Three Years Defeat Wiped Out By Only Double Victory In League

Wellesley debuting emerged from its three years’ shadow Saturday evening, March 19, with a double victory over Barnard and Vassar. The judges gave their decision at Barnard unanimously and at Wellesley by a vote of two to one. The subject of the debate was “Be resolved: That the United States should further restrict European Immigration.” The work of the teams showed at the same time mastery of the position they were defending and thorough knowledge of the weaknesses in their opponents’ argument. Their readiness at incidental refutation was especially commendable.

Wellesley’s affirmative team did not defeat Vassar without great difficulty. The affirmative analysis was based on the two principles that America should admit no more immigrants than could be assimilated, and no more than could be absorbed into her economic life. The segregation of these poverty-stricken people in the industrial cities makes assimilation of any great numbers of them impossible. The cheapness of immigrant labor, resulting from ignorance and unemployment, and bringing with it a lowered standard of living, means that they are economically undesirable. The last affirmative speaker, Eleanor Burch, ’21, proposed a plan modeled generally on the Welty bill now before the Senate, for the regulating the numbers of immigrants to be admitted.

The negative met the affirmative squarely on the question of numbers, saying that the opposition of foreign governments, the effects of the war and the limited capacity of the steamships were all factors inevitably prohibiting any great influx of aliens.

The negative could not agree with the affirmative as to the figures of the actual numbers of immigrants arriving. Denying the arrival of great hordes, they claimed that America has already sufficient agencies for education.

The lamented demise of the old News board is always the occasion for a great deal of facetious crepe hanging. Perhaps this is well, for often real esteem degenerates into sentimentality when one attempts to put it into words. However, the new Board wants to pause a moment before it plunges into the labyrinth of headlines, dummies, and galley sheets, to say that the News appreciates this sene and unusual effort of which the News members of the Class of 1921 have exerted in its behalf.

A sense of proportion, an eye for the ridiculous, a discriminating appreciation, compounded with a redeeming degree of human fallibility, resulted in ’21’s contribution—a vision of a News assuming its proper place in the college community. ’21 has helped the Board to glimpse this vision, and the new News board can hope for nothing better than to build upon this foundation.

"AINT IT A GRAND AND GLORIOUS FEELING?"

For the first time in four years Wellesley has won a debate, in fact two debates. To Eleanor Burch and Ada Haasler, belongs the credit for this success. It was through their careful organization and management that the winning of the debate was possible.

The continued interest and work of Eleanor Burch in debating through two years of debate and her deserved this year's success of the affirmative team of which she was chairman. As president of the Debating Club, she so increased the number of active members that there was more material from which to choose this year's teams.

The analysis of the question used by Wellesley's victorious negative team was largely due to Ada Haasler. It was because of her coaching and supervision that the negative speakers at Barnard, all inexperienced in intercollegiate debating, did such singularly splendid work.

Too much cannot be said in appreciation of the officers of the Debating Club, the alternates, in fact everyone who has contributed in helping Wellesley win the debates.

COLLEGE NOTES

Miss Emily Tyler Holmes and her "fiasco" extensively entertained the college at an alfresco reception on Thursday, March seventeenth.

During the past week the following resignations from societies have been accepted: Eleanor Burch, Helen Robertson from Agora; Marcia Cressy, Janet Victorius from Alpha Rappa Chi; Dorothy Avery from Zeta Alpha. In general, dissatisfaction with the present society system has been the cause of the resignations.

Muriel Fritz, '20, spent the weekend in Stone.

The story of the love of Dante for Beatrice is the noblest love story in the world. At the age of nine, he first saw her and was filled with a love that never died. Love smote his genius into power. It was an ethereal and holy love, akin to the passion of a saint for a virgin. It was the love of a great poet for a spiritual ideal. Dante's supreme purpose was to say of her what had never been said of any woman and to rear an immortal monument to her. His solution of the problem of life was the idea that love is in all things. Primarily Dante was the great lover of beauty and of divine truth. In Prof. Dinsmore's opinion, he is the greatest of all Christian poets.

Like the Hebrew prophet, Dante felt called upon by God to give a definite message to mankind. He wrote not in Latin but in Italian, the tongue of the common people, so that his message should reach all. This message was that we should accept God's will—His will is our peace. Faith is not credulity but the look of the soul into truth. All our experiences are bound in love and find their significance in eternal love. "Our humanity is in God and God is in our humanity—This is the ultimate beatitude, beyond which there is no joy in this world or in the world to come."

DANTE, THE MAN AND HIS MESSAGE

"He is the Greatest Christian Poet," Says Prof. Dinsmore of Yale

Since 1921 is the six hundredth anniversary of the death of Dante, it seemed very fitting that Prof. Charles A. Dinsmore of Yale University, a noted Dante scholar, should speak to the college on March 18th. His subject was "Dante: The Man and His Message."

Every generation must rewrite its history; works of science are in vogue for only ten to fifteen years, before they must be revised; but poets endure forever. Only when truth is wedded to beauty is there immortality. Not only has the name of Dante lived.

The great singers of the ages are Homer, the poet of action, Shakespeare, the poet of passion, and Dante, the poet of the precision and majesty of moral law. Homer was of the ancients; Shakespeare of our modern complex civilization; while Dante was the inspired voice and interpreter of the ten chaotic centuries that fill the gap between the ancient world and Shakespeare. Not only was this great Italian the interpreter of the Middle Ages, but, according to Prof. Dinsmore, he was also the first modern man. He sang of love and sin—the force of modern fiction and poetry.

His was the first introspective mind—for he found his theme, the struggle of humanity, in his own soul.

The common impression of Dante is that he was a vindictive man, a volcano flaming with indignation. This idea probably comes from his death mask which, however, exaggerates his facial characteristics. It is true that Dante was a "good hater:" he believed that it was his duty to hate sin just as it was his duty to love virtue. But he was led by his admirations and his love, instead of by his vindictiveness. He had a sensitive nature; the world hurt him.

ZETA ALPHA PLAY

poems, was a surprise to the audience. Her charm and simplicity stood out in contrast with the blackness of her character as painted by Isabel. Phoebe Gross, '21, as Frieda Gilford, was altogether lovely. Her voice was soft, rich and every action was natural and effective. The audience was in hearty sympathy with Jeffery's renewed interest in history after the coming of his new secretary.

Although the parts played by Janet Ward, '22, and Dorothy Brengan, '22, were less important they stood out as the distinctive characters of Claude Gervoise and Alice Exner.

The setting of the first and third acts was in Jeffery Panton's rooms in London. His living room was in clev-or contrast with the crometoned sitting room of Mrs. Gilford in Act II and IV. Their masculine and feminine tastes proved different in every case except for the historical books.

Although Zeta Alpha has produced more perfect plays, as in the case of "The Tragedy of Nan" when a professional coach assisted, still the success achieved in "The Two Virtues," under the new dramatic plan, speaks highly for the members who so diligently worked to produce it.

The cast was as follows:

OSMOPOLITAN CLUB RECENTLY ORGANIZED
Under the enthusiastic sponsorship of Miss Hart, the Wellesley Cosmopolitan Club, is fast becoming a live college organization. Although the club has a definite constitution, its purpose may be well expressed by the following quotation from the constitution of the Harvard Club, with which it is to occasionally join for social functions. "To unite for their mutual benefit (college students) of all nationalities, and to stimulate a sympathetic appreciation of the character, problem, and intellectual currents of other nations."

The Wellesley Cosmopolitan Club enjoyed a most delightful evening at the Zeta Alpha house on Monday, March 7. Various American games were played and the evening ended with a marshmallow roast around the fire-place. Although it was decided to keep the Club an informal organization, the need and convenience of officers was keenly felt. Josephine Rathbone, '21, was elected president; and Carmen Arguinaldo, '24, secretary.

I went to the lecture at Billings
I was required to go,
The lecture was on something
I really had to know.
I went up very early,
And sat in the front row;
It was reserved for Faculty,
So back I had to go.
I stowed myself away at last
In the middle of the hall;
And then they moved to Chapel,
There wasn't room for all.
We rushed out from Billings
Of our seats bereft,
The late ones got there early,

By contact with the industrial group, the students will gain in the sympathy and understanding which are essential to the finest social teaching and leadership. The fellowship also provides instruction in the principles of social education and practice work in whatever phase of social education or reconstruction the student may desire.

The requirements for applicants are appropriate undergraduate courses, Economics, Sociology, Psychology, Biology, etc., evidence of good scholarship and satisfactory references as to health, character and special fitness for social work.

ALUMNAE BODY CONTRIBU TES
OVER MILLION TO FUND

Varied and Humorous Plans Adopted
To Raise Money For Drive
On March 21st, sixty per cent of the Alumnae body (5,800 girls) had contributed $1,002,306! At the rate we are going with bazaars, musicals, sales, gifts and benefit sales we shall soon raise the $2,700,000 ourselves.

The Glee Club Concert-Dance on April 1st at the Waldorf was a tremendous success as it not only cleared more than $2,000, but demonstrated that there are many very lovely Wellesley girls as nature.

Ideas for increasing the fund come in daily.

Mrs. Wm. W. Pickard, (Alice Rossington, '07), 83 Whifford Ave., Nutley, N. J., will send postpaid upon receipt of $1.00 one pound of creamy maple sugar made in the New Brunswick woods.

Mrs. Louis Halle (Rita Sultzheiser, '07), is sponsoring another rummage sale in Jamaica the second week in April. 219 Abingdon Road, Kew Garden, L. I. will reach her, if one wishes to mail contributions, although local gifts will be called for.

The Wellesley postcards which are miniatures of the lovely prize poster are on sale at 5c. each. Don't fail to buy a hundred. The postcards themselves sell for 50c. each, or $5.00 per dozen, or 100 for $25.

One girl reports $10 per week selling Wellesley gardens via telephone alone. If five thousand girls would sell five Peter rabbits or five Wellesley gardens each day via telephone, our coffers would be exceedingly enriched.

Emily Sophie Brown, '24, who made so much money for us during the restoration drive has agreed to read specimens of handwriting again. As Miss Brown is a member of the Connecticut Legislature she cannot promise to make a reading in less than two weeks time, but what she has to say is worth the wait and the money. Her charge is 25c., for each specimen when sent in groups of ten or more, 50c. for a single reading, and $1 for a more extended reading of a single specimen. All who solicit specimens for Miss Brown, should see that each specimen be:
1. Written with pen and ink ordinarily used by writer.
2. On unrulled paper.
3. Signed by the writer and sex stated if not shown by autograph.
4. At least 50 words in length.
5. Accompanied by proper fee and self-addressed stamped envelope for return.

NEW INTERCOLLEGIATE ORGANIZATION TO FOSTER STUDY OF MODERN PROBLEMS

Muriel Morris Elected President of Liberal League

"The purpose of our new organization," says Muriel Morris, president of the Intercollegiate Liberal League, "is to promote interest in modern questions, to develop an informed student opinion on social, industrial, political and international problems." Such is the scope of the organization formed by representatives of forty-five colleges at the Convention of Liberal College Students held in Cambridge, April 2nd and 3rd.

The primary aim of the League is to bring college students in touch with the practical and vital problems of national and international life. The national organization is to be made up of regional units which shall combine the liberal groups in neighboring colleges. This national unit plans to be affiliated with similar groups abroad, "with a view to an eventual international league of college liberals."

The flexibility of the organization permits any college student to become a member by paying the yearly dues of one dollar. When eighty per cent of the members of any group, such as our Forum, have become members of the League, the group automatically becomes part of the regional unit, and can send delegates to the district and national conventions. A central bureau and an executive committee will furnish speakers, literature and other forms of assistance to the groups. In this way it is hoped that men and women of achievement may be induced to devote a portion of their time to lectures in colleges.

The following new officers are working on a campaign for publicity and money, so that a formal secretary may be appointed in June to undertake the plans for next year:

Some misunderstanding seems to have arisen as to the radical tendencies of the organization. It intends to take no stand on the questions discussed, and to be subservient to no "isms," radical or otherwise. The League bases its activities on the encouragement of inquiry and the presentation of facts in any field which is offering a problem of national or world interest.

ORIENTAL PLAYS TO BE STAGED IN BARN

Wellesley Japanese Girls Rehearsing

Native Plays to be Given April 23

A bit of true east is to be brought to the stage of the barn, April 23. The Japanese girls of Wellesley are rehearsing two of their native plays which will give us an enlightened idea of etiquette in Japan.

The first of the two plays has been written by the girls themselves, and is a dramatization of the Japanese fable, "Rip Van Winkle." Given in their native language, it will be un-tellingly to most of the audience, but promises entertainment and an actual knowledge of Japanese acting.

"The Melon Thief," an interlude, will be given in English, translated literally from the original. In addition to the two plays there will be a prologue dance and an overture played on the Japanese harp. The scenery is to be painted by a Japanese artist, and the costumes are being made historically correct. All four girls, Kikus Ide, who is chairman of the entertainment, Matsuyo Takizawa, Yoshik Kasuya, and Yuki Domoto, worked on their costumes during vacation to make them according to the style of the times they represent.

The fact that only four girls are undertaking so much shows their desire to help Wellesley and to give to girls who have never seen Japan some true conception of it. The entire presentation of the two performances, afternoon and evening of April 23, are to be given for the Semi-Centennial Fund.

RECENT GIFTS TO THE LIBRARY

The birthday of Alice Freeman Palmer, February 21st, was this year as usual a red letter day for the Library, as it again received a gift from Professor Palmer, who, in spite of the war, came himself to bring forty volumes forming the collection of the first editions of the works of Byron, some of them enriched with valuable autographs.

Mr. E. Goodspeed also added to the Ruskin collection recently a series of portraits of Ruskin representing him from early manhood to old age. When the Boston Ruskin Club visited the Library, March 7th, these made a very appropriate decoration for the Treasure Room and were much enjoyed by the Club, who were enthusiastic over the whole Ruskin collection presented by Mr. Goodspeed last June.

Who Was Moseley?

He was a young Oxford man, only twenty-seven when he was killed at Gallipoli. Up to his time, man had never seen the inside of an atom. He turned the X-rays on matter—not figuratively but literally—and made them disclose the skeleton of an atom just as certainly as a surgeon makes them reveal the positions of the bones of the body. Moseley proved that all atoms are built up of the same kind of matter. He saw, too, just why an atom of copper is different from an atom of gold.

Atoms are built up of electrons. Each atom consists of a nucleus, a kind of sun, with a certain number of electrons grouped about it, like planets. Moseley actually counted the number of electrons of all the metals from aluminum to gold.

When you discover what gold is made of or a new fact about electricity, you open up new possibilities for the use of gold or electricity. For that reason the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are as much concerned with the "how" of things—atoms and electrons, for instance—as they are with mere applications of the electric current.

Hence Moseley's work has been continued in the Research Laboratories, with the result that more has been learned about matter. How does water freeze? What is lead? Why are lead, iron, gold and tungsten malleable? Such questions can be answered more definitely now than ten years ago. And because they can be answered it is possible to make more rapid progress in illumination, in X-ray photography, in wireless telegraphy, and in electrical engineering as a whole.

There would have been no coal-tar industry without the vast amount of research conducted in organic chemistry, and no electro-chemical industry without such work as Sir Humphry Davey's purely scientific study of an electric current's effect on caustic potash and caustic soda. Sooner or later research in pure science always enriches the world with discoveries that can be practically applied. For these reasons the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company devote so much time to the study of purely scientific problems.

Sherwood Eddy Discusses World Chaos

U. S. Held to be in More Serious Condition than England

Mr. Sherwood Eddy spoke on the challenge of the present world situation in the Chapel on Thursday evening, April 7. Mr. Eddy has just returned from a study of the conditions of the Asiatic and European nations.

The disorder in the world today is like that which has followed every great war. Mankind is on the march: it is passing from autocracy to democracy. Great changes are taking place. The question is whether these changes will come by revolution or by evolution. In England, in spite of strikes and differences, capital and labor are coming together on common grounds of humanity and Mr. Eddy feels sure they are going to avoid revolution.

To Mr. Eddy the situation in America is more serious than that of any other nation. The difficulty in this country is that the control of the wealth is in the hands of the few. The sugar, oil, automobile, meat-packing, tobacco and other great industries are controlled by a small number, and, as ownership of land, there are large privately-owned estates in the west that are ten times the size of the largest estate in Britain.

On the other hand, there are in the United States now four million unemployed men. In normal times, there are always ten million people in poverty. These constitute the social and industrial problem of the nation. Mr. Eddy says we are drifting blindly and unpreparedly into a great crisis. A solution must be found. Socialism will not do it; no paper system will do it; there must be a new spirit, a new attitude.

In the great social principles of Jesus, the solution is to be found. These principles are personality or the infinite worth of man, brotherhood, service, liberty, justice, account-ability, and the golden rule—to do as we would be done by. All are summed up in one word—love. Instead of this, the prevailing theory of life seems to embody possessions, strife, personal profit, injustice, selfishness and the rule of gold—all summed up in hate.

These two theories represent idealism versus materialism, the Christian versus the pagan. As great examples of the success of experiments where these principles have been applied to industry, Mr. Eddy spoke of co-operative movement in Great Britain, whose membership has grown from twenty-eight members to fifteen million; he also spoke of a factory in Calcutta where fairmindedness and the cooperation of employer and employees have resulted not only in their mutual benefit but in benefit to the whole industry.

All these problems need for their solution the minds of thinking men and women. Here, said Mr. Eddy, opportunity waits the students of America.

Lorna McLean Milne of 6 Glen Road, Lexington, Mass., has made $75.00 in one month by sending out aprons containing a packet to which is pinned the following verse:
"This little blue apron is sent to you / This is what we wish you would do / The little pocket you plainly see / For a special purpose is meant to be — / Now measure your waist line, inch by inch, / And see that the measure does not pinch.

Then send it, please, without delay / For the Wellesley Fund on Commencement Day.
Mrs. W. H. Riker, 404 Home Ave., Oak Park, Ill., will send, postage paid, upon receipt of one dollar, a Wellesley blue bonnetiere which has been made with extreme care by Wellesley girls. Those who wish to resell this really charming little article may order at the special rate of $7.75 per dozen.

Mrs. Joseph H. Gaskill, 200 East Main St., Morristown, N. J., will send 200 sheets of paper and 100 envelopes printed with any name and address upon receipt of $1.50.
The Wellesley blue gardens have been selling like hotcakes. The Cleveland Wellesley Club, which originally ordered 500 packets, has wired for 150 more. The interest in the gardens has led the Wing Seed Company of Mechanicsburg, Ohio, to offer Wellesley Women a chance to sell some wonderful varieties of iris on a fifty-fifty basis where orders are for $50 or more. A circular letter will be sent to those interested. Mrs. Willis Wing, (Eva M. Gay, ’97), is to select a new iris seedling which will be named Wellesley and it is hoped that everyone will begin planting iris after August. As a token of his appreciation, Mr. Wing is presenting to the college ten choice irises which is an exceedingly attractive gift when one realizes that the rare bulbs sell for $100 each.

Maude Ludington ’21 and Mildred Durant ’22 Return from Indiana With Interesting Story

"It is a big step forward for Wellesley's A. A. to be recognized among those of the large colleges and universities at a national athletic conference," said Maude Ludington, 21, President of Wellesley's Athletic Association, in speaking of the recent conference at the University of Indiana to which she was official delegate. The conference, under the auspices of the Athletic Confederation of American College Women, was the second (Continued on page 6, col. 1)

PROFESSOR GEO. W. SNOOK'S
LECTURE ON "GORTON'S CODFISHBONEBONES"

(A Write-up Dreamed by Our Special Correspondent at a Lecture)

Under the auspices of the department of Boneology, a stupifying lecture was mumbled to an audience required by several departments to be present, on Friday, the thirteenth, F. M., right after dinner, a few minutes before the faculty arrived at Billings.

Professor Snooks, observed the girl behind us, has brown whiskers and is from Harvard University. (Adv.) He has thoroughly digested his subject and easily carried away the interest of his audience.

The main point of the lecture seemed well-expressed by the student on our left, who whispered over and over to herself "In Case of Fire Walk Do Not Run to the Nearest Exit."

In support of this point, many instances were cited, and the speaker even took the trouble to show slides, upside down. These, he explained, were more difficult of execution than slides right side up.

After the thunders of applause at this maneuver had passed away, the lecturer further stated that it reminded him of an incident of his childhood, wherein his Sunday school teacher asked the class of little boys. (See The American Boy, April 1886.)

So great was the laughter that greeted this anecdote, that janitors with sprinkling cans were rushed to the scene to quell the hysteria. Solomon has a lecturer at Wellesley found his audience so demonstrative. At the close of Professor Snooks' remarks, a final tribute was accorded him by those present, who rose to their feet as one man and made for the doors.

PROFESSOR WRECKS BEECH
UPHOLDS TREE DAY

"What," interrogated the reporter expectantly, simultaneously opening her arctic and note-book, "is your opinion of Tree Day?" The w. k. tree authority replied as follows:

"Tree Day, my girl, has never attained to those ideals for which those who know and love trees have been ever striving. I pass over those Tree Days of bygone years which has been my privilege to consider failures. Should the Wellesley authorities reignite to me the directing of Tree Day festivities this Spring, I should indubitably make of them an unforseen success."

"What," queried the reporter, stroking the panting Adonais to quiet her yelps, "would be your method of procedure?"

"First," reiterated Mr. Beech, pointing to the quivering hound, "I should allow no barking at Tree Day, and Freshmen, evergreen, should be chained to Elms, Birches, or Maples. Now as for Tree Day itself. All the students' trunks should be brought from the dormitories by Mr. Oakes and his staff and placed in a semi-serious array on Tower Court Hill. To this should be added elephant trunks from the Zoo Lab. Students representing branches of learning, their limbs arrayed in leaves of absence..."

But Adonais at this juncture flèd precipitantly, and the reporter, securely tied to the other end of the leash, dug his footsteps.

SILVER BAY

The Intercollegiate Conferences at Silver Bay and Maqua bid fair to be even better this year than usual Courses are planned dealing with the problems of the college woman, the position of the church in the world today, fundamentals of Daily Living, lectures in Word Fellowship and Christian fundamentals. There will also be the usual student mass meetings and discussion groups. Before leaving Wellesley every girl should go to either Silver Bay or Maqua. College girls tend to become local and self-centered, and these conferences offer the opportunity of meeting other colleges and learning their problems. For those who are interested, further information will be posted on the G. A. bulletin board. If there are any questions, see Elizabeth Rand, 319 Casenove.
A. A. SPELLING MATCH WON BY FRESHMEN

Proceeds Go to '24 for the Fund

The eighth grade atmosphere was effectively created Saturday evening at an old-fashioned spelling-bee given in the Barn by A. A., to help the Fund both financially and by publicity.

Marcia Cressey, '21, as "Teacher" introduced the visiting trustees, who occupied the platform in awful dignity and beamed condescendingly upon each earnest pupil. "Teacher" then announced that to the child who stood up longest would go the proceeds of the whole affair, for her class.

Ten representatives were chosen from each class, '21, and '22 against '23 and '24. Some confusion was caused by certain unruly small boys, in the persons of Barbara Bean, '21, Leslye Thomas, '21, and Carr Iglehart, '22, whose whispering and fist fights required several reprimands from teacher.

The class bore up nobly through the comparatively simple words in the speller, but when "Teacher" fell back on the dictionary, many fell by the wayside. The slaughter occasioned by "picromel" was appalling. The suspense was tremendous as only two on each side were left, and the audience of the fallen felt obliged to relieve its feelings by singing the classic "School Days."

Three of the remaining four went down on "onomatopoeia" and Beatrice Wyer, '24, triumphantly gave the correct version and received congratulations with becoming modesty.

Some of the children then spoke pieces, and Carr Iglehart and Barbara Bean as brother and sister gave a duet about Samuel and his solitary "camel" which was immensely popular, particularly after the entrance of the "camel." Leslye Thomas caused "Teacher" a good deal of uneasiness by being at once drunk and feeble-minded for her classmates' entertainment. Aimée L. Bettman recited a sad little poem about a beau of hers and then "Teacher" obliged by giving "Hamlet" and "The Minister," which were received with enthusiasm.

The party broke up with the Virginia Reel, followed by the customary jazz, as furnished by a five-piece orchestra. It is estimated that about thirty dollars were cleared from the admission fees of fifteen cents and the sale of lollipops and this amount will go to 1924's credit to help along the Fund.

APPOINTMENT BUREAU OFFERS POSITIONS FOR SENIORS

Details regarding positions mentioned in this column will be furnished by the Secretary of the Appointment Bureau in response to inquiry by letter or in office hours, No. 1, Administration Building. The prefixed number should be mentioned.

123. The Secretary of the Appointment Bureau has been asked to suggest candidates for appointment under a school system in a city of Colorado. The salaries are good and the location one of much beauty and fine opportunities.

124. Someone able to teach English and either French or German is needed for a school in one of the chief cities of China, preparatory to a medical school in the same city, under the management of American trustees. The position is thus not strictly in missionary work. The period of service is two years and the salary is to be about $3000 with some further allowance for rent and probably for travel.

125. An executive agent for a county child welfare board is needed in a Middle-West state. The position is for someone who has had such training in child and educational psychology as to be able to give mental tests as well as to meet the other duties of the position.

126. A position with opportunities for training is offered in a charitable organization in southern New England. The salary would be fair and the opportunity of advancement well worth while.
LIBRARY EXHIBITS LUTHER AND DANTE RELICS

This year the Protestant world will celebrate the four hundredth anniversary of Luther's historic stand before the Diet of Worms, April 18th, 1521, was the date when the young monk faced the Diet or Congress of the Empire consisting of the Emperor, princes of the realm and representatives of the Free Cities, and refused to recant.

The College Library possesses a rather remarkable collection of material connected with the Reformation in Germany, including very rare editions of works of Luther, Melancthon and other reformers as well as books bearing autographs of Melancthon.

and other contemporaries of Luther, including Hubert Languet, the humanist and friend of Sir Philip Sidney. The Bible which once belonged to Melancthon is, of course, one of the greatest treasures. These books will be on exhibition in the cases outside the Treasure Room, beginning April 16th.

This year also, both Catholics and Protestants celebrate the six hundredth anniversary of the death of Dante, the great Italian poet, who, though remaining a devoted churchman yet protested against the corruption of the papacy of his time. An exhibition of manuscripts and early traditions of the works of Dante and his contemporaries will be found in the cases near the Plimpton and History Rooms.
