REUNION OF ALUMNAE PARADE AND TEA

ARRESTED FOR弁plementation of the INSURANCE

The female student, 23, was arrested for seniors receive bachelor degrees

President Pendleton Awards Degrees to Candidates and Prizes to Winners

DR. VINCENT SPEAKS

The Fifty-sixth annual commencement and its first academic exercises were held at Alumnae Hall on Monday, June 18th, with President Pendleton, as the university's representative, addressing the gathering. The president's address was followed by the annual Alumnae Convocation, conducted by the Alumnae Association. The ceremony was concluded by the presentation of the annual Alumnae Awards to the candidates for bachelor degrees. The awards were presented by President Pendleton, who also announced the names of the candidates who had been selected for the various prizes and awards.

College Papers Held Poll For Political Causes

The Wellesley College News, in cooperation with the Literary Digest, is conducting a poll on the political causes. The poll has been sent to a small group of alumni and friends of the college. Eleven other college newspapers are taking part in this poll. The list includes The Harvard Crimson, The Tufts Daily, The University of Wisconsin, The University of California, The University of Michigan, The University of Illinois, The University of Texas, The University of Pennsylvania, and The University of Chicago.

The question to be answered is: "Do you approve of the political activities of the United States during Roosevelt's first term?" The survey is being conducted to gain a better understanding of the political beliefs of alumni and friends of the college. The poll is being conducted in cooperation with the Alumni Association and the Alumnae Association.

Alumnae Returning To "Wellesley" To Appreciate New Wellesley And Rejuvenate Old Trails

Ex-Wellesleyites, or a very important part of it, at least, packed their suitcases and rolled back to Alma Mater for a nostalgic stroll around the campus, which Alumnae rallied around the campus. Unlike their seniors, whose alumni houses are shunned and abandoned by the Wellesleyites, the alumni houses are on the campus. They are the alma mater of most graduates, and they have a special meaning to the college. The alumni houses are the heart of the college, and they are the home of the students. The alumni houses are the places where the students can relax and enjoy themselves.

Alumnae Mingle Fun, Business at Meeting

Tales of College 50 Years Ago Was Told by Annelie Cumpson Call Forth Laughter

The annual Alumnae Luncheon, from 1923 to 1925, was held at Alumnae Hall. The luncheon was attended by 800 alumnae, and the event was considered a great success. The alumnae mingled and enjoyed each other's company, and the event was a great source of fun and enjoyment.

College Announces Gifts And Bequests For Past Year

In the past year, Wellesley College has received gifts and bequests totaling $31,000. In addition, friends of the College have made gifts to the Library and Art Museum.

SAPCE MAKES IMPORTANT CHANGES IN GREY BOOK REGULATIONS

Senior Morse Extended, So-Ccieties Smoke in Houses, Radios Have No Curfew

Serenade Ceases

In the last years of the present administration, the Grey Book regulations have been amended to allow smoking in houses, and the use of radios has been discontinued. These changes were made in response to the students' requests for more freedom.

Mary K. Britton Receives Prize For Book Collection

The Trustees of Hathaway House have presented the late Alumnae Mary K. Britton with 131 books which will be housed in a new library to be built on campus. The books were chosen because of their interest in political and social affairs and their quality of scholarship.

Students Attend Institute

Four Wellesley students, Pauline A. Elkin, Louise M. M. Fife, Elizabeth N. Nipps, and Marie B. Battaglia, have been selected to represent Wellesley College at the 13th annual meeting of the Association of American Colleges. The students were chosen because of their interest in political and social affairs and their quality of scholarship.
Alumnae Children Romp in Norumbega and Use the Lake As So 'cree of Carefree Entertainment

Old Norumbega's halls rang the other day with spectacular strains of "Flago," "Toccata," "Crown of the Ages," and other glee-club morsels. Grills and chimes, whistles and mansionsii. Elspeth John, who is a glee club student, has sung her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums. She sang her way through that college and their albums.
As They Were
Scenes Commemorating the Passing of '34

Photographs by Bradstreet

The Glory That Was '34

"Ah Refuse To Sacrifice My Dawtah"

The New Deal

Brains

Brawn

From Verdant Freshmen

To Grand Old Seniors
This page is a scan of a newspaper article from Wellesley College News, June 21, 1936. The article is titled "Promote Wellesley" and discusses the promotion of the college and its students. The text is preserved in a readable format, and the content is related to educational matters, including student achievements and college activities. The article mentions various events and initiatives that highlight the college's commitment to personal and academic growth. The style of the writing is typical of a newspaper, with a focus on reporting and providing information to the readership.

Amidst the text, there are references to students and their accomplishments, as well as updates on college events and activities. The article also includes quotes and statements from college administrators and other stakeholders, which add context and depth to the content. The layout and structure of the text are consistent with the format of a newspaper article, with sections and paragraphs clearly defined.

Overall, the article provides a snapshot of the college's environment and the various activities that take place within its walls. It offers insights into the college's culture and the experiences of its students, making it a valuable resource for anyone interested in the history or current state of Wellesley College.
PARALLELING THE PRESSURIN

SLOWLY the waves of battle roil from the war-born fields of basket, revealing the sad plight of the victims. The bodies, lying there, frozen in time, are slowly being consumed by the elements. One, who was found, bore the marks of a bullet, while another was found with a ribbon tied around his neck. The only sign of life was a small piece of cloth found near the body. The authorities are still investigating the case, but it is clear that this was a tragic event.

The page number is not clear in the image.
Six

WELLESLEY COLLEGE NEWS

MIX FUN, BUSINESS AT ANNUAL MEETING

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 3)

with $1400 in addition to their individual contributions, from an insurance policy on her life taken out by her parents at their 50th anniversary.

Mrs. Freeman, first speaker, pointed out the place of alumnae in the college today. As individuals, she said, we need support and sympathetic action, good neighborliness in the area of our college, and through the representatives of the 6620 members of the Alumnae Association, their place was vital in the work of the college. She urged the girls to build confidence in the college and to give her the support she had from alumnae.

The college of today rose from the ruins of the 1874 fire, now that the new buildings were being completed, proof of the interest of alumnae, trustees, and faculty. The same kind of enthusiasm, she pointed out, is necessary today to keep the progressions and programs of the college going in the future. While money is necessary, said Miss Percival, the greatest gift to the college is the support of alumnae.

Nelle Kirsch, representing, as president, the class of '34, said that the college of today is the ideal of the college of 1871, and the college of tomorrow should be even more admirable. Miss Kirsch showed how the college had grown in the years, and the opportunity for much more individual study since the academic work was more individual in the field of special interest. Some of the projects she mentioned were the book of records, the graduate program, the first of two ten-year-old students, printed in one of the psychology journals; and several of the women's colleges.

Miss Annie Jung Climen, representative of the Class of '34, and certainly one of the oldest alumnae, reminded the group that the college of today was the 1871 college, and was practically the same, in that it was an infusion of democracy, with an equal opportunity for women in the world, and particularly for those women who wanted to broaden their education. Miss Climen related a personal work in classifying the spectra, which was the first women to be entered as a woman in the history of the college, and one of the three who have received honors at Wellesley.

Miss Climen kept her audience entertained by the stories of her experiences getting and staying away. For her friends members, sitting in the front rows, the opportunity for her, and all of them, to be told the stories of their mutual college life.

Traveling between Wellesley and Wells and Wills and Wells and Wells and Wells and Wells is a never-ending process, and the event of the day for those who knew it was to be at Wellesley, was the last day for the college.

At that time, college women were practically an unknown species, and people were not ready for the women of the 1871 college. They were both in a great deal of trouble, but everyone thought that the college was one of the most wonderful things that had ever happened in the world. The college had grown in the years, and Miss Climen was able to tell the group how much they had known each other, and the benefits of the college.

The college wanted their daughter to be for the boys, and her parents were able to get her the best possible. But the college of today is the college of tomorrow, and the college of 1871 is the college of the 25th century, and the college of 1870 is the college of the 21st century.

The college of today is the college of the 1871 college, and the college of the 21st century is the college of the 1871 college. The college of today is the college of the 1871 college, and the college of the 21st century is the college of the 1871 college.

The college of today is the college of the 1871 college, and the college of the 21st century is the college of the 1871 college. The college of today is the college of the 1871 college, and the college of the 21st century is the college of the 1871 college.

The college of today is the college of the 1871 college, and the college of the 21st century is the college of the 1871 college. The college of today is the college of the 1871 college, and the college of the 21st century is the college of the 1871 college.