Russian as Peace Bond

Mr. Henry Mussey spoke on current events Monday morning, October 23, at the first speaker on a series of such talks, to be given in place of Chapel every Monday, or as circumstances may make it possible.

The main points of Mr. Mussey's talk dealt with recent developments in the Soviet program. He outlined briefly the purposes of the program, to give employment to more people and to re-employment: commodity prices to approximately 1935 levels, also the reasons for these prices and the measure of their accuracy. He then went on to speak of the difficulties created by the lowering of certain factors of the program, the most important of these being the lowering of wages.

As manifestations of this revett, the Government has reduced the wages of those employed in the shops of the state by an embargo on the shipment of wheat out of the state. In accordance with a statement of Mr. Mussey's, the lowering of the selling prices below the cost of production would make the state poor.

The俄戲手 has resigned as N.R.A. Chairman in his protest against the government's policies toward the farmers.

Mr. Mussey pointed out that the government is buying up weapons in all the older, but it cannot take effect with magic according to itself. The buying up of the older weapons is already working in a favorable price of the newer weapons.

If the old weapons are not destroyed, it is still right enough to watch them and to be sure that they are not sold to the Japanese or to Germany.

On Field Day the finals in tennis, baseball, and volleyball will be played off.

Frenchman Describes Type of Work in Schools Abroad

Through the courtesy of the Department of French, Mr. Auguste V. Desha is able to address informally a group of students Friday, October 27, at 4:40 P.M. in 349 Green Hall.

Mr. Desha is a member of the Office National des Universits et Ecoles Primaire and for several years has traveled as representative between France and the United States of teachers and school inspectors. He is working with American candidates through the Institute of International Education.

Perhaps the most direct contact of Mr. Desha with American students has been through this visitation of schools.

Mr. Bynon Gives Reading From Own Published Poetry

Lawrence Bynon, poet, critic and ex- ponent of English language, is the author of the Finesh Smith series of Poetry Readings and of novels, of which he is the author of his own works attempted in chivalrous order. The one poem chosen from his first important booklet, London Visions, these poems, of which he read The Little Dinner, The Toy Seller, were illustrated by Helen Henry, a well-known artist. The illustrations are from the London streets, and were traced, as Mr. Bynon said, "somewhat in the manner of the frescos of Michelangelo..."

From a group of long-novels and dramatic poems Mr. Bynon read the excerpt to Tristan and Iseult and a part of A Vision of Resurrection.

Mr. Bynon placed essential importance on the present day. The war, he said, is its especial interest to know that two volumes of the ode For the Parthians, which he read, are inscribed on the doors of the British Museum. A. De Solla, written, as Mr. Bynon remarked, "just after the war, when we were all all about the same ages..."

"The first, second and third place were taken away..."

Mr. Bynon cleared his reading with a statement to the effect that this ode was written by a student at an English University.

From the second ode, which was not so popular, he said that it did not conform to its original nucleus. As Mr. Bynon explained, "the presence of the student body directed from these diagrams of the odes spring directly from theories of musical composition.

College Mobilizes Forces in Organized Peace Action

Believing that ignorance is the primary weapon of the enemy and that a peace, and believing, too, that the cause of peace is the cause of the college, the International Relations Committee of the Wellesley College, interested in the pacific education in any way it can, is working hard to keep the school moving in the right direction.

We shall not be asked whether we want to fight or not. Everyone knows that we want to live in the world that the young people who rightly wage us. We want to live in a world that will end in a better world, industry, in relief work, and to the front lines themselves. This will inevitably happen, when the youth of the world rises up and refuses to do the job of the last generation.

Do you believe this? Have you realized how desperate the situation is, and that if this individual can do it, so can all the rest? Too many of us, woman, who is the only professional singer. He has gone to Conservatories of music, not only in this country, but in Europe. He is Mr. Desha, a resident of Wellesley, an hour's drive from the town of the native New Yorker, and his voice has been personalized with Mr. Desha.

The lecture, which will be in English, will be given in the Wason Room at half past eight on Tuesday, October 27.

Units such as these are especially popular in Germany where services to in them is presently to be made a pre- mature. The German-Ameicans will be asked to take a trip to the city near Sunday night. The mayor expressed alarm over the violence which might result from such a meeting and added that he would not attempt to hold it.

Nazi will use this opportunity to spread Millers doctrines in the United States, and it was hoped that their propaganda would be stopped.

The young men will be sent to test their skills and abilities in the United States, and the training these activities have been made in the same way as its aim accomplished by our Conservation Corps building roads and bridges, erecting playgrounds in cities and other such activities.

Miss Kayson, "20, will Give Poems from Her Own Work at Next Reading, October 20

HUSBANDS' WRITER

Each year of the twenty since the Forum's Readings have been at Wellesley, the Business Office has been an annual feature. For it was the hand of Mrs. Eichorne Smith, '94, giver of the Fund, that the reading might quench poet passions among the students, and to Maurice Linn, Esq., first manager, dedicated in bringing back to Wellesley those alumni who have given evidence of poetic gift.

On October 16, 1926, Bernice Kayson, '20, delighted her audience with some of her dreams of fame. This was an opportunity interesting reading in many of those who had been graduated, and a great interest was shown in the readings.

Miss Kayson is a writer of poems, afternoons, and she has been published in a number of short stories, she will speak informally to English Composition 286 on Tuesday at 4:40.

She will read at Fillings Hall on Monday, October 30, at 4:40. Anyone who is interested in reading Mrs. Gilksen is asked to notify Miss Kayson who will try to arrange as officially.

Hence each group spends two weeks in the kitchen, two weeks in the washing and cleaning-up end of the work, another two weeks in setting for themselves and for charity and so on through the other set tasks.

I keep coming back to that word “balanced” on the back of the Chesterfield package.

You often hear the word balance—something is out of balance—too heavy, not on an “even keel.”

What you read, “Chesterfield Cigarettes are a balanced blend,” means that the right amounts of the right kinds of tobacco are welded together; that is, home-grown tobaccos, the right kind, the right quantity—are blended and cross-blended with tobaccos from Turkey and Greece.

When these tobaccos are balanced one against the other, then you have a mild cigarette.

When they are in balance, then you have a better-tasting cigarette.

May we ask you to read again the statement on the back of the Chesterfield package?

May we ask you to try Chesterfield?

It is not always that column that possesses news of current interest to offer. Often it concerns them with small, disconnected, fantastic, and sporadic interest. This week it would seem like bringing the public the following pieces of news. We are unwilling to press into this world the news that this week the police have been forced to close down the entire town. This is due to the fact that there has been a recent spate of robberies, and the town is in no way disconnected from the outer world. We see, as well as its经常s, a constant stream of news. Second, two automobiles have been stolen from the parking space at the foot of the hill. This is not a problem to which these thefts were related was added by the facts that these automobiles were not left with the keys in the dashboard lock, thus not only allowing the third thieves to car, but inviting and taking them.

Evidence that the automobiles have probably been taken by some of the students, and was noted in the fact that the automobiles were in fact found on the street.

It was returned to its owner, who lives in Baltimore. Quite evidently the past thought to “good pickings” among the cars owned by the faculty and graduate students of Wellesley. The word to the wise.

To Your Posts!

We wish to settle our attention of the student body to an emission which we feel it important to call to your thoughts, and that is a sentiment of lack of citizenship. At Wellesley it has been always the custom for the girls to work as much as the faculty and students are required to do. There are, of course, exceptions, due to the fact that the students are, in a sense, their own employers. We feel that this is only owing to their kindness that we are able to have their company. This being the case, come down to a point, do you want them to have this kindness? Do you want them to have this kindness?

We have been informed of the occurrence of a number of girls who go as far as to go as far as to do a certain amount of work that is to be done by the students. We understand that this is because of the fact that they are able to do this work. We feel that this is because of the fact that they are able to do this work.

MR. MUSSEY TALKS ON RECOVERY ACT

The President’s radio message Sunday, October 22, in part answered the criticism of the government, stating that many results could not be expeted, and setting forth a new feature in the recovery program. This is the establishment of a gold market, with price determined on the basis of the commodity value of the dollar, that is, a money unit whose value depends on the purchasing power of the dollar.
