Letter from May-ling Soong Chiang, 1921-04-21, Canton, China, to Emma Mills

Transcription

21 April, 1921

Dear Dada:

I found the letter I wrote you among my possessions still.-- You see, although I wrote you, I had neglected to mail it.

I am still in Canton; but am leaving for home on S.S. Empress of Russia next week.

Dr. Sun has been elected Pres. of the Republic by legal Parliament; and hence there is much excitement and enthusiasm all over the country. I had hoped to be able to stay over for the inauguration; but evidently cannot do so, as I have received a frantic [page break] telegram from home this week to return. Wonder What is up now? Anyway, I am leaving for home as Mother would be furious if I stay away longer.

And so Au Revoir until I reach Shanghai. I do not know whether you've written me as none of my mail has been forwarded.

Dear Dada:

Found the letter I wrote you among my possessions still. — you see, although I wrote you, I had neglected to mail it.

I am still in Canton; but am leaving for home on S.S. Empress of Russia next week.

Dr. Sun has been elected Pres. of the Republic by legal Parliament; and hence there is much excitement and enthusiasm all over the country. I had hoped to be able to stay over for the inauguration; but evidently cannot do so, as I have received 2 frantic telegrams from home this week & return. wonder what is up now? Anyway, I am leaving for home as I'

Mother would be furious if I stay away longer - I am / so Am Renoir until I reach the Kai. I do not know whether you've written us as mine of my mail has been forwarded.
