THE FIELD OF PUBLIC HEALTH
HAS GOOD OPENING FOR WOMEN

On Tuesday evening, March 23, Dr. Winthrop, Professor of Public Health in Yale University, spoke on "The Opportunities for Women in the Field of Public Health." Beginning with the personal hygiene of the Greeks, and the Roman sanitation, he traced the history of Public Health work through the Middle Ages when the great reaction against personal hygiene was brought about by the church idea which connected care of the body with sin.

Modern Public Health began in England, as a result of the combined forces of scientific knowledge and the humanitarian movement of the eighteenth century. In its history it has passed through five stages of development: which defines the phases of the work, environmental sanitation, bacteriology, education in Personal Hygiene, grouping together of scientific knowledge to prevent disease, and the economic problems. One of the great ideas that America has given to the world, among these lines, is the public health nurse.

There is at the present time a lack of personnel in this "pioneer" work. Trained women in the Social work domain are in demand, medical doctors, and especially community workers. There is a career that is open to the woman who has executively a desire to work in this line and who does not overlook lack of a love of adventure.

STUDENTS GIVE AN EXCELLENT MUSIC RECITAL AT BILLINGS

Another short recital was given by a group of students in the Music Department, on Tuesday afternoon, March 25, in Billings Hall. The well-balanced program, containing a wide selection of piano and voice, began with a Schumann Adagio and Variation for piano, played by Helen Wilson '26 and Lillian Fritz '26. It was played admirably together. Following this, Marie Chittick '26 gave a sweet and accurate rendering of two French ballads: Geheime Liebe by Maximil and L'Heure Exquise by Reynaldo Hahn. With Mr. Hamilton accompanying her, Margaret Elster '27 played the first movement of Beethoven's Opus 40, followed by a charming group of French ballads, Petits Poèmes by Philidor, Le Chanteur by Chausson, and Ariette by Vidal. In conclusion Alice Walker '25 and Karl-Erich Schadow '28 played a Waltz by Beethoven arranged for two pianos and executed with the most delicate touch with commendable skill.

DEACONESS PHILPS DESCRIBES EDUCATIONAL WEEK IN CHINA

"I believe in the Golden Rule," the opening statement of Deaconess Phillips in her informal talk on China April 7 at Washington House, under the auspices of C. A. Scandinavian Deaconess Phillips has never regretted going to China and believes that women who could she have found such a satisfactory work.

Deaconess Phillips found work in China very interesting, for the country is changing more rapidly than anywhere. Twenty years ago, when she was first sent to China, there were no schools for girls except mission schools on the coast. There were no women teachers, and only old men, with no modern training, were available as instructors of young girls. To-day there are so many girls' schools in China that they can be afforded. Indeed, within the last twenty years, the whole Chinese framework has been reorganized. Books were formerly written in a dead language, which had been spoken. The Bible was the first book to be translated into the common language, which is now taught in modern schools.

The main purpose of Deaconess Phillips, who comes from a large family of Chinese, is to establish and maintain schools. They are provided by the western missionaries and are of superior quality. The Chinese are not expert in Christianity, but only against what they misunderstand Christianity to be. They wish American cooperation and, as she has been told, they do not want any missionary or non-missionary in the schools.

SPRING FEVER IN THE FOREIGN SUGGESTIONS FOR REORGANIZATION OPPORTUNITIES

Spring every year, for several years, has brought out a fever of discourage- ment in the Forum. This year it has been far worse. All through the world, I think, that there is some inherent feeling of suspicion among the students about the reform, and that this is due, in some part, to the fact that we have not yet developed a system which is sufficiently good to attract the interest of the students. In any case, I think that the students are very much dissatisfied, and if they are, then it is time that we should be working on something much nearer to a superficial satisfaction than a superficial dissatisfaction. It is time that the Forum should be opened to discussion.

Many have urged strongly that flexibility in the form of discussing groups be developed to meet the changing and growing demands of the students. Constructive plans have been offered, which, if adopted, would make the Forum a real, living, breathing thing. The first step would be cooperation with the Debating Club, Cosmopolitan Club, outside Industrial and the League of Women Voters, and so on. A new project to the college community will be held in the Forum, and all are encouraged to watch for the date of the meeting, and to come to discuss the suggestions to be offered to other organizations which they may have.

Helene Morris
President of Forum.

C. E. F. GIVEN ITS RISING TO THE WORLD

The origins and the growth of the International Federation of Student's are the result of youth to youth movement in the post-war period. An article of articles appeared in the Northern Clitorians written by Mr. A. B. C. I. F. E. of which the author was interested in the development of the same organization. He stated that the "financial situation of European students after the war was the worst in the history of the entire world, because the war had caused a decrease in the amount of their income, and the want of resources for larger and more responsible projects." The international cooperation of the world is a condition which makes it a difficult task to establish a common bond of their economic policy. The international cooperation of the world is necessary for the preservation of the "honor of our nation" and the "internal honor of all the students".

"EDITOR'S NOTE"

The members of the Board of Directors of the Wellesley Students' Aid Society have received a letter from the secretary of the Society, Dr. E. W. Williams. In the letter, the secretary of the Society, Dr. E. W. Williams, informed the members of the Board of Directors of the Wellesley Students' Aid Society, that the aid society has been established in the name of Mrs. Curtis and the same financial aid will be used in granting financial assistance to the students who have not received enough financial aid from other sources.

"THE FUTURE OF THE WELLESLEY STUDENTS' AID SOCIETY"

The aid society has been established in the name of Mrs. Curtis and the same financial aid will be used in granting financial assistance to the students who have not received enough financial aid from other sources. The aid society will be operated on the same principle as the aid society of the Wellesley College, which was established in 1905.

"MUSK IN THE AIR"

The present performance of the new-organized Wellesley Choral Club with the Yale Oleo Club stands as a symbol of the new spirit of the entire college. Wellesley may be proud of this new activity, which has been organized by an organization which holds up as high standards of music as does the Yale Oleo Club. The music of the students was of unusual excellence. The directors of the students will do well to see what this means.

BUREAU OF OCCUPATIONS HAS INSTRUCTION FOR APPLICANTS

The Bureau of Occupations issues the following instructions to be observed by all applicants writing for a position in case she has already registered with the Bureau of Occupations. These instructions should be helpful to applicants who are planning to apply for positions.

The Application for a Position

It is assumed that the applicant for a position has completed her application with the college Bureau of Occupations. A candidate who cannot refer to a previous application of this type is always at a disadvantage, as it is not easy to collect credentials in any other way. Should the candidate write a number of letters of application to similar business firms with which she has no connection? Definitely, not! Such a letter is not at all in keeping with the character of the Bureau of Occupations or of Wellesley College. It is not unusual to receive applications from schools or firms with which she has some connection or of which she has definite knowledge. Let us assume that she has learned of a teaching position, either in the same college or elsewhere, which may be suitable for her. Surely, then, it is a teaching position, though practically all that is said of the kind of letter of application will apply in other cases. What should she include in her first letter?

The candidate will be greatly assisted in framing her initial communication if she will remember that its purpose is to give, as briefly as possible, some evidence of her special qualifications for the position which is vacant. A member of the senior class may well include the following points:

1. A statement that the candidate wishes to be considered in connection with the position advertised.
2. A statement that the candidate hopes to take the degree of Bachelor of Arts in June, 1926, at Wellesley College.
3. The major subject or subjects in the college course.
4. The amount of professional training—courses in Kindergarten, elementary, secondary, and college experience, etc.
5. Any special qualifications not included in the foregoing list; as, for instance, editorial work on a college periodical, her work in the college debating society, or her position in the University of English.
6. Reference to the college Bureau of Occupations for credentials.

Examples of Letters Given

The letter should be prepared with great care. The English should be above reproach, not merely in punctuation, spelling, and sentence structure, but also in diction, and organization of thoughts. Moreover, the letter offered to the writer is addressed should be able to write the letter of application as a person acquainted with the courtesy of epistolary English. The application letter is, for the most part, the type that would be considered to be the waste-basket; the second, a letter that might be addressed to a school officer if there were a vacancy in his school.

No. 1

Wellesley College, Massachusetts, March 1, 1926.

Mr. John Doe
Superintendent of Schools,
Dobbin, Connecticut.

Dear Sir:

I have in the past been interested in a vacancy in Math in your school, and should you desire me to apply for the position, I would be glad to do so. The Bureau of Occupations would recommend me to you as a suitable candidate for a high school position. Please let me hear from you as soon as possible.

Yours truly,
Mary Jones

No. 2

Wellesley College, Massachusetts, March 1, 1926.

Mr. John Doe
Superintendent of Schools,
Dobbin, Connecticut.

My Dear Mr. Doe:

Through the Wellesley College Bureau of Occupations I have learned of a vacancy for next year in the Department of Mathematics in your high school and I am writing to ask that you will kindly consider my name in connection with the position.

I am a candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, at Wellesley College, June, 1926. My major subject in college has been Mathematics, and my Minor Physics. My courses in Education will enable me to meet the requirements of your state for a "Limited, Certified, Secondary Certificate" to teach high schools. Although I have held no regular teaching position, I have had experience, throughout two summers, as tutor in Algebra and Geometry. The Wellesley College Bureau of Occupations will be glad to send you copies of my credentials if you care to examine them. If you desire a personal conference with me, I should be very glad in message one if it is possible.

Thanking you for your consideration you may give to my application, I am,
Very sincerely yours,
Mary Jones.

There are, of course, many possible varieties of good letters. No. 2 is, perhaps, the type one that might be used. No. 3 is a very poor one if it is simply

A Candidate must, therefore, consider her position in the light of the kind of letter of application which she has written, or would write if she were writing for the first time.
