continue in France and England her research on minceuse and her studies on the relations between France and England. Another member of the French De- partment, Miss Grace Copeland D. Brown, who was named Officer D'Academie by the Ministry of Public Instruction for her work in the French language, is an example of one of these students.

Though in England, Miss Wylie continued to be a member of the Board of Visitors of the College and at a meeting last week the Board decided to invite her to serve as Chairman this year or next.

Diplomatic Service Claims Alumna

The class of '21 has added another mem- ber to the diplomatic and consular service in the person of Mrs. Elizabeth B. Ching, who served as the U.S. Consul at Singapore. Miss Ching, being this the first con- cration when the College first started, is a letter this year when she first started.

In her senior year at Wellesley, Miss Ching was given the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1919, the same year as the first class of the College.

Prof. Conant Will Explain How Blood Carries Oxygen

On Wednesday evening, March 20, at 8 o'clock, in Billings Hall, Professor James B. Conant will give an illustrated lec- ture on the subject of "How the Blood Carries Oxygen." Mr. Conant is As- sociate Professor of Chemistry at Har- vard University and is the author of several books on organic chemistry. He graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1903 and received his Ph.D. in chemistry there in 1905. He is the father of the late T. W. Richard Conant, who died in 1917, and who was the author of the best-selling book, "The Student's Chemistry." Professor Martin, of the College, has written a good chapter on the subject of organic chemistry, and the lecture will be given to an audience that includes many students who have taken courses in chemistry.

There is a considerable variety of occupations represented by the Mem- bers of the class of '21 who have been admitted to the College. Some of the men names are well known bankers, brokers, politicians, scholars, and doctors. Others are in business, and include some of the most known accurate alonc weights. Professor Conant has done distinguished work in several fields, in- cluding such varied studies as oxidation and reduction, experiments with hemo- globin, experimental radiobiology, bio- cal, and the quantitative study of or- ganic reactions. His new book, "The Blood," published in 1918, is one of the books used in the Organic Chemistry class at Harvard.

Mr. Conant's lecture here is intended for the layman as well as for the chemist, and all are invited to attend it.
In order to stimulate an interest in the oral reading of poetry, the English Department and Students' Government have planned to have an informal recital to be held at the Academic Council meeting this week-end. The dates of which will be announced later.

Last year Mary Cole and Smith had a reading which aroused considerable interest, and they have decided to continue it again, this year, to stimulate an interest among the student body. Attempts have also been made to stimulate an interest among the student body, but so far, it appears that the students have not been responsive. It is hoped that this will surely be by next fall.

NO Need to have open house during the easter recess

For those students who live too far away to go home to Easter and for those who are staying for the recess, Smith is not to be open. However, about fifty students have signed up to stay, twenty-five of whom are seniors. Several members of the faculty and some of the foreign students are also going there. The girls chosen to get their meals and house outside will be provided with the lodging, and the house mother will be there to superintend.

Lecture on 'The Englishman's Home is His Castle'

At 2:30 P.M. in the small lecture room, a lecture on 'The Englishman's Home is His Castle' will be given by Professor John Smith. The lecture will be followed by a discussion and a question and answer period.

FACULTY VIEW SMOKING FROM MANY DIFFERENT STANDPOINTS

In favor of the latter is it was at the Student Committee Investigating.

An outstanding point of view, not a new one of some of the faculty was voiced by Mr. Johnson of the English Department, who said, 'I am afraid of smoking from 2:30 to 4:30, and I want to do away with it.'

The American folks is talking about smoking to the members of the faculty, and some members of the faculty are considering the possibility of doing away with smoking. It is proposed that the smoking be done in the small lecture room, which is located in the basement of the Science Hall and is used for various purposes.

Society Class Most Debated

Smoking in societies is considered for discussion. A Shakespeare play, "Hamlet," is being presented this summer, and it is proposed that smoking be prohibited. The possibility of doing away with smoking in societies was discussed, and it was decided that smoking be done in the small lecture room, which is located in the basement of the Science Hall and is used for various purposes.

OFF AND ON CAMPUS

One of the first acts of President Hoover has been to follow up his campaign promises and immediately start work for farm relief and tariff changes. A Committee on Agriculture has been called for April 15, and it is clearly stated in the proclamation that "effort shall be directed toward the restoration of the tariff cannot in justice to our farmers, our labor, and our manufacturing interests be postponed." It is said that the President will outline his policy in these matters and that the farmers and workers can probably be the other matter brought before Congress.

Winter darkness seems to have settled over the members of the Bryant. Many have been warned of the near ice on the barrier of the Antarctic. The bad weather has been provided much needed for the study of the meteorologists and has contributed to the cause of the deaths of one of the dogs.

Three teams were coming in during one of the storms bringing precipitation from the south and snow from the north. Barrier, when one of the teams got separated from the other.

On March 23 the Cambridge and Oxford crews will race for the handbroadside honor on the famous course from Putney to Chelsea. The interest is high, and there seems to be some hope that Oxford may defeat the Blue. Liu, who won the first two races in a single season.

When the United States government announced several weeks ago that it was going to re-open the discussion of the question of this country's joining the World Court, it was hoped that some results might come from a re-

The committee for the Annual Indoor Meet, which will be held in Mary Stuart Route Hall on March 21 at 3:30, consists of the three class presidents of the teams. The committee is composed of the teams of the four classes will follow the various events of the program—march events, sprints, jumping, camel and flamingo, and maimonides.

The fresher and sophomore teams will compete in track and gymnastics for the Hurdle Cup, and there will be competition in advanced gymnastics for the Lincoln Chariot Cup. In addition, an honorary junior varsity team for indoor basketball will be chosen.

OPPORTUNITY FOR PROFESSIONAL LITERATURE

Attention of all members of 1920 who are planning to teach next year is called to the opportunity afforded by the School of Applied Social Science, Federal Reserve University, Cleveland, O. Ohio. This school has a co-operative plan which furnishes a four-year course to complete the twenty-four months of graduate professional education and to secure the Master of Science degree in Social Administration, if she has the necessary prerequisites in the social sciences.

Two members of 1920 are taking this work this year.

This training course offers an opportunity to continue study in the social sciences, to prepare for a position of responsibility in social work; to earn from $150 to $180 a month during the period of preparation; to obtain a professional degree: Master of Science in Social Administration, which is equivalent to a regular course at Federal Reserve University; also to gain practical experience with actual field experience under supervision in any one of the following departments: (1) Public Welfare, (2) Child Welfare, (3) Social Work, (4) Industrial Relations, (5) Public Health.

For particulars, write James Albert Cramer, Ph.D., Dean, School of Applied Social Science, Federal Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio. Application for entrance next fall should be made immediately.

CAMP POSITIONS, V. W. C. A.

Miss Allen and Miss Wilde, Camp Secretaries of the Young Women's Christian Association, are now taking applications for positions on three summer positions on the camping grounds maintained by the Young Women's Christian Association. The camps for the summer of 1920 will be at Camp Maqua, Poland, Maine; Bemidji Lake, Bemidji, Minnesota; and Quannacut Park, New York, and the Quannacut Camp in New York City.

In addition to the positions for counselors, there are opportunities in the administrative and welfare work. Miss Allen is particularly interested in securing counselors for camp craft, nature, and organization, but all special interests will be considered. Counselors are offered the opportunity of earning their training and experience in a part-time capacity or by taking special courses in the school.

The Personnel Bureau will be glad to furnish additional information to students who are interested in preparing for a career in camp work. Those interested are advised to secure the camp representatives or to write to the office of the Personnel Bureau.

POSITIONS IN THE AMERICAN TELEPHONE TELEGRAPH COMPANY

Miss Elizabeth C. Langdon, of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, will be at Wellesley on Thursday, March 21st, to meet any seniors who are interested in attending the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Information on available positions, and available work, and all questions which can be answered by correspondence are available to interested students.

MAKERS OF STAINED WINDOWS IN CHAPEL EXHIBIT NEW WORK

It has just been announced that the Wellesley Chapel has something in common with the famous new Riverside Church of New York. The same group of designers and stained glass artists who created the optical windows of BOSTON'S largest new church are now making for this campus a series of stained glass windows for the so-called "Chartres Chapel," where the River- side's Harry Hermon Fitch would preach.

The recent severe fire in the chapel has delayed its completion until the end of 1930; in the meanwhile the windows have been taken down for storage during their permanent installation. In a year, however, before storing the windows away, the firm has put them on exhibition to facilitate their sale, and exhibits that the windows which, "through conceived in a quality and decorative scheme of medieval design, nevertheless are essentially modern in spirit and in terms of the West of our time," is Mr. Fitch's "emblem of the window is Music. The subject—verse in number—symbolizes and shows the development of music in history and in worship."

In his speech, Mr. Fitch says:

"We find here the symbols of the ancient Chinese King: the "Hindu Vans;" the Egyptian horn; the Roman water clock; the Buddhist "sacred" instruments; the more modern piano, orchestra, opera, and the very modern radio and television; and finally the organ of our own day.

"The color schemes of these windows will come from the same glass houses of the Chartres Cathedral.

Wings Over Europe Predicts Crisis of Mechanical Age

The title of The Sky Is Fall ing About Us, is the actual name of a book written by two veteran British fliers, neither of whom was present to explain his major thesis to the students of Wellesley College who were present to listen. The evidence of the book is used to support the thesis of the Princeton Professor, that the enormous and complex machinery of which we are now masters will cause a condition of social and economic chaos unless we amalgamate as a race, in order to safeguard the world against the power which we now possess.
