

7-2-1901

Letter from James H. Bowditch, Boston, Massachusetts, to Anne Whitney, Boston, Massachusetts, 1901 July 2

James H. Bowditch

Wellesley College Archives

Follow this and additional works at: https://repository.wellesley.edu/whitney_correspondence

Recommended Citation

Bowditch, James H. and Wellesley College Archives, "Letter from James H. Bowditch, Boston, Massachusetts, to Anne Whitney, Boston, Massachusetts, 1901 July 2" (1901). Papers of Anne Whitney (MSS.4): Correspondence. 528.
https://repository.wellesley.edu/whitney_correspondence/528

This Correspondence is brought to you for free and open access by the Papers of Anne Whitney (MSS.4) at Wellesley College Digital Scholarship and Archive. It has been accepted for inclusion in Papers of Anne Whitney (MSS.4): Correspondence by an authorized administrator of Wellesley College Digital Scholarship and Archive. For more information, please contact ir@wellesley.edu.

JAMES H. BOWDITCH,

73 Tremont St., Room 902,
Long Distance Telephone, Haymarket 1667,
BOSTON.

LANDSCAPE GARDENING
AND FORESTRY.

July 2, 1901.

My dear Miss Whitney,

I arrived home safely last evening amid, of course, the congratulations of the family over my improved appearance.

My sister Louisa and her husband, Mr. Dean Pierce, returned on the same day from a fortnight's Salmon fishing on the Great Cascaedia (if this is spelt rightly) but her report failed to elicit the hearty applause that my report of our Sunday morning fishing by proxy at Shelburne did. Moreover she intimated pretty plainly that it entailed a terribly long tedious journey, and here again I had the advantage, of course. She caught no

Salmon, neither did I, so here at least honors were easy.

Justice to truth compels me say however that her husband caught two, and lost several others, a piece of one of the former I had for supper.

A new by fisherman landed a fifty-two pounder; fifty eight pounds being bogie for that river.

JAMES H. BOWDITCH,

73 Tremont St., Room 902,

Long Distance Telephone, Haymarket 1557,
BOSTON.

LANDSCAPE GARDENING
AND FORESTRY.

190

I want to thank you and Miss Manning for your kind tolerance of an uninteresting bachelor, who rarely indulges in visiting, and has therefore little to contribute to the general fund of such entertainment.

Today, I heard it said at lunch, that the Planters Compress Co. was looking much better.

This will serve to keen your sense of appreciation of any sources of business knowledge (?) and make even Miss Manning want a hundred shares at the present ridiculously low figure of eighteen, or thereabouts.

Very truly yours,

James H. Bowditch.

JAMES H. BOWDITCH,
LANDSCAPE GARDENER,
73 Tremont Street,
BOSTON.

Anne Whitney.
Shelburne,
New Hampshire.

