CONSTRUCTION OF NEW BUILDINGS MARKS THE SUMMER'S PROGRESS

Severance Hall, The Newest College Dormitory, And The Botany Building Are Well Under Way, And May Be Completed By The First Part Of Next Semester

FIVE ELECTRIC ELEVATORS ARE INSTALLED

During the summer, construction of new buildings will mark the progress of the college. The newest dormitory, Severance Hall, will be completed by the first part of next semester. The Botany Building is well under way. The five electric elevators installed in the new buildings will make it easier for students to move from one part of the college to another.

SPORT REQUIREMENTS DEFINED BY THE HYGIENE DEPARTMENT

In order to clarify certain points concerning the hygiene department, the Athletic Association makes the following announcements:

1 Individual and Team Sports

The Department of hygiene requires that a student maintain a certain level of physical fitness in order to participate in team sports. This level is determined by a biannual physical examination.

2 Individual and Team Sports

These sports are considered to be in keeping with the physical fitness standards set by the hygiene department.

The Normal and Team Sports

A student may take two or more sports in the same season, but only one regular appointment will be made for any one sport.

"Major sports"—Any sport in which a student has two regular appointments per week for the season, with opportunity to make her class team.

"Minor sports"—Any sport in which a student has no more than two regular appointments per week for the season, without opportunity to make her class team.

(Excerpt from J. A. Rules and Regulations, p. 9)

I FORMAL AND INFORMAL SPORTS

The college sponsors such groups as the Intercollegiate Basketball Association, the Intercollegiate Tennis Association, the Intercollegiate Basketball Association, etc.

The sports are divided into two groups:

1. Formal Sports:

These are the sports that are sponsored by the college and are offered for the benefit of all students.

2. Informal Sports:

These are the sports that are sponsored by individual clubs or organizations.

COLLEGE NOTES

Upperclassmen called on the Freshmen last Sunday afternoon, and next Sunday the Freshmen will return visits, in accordance with Wellesley's tradition.

The WORCESTER Daily Mercury of September 12, 1924.

Start School with a Pen that won't break—Dropped 3000 feet!

YES, the Parker Duofold Pen was tossed from an airplane at dizzy altitude to test our new Non-Breakable, Super-Luminous, Permanent, and lustrous, "heroic," and landed 3000 feet below unharmed.

Tests such as this are the best guarantees that a pen will last practically forever.

For a year we kept secret the fact that Parker Duofold Pens have barrels of this new lustrous, beautiful, light-weight Permanente and a whole suite of heroic demonstrations proved that it does not break.

This black-tipped lacquer-red beauty is not only the smartest, shapliest pen, but the greatest writing instrument the world has ever seen. Its yielding, supersmooth point is guaranteed 2 years not only for mechanical perfection but for wear.

Choose your point and color at any good pen counter. But look closely for the name, "Grego, " or "Parker" on the barrel—the mark of highest excellence.

Parker Duofold Pens are the Pens of the Season. Look for the Duofold Mark on the barrel. If you see anything else, you'll be disappointed. Only Parker Pens have the Duofold Mark on the barrel—be sure you get the genuine. If you see anything else, you'll be disappointed. Only Parker Pens have the Duofold Mark on the barrel.

Unusual Conditions

In the unusual conditions of weather (snow, rain, and cold) reports in sport costume to Mary Hemmingson, director of these events, are more in evidence of the courage, endurance, and determination of the Wellesley women.

The prospect of another year and a new administration has brought forth new ideas and improvements, has given all a new sense of vigor and enthusiasm. This has become apparent already in the sketched outlines of plans for the year. Each of the various organizations has been formulating their new plans.

The need to single out one college organization as an example of innovation is the WELLESLEY CHAIRMAN of the Barnsswallows Association with its new constitution and new plans which is responsible for the new structure in the Debating Club with its promise of a created with Princeton University, the College of New Jersey, and the college of New Jersey, new departments which are beginning to look toward an increased sense of belonging and I an emphasis of interest that is most commendable. The WELLESLEY CHAIRMAN for three years are wondering, like the mother Goose—-"Lark a merrily!"

But here we all are, with a mission to be done. Our resources are our own control over, plus the fresh enthusiasm which we expect from 1929. Even with this optimism, there is a certain reality. It has been said recently, and it is true, that while ideas as to the development of the college continue to grow, the problems of the college go on. We cannot make a return to the past, and the importance of keeping an eye on the present is obvious. It is hard to believe that such a mood can be due to a lack of executive ability, but the part of the college view—rather it must be due to a lack of executive spirit. The project during the first few days of growth and development. What must we do to position the half-year view in the face of obstacles, and to develop enough perseverance to convince us as well as to initiate. If we can add patience to our desire for action, we may expect better results in the next year 1929-1930.

AN ELECTED VOTE

In this issue of THE NEWS is not only reported the existing conditions at WELLESLEY, but also ideas as to the organization and its teaching conditions. This week's issue has been given over to stories and articles dealing with the changes in program of WELLSLEY (for various individuals). It is expected that this will be different from other important College organizations, which have been forced by other factors, to make an every vote or lack of interest to remain more stable. WELLESLEY is fortunate in being controlled by the officers and members who are positively interested and who constantly contribute to the knowledge of dramatics. A sense of responsibility and inspiration has encouraged the rate of the group who have chosen to direct their energies toward their dramatic activities.

In the larger sense all members of each organization at college government in coming to WELLESLEY have chosen to take an interest in this college government. While there is not that gline about a community development which is a major dramatic and artistic work but has been chosen for all who are interested in theory of this organization. At WELLESLEY we have emphasized the idea that the WELLESLEY student is an interested person and that he is a person who is interested in the development of the community. This more general than the WELLESLEY student is an interested person and that he is a person who is interested in the development of the community. This more general development of the community. This more general development of the community.

PRINCIPAL SCHOLARS TO INDEX ART COLLECTION IN VATICAN

Professor Charles H. Mooney of the Department of Art and Archaeology at Princeton University, with other members of the department, has been commissioned by the Holy See to catalogue the collection of Christian art objects contained in the Vatican Museum, housed in the Belvedere Library in Rome. The work, under the editorship of Professor Mooney, will take from four to five years. It will be done in Princeton with the aid of photographs reproduced in the Belvedere Library. Photographs will be published next spring.

The Catalogue will also contain complete bibliography and a critical account of the objects in the succeeding volumes, together with the date and place of their origin. Professor Mooney has just returned from Rome where he has been a head of the School of Church Studies of the American Academy. One of the latest collections of national art in Europe is to be found in the Vatican Museum. It has been filled partly with gifts from private collections, and in recent years has been augmented by objects found in the Catacombs, and by relics discovered beneath the altar of the Chapel of the Sacra Sanctorum at the Lateran when it was opened with papal consent a few years ago.

"TWELVE MILES OUT"

At the Pinehurst Theater Twelve Miles Out gives up its word in being a "romantic melodrama," for it could be more romantic than chang- ing a solemn, fastidious, and studly old husband for a red-blooded, promiscuous run-rummer; or more melodramatic than having one's love seized by hooligans, then catered by best respec- table criminals who kidnap the entire group and retain any exchange hints, while all the time the affection of joy's wife is being alien- ated.

In spite of such a preponderance and weak plot there is something that calls to the gypsy blood in the audience and there are occasional bits of humor and several clever lines to lighten the heaviness of the threats, shots, and gory (not to mention all sorts of food) that are the business of melodramas.

William Comyns as the leader of the evil triumvirate did not seem par- ticularly hard-bitten as his trade would seem to require, but rather the man with an easy grace and realness one of the old-time actor. The charac- ter of Jane Barton was hiked by pretty Mary Currie but the action did not call for much more than skir- ring and shrugging on her part. Two others who deserve mention are John Betts, who played the part of the weak-livered husband and Frank Shannon as the insidious outlaw who managed "to play" that hand through most of the film.

It is at this point that we come to the real strength of the film, and which will probably be heard by every one who watches it. As Jolson, who as the heroine's young brother, was convincingly naturalistic and was rather streaked and unnatural.

One of the most interesting elements of the play is the thought of the in- terior of the smuggler's ship in the second act, with the Kookaburra, the oceana, and swallowing lanterns contributed much of the punch to the action. If you want to see a blood-chilling melodrama with a bunch of fun in it, go to see Twelve Miles Out but don't do the children.

NEW YORK CONTRIBUTES MOST MEMBERS TO CLASS OF 1930

Although the Friartoin Directory can not be the word of a lifetime, the lists of freshmen personalia, it furnishes some information in the geographical distribution of 1,930 members. Four countries and twenty-three states are represented. Presumably the New York state total is far in the lead. The state of Florida sends 104, representing the last American State.

One of the classes represented Greater New York sends by far the largest number, 36. Cleveland, Chicago, and Fort Worth are exceptional, having 17. Philadelphia has 13, eleven freshmen come from the Orange and ten from Boston. Cleveland and Cincinnati each have 8, Chicago and Cleveland each nine. Three foreign cities are represented—Frankfurt, Berlin, Eus- terland, and Hamburg, Cities...

OUT FROM DREAMS AND THEORIES

A PERSONNEL BRIEF

With the opening of the college the familiar title of Bureau of Occupations disappears and in its place is substituted Personnel Service. Such a change was inevitable, if a name was to be found that would describe the work of the office. Placement and vocational information are only phases, although important ones, of the work. In adding the Personnel Bureau maintains a cumulative record of every student's career in high school, her curricular and extra-curricular activities, and of the faculty ratings of her character and work in all phases.

For this reason it has seemed wise to the Executive Committee of the Trustees to give this office the more general title of Personal Bureau. The work in placement and vocational information is carried on as before, but it is believed in a more intelligent manner, when it is pursued in the light of the "whole student" point of view concerning the individual student.

Alice J. Perry Wood, Director.

OCCUPATIONAL PROGRESS OF WOMEN STUDENT OF ADDRESS

The last freshman morning assembly held on Saturday, September 25, in the little room was addressed by Miss Jackson of the personnel department, and served as an introduction to the new Personal Bureau which plans to reach every student.

The subject of Miss Jackson's address was The Occupational Progress of Women. Miss Jackson emphasized the fact that girls can do the same type of work as men, whether the service is required or not. She gave brief from the psychological point of view as to which women stand in the line of what kind of work. These reasons for women's greater importance in industry are their increased opportunities for education, the economic necessity for female labor produced by the World War, and the type of men who are now in need of women.

MISS JACKSON also brought out the fact that women have not been working as much as they should have been working, and that the earliest center of activity was in the home. "The home," she said, "is a place essential to us all, an ancient and precious idea was the gift of primitive woman. The great thing woman can do for us is the power of cooperation, a knowledge which can be gained in college, Miss Jackson, in closing, emphasized the importance of service by quoting Goethe, "We love the more to one another, and one another more..."

OLD TESTAMENT STORIES HAVE SIGNIFICANCE FOR US TODAY

"And Jacob awoke out of his sleep, and he said, Surely Jehovah is in this place, and I knew it not." was the text of the Reverend Charles W. Gilby of Chicago at morning chapel on Sunday, October 4. Rev. Mr. Gilby related to us his present-day experience in Jacob's dream of the ladder reaching up to heaven. The wait and romance of the Old Testament stories "being so close to benefits of our own.

"And the young Jacob had crossed the borders of his land into a new country, thought by him to be beyond the reach of the God of his fathers, and to him there came a revelation which utterly transformed his outlook for the future. "Surely Jehovah is in that place," said Jacob, "and we are not alone. We are crossing a frontier, the "frontier of another college year." "Is it too much to wish?" asked Mr. Gilby, "that we may have a similar experience to open our eyes?" Is it too much to ask that we may catch a glimpse of a greater world and say with Jacob, "surely Jehovah is in this place, and I knew it not.""

But quiet insight is not all that is to be obtained from the story. As shown by the story of Jacob's wrestle a comparison can be made. Even though words cannot possibly be used in our situation, the story of Jacob is as an encouragement to us. We may learn to battle, use this spiritual experience, we will win through to a realization of the truth.

"A Newspaper Printing the Things that the Student in School and College Should Read" annual freshman vaudeville

The freshmen Vaudeville, presented Thursday evening, September 23, in hillhouse, under the direction of Miss Martin, brought strong applause from the audience of freshmen for whose benefit it was given.

The first act, presented by marion powell, '27, and dorothy marson, '27, was a dialogue la la Baby. The former took the role of Mrs. Pliche, and the latter portrayed Mrs. Yves.

A rejuvenated wedding was featured in this act, in which Theodore Johnson, '29, and angeline carr, '29, were the participants. The usual repertoires for this act, played by frederick leishman, '26, who was pianist also for the entire programme, included such pieces as "Turkey in the Straw," Katrinache Lincoln, '26, gave the third act, a monologue, for the gathering.

The fourth act was a "radio" act. The stage was divided off into two sections, showing college students listening to the radio, and a radio broadcasting station.

Following this act, Gertrude reynolds, '29, gave a dance act.

The news act was well presented, showing a fantastic scene in the home-town during the editing of a freshman act.

The last act was given by the violin section, who presented a series all the way through to that usually given by the violin section. The various solos revealed different types of freshm-en enrolling.

TOWN OF WELLESLEY POPULAR AS SITE FOR BUILDING HOMES

Those members of the college who think of the town of Wellesley as site for their future home, and who are currently on the list of students, will find it of interest to know that the town is most desirable as a location for residential buildings.

There are many reasons for this choice, including the following:

1. The town is well located, being only 10 miles from the center of Boston, and 25 miles from the center of Newton.
2. The town is well supplied with water and electricity.
3. The town is well supplied with schools and churches.
4. The town is well supplied with parks and playgrounds.
5. The town is well supplied with hospitals.
6. The town is well supplied with markets and shops.

The town is well supplied with transportation, being well served by the Boston & Maine Railroad, the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, the Massachusetts Turnpike, and the Massachusetts Avenue.

The town is well supplied with schools, being well served by the Wellesley Public Schools, the Wellesley High School, and the Wellesley College.

The town is well supplied with churches, being well served by the Wellesley Congregational Church, the Wellesley Baptist Church, the Wellesley Methodist Church, and the Wellesley Roman Catholic Church.

The town is well supplied with parks and playgrounds, being well served by the Wellesley Community Park, the Wellesley Town Hall, and the Wellesley Community Center.

The town is well supplied with hospitals, being well served by the Wellesley Hospital, the Wellesley College Infirmary, and the Wellesley College Clinic.

The town is well supplied with markets and shops, being well served by the Wellesley Shopping Center, the Wellesley Shopping Plaza, and the Wellesley Shopping Mall.

COLLEGE STUDENTS
are cordially invited to avail themselves of the facilities offered by this bank. We solicit your Checking and Savings Accounts and assure you that the number of accounts has yet been given. As soon as there are a great many accounts and changes in personal and courses for the college and graduate schools. This year a new plan will be tried at Princeton. The university has opened its one hundred eightieth year with two thousand two hundred in the student body. The New York Times for September 24 describes the new system as follows: "We are pleased to announce a great step forward in Princeton's policy favoring individual study. The students in the new course plan of study. Upon the entrance of each student into his junior year, he is assigned to a department study which he wishes to pursue throughout the rest of his college career. Instead of taking the few courses as in the case of students until the four-year course plan adopted, he takes only four courses, devoting the time otherwise spent in the fifth course plan to special study or research in his chosen department, under faculty guidance.

The building progress at Yale planned for its hundred twenty-sixth year surpasses those of all other schools and involves fifteen million dollars. It includes a library, a recitation hall, a dormitory, a theater, a museum, new law school buildings and a large college church. Required enrolment at chapel has been abolished, and a program of religious living, teaching and practice substituted.

ALUMNAE STATE DISAPPROVAl OF COMMENCEMENT INNOVATION

Appeal of the Association last June of the Commencement exercises in Alumnae Hall instead of in the Chapel, it is interesting to learn the reaction of the Alumnae on the subject. In the accounts of the various reunions in the August number of the Wellesley Alumnae Magazine, the Association expresses itself in disfavor of the idea.

The class of '98, through its reunion committee, declares that "there is a certain lack of distinction in Commencement exercises without the setting of the Chapel, which can hardly be balanced by the additional room for the overflow Alumnae Hall. It is at its best for a pageant or for the Service for the dead, and perhaps you won't know till you try it how it isn't right enough for Commencement. The Chapel at Harvard and the pageant were more beautiful than ever with the Aquarium's memorial window."
