WELLESLEY COLLEGE NEWS

The News is glad to present extracts from the letters received by Anna Harriet Swaggett, President of 24, from Miss Anna Wagner and the Secretary of the sophomore class of Wellesley College.

From Miss Wagner:
"I came out to teach in this fall and part of my job is to keep you in touch with Wellesley and Wellesley with you. I was telling one of the Sophomores here about May Day and Tree Day when we conceived the idea that maybe that might be a good time for the Sophomore class to make greets to their sister class at Wellesley. The greets took the form of notes which are quite the "chirp" in Peking, and which the girls hope you will fly and so bring Yenching spirit before the eyes of the entire college. Because of the interrupted communications due to the war I doubt whether the idea will get to you for May Day, but if they don't, you might try this Tree Day or some other auspicious time!"

"I am enclosing with this letter a greeting from the secretary of the Sophomore Class. I wish I could write Chinese one half as well as these girls wrote Yenching."

"Life is very hectic here these days, so I am not able to write more than to the white of a blanking page. That is what we are doing and I am sure that it is slightly restricted. You have probably read in the newspapers the terrible shooting tragedy in which one of our Sophomores was killed. We lived through some awful days.

From the secretary of the Sophomore Class, Katherine Heit:"
"Dear Friends,

As we are sophomore girls of your sister college beyond the deep little ocean which separates us, we are anxious to keep in touch with you by means of writing, though we have no chance of coming into contact with each other personally. Probably you'd like to hear us too. This is why I represent the class in writing this letter and tell you something about our class and our college.

Hereewith please find some Chinese kites which we present to you as a gift, and we hope you will fly them in time of your Happy May Pole day so as to give you some contribution of joy.

Now in China, it is the very season for us to fly kites. It is indeed charming to see boys and girls flying their kites on the meadows with their merry and bright colored kites, so spirit. Probably you will at least have some conception of the beautiful spring scene in Peking. We wish your same imagination while you fly these typical Peking kites.

There are about thirty of us in our class. All the girls have their little tiger coquettes towards us. As we are not very strong in Peking, we get several wonderful ball players and some excellent tracks of the best marks. We wish you all to keep it up. Our college will be moved to Nan Hsing this year, which is a new place of natural beauty. We will then have some leisure time more than now. Please give us your time, for we love to hear from you. We will also keep correspondence with you."

With best wishes I am
Very sincerely yours,
F. D. MILLBURN, 1911.

Students of University of Paris rise out of lectures hall, a reaction against authority, and some students report a crowd collections of 3000 men and women, mainly students, have gathered in the Place de la Sorbonne to see some selected student editor gather a crowd of dis- pater against the Sorbonne. The result of this uprising are easily summed up, the French Government, in a closure and anti-clerical sentiment, has announced the closing of the Sorbonne.

The results of these uprisings are easily summed up, the French Government, in a closure and anti-clerical sentiment, has announced the closing of the Sorbonne. The closure of the Sorbonne, which is the oldest and most famous university in Paris, is a blow to the prestige of the French Republic. The Sorbonne is a symbol of French culture and education, and its closure is a setback for the French government.

The closure of the Sorbonne is a reaction against the French government's anti-clerical policies. The French government has been trying to reduce the influence of the Catholic Church in France, and this has led to a clash between the government and the Church. The closure of the Sorbonne is a way for the French government to assert its control over the country.

The closure of the Sorbonne has also caused a reaction among the students. The students are Calling for an end to the closure of the Sorbonne and for the government to reverse its anti-clerical policies. The students are also calling for greater freedom of speech and press, and for the government to respect the rights of the people.

The closure of the Sorbonne is a significant event in French history, and it has caused a reaction among the people. The closure of the Sorbonne is a symbol of the struggle between the government and the Church, and it is a reminder of the importance of the Sorbonne in French culture and education.
DO YOU LIKE THE IDEA?

A little over two years ago the News was donated to the Columbia University's Iliad column in a free-volume Pearson—a change which has received both laud and blame. Interest in both columns has increased in advertising, and in news matter. At this time no correspondence is in the subscription price was made. The News is still growing; but now, however, the editors from their experiences in the expansion and are trying to grow in a more satisfactory form for the Literary Imprint. After much thought and planning, we are now ready to make the millions.

Next year we will start the new year's subscription price and will also report such matters as now seem necessary, and perhaps the name of the column will be changed. We will do our best to make it popular.

IS WELLESLEY HUNTED?

Every year after Open House time, an ugly old ghost is thought to haunt Wellesley. He has been reported lurk behind the closed doors, and in the chandeliers of the dormitories of all six of our society houses. His faces those who see him say, is particularly disturbing to those who pass by that hall, but that his ghost is always there, is unknown to the other. The reasons for his presence are not known to the students, but it is possible that he is related to the old traditions of the college.

THE OLD STORY

To the Wellesley College Column:

Wellesley grounds are beautified! We have the pleasure of having our old friends around with pride in the fact that we have grown. We have taken more than a lifetime to create the artificial and thus add to the beauty of our college.

In it the presence of the changing body of students to help in the creation of more beauty. No. We have had so much to learn. Perhaps, it is not widely known how extensive and carefully the student body is involved in the changes of the future. But it is up to us to impressively work with the perfection of what already exists. If you yourself do not find on paper the results of the many new ideas that have been planted, do not go on paper which has been printed and as such have been excited; help create public opinion by showing active disapproval of those things.

In the coming months we are to expect a bit of change, a bit of beauty to appear. Try it some time and see if your reactions towards the college.

EDITORIAL

Specious & prosaic at these season, the editors believe, and even more so those who sit behind the great screen of the school are avoided by those staying at home. It is especially to open staying at home by those who have never been abroad. In the spirit of the times we can express our feelings to our readers, advising them:

First, Smile. Smile! Smile!

There's no place like home. A rolling stone gathers no moss.

(Or of course this kind of advice isn't practical.)

Second, Don't think you are missing anything. You can, if you desire it, rent your summer shanties at home with little expense. Get out of there. Make your own camp, and have your picture taken. Rent a horse and carriage, and take a cane ride on a rainy day.

Have someone jiggle your rope swing while you write. Now you're in the country. It's a good thing to have a case or two around for meeting any art gallery, and scatter tips with your friends. You'll be sure to go out of your way.

SOBREY'S FORECAST FOR THE YEAR

For that "square" feeling:

1. Stay on deck, and eat a hot one.
2. Keep your eyes on the water.
3. Take no vacations.
4. Chose one, but don't follow.
5. It is customary to fish the mouths, with varying results.

SPAIN IS A TREASURE HOUSE OF UNUSUALLY BEAUTIFUL ART

The great art and culture of Spain was enthusiastically described to a large audience in Alumni Hall on the evening of May 18 by Mr. Ralph Alger Johnson, "Dame of the University of Basle." Since his discovery of the Devon prehistoric sites four years ago, Mr. Cran has found it "almost impossible to write of the country except with enthusiasm." His enthusiasm for the country was echoed not only by the educated audience of Basle scholars and travelers, but by the general public throughout Spain, and it spread to the entire world.

Carter's, BLU-Rex Ink
It writes and stays a new and beautiful blue—good look and good to look at! It's not one of the interrupt NX —for it flows freely, never gums up a nib nor interrupts thought.
—for it doesn't "bleed" (drip) from steel and flexible pointed pens.
—for it is easily washed from clothes. An important swatch for victims of ink accidents.

Just an inkling of the satisfaction—when you write with Carter's BLU-Rex.
It's the ink that makes your pen behave!
Use a nibilp on paper! If naturally shy (meanin' modest), use the coupon! We are giong bug on your future repeats for Carter's BLU-Rex and your good will.

P.S. Don't ask to see the Carter Pen and Carter Pencil for you'll fall for them sure!
