The Christian Association

At the hour of the Thursday evening program-meeting of March 7, Miss Patricia, Principal of the American School for Girls in Clifton, spoke of work of the school.

This school was founded in 1872, for the purpose of fostering a Christian education in all automobiles. In particular, we shall see in the larger scheme of things, we are able to pay for it.

The principal is Mrs. Mabel Andrews, who was appointed in 1876. She was educated at the American Woman's Seminary, and was a graduate of the school in 1881.

The school is a private institution, and students come from many countries. These girls are educated in the English language, and are prepared for college. The school has a large number of teachers, and the pupils are divided into small classes, each under the personal supervision of a teacher.

The school is located in the center of the city, and is a fine example of a modern school building. It is a beautifully appointed building, and the pupils are well cared for.

The school is well known for its excellent work, and is highly regarded by parents and pupils alike. It is a fine example of what can be done with a Christian education in a modern school environment.
The Interpretation of Art

Interpretation

lire,

have

of work

it

"tin

spurious

hud.

special

wholesome,

wild-brood

wonderful

wages

of

of

The

of

mostly

blade,

sad

inent

Nature's

waxen,

woi

Irom

that

work

that

The

PALACE.

of

free

Art

wild-flowers

has

Can

class

hopes

poultry,

four

those

blue.

as

ye

rocks

conne

young

n

at

might

ex

wit

have

heaven

old

!

better

have

and a year.

walks

have

standard

u

thu,

the

a

J

'
l*

accordant

most

the

for

of

in

for

had

that

Bunyan

thousand

sing

dull

|}

of

the

view

respective

el

of

!

of

the

shall

hgei

not to

lioldeu

mead,

tl

are

c behold

histo

being

r

of

countries

some

"of

a

End

earth

Aeolus

handicrafts

built

eha

Mountains.

the

genuine

a

brigli

social

among

wh

wings

the

sti

in

less

seeking holding

East

K

houses

imaginings.

celestial

and

very

the

eves

be

and

the

'

your

of

r

pleasures;

and

disclosed

birds,

Parlor

the

'86-'88.

lion

of

of

boys

the

bees

fat

was

by

Knowledge.

the

befell

si

!

and

and

quf>

while

indeed

and

symbols

the

a

i

the

of

familiar

and

and

e

my

to

u

iindci

East

i

of

knowledge,

work

sums;

strong

of

i

high

planned

its

Couuant,

show

sea

.iii";

i

the

work

truth

and

earth

Arrangcm.

no

alio

of

grca

borne'

,

Hall

leading

their

But

of

these

thou

comparison

small

allow:

bud,

sacred

«ith

the

Fl^p-f

study.

in

free

in

y

left

East

1

the

children

prayer,

;

me

painting

unpul-

libra

fortune

of

1"n

color,

Art.

of

fro

the

commonplac

sailors

one

have

to

light-he

maj

the

Is

objects

Hini

Walter

hope

by

'

from

anil

have

employed

expressing

the

lake

the

than

ti.

bosoms'

of

found

falsehood,

sounds

retarded

will

the

las

sh

o"l

the

them

white

p:

dragon

cannot

is

poem

ye

or

hist

so

at

it

chosen,

strai

main

life

red

one'

m

to

have

I

been correspondent!

for

thought,

.

it

Bristol's

peaks

in

song.

ABROAD.

Amid

will

i

flowers,

rblo<

and

Art

has

lion

two

sings

Spencer's

Lady

of

melodies

quaint,

drei

,murmuring

and

adventures

was

louder

1>V

bv

literature

languagi

your

about

been

always

October,

tale

silver

in

y

!

but

averaging

whose

been

bridges.

catch

dog-,

are

lime

good

thesis

Nature

girls

Mr.

home

L

or

shillings

stretch

beatific

into pn/.i

whose

draw

nature

is

interest

of

course

that

the

for

iesant"

form,

i

haunt

stimulated

dandelions

li..v»

clouds

phrase

Costly, but it is a great literary success.

The Palace now appears, as before, in the quaint but familiar style of its founder, and while it has not reached the highest classic, but rather the better classic of France, it is yet a happy contrast to the later work of its architect and generally to the usual classicism of the latter part of the century.

A Palace, painted inanagan, which gives up the title of the little palace of Louis XIII., and to the present day, there is nothing comparable to it in France for the same period.

We were sitting on the terrace, admiring the view from the palace, when we saw a group of people approaching, and on inquiry we found they were artists, who had come to make sketches of the Palace.

The palace, with its great burden of history, is a place of interest to all classes of visitors, and is visited by thousands every year.

The view from the palace is magnificent, and it is a great literary success.

The Palace is now a place of interest to all classes of visitors, and is visited by thousands every year.
When Carlyle was young, he was a person of great intensity and passion. He was a man who was deeply involved in the intellectual life of his time, and his ideas were often controversial. His writing was characterized by its intensity and its power, and he was known for his ability to provoke strong reactions in his readers.

Carlyle's early life was marked by a sense of unease and a desire to break free from the constraints of his upbringing. He was educated at Edinburgh University, where he became involved in the intellectual life of the city. His friendships with other students and his involvement in political debates were formative experiences for him, and they helped to shape his later work.

Carlyle's works were characterized by their intensity and their power. He was a man who was deeply involved in the intellectual life of his time, and his ideas were often controversial. His writing was characterized by its intensity and its power, and he was known for his ability to provoke strong reactions in his readers.

Carlyle's works were characterized by their intensity and their power. He was a man who was deeply involved in the intellectual life of his time, and his ideas were often controversial. His writing was characterized by its intensity and its power, and he was known for his ability to provoke strong reactions in his readers.