WELLESLEY, MASS., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1906.

Price, 5 Cents.

MARGUERITE B. MAC KELLAR, 1907,
President of Barnswallows;

BARNSWALLOW RECEPTION

In spite of the rain on Saturday evening, October sixth, half-past seven saw the Barn apparently full, and streams of girls arriving from all directions towards the center of attraction, the first Barnswallows' reception. Miss Marguerite MacKellar, President of the Barnswallows, Dean Pendleton, and Miss Davis stood in front of the stage receiving the long line of new students.

Before the dancing began, Miss MacKellar came forward to give to the Class of 1910 its first welcome to the Barn, and to give to the other classes the welcome they had long learned to expect. Miss MacKellar began by saying that she felt very much like the country minister who, returning from a long absence, told his congregation that it gave him a great and peculiar happiness to see so many of the good old faces he used to shake hands with. She spoke of the pleasure it was for the Barnswallows to crowd closer together in the nest to make room for the new brood. 1910 will learn to love the Barn, too, like the rest of the college, and to wish that every night was a Barnswallow night, like the little boy who wished that every day in the year was a pot of jam. The only unoptimistic moments the Barnswallows ever have, come when they realize that they are not permitted the sight of a swallow-tail at their dances. Miss MacKellar closed her welcome by saying that as it takes more than one swallow to make a summer, it takes a great many more than one Barnswallow to make a winter.

Miss MacKellar was followed by Dean Pendleton, who began by saying that she was glad that there was standing room in the Barn if no other. Miss MacKellar's story reminded Miss Pendleton of another little boy who complained that it was always "Jam yesterday, jam to-morrow, but never jam to-day." In this case, however, she said that it was surely jam to-night. Miss Pendleton then said that the Barnswallows were designed to bring carefree enthusiasm to all work at Wellesley. The Barn is the one place where we forget all academic distinction, whether we have been at college one year or twenty. Miss Pendleton closed by bidding all a cordial welcome to the Barnswallows.

Miss Davis, following Miss Pendleton, said that although the Student Government and the Christian Associations are important parts of Wellesley, yet the Barnswallow organization is foremost, for it is open to all students and is the most democratic. Miss Davis spoke of Miss MacKellar as a worthy successor of Miss Hart, 1904, Miss Knight, 1905, and Miss Segar, 1906, and added that most important of all she was a fledgling from the Noanett.

After the addresses, the Wellesley cheer was given for the Barnswallows, Marguerite MacKellar, Dean Pendleton, Miss Davis, and 1910. Those who could find room danced in the center, while the less venturesome promenaded around the outskirts.

Annual Meeting of the Student Government Association.

The annual meeting of the Wellesley Student Government Association was held at 4.15 P.M., Friday, October 5, 1906, in College Hall Chapel. The report was presented.

The meeting opened with prayer by Miss Ruth French, President of the Christian Association.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Miss Besse mentioned the facts that the seal is an alumnae pin and may not be worn by undergraduates until after mid-years of their Senior year, and that the students of Wellesley College consider it a point of honor to give no information to any newspaper reporters who are not members of the college, but to refer them to the proper authorities. The President also spoke of the noise in chapel and of the reverent attitude which we, as college women, should maintain during the services in chapel.

Miss Besse announced that she had received a telegram from Sallie Eustis wishing success to the Association and promising her loyalty to it.

The constitution of the Women's Intercollegiate Association for Student Government was read.

It was moved that the delegates sent to Baltimore be empowered to accept this constitution as read. The motion was seconded and carried.

It was moved that the nominations for the second representative to the Conference at Baltimore be made by acclamation and one formal ballot be cast.

The nominations were Misses Betsey Baird, Elizabeth Perot, Margaret Ladd and Ethel Grant.

The motion was made, seconded and carried that nominations be closed.

A formal ballot was taken resulting in the election of Miss Grant.

The next business was the election of the leader of the Fire Brigade. It was moved, seconded and carried that nominations be made by acclamation and that one formal ballot be cast. The nominations were Misses Margaret Ladd, Alice Bradt, Gladys Tuttle, Alice Rossington, Isabel Simmons, and Gertrude Cate.

It was moved, seconded and carried that nominations be closed. A formal ballot was taken resulting in the election of Miss Cate.

After the reading of the agreement between the Faculty and students concerning Student Government, the Constitution and the By-Laws, Miss Besse spoke as follows:—

In September, 1901, when the first Student Government president, Frances Hughes made her address before the Association, she said, "It is to be an established custom of the Student Government Association that its members assemble in an annual Fall meeting for the purpose of having brought home to them in a very real way the obligations of membership." It is for that, that we are gathered together here to-day,—for the purpose of having brought home to us the obligations of membership.

We all know what those obligations are, girls,—the obligation to prove ourselves individually capable of self-government, and so to maintain together the high ideals for which this Association was founded. That laws are necessary to the life of every body of people, especially to the life of a community of 1,100 is a truth proved by all experience. That to succeed it is absolutely necessary for each member to obey the community laws is a fact as well established, a fact which we should never lose sight of in our college life. But our Association should be more than this; more than a law making, more even than a law keeping body. You have just heard the agreement and remember the opening words: "Whereas the Students of Wellesley desire to assume individual and community responsibility for the conduct of students in their college life, and whereas, it is believed that such responsibility, if given to the students, will make for growth in character and power, and will promote loyalty to the best interests of the college." It is this at which we aim,—growth in character and power, and the promotion of loyalty to the best interests of the college.

That our Association not only should but does mean this is the experience of every girl who has ever worked for and in Student Government. It is for this that we love the Association, that we most gladly pledge our loyalty, our strength, all that is in us, for the life of Student Government.

It has been said that this is a critical year because of the absence of our President and because now there are no girls in college who were here when our own government was established. It is critical, but that very fact offers a great opportunity. Now it is our privilege to make it, even with its disadvantages, a year which will stand out in the history of the college as no other year, except perhaps 1901, that first year, has stood out. To do it we must work together, shoulder to shoulder; we must meet the difficulties in union and conquer them, confident of the unanimous support of the Associa-

"Entered as second class matter, November 12, 1903, at the Post Office, at Wellesley, Mass., under the Act of Congress, March 3, 1879."

For us here at college, New Year's day, so far as the making of new resolutions is concerned, comes with the reopening of classes in October. We look backward upon the preceding year and see quite clearly where we made our mistakes. In looking forward to a whole new year, we decide to turn over a "new leaf," and make noble resolutions about the things that we will and will not do. Then, with these good resolves, we take our plunge into the great whirlpool of work and fun which make up our "college life."

When the real New Year comes and friends at home are making good resolutions, we, too, are reminded of our own good intentions, and stop to think for a moment. Then when mid-years have come and gone, and we are about to settle down to regular work again, we find our second great New Year's day at hand. With the memory of our recent examinations fresh in mind, we resolve once more to reach a better standard during the coming half year, but with the exception of the slight attention we may give to the matter at the beginning of the third term, most of us work along in about the same dilatory way until June. Then, of we hurry eagerly home with little thought of academio resolutions. Usually during the summer vacation we do not trouble ourselves much about the work of the next year—provided that our credit cards have been fairly satisfactory. October comes again, and with it comes the remaking of the same old resolutions; for we acknowledge that we have not succeeded in keeping them during the year just past much better than we did the year before. Now this does not apply to every one in college, nor it is so much in most important matters that we have this failing. It does apply, however, to a great many of us in regard to our resolutions about the many little things where the sum total makes such a difference.

As there is no great advantage in making new resolutions so easy to keep that we would never need to break them, we usually find that we have to remake our really worth-while resolves. It ought not to be necessary, however, to start back at the very point from which we began. Resolutions regularly made and as regularly broken; standards—and standards not so high as to be unattainable—continually set but habitually fallen far short of, leave their marks upon our characters.

Why is it that we so often fail in carrying out the good plans which we periodically make? Probably the simplest reason lies in the fact that it is only periodically that we make them and then we cease to pay much attention to them. Whatever the length of intervening time may be, it is natural to feel that new periods in the college calendar are times for making new resolutions. Now if we are going to make any progress, the beginning of a new period in the year ought not to be the time when we take down our ideals from a dusty shelf, glance at them hurriedly, and rush on. It should rather be an occasion when we may raise our ideals, because in the season just past, we have come near enough to our old standards to see something beyond and wish for something far better.

It is not that we have no time to think of this matter, but that we do not realize the necessity of occasionally taking time to think seriously of where we are and where we want to be, nor do we perceive the yet greater need of spending every day and every moment of the day in trying our best to reach the desired goal. It is only thus that we can save ourselves the loss of self respect which is sure to come with the habitually broken resolution.

COLLEGE CALENDAR.

Thursday, October 11, at 7.30 P. M. Regular mid-week prayer meeting of the Christian Association.
 Sunday, October 14, at 11 A. M., services in Houghton Memorial Chapel. Sermon by Dean Hodges of the Episcopal Theological School of Cambridge.
 7 P. M., vespers with special music.

COLLEGE NOTES.

The first meeting of the Running Club was held October 2. The club had its first regular call-out on Wednesday afternoon, October 3. 1908 turned out a full squad, and 1909, although crippled by the non-return of two of its members, made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers.

Miss Florence Besse, President of the Student Government Association, Miss Olive Smith, Vice-President of the Student Government Association, and Miss Roma Nickerson, Vice-President of the Christian Association, addressed the new students on Wednesday afternoon, October 3, in College Hall Chapel.

On Wednesday evening, October 3, the Sophomore Class gave the usual serenade to the Freshmen. The long line of girls in white with their gay Japanese lanterns was very effective.

The first regular mid-week prayer meeting of the Wellesley College Christian Association was held in College Hall Chapel on Thursday evening, October 4. Miss Pendleton, the speaker of the evening, took for her text the eighth verse of the third chapter of Revelations—"Behold, I have set before thee an open door and no man can shut it." To this was added the verse from John X of the Good Shepherd and the sheep. These verses, the best guides for the opening of the college year, show the new opportunity which each year brings to us, whether for the first time here, or not. This door, open to each one, no one can close even through misuse or disuse. The figure of Christ, Himself the door, is very simple to comprehend, and hard to withstand. Though the opening may lead to failure, we yet gain knowledge, though it may lead to sorrow, it yet teaches love and life, and always brings opportunity for development and service. If we enter, with Christ as guide, we shall always find a promise of more abundant life, supported by the Faith in Christ.

The Seniors, in cap and gowns, gathered on the South Porch of College Hall at half-past nine on Thursday evening, October 4, to serenade their President, Miss Gladys Doten, in honor of her birthday.

Mr. Harry Wade Hicks, an officer of the Young People's Missionary Union of Greater Boston, gave an address upon "Bible and Mission Study" in Billings Hall, at 4 o'clock, on Sunday afternoon, October 7. Mr. Hicks is well known to the college students who attended the Silver Bay conference.

Miss Laura Townsend, formerly of 1908, is teaching school in El Paso, Texas.

At vespers on Sunday evening, October 7, an address was made by Mr. John W. Wood, secretary of the Episcopal Mission Board. The subject was, "The Call of Present Opportunity."

Miss Mary T. Noss, 1909, is studying in Paris this winter. She will return to Wellesley next year to complete her college course. Her address is, care of Mme. de Kerilly, 63 Boulevard St. Michel, Paris.

On Thursday evening October, 11, the prayer meeting of the Christian Association will be led by Miss Ruth French. The subject is "The Lordship of Jesus Christ." Everyone is cordially invited to be present.

Several members of the Department of French have returned from a summer abroad and all report delightful experiences and pleasant weather throughout.

Associate Professor Colin sailed on the North German Lloyd, Konig Albert, landed at Gibraltar and did Spain alone and en-

All the members of the Department are in excellent health, the best of spirits and ready to enter energetically into their work.

THE WELLESLEY ORCHESTRA.

DEAR COLLEGE NEWS:

Freshmen and new students will be interested to know that we are now starting an orchestra for Wellesley College. The responses to a letter written last year were instant and gratifying. We have already applications from several violins, a 'cello and (mirabile dictu!) a double bass. Will not some student volunteer to learn the cornet or clarinet or flute for Alma Mater? We at Music Hall will gladly furnish rooms for practice. Can any student at Wellesley give us one satisfactory reason why Vassar and Smith should have large and fine orchestras, and Wellesley none? Mr. Foster, Room 13, Music Hall, the Director, will be glad to confer with all interested.

Yours for progress,

H. C. MACDOUGALL.

RESOLUTION OF THE SOPHOMORE CLASS.

At a meeting of the Class of 1909, held Thursday, October 4, the following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS—The college at large is opposed to any further demonstration between the Freshmen and Sophomore Classes:

AND WHEREAS—Such demonstration is considered detrimental to the dignity of the college,

BE IT RESOLVED—That we, the Class of 1909, disapprove of any further disturbance of this nature, and

BE IT RESOLVED—That the Class of 1909 refuses to take part in any interference with the affairs of the Freshmen Class, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED—That a copy of this resolution be published in the COLLEGE NEWS.

Signed.

AMY M. BROWN,

President of 1909.

Annual Meeting of the Student Government Association.

tion. It may be hard, but it can and it must be done.

We must make it a year of real self government, a year in which every day brings something more of loyalty and power to each girl, something more of effectiveness and success to the Association, a year of actual life and growth, such that at the end, when the classes from 1901 to 1906 come back they shall find that we have been worthy of our heritage, that we have in all things maintained the highest ideals of Student Government and of Wellesley.

As there was no further business to come before the meeting, it was moved that the meeting adjourn. The motion was seconded and carried.

The meeting adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

ETHEL V. GRANT, Secretary.

FREE PRESS.

I.

During the two years and some odd months that the writer has spent at college, there has been a gradual change in the attitude of the students as a whole toward Student Government. This change is not very great, nor as yet, very alarming, but there are straws which show the direction of the wind. That the students are still loyal and faithful to Student Government there is no doubt, but that they are not absolutely satisfied with everything in Student Government is suggested to anybody who has heard—as I think most of us have,—criticisms regarding certain minor rules. I have never heard a word against Student Government, nor do I think such a thing would be possible—but minor criticism of what pertains to Student Government is rather prevalent and will in the end bring it harm.

In trying to trace the causes of such dissatisfaction, I found, by following up these derogatory remarks with questions, that in every case they were the result of a rule being applied to fit the letter of the law and not the spirit. Now all fair minded students realize the difficulties with which proctors and heads of houses have to contend. They realize also that the girls who are in such offices are trying conscientiously to fulfill their duties toward the students and the Student Government Association. It is a fact of which to be proud that the enforcement of rules here entails almost no personal feeling on either side. However, for this very reason the blame and the responsibility is shifted back to Student Government. To take a well-known example, a girl is "called up" for neglecting to put P.M. after her departure at 1.07. She may be careful to record the P.M. upon all occasions when there would be danger of ambiguity: the head of the house may understand this, but because sometime there might be a similar mistake which could not be so readily explained, the rules compel the head of the house to notice the omission. I can remember of being "called up," one February or March for putting the wrong year upon my slip. I believe that many a girl, however loyal she may be to Student Government, cherishes the memory of some similar offence.

On the other hand, the argument of Student Government is both sane and reasonable: in so large a body, to make an exception to a rule is to establish a difficult precedent; the students make the rules; the students, therefore, should respect them. Now, in fact, the students do respect the rules. I believe that the objections made are due to the interpretations of the rules; and that this dissatisfaction is not given formal voice because such matters are too small and insignificant in themselves to be brought up in a Student Government meeting. The situation stands thus: there is a certain amount of complaint on common sense grounds against a too literal interpretation of Student Government rules. This dissatisfaction finds an outlet merely in idle talk,—talk that indirectly is doing the student organization harm.

Now for the good of Student Government we all agree that a strict maintenance of the rules is necessary. Therefore, let us keep these rules, let us suppress grumbling over trivial matters, and, if there is dissatisfaction over things of real importance, let us bring it openly before the public.

CROSS COUNTRY WALKING CLUB.

The Cross Country Walking Club invites everyone interested in walking to try their long Monday walks, which began October 8. The time and place of meeting, with information as to the proposed walk, will be posted each week on the class boards. There is absolutely no red tape. Just walk enough each week to keep in condition and then come out for a good time on Monday. Don't miss the walks this beautiful fall weather.

MUSIC NOTES.

In Billings Hall every Wednesday preceding a Symphony Concert, from 4.20 to 5.00 and beginning October 10, Mr. Macdougall will play as much of the program of the following concert as practicable; he will be assisted from time to time by other members of the department. Whenever it seems helpful an analysis of the music will be given, with biographical or other interesting details.

These Symphony Programs are prepared for the college at large and all are cordially invited.

The regular series of recitals by students in the Music Department will begin as soon as the outdoor athletic season is over. The recitals will be given on Tuesday afternoons (instead of Wednesdays, as last year) at 4.20 in Billings Hall. Every member of the college is cordially invited to attend.

ALUMNÆ NOTES.

This column will contain items concerning Alumnae, former students, and past and present members of the Faculty. Other items will occasionally be added which are thought to be of especial interest to the readers of the Alumnae Notes.

The College Club, 40 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, announces, in its calendar for October, two afternoons of especial interest. On October 13, Professor Hugo Munsterberg will read a paper entitled "The Mission of English," and on October 27, Dr. C. Hanford Henderson will speak on "Education Reviewed."

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the "Wellesley Tea Room" was held October 1. The report showed that the Inn has had a successful year. Miss Louise Just, the dietitian for the Inn, is to spend the year abroad. Miss Alice Rowe, 1900, has taken a place on the official staff of the Inn. Miss Mabel A. Chase, Instructor in Physics in Wellesley College, 1890-1891 and 1893-1897, is promoted to the rank of Associate Professor in Physics in Mt. Holyoke College.

Mrs. Winifred Edgerton Merrill, 1883, announces the opening of "Oakmere," a school for girls, at Davenport's Neck, New Rochelle, New York.

Mrs. Mary Dransfield Allis, 1890, has spent the summer abroad. Miss Katharine Quint, 1890, will teach this year in the Woman's College of Baltimore, as a substitute for Miss Lila V. North, 1881-1883, who is on leave of absence. Miss Sarah Jane Freeman, 1891, and Miss Mary A. Davis, 1896, are conducting the Kenjockety Bindry, 1230 Amsterdam avenue, New York City.

Miss Mary E. Holmes, 1892, Associate Professor of Chemistry in Mount Holyoke College, is on leave of absence for the present year.

Dr. Roxana H. Vivian, 1894, sailed for Constantinople on August 25, to take up her work in the American College for Girls. Dr. Vivian stopped at Gibraltar, Naples, Athens, and Smyrna. The voyage was an unusually pleasant one.

Miss Theresa L. Huntington, 1896, has resigned her position as missionary of the American Board in Harpoot, Turkey. Miss Grace E. Bird, 1893-96, conducted, this summer, a camp for girls on Lake Stimson, in the White Mountains. Her permanent address is Plymouth, New Hampshire.

Miss Florence Breed, 1899, is to study this winter at Union Theological Seminary, New York City. Miss Frances H. Rousmaniere, 1900, who last June received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Radcliffe College, has accepted a position in the Department of Mathematics at Mount Holyoke College.

Miss Margaret Mills, 1901, has spent the summer in Europe. Miss Helen R. Norton, 1905, has returned for a second year as secretary of Miss Haskell's School, 314 Marlborough street, Boston.

The following positions to teach have been accepted for 1906-07: Miss Mabel Butman, 1887, and Miss A. Laura Batt, 1891, are teaching in the English High School, Somerville, Massachusetts.

Miss Elizabeth F. Abbe, 1888, is teaching in the Melrose, (Massachusetts), High School.
