HUNDREDS OF BABES WANDER FROM HOME; WHOLESALE KIDNAPPING AROUSES NATION

True to Wellesley tradition, the Class of 1933 has been ushered into the social life of the College with due pomp and ceremony. From the informal welcome extended to them by brilliant Ask-Me's lying in ambush at the railway station to the formal reception given them on Saturday by the College Government Association and the Christian Association, when freshmen upon entering will find their Little Sisters routed and sound President Pettijohn's term, every possible effort will have been made to make them feel at ease.

The social events of the season are, perhaps, a bit trying to a temperament unaccustomed to such newer environments. The first meal in a college dormitory, when 800 persons and their friends present are sequestered to the nearest table, only to be moved on by the warden, seems simultaneously to their co-eaters, and cut in a story silence broken only by the indomitable monologue of a Junior or by a rapid-fire volley of questions from some fervid classmate has been selected above all others a depressing effect on the potential cologne. This gloom, however, is invariably lightened by the jovial gathering at the Yel- College season fresh- men, and they will hear the tradition, which seems to have gone to President Pettijohn's reception. It is his that the freshman, unacquainted by her parents (who have come to College) as his first chance to look about him and select her affluence.

C.A.G.G. RECEPTION

The annual C.A.G.G. Reception will be held on President Pettijohn's lawn on Saturday, September 25. Miss Pettijohn and representatives of the major student organizations will speak. If there is rain, the reception will be held in Alumnus Hall.

TUITION AND BOARD

If you have not already paid tuition and board for the fall semester, do so before Monday morning, when receipts must be presented. At the request of the Assistant Treasurer you are to fill out the form below and turn it in to the Student Treasurer.
