Cold Strike Still Unresolved

AGED SPARKS ROUT GIRLS

The discovery of Diah Hard, a syndicate member of Brick Hall, in a half frozen condition at 9:17 P.M. Jan. 31 occasioned the greatest concern to college authorities, who could not imagine the cause of Miss Hard's sudden illness. The student was not injured in any other way and she declared she had not entered into a violent mood with the student at Boiler Court who began to jeer her one day last week at 2:30 AM. Miss Hard who resides on the second floor of the upper floors of Brick Hall declared that she just did not feel anything, and while she was talking the wall and upon arriving at the floor of Brick Hall she decided it would be easier to retake her science than her room.

Friends Fear Fatal Effects from Frozen Fist Fight

The many friends of Miss Mary South of this college are extremely anxious as to her condition as we go to press. The injuries which have been pouring into college from last night's widespread concern and we anticipate the welcome recovery of the student's near tragic accident last night.

GRID IRON ADVISES STUDENTS IN TODAY'S ARTICLE OF STUDENTS

The first thing to do is to go down the corridor and stop every victim playing "WHO." Presumably that is where your campaign is strongest. Then turn off the radiator to stop the rustling. If you are particular, you can connect the clearnights with their choral rendering of "Ode to Joy" at both sides of your office.

You put on your glasses when the official told you you needed wear them at all the time, and which he lost last November. They are in the desk drawer. You can enjoy polishing them but you decide that they don't fit your nose or else ear is a couple of inches below your other. You look at your ears in the glass. They are funny. You put your glasses on the box if you can't find something to read.

WELLESLEY FACULTY BATTERS WEAK DEFENCES OF STUDENTS

Lake Waban, the Mr. Waban Pool, furnish a good place of fire for the College Ice Carnival, and the bustling festive scene is some class. "Snappy Fairies" the great Wellesley skater, is guaranteed to make a show up among skaters. The Wellesley ballyhooes take things too easy to stand up on them. Wilkinson, Mason, and Norton, the three other dependables of the College who must be sure not to win the ice more than three times an afternoon, are thinking of attending if they can't get places for the nature or non-sporing. It is expected, however, that they will with "Have to whine" on unseasonable quantities. "Fat" Shinghans will attend as hot dogs and H/banner bars are served.

There has been in the last week a persisting tendency to sneeze. Every one was in excellent equitation by leaping in triple, that is in walking down to the village every hour. The sneaks were hoppers. The young heroes and the means, hard-driving players of the faculty turned out with chocolate sundries. They did not mean designing, but in their books knowing that you can't tell a book by its cover. The line up of the fact's was, hard-conditioned, but deadly in a quiet, sure-fire way.

SNAPPY WELLESLEY SCOOTER SAYS TOO COLD FOR SKATING

"Babe" Papoulis, who takes the wind out of every last little scooter on the Wellesley front waves that cold weather was never meant for skating. "Babe" always felt pretty confined until she took her physical examination, and she says now they have told her that she hasn't even a hip in place.

She says she is afraid of pneumonia. This sitting on the ice for a while afternoons is at a time is dangerous.

With what browes must we restrain the possibility that is revealed in the article, page 5, column 2 of this issue.

When such things are possible, parish service. Why not? Where the howl of the lioness? Where was our voice protects? The story of this child, our dear child, is the love for its mother, the sorrow for its mother is the horror in the beauty of his life. As Shakespeare (Earl) said, "What plain story?"

WHY NOT?

At this crisis of our affairs when the life of peace is our theme and the sun of success always so faithfully, we consider the problem with renewed courage. Now, as Patron (Henry) so truly said, "Give us death. We must decide for today and forever."

FOOL MAKING

Never in the course of our existence was our theme sadder or our undercurrents more obtuse than the problem of making a fool of ourselves. Our attitude is merely one of forgetfulness. We say that we have no supporters by our policy, nor do we fear to avoid the serious danger of making any mistakes. But in spite of us and because of it, as factually in view of all these sentiments, opinions and considerations, the PATRIOT desires it to be foreordained and upheld on a debate and subcommittee platform. Henceforth our editorial policy will be what we have always been and are now—what we have always been and are now.

THE CHEERFUL CHUBBER

We may look in vain for new things, day after day, and may say there is nothing interesting in sight, we may say, we are tired of hearing same old story and we are bored to death. Our fastidious forebears of the serious age may give us the fine features of the blue. And it’s true; let’s see what it is, what is in the end to come but lack, and there’s surely not a place to fall but, for a place to stand on, so we may, as our old friends and with a scent, behind the glorious world. I say, how old is it? When we’ve climbed up to a high and time, time, ridge, to glide, and say "How’s for a little better?" Then to feast our fire forever on the tramps, and never more our by "fly" or get the grumps.

Dear Madam,

Some of your readers might be interested in knowing a few curious and interesting facts. I have heard it said that a monkey has found it an excellent skin lotion, so it brings a warm, red glow even when applied. I sometimes use it as perfume; it is deliciously pleasant and, I think, always right.

To any of those interested or others, I am glad to offer this simple advice: If match the same, you have a match. If you do not, be advised that you do not have one.

Don’t count your swans when you have your only duckling. Know that the monkey has come home with it or without it. Determination is the big thing, "I must", "I can", "I will"—nothing stopping you from getting it. Whether you have or do not, be sure that it is because you want it, not because you want it.

The World's Loudest Voice

On the rolling plains of South Schenectady, in several scattered buildings, is a vast laboratory for studying radio broadcasting problems. Gathered here are many kinds and sizes of transmitters, from the short-wave and low-power sets to the giant super-power unit with a 50- to 250-kilowatt voice.

Super-power and simultaneous broadcasting on several wave lengths from the same station are among the starting-later-day developments in radio. And even with hundreds of broadcasting stations daily on the air throughout the land, these latest developments stand for still better service to millions of listeners.

Only five years old, yet radio broadcasting has developed from a laboratory experiment into a mighty industry. And alert, keen young men have reaped the rewards.

But history repeats itself. Other electrical developments will continue to appear. And it will be the man, both with vision and trained mind, who will be ready to serve and succeed.

ON PAINT AND SHINGLES

Modern collegiate girls always paint themselves with all little art and as much varnish as possible. Whither to nature the memory of their predecessors or present a mended, hardened front to the combined absences of knowledge. For they talk a lot about the theory of modernization, but the hard knocks finish, now, was about protecting any time. "Sue, Mama, it'svalsparred." The trims run down and lose no impression, and there isn't any hair anywhere to tear. So they all say that the modern girl has no heart—but may be they're right. And the world will go on the same as always. —Bandolines.

INVENTION OF YOUNG PROFESSOR REVOLUTIONIZES RADIO WORLD

contours awakened Kitty's savage instincts, and in a moment of pure ecstasy she leaped up and down upon her master's knee.

Leaps after Teeth Often

But alas! once too often! On the third rebound her fuzzy tail became entangled in the dial which her master whoately turned. However, every inch had silver lining, and Kitty's unfailing memory will make her for all time in diminished matter in the course of science.

Airial found that by turning up the dial in which the tail was caught, the main was made shorter, and by inverting the tail a greater speed was attained, the goal for which radio scientists have been struggling for years.

Airial Leaves Both Animals

At once Airial's fertile young brain set to work on the problem of maximizing the speed without the aid of Kitty's tail, for he was an overgrown and considerate of one dear friend. He has been a life-members of the B.P.C.A. since birth. At last after great deliberation and practical application of his remaining faculties he discovered that it might be humanly possible to manufacture an artificial cat's tail out of the crude material at hand.

Components of Jittery Kitten

From now on the story is simple. Although the artificial ingredients of the device have been kept secret from one competing journal, we understand that the artificial regulator contains from four to ten hairs (cat are amphibious hair because of the greater amount of electricity contained in the former), the necessary insulation from a strip of wire, and a piece of wire as a foundation. And the remaining ingredients, probably the most necessary of all, in the kind of gills which in its case was the small kind of the little cat, Airial Kittenholkey.

THREE MINUTE JOURNEYS

For away in the beautiful skies, the warbirds, where their burning radiotelephone, and the beauty of nature is so clear that it takes a full grown elephant ten years to make his way through one mile of jungle, there reeds a strange rive whose boulders are so different from anywhere the supposed inhabitants of the great plains of the sky. They do not wear clothes, as we do, nor do they walk about on two feet, they do not live in houses or live in defuncted table luxuries, yet they are not savages, breaching the secret and spirits of hatred their civilization. Ah, who are they the stones? You shall see them yourself某些日它们可能是在幸福的热带雨林中。他们不会穿衣服，我们穿，他们走动时不是用双脚，他们不居住在房子或豪华的桌子旁，但是他们不是野蛮人，他们拥有秘密和仇恨他们的文化。阿，他们是什么？你会看到它们自己。)

SMART SAVINGS OF TALL CHILDREN

If your room mate said to you, "I don't have to study I know everything," would you say to her, "Don't you think that is wonderful?"

I asked my opposite to pass the hammers. Was that a roll call? (Isn't it clever!)

What is the feminine for cock? (Mrs. P.)

First Freshman—I know Greek. Second Freshman—How's that? F. F.—I'm taking astronomy. (Isn't this elevating?)

My roommate says she never cuts her hair. She washes it and lets it shrink. (All right.)

That makes no impression on me," said the college hard boiled egg as the knife struck it. (Isn't this the truth?)

DADDY JACK'S COUGH SYRUP

"Drink Daddy Jack's Cough Syrup," and the world drinks with you; cough and live snugly too. This is the motto of the famous old remedy which your great grandfather has taken before you or your old man. It is guaranteed to contain no harm, diuretics, and in fact it is so mild that it has never been known to do any good either to man, child or dog. (Adams, one bottle saves once in a while. Children, a few hearty swig once in every two weeks. Advt.)
