New York City.

My dear Mr. Fullerton:

In answer to your letter of August 10:

It is too bad that Mr. Anderson is out of town on his vacation at present. If he were in town, I can easily imagine the pleasure it would give him to put down who, in his opinion, is the most interesting woman in this country. As he will be back early in September, all I can do is to say that the matter will be laid before him for action on his return.

Very truly yours,
