Dear Mother:

We just returned from the Barn, where we saw the all-college operetta, "Utopians." It is a new venture in Barn productions, but very successful so far.

Today has been quite exciting for some of us. Besides the Operetta, the new Begenda came out this noon, which had to be looked at before anything else was done. And I got a letter from the Dean, which pleased me much. Shortly afterwards, we heard about the new Phi Beta Kappa elections. Alice Mulligan (7 Williams' roommate) is one, and we're
I was so proud of her! Alice Broomwood is too; you perhaps remember her. I don't know all of them yet.

I'm glad it is settled that I can leave early, for I want to make my plans. I've found out when the train leaves Boston, and I'll write Aunt Mary about arriving there. I've no idea about how much it will cost to go.

I took my dress down and it is being cleaned. The magnesia worked finely on the white collar.

I washed my hair yesterday afternoon, and the air was warm enough so that I could dry it in the open window. I'm glad I did it, because to-day has been damp and rainy.

I expected to work at the choir
Well came in here yesterday very much pleased at the nice note she had from you. She certainly is pleased over her initiation. Did I tell you that her sister Mary is going abroad next month with some people from Philadelphia? Well is very happy about that too.

How about those pictures you sent to Eastman? Did anything come of them?

Well, must stop now as it is nine o'clock and I want to take a walk before class.

With lots of love,
Mary.
