Brooklyn, N.Y., May 30, 1856

With affection and love,

[Handwritten text not legible]
With gratitude, I do not know that I shall ever go so far as to be able to say that the days of the old type of Christianity are done with. We believe, in this day, that God is present in the world, and that His presence is in the same way that we are able to adapt ourselves to the necessities of the time. What the pattern of the Christian man will be is open to question. We are seeking an understanding that is difficult to express. Something better, I think.

[Signature]

Edward H. Pomroy

[Signature]
War had that ingenou to go to your mutiny—do it
not possible for you
yet to change your
mutiny—let him off?
affectionate yours

Henry Ward Beecher