Mrs. PATTERSON WILL GIVE PRACTICAL MUSICAL TALKS

The notice on the Prayer announcements of the following series of musical meetings in the Chapel will be the following week's call for a word of explanation:

Mrs. Patterson does not come to give sermons or lectures on the Bible. Those are not discussion groups but are best characterized by the word which she herself uses, namely, "practical," because she is expected that she will deal with relations or philosophical questions, and the like, in a practical, logical, and practical manner, to explain the Bible to others. She will show how to live a spiritual life, how to realize the importance of God in the life of his children.

"Mysticism" is an attractive theme these days. It is important to understand what it means and to begin to practice it. It is the hope of the Christian Association that she will help others.

REV. CHARLES ARBUCKLE TO ADDRESS CHAPEL ON SUNDAY

Reverend Charles N. Ar bushke will speak at Chapel next Sunday morning, February 16, at 10:45 a.m., in the Chapel of the Baptist Church in Newton Center. Mr. Ar bushke is a noted scholar and community worker. Mr. Ar bushke has preached for us each year at Assembly, and has been a valuable member of our College community.

DEAN WAITE RETURNED AFTER EXTENDED TRAVELS IN EUROPE

After having traveled with her sister across the United States, Dean Waite has been in Europe for six months. On her return, Dean Alice V. Waite has returned to Wellesley to revise her physics lectures in the admission of the students. Dean Waite and her sister sailed after the close of class, July 29, and before to their home where they stayed until October.

The last three months were spent in Italy, with visits to the smaller towns, where she and her sister stayed for two weeks each in Florence and two months in Rome. In Rome, Dean Waite was connected with the American Academy as visiting professor of New York. She also lectured on art and art subjects. She was also associated with the study of art subjects, and at table with the students in the country just outside Rome.

Wellesley-Deerfield Professors in Rome

Dean Waite was very pleased to able to see such a beautiful view of Rome. On her return, she is now in Rome. With them, they took trips to see Harter's Baths, Palatine Hill, and the baths of the Colosseum. A short stay was made in Florence, where she was able to see many of the art works of the past. Miss Averill read a paper on the Academy in the American Academy, and was present at the meeting of the Academy, and at table with the students in the country just outside Rome.

STUDENTS ARE BENEFITED BY THE FINES ON LIBRARY BOOKS

While it is not the proposal of the Library that the returning of books later in the nine months is not going to be satisfactory, it is a step forward in the improvement of the Library. For the most part, the money taken in from careless offenders is expended in the repair of the books. This is a step forward in the improvement of the Library.

COLLEGE NOTES

The members of the Gardner club held tea for its freshmen on Friday, January 20, and on Wednesday, February 3. The tea on January 20 was held in Tower Court, after the exams in Freshman composition; the tea on February 3 was held in the Music building with music by the orchestra. The students sang "Onward, Christian Soldiers." The tea was enjoyed by all.

Most of the college dormitories have had tea or parties during examination time. The tea was served every afternoon, while others had special parties.

Grace Fried, '31, will be Miss Lockwood's assistant in the literature department for the second semester. The Rev. M. Hamilton of the Alpaca Department has been made a member of the American Association of University Teachers.

Wellesley was the site of the first meeting in this country at Riverhead, Long Island, December 23-25, 1921.

The St. Ides Hall held a cotillion and breakfast party on Sunday, February 7.

All during the examination period the Christian Association held social visits to various banks in the dormitories at 9:30.

A coupon for Margaret Mead '26 was given in Agnus Sacred Heart, February 3, by Mildred Frink '26 and Market House '25.

Miss Donnan, Mr. Whitney, and Dr. W. H. Smith spent the week end at the Library, visiting the departments in connection with the personal equation, which is so hard to affect professors when marking papers, and to understand the life of the students. Nothing is left to opinion, for provision is made for such cases of question as to the personal equation, which is so hard to affect professors when marking papers.

It is thought that, through this type exam, a greater standardization of the work of students may be obtained, eliminating the possibility of a student's grading Phi Beta Kappa. The exam is given after the first and second quarters of classes.

Student Refuse Phi Beta Kappa

DAY OF JUDGMENT

Ironically soon to St. Valentine's buy comes a time which is felt to be a true and righteous day of judgment. The hour when marks are apportioned to the good and the bad, the happy and the sorrowful, the day when the gods are supposed to take away a great amount of their work and begin their judgment. A letter of the alphabet is to be sent up on some one's accomplishment. This is a day when someone will label them with the appellation "false" or "worth-while." For some...
March in Review

The concert on the evening of February 2 by Louis Siegel, violinist, and Jessie Miller (Mrs. Siegel), pianist, proved to be an unusual and most interesting type. The program was made up entirely of novelties with intriguing titles, and Mr. Siegel's skill and the co-operative efforts on the piano offered added very much to their significance.

Mr. Siegel has had a noteworthy career. He was a wonder-child, giving first prizes at the large Conservatory before he entered his teens. When he graduated he began concertizing, continuing with success until in an argument with the war he entered the United States Secret Service and at the conclusion of the war he was learning the trade, and, in accordance with the conditions laid down, prepared to become an artist, and with headquarters in New York. He established centers in Buffalo and Rochester and in other cities, becoming an apostle of a more rapid and intimate performance of music; practically a new movement, and, as naturally or unusually significant was his at this time that he met Mrs. Siegel, and after they joined forces they occurred to them that it would be well while to attempt the popularizing of the best music through this (as pianist, Chopin, Beethoven and Schubert and many others, or for the most part stimulating them. Mr. Siegel exhibited the manner of making an appearance with the audience the day before Tuesday night, for his concert was never without stimulation and did not fail to impress the audience as well as the music of the mind, or, in a sentence thereabout the composition. These must have had as helpful to the audience in general as they were in any particular. Whether this method in the long run will give any real, abiding effect, leaves appreciation of good music another question.

Residents of COLLEGE NEWS will remember that the program beginning at four o'clock on the second floor of the large and impressive new building and pieces by Tchaikovsky, Beethoven, and many others will be followed by a band of modern and ultramodern soloists by Medwin, Straus, and Schuyler, also the leading. A band of Miss Siegel's and by him fitted for concert performance, are charming in their simplicity; they were played less than the usual dance. The program of Miss Siegel's was the style of Schuyler, who is known for his ability to charm the audience with his own compositions, and the style of the orchestra, is a form of Miss Siegel's and, as Miss Siegel's and by him fitted for concert performance, are charming in their simplicity; they were played less than the usual dance. TEACHING OF GENERAL SCIENCE

HAS WIDE FIELD FOR SERVICE

The Board of Operations has prescribed the following letter on the teaching of General Science from Eunice E. Franklin, '76, member of Committee for Foreign Missions, of the Department of the Science for the State of New Jersey.

"Have you thought what you are going to teach after college? Have you given much consideration to the subject which you desire to teach after you complete your studies? Have you been considering about your own interests and ambitions, the field of study which you may wish to select for your future work? These are all questions which you should seriously consider. The choice of a subject to teach is of the utmost importance. You should choose a subject which you enjoy teaching, and which you believe will be enjoyed by your pupils.

"General Science is a wide field of study and offers many opportunities for service. It is a science which is necessary for all education, and is particularly important in modern education. It is a science which is rapidly advancing, and offers many interesting problems for study. If you are interested in science, and believe that you have a talent for teaching, you should give serious consideration to the teaching of General Science."

PERSONNEL-CAREER FIELD HERE PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

The conference of professional workers in General Science held here on January 29 and 30 was a great success. Among those present were Dean Martin of the University of Chicago, and President Roosevelt, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. President Roosevelt, Professor of Mathematics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Director of Science, and President of the Boylston Foundation, in Massachusetts, and Mr. Boylston, Associate Professor of Psychology at the Massachusetts Institute.

The conference opened with a dinner to be served at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. At the dinner, the important questions of general science and science teaching were discussed. The main topic of the conference was the future of science teaching in the United States, and the means by which it can be improved. The conference was attended by many of the leading scientists of the country, and the discussions were of great interest to all those present.

One of the important questions discussed was the importance of science teaching in the education of young people. It was agreed that science teaching is essential for the development of a healthy and intelligent citizenry. The importance of science teaching was emphasized by the fact that science teaching is not only important for the development of individuals, but also for the development of society. The conference was concluded with a banquet at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and the proceedings were followed by a dance in the evening.

The conference was a great success, and it is hoped that it will serve as a stimulus to the improvement of science teaching in the United States. The discussions were of great interest to all those present, and the proceedings will be published in a separate volume. The conference was attended by many of the leading scientists of the country, and the discussions were of great interest to all those present.
