The College

Wellesley College is a liberal arts college for women situated in the township of Wellesley twelve miles west of Boston. The four hundred acre campus was once the country estate of Henry Fowle Durant, a wealthy Boston lawyer. In the 1860's Mr. Durant and his wife, moved by religious convictions, decided to establish a residential college that would "offer to young women opportunities for education equivalent to those usually provided in colleges for young men." It was Mr. Durant's hope that in this college young women could prepare themselves "for great conflicts, for vast reforms in social life, for noblest usefulness." The decision was followed by years of preparation until the College received a charter in 1870 and in 1875 was opened to three hundred and fourteen students.

The resources and size of the College grew steadily. The single building with which Wellesley started, College Hall, housed all students and faculty and contained the library, chapel, classrooms, and laboratories. As the number of students increased, other buildings were added, but College Hall remained the center of community life until it was destroyed by a great fire in 1914. Gradually Wellesley was rebuilt; in place of one enormous structure housing many activities, buildings for special uses were erected on the various hills on the campus.

Today more than forty buildings provide facilities for the intellectual and community life of the College. Thirteen of them are residence halls for undergraduate students. The halls are large, with the result that the student, who finds that academic instruction is usually given in small groups, in the course of her residence forms a wide acquaintance with people who come from many different regions.

Wellesley believes that the study of the liberal arts develops perspective and intellectual strength for the endeavors of a lifetime. It seeks to give to the student broad knowledge of her cultural heritage and to develop her competence in and respect for disciplined, honest thinking. These purposes of the College have remained constant since its founding, while the particulars of its programs are frequently revised under the influences of the changing contemporary world.

The faculty is composed of approximately 170 men and women, trained in many different universities here and abroad and chosen to maintain Wellesley's tradition of good teaching and sound scholarship. The student body includes approximately 1,700 young women who bring to the community the cultural, economic, and regional diversity of the United States, and also representation of many foreign countries. Because of the size and composition of the College the student meets a wide range of viewpoints and fields of special interest; yet she finds that the policies of the modern Wellesley permit education to be an individual process as it was when the College began.

Most classes are small enough to make possible the exchange of ideas between student and teacher and to enable the faculty to know and plan for the needs of each individual. The student is not provided with a required "core" curriculum but in the freshman and sophomore years is asked to elect from many available courses work in the humanities, the social sciences, and the sciences. In this way she builds at once on her own earlier education and her present interests while developing with her fellows a basic community of understanding of the liberal arts.

As soon as she wishes and at the latest by the end of the sophomore year, she selects a major. Within her major department she continues to develop her particular interests by choosing her special work from its offering of advanced courses, seminars, and guided independent study, while limitation of the amount of specialization safeguards the broadly liberal purpose of the four-year undergraduate curriculum.

The student is expected to take the initiative in planning her program and in meeting her academic and residential obligations. At various times before reaching decisions she may need counsel or may wish to talk freely with an older person about her academic or personal life. At such times she can turn easily to her class dean who keeps in touch with her academic progress and her personal welfare, or to her instructors, including the ordained ministers who are teaching members of the faculty, to the resident head of her house, or to the college physicians and psychiatrists. After she selects a major, she may also find helpful the chairman or her adviser in the major department. If she has financial difficulties, she may turn to her dean, to the secretary to the Committee on Scholarships, or to the Students' Aid Society. If she wishes paid work during the academic year or in vacations, or if as a graduating senior or an alumna she wishes employment, the director of the Placement Office is prepared to help her. Because maturing independence is respected, advice is not thrust upon the student, but it is readily available from experts in various areas and from intelligent adults interested in each individual.

The learning situation created by student and teacher is strengthened by the quality of the physical facilities available for their use. At Wellesley the student of the biological or physical sciences finds laboratories unusually well equipped for undergraduate work and having in addition equipment for the work of graduate students and professors, whose research activities she may be invited to share. The student of art finds in the permanent collections on the campus a representative selection of monuments and extensive collections of slides and photographs, as well as rotating loan exhibits. The student of music finds listening rooms where she has access to large libraries of records and practice rooms equipped with grand pianos. The student of language has a modern language laboratory available for her use, and for interested students of French, German, or Spanish special residential corridors are maintained. The student of statistics has a modest interdepartmental laboratory open to her. Any student interested in the young child may observe and work with boys and girls in the college laboratory school for three, four, and five year olds.

Every student benefits from library collections which are unusual in size and quality for an undergraduate college. The working library contains approximately 370,000 volumes carefully selected to meet the needs of the faculty as well as the students. Subscriptions to more than 1,000 American and foreign periodicals and the deposit of certain Government publications important to the student of the social sciences add to its usefulness. Special collections, containing rare items as well as important collateral works, offer opportunities for research to the undergraduate student and the advanced scholar. The College is fortunate in having distinguished collections in English poetry, Italian literature, Medieval European literature, and on the Far East. Except for the rare volumes in these and other special collections, books are kept on open shelves to which the student has immediate access.

A broad program of extracurricular activities, made possible by the size and residential character of the College, supplements the liberal arts curriculum. From them the student chooses those which will contribute most to her enjoyment and growth. She may attend lectures by distinguished scholars, readings by poets, music concerts, and art, book, and scientific exhibits. Through participation in various organizations she may test and develop interests in such areas as music, theatre, athletics, journalism, social service, political and civic activity. Whatever her special interest, she finds opportunity to associate informally and to work cooperatively with others.

Some of the student groups, such as choir and theatre, have professional direction; most are organized and conducted entirely by students. Two of them, the Chapel Organization and the College Government Association, are sponsored jointly by students and faculty. The Chapel Organization conducts student-sponsored religious activities, coordinates denominational and interfaith programs, and supports the chapel services sponsored by the College. Since its founding Wellesley has been a non-denominational Christian institution; it offers daily services led by members of the community and Sunday services led by well-known ministers, at all of which attendance is voluntary. The College Government Association, to which all students belong, has executive, legislative, and judicial branches with elected student and faculty representatives, in each of which student representatives form the majority. This Association supports the methods and spirit of responsible democracy; it charters all extracurricular organizations, establishes committees such as the Student Education Committee, and determines social and residential regulations.

The present college is in marked contrast to the small faculty and student body, the one building, the collection of eight thousand books, and the restricted social life with which Wellesley started. Yet the serene beauty of the campus remains unchanged, and the student now as always finds opportunity to develop her standards of ethics and taste, of personal and civic responsibility, and her intellectual and creative gifts.

THE CURRICULUM

The curriculum is designed to enable each student to achieve a sound liberal education. To provide the opportunity to gain breadth of knowledge and understanding, each student is asked to select a number of courses distributed among several representative fields of knowledge: the humanities, the social sciences, and the natural sciences. In this part of her work she will become acquainted with ways of thinking and with significant content in several disciplines. To provide a means to achieve depth in learning, each student is asked to choose a field of concentration consisting of a major and allied subjects. In this work she should acquire solid knowledge of one field and an understanding of its particular contribution to our civilization; also, she should develop the competence which comes from continued training and advanced study in her chosen field.

There is scope within the curriculum for each student to meet the specific requirements for the degree and, in addition, to choose a considerable number of courses without any restriction as to subject. Indeed, the purpose of the curriculum is to provide the framework within which the student, assisted by her academic advisers, constructs a program of study suited to her individual interests.

REQUIREMENTS FOR THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF ARTS

Each candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts is required to complete 114 semester hours* of academic work. The normal period of time in which to earn the degree is four years and a normal program of study consists of five courses (15 hours) in each semester of the first three years, and four courses (12 hours) in each semester of the senior year. Also, seniors are required to prepare for a general examination in the major subject.

REQUIRED COURSES

- English 100 (freshman year) 6 hours
- Biblical History 104 (sophomore year) 6 hours
- Physical Education, two periods a week in the freshman and sophomore years (no academic credit)

DISTRIBUTION OF STUDIES

Twelve hours (two year courses or their equivalent in semester courses) are to be elected as indicated from each of the three groups of subjects

* All references in this catalogue are to semester hours.
 Some students will be exempted on the basis of entrance records and tests taken at Wellesley.
 Students who are able to read Greek may substitute Biblical History 210 (2), The First Three Gospels in Greek, for the second semester of the required course. listed below. Of the 36 hours required for distribution, at least 24 hours are to be taken in the freshman and sophomore years. It is permitted, and in many cases it may be desirable, to postpone until junior and senior years 12 hours, not more than 6 hours in each of two groups. Because in some departments certain courses do not count for distribution, in electing courses to meet this requirement students should consult the "Directions for Election" of each department.

Group I. Literature, Foreign Languages, Art and Music.

Departments of English, French, German, Greek, Italian, Latin, Russian, Spanish, Art, Music.

Twelve hours are to be elected in Group I, 6 in one department and 6 in one or two other departments. Of the 12 hours in this group, at least 6 hours must be in literature, English or foreign: courses in English literature, courses in Greek, Latin or Russian literature in translation, courses in a foreign language in which the main emphasis is on literature.

Group II. Social Science, History and Philosophy.

Departments of Economics, Political Science, Sociology and Anthropology, History, Philosophy.

Twelve hours are to be elected in Group II: 6 hours in economics, or political science, or sociology and anthropology; 6 hours in history or philosophy.

Group III. Science.

Departments of Astronomy, Biological Sciences, Chemistry, Geography, Geology, Mathematics, Physics, Psychology.

Twelve hours are to be elected in Group III, 6 hours in one department and 6 in one or two other departments. Of the 12 hours in this group, at least 6 hours must be in a laboratory course in one of the following: astronomy, botany, chemistry, geology, physics, zoology. The remaining 6 hours may be taken in courses either with or without laboratory work.

Students who have not taken a recent course in biology in school should consider the advisability of electing Biology 101. Those who have not taken a recent course in chemistry or physics in school should consider the advisability of electing one of the physical sciences: astronomy, chemistry, geology, or physics.

* English courses with emphasis on writing may not count for distribution.

 Interdepartmental 218, History of Science, counts for distribution as a non-laboratory course.
Field of Concentration

Students must elect a minimum of 42 hours in one area of concentration, of which at least 24 hours are to be in the major department and at least 12 hours are to be in related departments.

Courses are classified in grades I, II, III, grade I indicating elementary courses and grade III the most advanced courses. Of the 42 hours in the field of concentration, at least 18 hours must be above grade I; at least 12 hours must be grade III; and at least 6 hours of grade III must be taken in the senior year.

Courses taken in fulfillment of the distribution requirement may be counted in the 42 hours in the field of concentration unless otherwise specified by the department.

During the freshman year, with the assistance of the class dean, all students will begin to give thought to the choice of their major subjects and some may reach a final decision. In the second semester of the sophomore year each student, after consultation with the chairman of the appropriate department, elects a major subject and related courses, and prepares for the Recorder a statement of the courses to be included in the field of concentration. If later revisions are necessary, the final plan for the field of concentration, approved by the chairman of the major department, should be presented to the Recorder not later than the spring of junior year.

All departments of the College offer major courses of study except the following: Education, Physical Education, Russian, Speech.

Some students wish to center their study upon an area, a period, or a subject which cuts across the lines of departmental organization. This can be done by meeting the minimum requirements for a major in one department and by careful selection of free electives and of courses related to the major. A student who is interested in a program of this kind should consult her class dean and the chairman of appropriate departments as soon as possible in her college course. Among the numerous possibilities for such study are programs centering on Asia, Latin America, Russia, the United States; the Middle Ages, the Renaissance; International Relations, Natural Resources, Theatre Studies.

Foreign Language Requirement

Each candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts must show before the beginning of senior year that she has some proficiency in the use of at least one foreign language, ancient or modern. This requirement may be met by passing one of the language tests of the College Entrance Examination Board, either the Achievement Test at a score of at least 610, or the Advanced Placement Examination at a score of at least 3, or by the completion of a 6-hour course in college at the second year level or higher. The following courses are of the second year level: French 102, German 102, Greek 201, 202, 205, Italian 200, 201, 204, Russian 200, Spanish 102.

General Examination

At the end of the senior year each candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts must pass a general examination in her major subject, unless as a candidate for honors she is asked to pass special examinations taken in place of the general examination.

The general examination is intended to test the student's intellectual initiative and independence in analyzing, organizing, and relating the material of her major subject; her knowledge of and ability to apply leading ideas met in that subject.

Supplementary Directions

Within the 114 hours required for the degree, the student is permitted to elect:

1. Not more than 42 hours in any one department*
2. Not more than two of the following courses: French 101, German 101, Italian 101, Russian 100, Spanish 101
3. No studio work in Art without the required amount in the history of art (see department statement)
4. Not more than 18 hours in Education
5. Not more than 15 or 18 hours in Speech (see department statement)

The program for the senior year may not include more hours of grade I work than of grade III.

Requirements for Graduation

To be recommended for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, a student must complete 114 semester hours of academic work at a C average or better, and she must pass the general examination in her major department, or special examinations for honors in the major subject. Also, she must have resided in the College for at least two years, unless she has had permission to commute from her parents' home, and she must have completed satisfactorily two years of study at Wellesley College, one of which must be the senior year.

The requirement of the senior year at Wellesley College may be waived by a special vote of the Academic Council, taken not later than May of the student's junior year, in order to enable a married student to spend the senior year as a guest at one of five specified colleges, provided she can establish a home with her husband within thirty miles of the host college.

* Except that the maximum of 42 hours permitted in English does not include English 100.
To be eligible for consideration the student should have had three years of residence in the College and have made a strong academic and personal record.

Standard of Written and Spoken English

Students are expected to use good English in their written work in all departments. A student in any class who fails to maintain acceptable standards may be referred to the department of English for remedial work.

Students are also expected to maintain good standards of spoken English. The department of Speech offers courses, and also individual work without academic credit, for students who wish to improve the quality of their oral English.

Research or Independent Study

Each department of the College which offers a major course of study provides the opportunity for certain students to undertake a program of individual study directed by a member of the faculty. Under this program, an eligible student may undertake a research project or a program of reading in a particular field. The results of her work normally will be presented in a thesis or in a series of short essays. The conditions for admission to this work in each department are described under the course title, 350, Research or Independent Study.

Honors and Academic Distinctions

Honors in the Major Subject

Students who have shown marked excellence and an unusual degree of independence in their work in the major subject may receive the Bachelor of Arts degree with Honors in the Major Subject. Under a program called Special Honors an eligible student may be invited to undertake a piece of independent investigation in which her work will be supervised by a member of the faculty; the successful completion of the independent work and of an honors examination leads to the award of Honors in the Major Subject. Under a plan called General Honors this same award may be made to students who have shown an unusual degree of independence or distinction in courses in the major subject, have elected a sound program in the field of concentration, and have written an excellent general examination.

The intent behind both plans is to single out the most able scholars for this recognition. To be recommended for this award the student, in addition to showing marked excellence in her major subject, must maintain a good general average in all her academic work.
ACADEMIC DISTINCTIONS

Distinction in academic work is recognized by honorary titles which are open to all students and are awarded without reference to financial need. The College names as Pendleton Scholars certain entering students who submit outstanding credentials for admission. It confers Freshman Honors on the students who maintain high academic standing during the freshman year and names in convocation the juniors and seniors whose records after the freshman year are at the level of Wellesley College Scholars and Durant Scholars. Final honors, conferred at Commencement, are based on academic records after the freshman year and include the title Wellesley College Scholar for high academic standing and Durant Scholar for the highest academic standing.

Seniors are elected to membership in the Eta of Massachusetts Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa on the basis of their total academic achievement in college, and seniors who are majoring in the sciences may be elected to associate membership in the Wellesley Chapter of Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific society.

On recommendation of the faculty the trustees award to four seniors who intend to pursue graduate studies the title of Trustee Scholar. The awards are made on a competitive basis in two categories: two for graduate study without restriction as to subject; two for graduate study undertaken as preparation for college teaching. The title is honorary; in cases of financial need stipends are awarded to the Scholars or, if not required by them, to alternates who need financial assistance.

Certain prizes have been established at the College for the recognition of merit in a particular field. They carry a small stipend or gift and usually bear the name of the donor or the person honored.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Course Examinations

An examination period occurs at the end of each semester. Examinations for the removal of conditions and deficiencies and for advanced standing may be taken during any examination period and at other specified times.

A student who wishes to take an examination upon a course which is not a part of her approved schedule for the year must apply to the Recorder for the requisite card of admission to the examination.

Special Examinations

In many departments special examinations are offered to qualified students to earn credit for work done independently, for admission to ad-
Advanced courses without the stated prerequisites, or to meet part of the distribution requirement. A student is permitted to fulfill by examination rather than by electing a course no more than 6 of the 12 hours required for distribution in each of the three groups. (See pages 24 and 25.) A student who wishes to apply for a special examination to be taken at the beginning of the college year should write to the Recorder before the first of September.

Advanced Placement

Students are encouraged to enter the most advanced courses for which they are prepared by previous study. For information about advanced placement and credit, either with or without special examinations, see page 109.

Use of the Summer Vacation

Students are encouraged to make constructive use of the long summer vacation, supplementing through it the work and activities of the academic year. Several possibilities are recognized, for example, field or laboratory work at the College or elsewhere, travel, vocational experience, and serious and ordered reading. Regardless of their specific activities, all students are expected to undertake some serious reading each summer. To assist them, each of the departments makes available a reading list designed to enrich the student's knowledge of her major subject.

Summer Internships

The College joins with Vassar College in sponsoring a Summer Internship in Government that enables students from various departments to learn at first hand of the operations of the Federal Government. Students who are accepted for the program spend six weeks in Washington during the summer preceding their senior year. A director arranges assignments in various government bureaus, Congressional offices, and headquarters of the Democratic and Republican National Committees, and meets regularly with the interns during the six weeks.

The College participates in the Internship Program in Economics, sponsored by the National Association of Business Economists and initiated at Wellesley College. Economics majors who meet the high standards set for candidates in this program may be placed in salaried positions in private or public agencies in all parts of the country, during the summer following the junior year, to carry out applied economic research under the direction of senior economists.

The Junior Year Abroad

Qualified students may apply for admission to the various groups spending the junior year in Europe. Wellesley students may study in Paris under the plan sponsored by Sweet Briar College, or in Munich under the auspices of Wayne University, or in Florence, Geneva, Madrid or Paris with groups organized by Smith College. A student who wishes to join one of these groups must have a good academic record and competence in the language of the country in which she plans to study; in general two years of study of the language at the college level are necessary to provide adequate preparation. In advance of making application, a student must have the approval of the chairman of her major department and of her class dean.

PREPARATION FOR GRADUATE STUDY

College Teaching and Research

A student who wishes to enter college teaching and research will find that the undergraduate work of the College provides preparation for graduate study leading to advanced degrees in the arts and sciences. She should consult as early as possible the chairman of her major department, or of the department in which she hopes to pursue graduate study, to learn which courses in her field of special interest and which foreign languages will be most useful to her. It should be noted that for graduate study in many fields a reading knowledge of two specified languages is required. The student will find her class dean, her faculty adviser, the chairmen of departments, and the Placement Office helpful in locating information about graduate schools.

Other Professions

In her undergraduate work a student may meet the requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Arts and at the same time prepare to enter professional schools, for example, architecture, law, medicine, social service administration, teaching. A sound education in the liberal arts is considered the best preparation for admission to most professional schools but a student who is interested in any one of the professions should consult her class dean to discuss the particular emphasis which she should make in her undergraduate program. She should also consult as soon as possible the catalogue of the graduate school which she has chosen.

Teaching in Schools

Some teaching positions in public as well as in private schools are open to college graduates without further study, although a year of graduate work is required for teachers in many public school systems. Courses in the principles and history of education given by the department of Education help a student to prepare for teaching and to meet some of the requirements for certification. They also serve as prerequisites for graduate work in education.
Wellesley is one of a group of colleges affiliated with the Harvard Graduate School of Education in a program which affords graduates of the cooperating colleges special opportunities for practice teaching in the summer, for paid teaching internships during the regular school year, and for graduate study at Harvard.

A student who cannot plan for graduate work immediately after college is advised to consider enrolling, during the summer following her junior year, in one of several summer programs which provide courses in methods in conjunction with supervised practice teaching.

A student who intends to teach should consult the chairman of the Education department about requirements for certification and ways of preparing to meet them.

Medical School

In general, the minimum requirements for admission to recognized medical schools can be met by two year courses in chemistry (which must include a year course in organic chemistry), a year course in physics, and a year course in zoology. Because there is some variation in the minimum requirements and some medical schools have specific requirements, a student should consult the most recent catalogues of the particular medical schools in which she is interested.

Many students planning to study medicine elect two pre-medical sciences in the freshman year. At present considerable emphasis is being placed by the medical schools on the importance of a liberal education as a preparation for medical studies and it is possible to fulfill the minimum requirements for medical school and to take the general examination in a field not required for entrance. A student, therefore, is advised to major in the field of her greatest interest. Students wishing to prepare for medical school should consult Professor Jean V. Crawford, department of Chemistry.

Hospital and Public Health Work

A student planning to prepare for work in hospital or public health laboratories should begin both chemistry and biology in the freshman year in order to have the necessary foundation for advanced courses in these subjects and for courses in bacteriology. Students should consult their class deans for advice in planning their programs.

The Civil Service

A student wishing to qualify for examinations offered by the United States Civil Service Commission or various state and local civil service agencies should consult her major department and the Placement Office about current requirements. For many positions some work in statistics and public administration is desirable; graduate study is a qualification for many of the more important posts.

GRADUATE FELLOWSHIPS

FELLOWSHIPS FOR ALUMNAE OF WELLESLEY COLLEGE

Four graduate fellowships providing stipends which range from $2,000-$2,500 are open only to alumnae of Wellesley College: the Horton-Hallowell Fellowship for a candidate for the Ph.D. degree; the Fanny Bullock Workman Scholarship for a student who has completed one year of graduate study; and, awarded in alternate years, the Vida Dutton Scudder Fellowship for a graduate student in the field of social science, political science, or literature, and the Edna V. Moffett Scholarship in the field of history.

Graduates of the College are eligible to compete for three fellowships of $2,000 which are awarded annually by the American School of Classical Studies in Athens. Qualified graduates are exempt from any charge for tuition at the American School of Classical Studies in Athens or in Rome.

FELLOWSHIPS AND ASSISTANTSHIPS FOR ALUMNAE OF ANY COLLEGE

Several scholarships are available for candidates for the degree of Master of Arts at Wellesley College. Also, assistantships, which provide stipends of $2000, are available in certain science departments for candidates for the master's degree. Information may be obtained from the Secretary of the Committee on Graduate Instruction.

Four graduate fellowships for study at the institution of the candidate's choice are administered by Wellesley College and are open to alumnae of any college including Wellesley College. They provide stipends ranging from $500-$2,500. The Alice Freeman Palmer Fellowship is without restriction as to field; the Anne Louise Barrett Fellowship and, awarded in alternate years, the Harriet A. Shaw Scholarship are preferably for study in the field of music. Further information and application blanks may be obtained from the Secretary to the President. Application should be made by February 20.

REQUIREMENTS FOR THE DEGREE OF MASTER OF ARTS

A candidate for the degree of Master of Arts is required to complete 24 hours of graduate work, which may include a thesis embodying the results of original research. The program is arranged by the student's major department and is subject to the approval of the Committee on Graduate Instruction. A reading knowledge of French or German, to be tested by examination at entrance, is required. Individual departments may require a second language. At least one year in residence is required of all candidates.

Some departments, but not all, accept candidates for the Master of Arts degree. The College does not maintain a program of courses for graduate students separate from those offered for undergraduates. Properly qualified graduate students are admitted to grade III courses, to seminars, and to course 350, Research or Independent Study.

Information regarding admission, living arrangements, graduate assistantships and scholarships will be found in the bulletin, Graduate Work at Wellesley College, which will be sent upon application to the Secretary of the Committee on Graduate Instruction.
FOR STUDENTS ENTERING AFTER 1964

Certain revisions in the curriculum will become effective in 1965-1966. The requirements for the degree for members of the Class of 1969 and succeeding classes are listed below.

Each candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts will complete 40 units of academic work. (A unit of work represents one fourth of the normal program in Terms I and II and one half of the normal program in Term III,* corresponding to what is called a three-hour course in the present curriculum.)

Except for those students who demonstrate reasonable competence in one or more of the following required studies and so qualify for exemption, each student will take:

1 unit of English Composition (freshman year)
2 units of Biblical History 104 (sophomore year)
2 units in courses in literature, either English literature or in a foreign language at an advanced level in which the main emphasis is on literature
2 units in history and philosophy, either one from each or both in the same department
3 units in economics, political science, psychology, and sociology and anthropology, 2 units in the same department and the third in a different department
4 units in astronomy, biology, chemistry, geology, mathematics, physics, and the history of science, 2 units in one discipline and 2 in one or two other disciplines
2 units in special non-departmental lecture courses

Before the beginning of her senior year each student will show that she has some proficiency in the use of at least one foreign language, ancient or modern, by passing one of the language tests of the College Entrance Examination Board, either the Achievement Test at a score of 610 or the Advanced Placement Examination at a score of at least 3, or by completing in college a two-unit course at the second year level or higher.

In her field of concentration each student will elect:

At least 15 units in the major and related work, including
1 unit of Independent Study (critical, creative, or exploratory) in the major, normally taken in Term III of the junior year
1 or 2 units in the senior year in concentrated preparation for the Senior Major Examination

* For the Calendar see page 6.
COURSES OF INSTRUCTION
1964-1965

The following courses of instruction are offered by the several departments. The College reserves the right to withdraw any course not chosen by at least six students.

All courses are classified in grades I, II, III; grade I indicates elementary courses and grade III the most advanced courses. Grade I courses are numbered 100, etc.; grade II courses 200, etc.; grade III courses 300, etc.

The first semester is indicated by (1) following the course number, the second semester by (2). Courses not so designated are year courses. The number of hours of credit appears in parentheses following the course title. A semester course which carries three hours of credit requires approximately nine hours of work each week spent partly in class and partly in preparation. The amount of time scheduled for classes varies with the subject from two hours each week in many courses in the humanities and social sciences to three, four, or five scheduled hours in certain courses in foreign languages, in art and music, and in the sciences. A class period is sixty minutes in length. Classes are scheduled from Monday morning through late Friday afternoon.

ART

Professors: Bernard Chapman Heyl, 2 M.F.A.; John McAndrew, M.Arch.; Teresa Grace Frisch, Ph.D.; Curtis Howard Shell, Ph.D. (Chairman)
Associate Professors: Elizabeth Holmes Frisch

Resident Artists: James Wilson Rayen, M.F.A.; Sigmund Morton Abeles, M.F.A.

Secretary: Jean Lilly Connery

History of Art

Many of the courses in art include some laboratory work in the one or more mediums with which the course is concerned. The department believes that laboratory training has great value in developing observation and understanding of artistic problems, and for this reason requires it of majoring students. It should be stated, however, that no particular natural aptitude is required and that the work is adjusted to the student's ability.

100. Introductory Course (6 hrs.)

The major styles in Western architecture, sculpture, and painting from Ancient Greece to c. 1800. A foundation for further study of the history of art.

2 Absent on leave for the first semester.
Simple laboratory work (requiring no previous training or artistic skill) planned to give the student a greater understanding of artistic problems. Open without prerequisite to freshmen and sophomores.

201 (2). Greek Sculpture

The development of Greek sculpture from its origins through the Hellenistic age. Study of focal monuments and artists in each successive period. Laboratory work, consisting largely of modeling and carving. Open to sophomores who have taken 100 and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.

Mr. Bruno, Mr. Abeles

202 (1). Medieval Sculpture

Western European sculpture of the Romanesque and Gothic periods, introduced by a brief study of pre-Romanesque art. Laboratory work consisting largely of modeling and carving. Prerequisite, same as for 201.

Miss Frisch, Mrs. Frisch

203 (2). Medieval Architecture

The architecture of Western Europe from the Fall of Rome to the beginning of the Renaissance, with particular concentration on the great Romanesque and Gothic monuments. Occasional laboratory work. Prerequisite, same as for 201. (Not given in 1964-65.)

Mr. McAndrew, Mr. Flansburgh

207 (2). Art of the Far East

A study of the art of India, China, and Japan, with particular emphasis on China. Open to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.

Miss Frisch

209 (1). Art of the Roman Empire

A study of Roman sculpture and pictorial tradition from early times to the Late Antique, with emphasis on the Late Republic and Early Empire as a critical formative period. Prerequisite, same as for 201.

Mr. Bruno

215 (1). European Art Through the Renaissance

The major movements in architecture, sculpture and especially painting from classical antiquity to about 1550. Open to sophomores who have taken History 101 or Italian 101 or 103, and to juniors and seniors who have not taken or are not taking Art 100.

Mrs. Anderson

216 (2). Post-Renaissance and Modern Art

Western art from the beginning of the 17th century to the present. Open to sophomores who have taken 215 and to juniors and seniors who have not taken or are not taking 100 or 219.

Mr. Heyl

219 (2). Painting and Sculpture of the Nineteenth and Early Twentieth Centuries

A study of painting and sculpture of the 19th century and the early 20th century in Europe and America with emphasis on France. Open to sophomores who have taken 100 and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite. Not open to students who have taken 216.

Mr. Bruno

220 (1). Painting and Sculpture of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries in Southern Europe

A study of Italian and Spanish painting and sculpture with special emphasis on Caravaggio and Bernini, and on El Greco and Velázquez. Open to sophomore students who have taken 100 and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.

Mr. Wallace

221 (2). Painting and Sculpture of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries in Northern Europe

(3 hrs.)

Flemish, Dutch, and English painting of the 17th century. French and English painting of the 18th century. Significant sculptors will be included.
Prerequisite, same as for 220. Not open to students who have taken 216.

Mr. Heyl

224. Modern Art

(6 hrs.)
The major developments in painting, sculpture, and architecture from early in this century to the present. Laboratory work in the first semester only. Prerequisite, 100, 216, or 219. Mr. McAndrew, Mrs. Frisch, Mrs. Aiken

301 (2). Seminar in Ancient Art

(3 hrs.)

Intensive study of one or more of the fundamental problems in the history of Ancient Art. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 201 or 209. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

302 (1). Italian Painting: the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries

(3 hrs.)

A brief exposition of late medieval style in Italian painting, followed by studies of selected artists whose work significantly illustrates the character of Early Renaissance style. Particular attention to Florentine masters. Laboratory work to be arranged. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken, or are taking, a grade II course in the department, and, by permission, to specially qualified students.

Mr. Shell, Mr. Abeles

303 (2). Italian Painting: the Sixteenth Century

(3 hrs.)

Studies of the major masters of the High Renaissance style, followed by the examination of some selected Mannerist painters, and of those developments within 16th century painting which lead in the direction of the Baroque. Considerable attention to Venetian masters. Laboratory work to be arranged. Prerequisite, same as for 302.

Mr. Shell, Mr. Abeles

304 (1). Late Medieval and Renaissance Sculpture

(3 hrs.)

A study of major sculptors from the 14th century to the end of the 16th century with emphasis on Italy and, specifically, the work of Giovanni Pisano, Sluter, Donatello, Ghiberti, and Michelangelo. Open to students who have taken 100 or 215, and, by permission, to specially qualified students.

Mrs. Anderson

306 (1). The Graphic Arts from the Renaissance to the Present

(3 hrs.)

Emphasis on the styles of Dürer, Rembrandt, Goya, Picasso. Special attention to the influence of technique upon style. Laboratory instruction in the processes of woodcut, engraving, etching, lithography. Visits to collections.
Open by permission to juniors and seniors who have taken a grade II course in the department.

Mrs. Anderson, Mr. Abeles

* Offered in alternate years.
307 (2). *Problems in Medieval Style and Technique \hspace{1cm} (3 hrs.)

Study of selected manuscripts, mosaics, and wall paintings in Italy between the 4th and the 13th centuries, with experiments in the medium concerned for close stylistic and technical analysis. Prerequisite, same as for 302. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

308 (1). *Renaissance and Baroque Architecture \hspace{1cm} (3 hrs.)

The Early and High Renaissance, Mannerist and Baroque styles of the 15th through the 18th centuries, with particular emphasis on Italy. Prerequisite, same as for 304.

Mr. Wallace

309 (2). Modern Architecture \hspace{1cm} (3 hrs.)

Theory, criticism, and practice of modern architecture. Lectures, laboratory work, and field trips. Prerequisite or corequisite, 224. Mr. Flansburgh

311 (2). Painting of Northern Europe \hspace{1cm} (3 hrs.)

The period from the late 14th century to the mid-16th century in France, Germany, and the Low Countries. Prerequisite, same as for 304.

Mr. McAndrew

330. (2). *Seminar, Italian Painting \hspace{1cm} (3 hrs.)

Intensive study of one or more of the fundamental problems in the history of Italian painting. Open by permission to juniors and seniors who have taken 302 or 303.

Mr. Wallace

331 (2). *Seminar, Principles and Methods of Art History \hspace{1cm} (3 hrs.)

A critical consideration of selected writings by art historians of the past and present who have significantly contributed to the development, philosophy, methods, and principles of art history. Open by permission to seniors who have taken or are taking 6 additional hours of grade III. Reading knowledge of French and/or German is highly desirable. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

Mr. Shell

350. Research or Independent Study \hspace{1cm} (3 or 6 hrs.)

Open by permission to juniors and seniors who have taken or are taking a grade III course.

Studio Courses

As many as 12 hours of studio work may be counted toward the degree provided an equal number of hours in the history of art is counted. Studio work should ordinarily follow or be concurrent with work in the history of art; not more than 3 hours of studio work may be elected in advance of election of an equal number of hours in the history of art.

105 (1). Introductory Drawing \hspace{1cm} (3 hrs.)

Introductory drawing with emphasis on basic forms in spatial relationships. Stress is given the essential control of line in a variety of media. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors, and by permission to freshmen who have studied art before entering college. Four periods of class instruction and four periods of studio practice.

Mr. Rayen

* Offered in alternate years.
106 (2). Introductory Painting and Design (3 hrs.)

Spatial and tonal problems partly abstract, partly representational, worked out in a variety of mediums and materials. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors and, by permission, to freshmen who have studied art before entering college. Five periods of class instruction and three of studio practice.

Mrs. Frisch, Mr. Rayen

208 (1). Watercolor and Oil Painting (3 hrs.)

Landscape, still life, and painting from model. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors who have taken 100, 105, or 106. Five periods of class instruction and three of studio practice.

Mrs. Frisch, Mr. Abeles

208 (2). Design (3 hrs.)

The elements of visual communication, line, form, color, studied in relation to the special function or purpose which the work of art may be called upon to fulfill. Exploration of the potentialities and restrictions of the particular process or material. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors who have taken 105, 106, or 208. Five periods of class instruction and three of studio practice.

Mr. Abeles

300 (2). Advanced Painting, I (3 hrs.)

Clarification of various problems in the language of painting, dealt with largely through the oil medium. Individual problems. Open by permission to juniors and seniors who have taken at least one other studio course. Three periods.

Mr. Rayen

Directions for Election

Course 100 is the basic introductory course for later work in the department and is required, except by special permission, of majoring students. (See Exemption Examination, below.)

Students planning to major will be required to make adequate distribution in their elections in the different arts and different periods.

Students majoring in the department must elect at least 24 hours in the history of art.

A reading knowledge of French, German, or Italian, though not required, is very strongly recommended.

The attention of students is called to the interdepartmental major in Classical Archeology (see p. 49).

Placement and Exemption Examinations

Freshmen and sophomores, who secure the permission of the chairman, may qualify for entrance to grade II in art by passing an exemption examination, thus waiving the requirement of course 100.

Related Courses

Related courses may be chosen from many departments: English, History, Music, Philosophy, departments of foreign language and literature.

By careful choice of related courses, a student majoring in art may plan a field of concentration emphasizing one century or period such as Ancient, Medieval, Renaissance, or Modern. Students interested in such a plan should consult the chairman of the department as early as possible.

Intensive study of a specific field. The subject for 1964-65 is "The Interstellar Medium." Prerequisite, 101 or 102, and Mathematics 202. Miss Hill

350. Research or Independent Study (3 or 6 hrs.)
Open to seniors by permission.

Directions for Election
The major in astronomy is based upon at least 18 hours of astronomy, Mathematics 303 and Physics 200, and 201, and normally includes some grade III work in physics. Six hours of astronomy and six hours of mathematics should ordinarily be completed by the end of the sophomore year. Related or supplementary courses for the major may be elected in the Departments of Mathematics and Physics, and may also include Geology 101 and Interdepartmental 218.

Students considering graduate work in astronomy are urged to acquire a reading knowledge of French, and Russian or German.

BIBLICAL HISTORY, LITERATURE, AND INTERPRETATION

Professors: Ernest René Lachman, b.d., ph.d.; Herbert Morrison Gale, s.t.b., ph.d. (Chairman); Fred Denbeaux, b.d., s.t.m.; Mary Lucetta Mowry, b.d., ph.d., l.h.d.
Instructors: Alan Wilkin Jenks, b.d.; John Kenneth Kuntz, b.d., th.d.; Norman Richard Petersen, Jr., s.t.b.
Secretary: Lillian Warren Moseley

The requirement in Biblical history is met by course 104. Students with a knowledge of Greek may substitute 210 for the second semester of 104.

104. Studies in the Old and New Testaments (6 hrs.)
Basic material: selected parts of the Old Testament; the Gospels of Matthew, Mark, and Luke. Aim: to acquire a knowledge of these materials, of their historical-critical analysis, of the rise of the Hebrew-Christian tradition and the relevance of this tradition to the individual and society. Required of sophomores except as indicated above. The Staff

203. Elementary Hebrew (6 hrs.)
The elements of Biblical Hebrew grammar and syntax, with practice in translation and the memorizing of a vocabulary. Readings of selections from the Old Testament. Open to juniors and seniors by permission. (Not given in 1964-65.) Mr. Jenks

A study of the literature of influential movements between the Exile and 70 A.D. Emphasis on Ezekiel, Ezra-Nehemiah; non-canonical literature including the Dead Sea Scrolls. Prerequisite, 104 or 210.

Mr. Kuntz

208 (1). Survey of the Application of Christian Ethics to Social Problems

(3 hrs.)

A study of the historical and theological resources of the Judeo-Christian heritage for making concrete ethical decisions. Special consideration of contemporary problems of church and state, of social and racial groups, and of the family. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken or are taking Economics 101, Political Science 100, Sociology 102, or any course in medieval or modern history.

Mr. Johnson

210 (2). The First Three Gospels in Greek

(3 hrs.)

Same material as the second semester of 104, planned for those students who, in fulfilling the Biblical history requirement, prefer to study the Gospels in Greek rather than in English translation. Open to students who have taken the first semester of 104 and have taken or are taking a grade II Greek course. Students choosing this way of fulfilling the requirement in Biblical history may postpone the work until their junior year without special permission.

Mr. Rollins

213 (2).* Judaism from Philo to Spinoza

(3 hrs.)

The history of Judaism in its relation to the Graeco-Roman world, Christendom and Islam. Reading (in translation) of significant portions of Talmudic, Midrashic, Poetic, and speculative literatures. Prerequisite, 104 or 210.

Mr. Lacheman

216 (1). History of Christian Thought

(3 hrs.)

A survey of the interaction of the Biblical world view with classical culture and the consequent emergence of specifically Christian thought. The Church Fathers, the theology of the Creeds, Augustine, and medieval theology. Prerequisite, 104 or 210.

Mr. Hall

217 (2). History of Christian Thought

219 (1). History of Christian Thought in the Twentieth Century

An examination of recent theology, emphasizing the development from von Harnack through Barth, and its contribution to the historical movement from orthodoxy to liberalism and neo-orthodoxy.

251 (1). The Religions of the Far East

The history and development of scriptures, theologies, institutions and cultic practices of Hinduism, Buddhism, Taoism, Confucianism, and Shintoism. Prerequisite, 104 or 210.

252 (2). The Religions of the Middle East

The history and development of scriptures, theologies, institutions and cultic practices of Zoroastrianism and Islam. Some consideration of their more primitive antecedents. Their relationship to Judaism and Christianity. Prerequisite, 104 or 210.

301 (2)* Seminar. The Religions of the Ancient Near East

Studies in Babylonian, Greek, and Roman theology. Prerequisite, 206.

306 (2). * Seminar. The Old Testament

Systematic study of important religious ideas of the Old Testament. Prerequisite, 206. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

The confrontation of the early Church with the cultural forces of the Hellenistic-Roman world and the resulting problems of communication. Intensive study of the effect of this on Christian thought and expression in such areas as Christology, eschatology, soteriology, and Church Order. Prerequisite, 204.

308 (2). Seminar. The History of New Testament Thought

An examination of a theological problem concerning the nature of God, of man, of evil, or of time as formulated and clarified in New Testament writings and related documents. Prerequisite, 204.

310 (1). Seminar. Theology and History

Studies in the philosophy of history as seen in such thinkers as Augustine, Hegel, Toynbee. The significance of these positions for contemporary Judeo-Christian theology. Prerequisite, 216. (Not given in 1964-65.)

311 (2). Seminar. Theology and Literature

An examination of the influence of the poetic imagination on the formation and development of historical theology. The work of a major theological

Mr. Johnson

350. Research or Independent Study
Open to seniors by permission.

Directions for Election

Considerable freedom is possible within the major. In order, however, to provide cultural scope and to create the proper perspectives of criticism, a sound total program for the major shall include three hours of work beyond the sophomore requirement in at least two of the three areas upon which the department places particular emphasis: (1) Old Testament, (2) New Testament, (3) The History of Christian Thought.

Students interested in the original language of the New Testament are encouraged to confer with the Greek Department.

Placement and Exemption Examinations

The requirement in Biblical history may be met in some cases by the passing of an exemption examination. Exemption, when granted, will permit election of grade II courses in the department.

Biological Sciences

Principles of inheritance and their applications to other biological problems. Two periods of lecture and demonstrations and one period of discussion. Prerequisite, same as for 201.
Miss Creighton

301 (1). Cell Physiology
Chemical and physical phenomena of life processes and molecular mechanisms underlying structure and function of cells. Prerequisite 1964-65, nine hours in either botany or zoology to include a course in genetics (Biology 305 may be taken as a corequisite) and one course in college chemistry. Prerequisite 1965-66, Biology 205 and Chemistry 104 or 108. Five periods of lecture, discussion, and laboratory. Chemistry 205 is recommended.
Mr. Mascarenhas, Mrs. Riddiford

302 (2). Animal Physiology
Factors affecting the operation of the circulatory, excretory, respiratory, nervous, and contractile systems in animals. Emphasis on the vertebrates. Prerequisite, 301. Five periods of lecture, discussion, and laboratory.
Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Fiske

303 (2). Plant Physiology
Hormonal and other aspects of plant growth and development, physiology of reproduction, mineral nutrition, water relations, photosynthesis, and selected topics. Prerequisite, 301. Five periods of lecture, discussion, and laboratory.
Mr. Mascarenhas

304 (1). Histo!ogy
Microscopic structure of tissues and organs. Emphasis on the relation of structure and function. Preparation of tissues for microscopic study. Five periods of lecture, discussion, and laboratory. Prerequisite, Zoology 202 or 203, or Biology 202.
Miss Marshall

305 (1). Advanced Genetics
Principles of heredity and cytological and biochemical aspects of gene structure and function. Four periods of lecture, discussion, and laboratory.
Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 12 hours in the department and to others by permission. (After 1964-65 prerequisite or corequisite will be Biology 301.)

306 (2). Embryology

Development of an individual from its origin as a fertilized egg through the formation of the principal organs and systems. Laboratory work chiefly on the chick and the pig. Five periods of lecture, discussion, and laboratory. Prerequisite, same as for 304.

Miss Widmayer

308. (2). Plant Morphogenesis

Development of form in plants and the external and internal factors affecting morphogenesis. Preparation of tissues for microscopic study. Five periods of lecture, discussion, and laboratory. Prerequisite, Biology 203 and 301.

Miss Padykula

309 (2). General Bacteriology

Structure of bacteria, their physiological processes and their relation to human welfare. Emphasis on current microbiological techniques. Open to students who have taken one course in college chemistry and either six hours in the department or a second course in chemistry. In 1965-66 prerequisite will be Chemistry 104 or 108, and either 6 hours in the department or an additional course in chemistry. Five periods of lecture and laboratory.

Mrs. Creighton

310 (1). Advanced Bacteriology and Immunology

Systematic study of bacteria, including serological relationships and roles in disease and immunity. Consideration of recent developments in bacteriology. Bacteriological and serological techniques and procedures. Prerequisite, Biology 309, or Botany and Bacteriology 308. Four periods of lecture and laboratory. (Not given in 1964-65.)

311 (2). Virology

Nature of viruses and their interaction with plant, animal, and bacterial hosts. Experiments with bacterial viruses. Open in 1964-65 to seniors who have taken six hours from the following group of courses: Botany and Bacteriology 205, 308, 312, Biology 310, or by special permission. Two periods.

Mrs. Wyckoff

312 (2). Endocrinology

Intrinsic chemical control through hormones produced by endocrine glands and neurosecretory centers. Individual problems. Prerequisite or corequisite, 302. Five periods of lecture, discussion, and laboratory. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

313 (2). Metabolism and Nutrition

Physiological processes by which foods are utilized for growth, repair, and maintenance. Metabolism of vertebrates under normal and experimental conditions. Individual problems. Prerequisite or corequisite, Zoology 308 or Biology 302, and Chemistry 205. Four periods of lecture, discussion, and laboratory.

Mrs. Wilson

* Offered in alternate years.
314 (2). Advanced Histology (3 hrs.)
Cyto- and histochemistry of selected organ systems with emphasis on comparative studies. Techniques and applications of tissue culture, radiobiology, and diverse microscopy. Prerequisite, Zoology 303, or Biology 304. Five periods of lecture, discussion, and laboratory. Miss Gauthier

315 (2). Seminar. Development of Modern Biology (3 hrs.)
Evolution of modern biology including problems in present-day fields of investigation. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 18 hours in the department. Miss Widmayer

320 (1). Seminar (3 hrs.)
Intensive study of one problem or a series of related problems. Critical study of experimental methods and analysis of results. Emphasis on source material. Topic for 1964-65: Biological Rhythms. Open by permission to junior and senior majors who have taken 18 hours in the department. Mrs. Wilson

350. Research or Independent Study (3 or 6 hrs.)
Open to juniors and seniors by permission.

Directions for Election

A major in the biological sciences in the years 1964-65 and 1965-66 shall include a course in genetics and a course in physiology. Thereafter the major shall include Botany-Zoology 104 and Botany 105, or Zoology 105, or Biology 101, and Biology 205 and 301. Chemistry 104 or 108 is required and should be taken in the freshman or sophomore year.
All major students are strongly urged to take Chemistry 205, one year of mathematics and one year of physics, and are advised that a reading knowledge of one or more of the following languages is required (in general) for admission to graduate school: French, German, Russian.

Scholarship

A summer scholarship is available for a student majoring in biology who is returning to Wellesley to use either at the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole or another biological field station approved by the department. Interested students should consult the chairman before February 15.

Placement and Exemption Examinations

The department will offer an examination for exemption for biology as a distribution requirement to any student who offers for admission a year course, taken in either the junior or senior year and carried at a grade of B or better, and who presents an acceptable laboratory notebook when applying for the examination.
For admission to advanced courses in the department, exemption will be granted to students who pass an examination in the subject matter of Biology 101.
Premedical students are referred to the requirements as given on page 32.

CHEMISTRY

Professor: Jean Veghte Crawford, Ph.D.
Associate Professors: Eleanor Rudd Webster, Ph.D. (Chairman); Elizabeth Jane Rock, Ph.D.; Clifford Raymond Noll, Jr., Ph.D.; Chi-Hua Wang, Ph.D.
Assistant Professors: Kay Frances Koch, Ph.D.; Thomas Roy Blackburn, Ph.D.
Instructor: Emily Pitcher Dudek, Ph.D.
Teaching Assistant: Elizabeth Caeser Lieberman, M.A.
Graduate Assistants: Nagako Kuribayashi, B.S.; Yuan-Yuan Hsieh, B.S.; Petra Gonsalves, B.Sc.
Custodian: Emily May Hopkins, M.A.

102 (1). Introductory Chemistry (3 hrs.)
An introduction to the structure and properties of matter. Open to students who do not present chemistry for admission. Two and one-half periods of lecture and discussion and one three-period laboratory appointment.

Mrs. Dudek

105 (1) (2). Chemical Structure (3 hrs.)
A study of atomic structure, the chemical bond, and the relationship between structure and properties. Prerequisite, 102, or one admission unit in chemistry. Two periods of lecture and one three-period laboratory appointment.

Miss Rock, Mr. Noll

108 (2). Energy and Equilibrium (3 hrs.)
A study of the reactions of inorganic and organic compounds in terms of energy and equilibrium. Prerequisite, 105. Two periods of lecture and one three-period laboratory appointment.

Miss Crawford, Mr. Noll

203 (1). Identification of Elements and Compounds (3 hrs.)
Physical and chemical properties of some important elements and compounds, both inorganic and organic; emphasis on the relationship between structure and properties. Laboratory work: identification of anions, cations and common classes of organic substances. Prerequisite, 101 or 105. Open to qualified freshmen by permission. Two periods of lecture and one three-period laboratory appointment.

Miss Crawford

204 (2). Elementary Quantitative Analysis (3 hrs.)
The fundamental theory and practice of quantitative analysis applied to both inorganic and organic compounds. Prerequisite, 104, 108, or 203. One period of lecture and two three-period laboratory appointments. Mr. Blackburn

205 (1). Organic Chemistry (3 hrs.)
Systematic study of the fundamental classes of organic compounds with emphasis on their interconversion. Prerequisite, 104, 108, or 203. Two periods of lecture and one three-period laboratory appointment.

Mr. Wang

300 (2). Organic Chemistry (3 hrs.)
Mechanisms of organic reactions. Laboratory work: synthesis and identification of organic compounds. Prerequisite, 205. Two periods of lecture and one three-period laboratory appointment.

Mr. Wang

1 Absent on leave.
304 (1). General Quantitative Analysis (3 hrs.)

Subject matter similar to that of 204 but presented from a more advanced point of view. Prerequisite, 205. One period of lecture and two three-period laboratory appointments.

Mr. Blackburn

305. Physical Chemistry (6 hrs.)

The laws and theories of matter in its various states of aggregation, chemical thermodynamics, chemical equilibrium, reaction velocity, electrochemistry, and theories of atomic and molecular structure. Prerequisite, either Chemistry 204 and 205, or 304; Physics 101, 104, or 105; Mathematics 202 or 204, or, by special arrangement, 109. Two periods of lecture and discussion and one three-period laboratory appointment. The first semester may be elected independently.

Mr. Blackburn

307 (2). Inorganic Chemistry (3 hrs.)

An advanced study of a variety of inorganic substances and an interpretation of their properties in the light of recent theories of atomic and molecular structure. Prerequisite, or corequisite, 305.

Mrs. Dudek

308. Biochemistry (6 hrs.)

Structure, function, and evolution of biological molecules. Chemistry of enzyme-catalyzed reactions. Intermediary metabolism. Photosynthesis. Prerequisite, either 204 and 205, or 304; and a year of college botany, zoology or biological science. Two periods of lecture and discussion and one three-period laboratory appointment. The first semester may be elected separately.

Mr. Noll

312 (1). Use of the Literature of Chemistry (1 hr.)

An introduction to the published source materials of chemistry and to their use in advanced work and in research. Prerequisite, same as for 307. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

The Staff

313 (1). Advanced Organic Chemistry (3 hrs.)

A study of an advanced topic in organic chemistry such as stereochemistry, heterocyclic chemistry, reaction mechanisms, or the chemistry of natural products. Ordinarily a different subject each year. Prerequisite, 300; prerequisite or corequisite 204 or 304. Two periods of lecture and discussion.

Mr. Wang

314 (2). Instrumental Analysis (3 hrs.)

Principles and practice of instrumental methods such as absorption and emission spectrometry, electroanalysis, and chromatography. Open to students who have taken or are taking college physics and who have taken either 204 and 205, or 304. One period of lecture and two three-period laboratory appointments.

Mrs. Dudek

315 (2). Advanced Organic Laboratory (3 hrs.)

Synthesis and characterization of organic compounds; use of vacuum, chromatographic and spectral techniques. Prerequisite, either Chemistry 204 or 304, and 300. One period of lecture and two three-period laboratory appointments.

Mr. Wang
316 (1). Chemical Theory (3 hrs.)
Selected topics in the development of modern chemistry chosen to illustrate major conceptual advances in one or more branches of the field. Subject to be announced. Open by permission to juniors and seniors. Mrs. Dudek

320. Seminar (2 hrs.)
Recent developments in chemistry. Inorganic, organic, physical and biochemistry studied in successive semesters. Open to graduate students. May be taken for two, three or four semesters and may be begun either semester. (Not given in 1964-65.) The Staff

350. Research or Independent Study (3 to 6 hrs.)
Open by permission to students who have taken at least 18 hours in chemistry.

Directions for Election
All students majoring in chemistry are required to complete 204 or 304, 205, 300, and 305, and are advised to elect 307. Any other courses in the department may be added to complete the 24-hour major. A year of college physics and one year of college mathematics, which must include calculus, are required. In addition students are advised to acquire a reading knowledge of German and of either French or Russian.

Premedical students are referred to the requirements as given on page 32. The American Chemical Society has established a set of requirements which it considers essential for the training of chemists. Students wishing to meet the standard of an accredited chemist as defined by this society should consult the Chemistry Department.

Placement and Exemption Examinations
Unusually well-qualified students may apply for an examination covering the year’s work in Chemistry 102-105. (A college textbook of general chemistry should be used in preparation for this examination.) The satisfactory completion of this examination will be accepted as the equivalent of 102-105 as a prerequisite for advanced work in the department.

Classical Archeology
Adviser: Mary Rosenthal Lefkowitz, Assistant Professor of Greek and Latin

An interdepartmental major in Classical Archeology gives opportunity for a study of classical civilization through its art, literature, and history, with emphasis on either the Greek or Roman period.

The field of concentration (42 hours) should normally include ancient history (6 hours); art (12 to 15 hours); Greek or Latin language and literature (18 to 21 hours); independent study of an archeological topic correlating work in art and literature (3 to 6 hours). In addition to the work elected in either Greek or Latin, the candidate must give evidence of a working knowledge of the second language.
The department has developed an undergraduate tutorial program in connection with Economics 101. Specially qualified senior majors are selected as tutors and conduct weekly discussion meetings for freshmen. Throughout the year, members of the department supervise a special course of independent study for the senior tutors.

101.† Survey of Modern Economics (6 hrs.)

An introduction to the major principles and problems of economic science—the study of the ways people make a living—with special reference to the United States. Organization and operation of American business; individual and family income; money and banking; prosperity and depression; nature and causes of inflation; labor-management relations; government taxing and spending; foreign trade and foreign aid; comparisons of the American economy with others. Open to all undergraduates.

201 (2). Economic Analysis (3 hrs.)

The basic techniques of modern analysis applicable to problems of income, output, employment, and prices. Fundamentals of economic theory and method. Prerequisite, 101.

204 (1). Economic History of the United States (3 hrs.)

Economic change in America: the transformation of an agricultural economy; the course of the Industrial Revolution; role of public and private institutions in the process of economic change. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors who have taken or are taking 101.

205 (1) (2). Corporations and Business Enterprise (3 hrs.)

The development of the modern corporation, and its place in the economy. Corporate organization and management; corporate securities; the stock market; investment and speculation; relations of the corporation with employees, customers, owners, and government agencies. Prerequisite, same as for 204.

207 (2). Labor Economics (3 hrs.)

Activities and policies relating to American labor. Growth and composition of the labor force. Labor unions and collective bargaining. Public policy; social legislation. Prerequisite, same as for 204.

Mr. Funk, Mr. Goldman

† Students may begin the course in either semester. Credit will be given for the course only after completion of both semesters.

2 Absent on leave for the first semester.
211 (1) (2). Introduction to Social and Economic Statistics (3 hrs.)

A non-mathematical course in basic methods of statistical description and inference in the social sciences. Measures of central tendency and dispersion. Probability, sampling, simple correlation, index numbers, and time series. Laboratory work with calculating machines. Prerequisite, same as for 204. (For mathematical statistics, see Mathematics 205.)  Mrs. Pearson, Mr. Smith

212 (2). Economics of Accounting (3 hrs.)

A survey of the fundamental principles of accounting; problems in accounting technique. Emphasis on the relation of accounting theory and practice to economic theory and contemporary economic problems. Aim: to enable the student to interpret and utilize accounting data in other fields of economics and in the analysis of public policy. Prerequisite, same as for 204.  Mrs. Bell

220 (1). Money and Banking (3 hrs.)

301 (1). Comparative Economic Systems (3 hrs.)

Economic processes and goals of alternative types of economic systems. Study of functioning economies, illustrative of capitalism, socialism, communism, fascism. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 101 and have taken or are taking a grade II course in economics, history, political science, or sociology.  Mrs. Pearson

302 (2). Economic Development (3 hrs.)

Theories of economic development, and their application to the growth of modern nations. Comparative rates of growth as related to economic institutions and policies. Special problems of the less developed countries, and their significance to the United States. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 101 and six additional hours in the department.  Mr. Goldman

303 (2). Economic Fluctuations (3 hrs.)

Theoretical, statistical, and historical analysis of the capitalist process. Seasonal variation, cycles, and trends. Emphasis on major fluctuations and their relations to public policies. Prerequisite, 201 and 211, or by permission.  Mr. Clemence

305 (1). The Structure of American Industry (3 hrs.)

The organization and development of representative industries in agricultural and industrial production and distribution. Resources and production, markets and prices. Economic aspects of public policy in the regulation of business. Prerequisite, 201 or 205.  Mrs. Almon

307 (1). The Economics of Consumption (3 hrs.)

Analysis of wants and choices of consumers; income distribution and consumption patterns; marketing in its relation to consumers; legislative indu-ences; the impact of consumption decisions on the economy. Open to students who have taken or are taking 211.

Mrs. Bell

310 (1). Public Finance
Principles, practices, and economic effects of government expenditure, revenue, and debt with special emphasis upon taxation in the United States. Current issues of fiscal policy and reform at the federal, state, and local levels of government. Prerequisite, 220 or by permission.

Mr. Funk

312 (2). Economic Statistics
Further development of techniques studied in 211. Investigation of an economic problem susceptible of statistical analysis. Design of the project, collection and tabulation of data, analysis and report of results. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 211, or, by permission, to students who have taken Mathematics 205 and have taken or are taking any other grade II course in economics.

Mrs. Almon

314 (2). International Economics
The theory of international trade. Methods of adjustment to disequilibrium in balance of payments. The impact of international movements of commodities and capital on economic activity in the past and since World War II. Current problems: international liquidity, economic integration, the United States balance of payments. Prerequisite, 220 and either 201 or by permission.

Miss Greenwood

315 (1). History of Economic Thought
The development of economic thought from ancient to modern times. A brief survey of early economic ideas, followed by a more detailed examination of the history of economics since 1776. The systems of the leading economists in the light of their own times and of the present day. Prerequisite, 201.

Mr. Clemence

316 (1). Modern Economic Thought
Recent developments in economic thought, and their significance for theory and policy. Reading and discussion of contemporary economic literature. Prerequisite, 201. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

317 (2). Seminar. Quantitative Economics
Open by permission to students with nine hours of Economics. Prerequisite, Mathematics 106 or 109 or the equivalent. (Not given in 1964-65.)

Mrs. Almon

320 (2). Seminar. Selected Topics in Economic Movements and Theories
Subject for 1964-65: Research methods and techniques. Open by permission to juniors.

Mr. Smith

330 (1). Seminar
Current topics in economic analysis and policy. Open to senior majors. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

The Staff

350. Research or Independent Study
Open to juniors and seniors by permission.

* Offered in alternate years.

Directions for Election

Every student proposing to elect courses other than 101 should consult some member of the department before reaching final decisions. Students majoring in economics should ordinarily elect 201, 211, and 220, in addition to other grade II courses of their choice, before undertaking work at the grade III level.

Placement and Exemption Examinations

Examinations for exemption from Economics 101, and for advanced standing, are offered to qualified students.

Education

Associate Professor: Mary Ewen Ulich, Ed.D. (Chairman)

Lecturers: Louise Catherine Keller, Ed.M.; Esther Pastene Edwards, Ed.D.

101 (1) (2). Introduction to Classical Philosophy (3 hrs.)
For description and prerequisite, see Philosophy 101.

102. Introduction to Psychology (6 hrs.)
For description and prerequisite, see Psychology 102.

104 (2). Introduction to Moral Philosophy (3 hrs.)
For description and prerequisite, see Philosophy 104.

200 (1) (2). Philosophy of Education (3 hrs.)
The role of philosophical thought and analysis in the clarification of major problems of education. Discussion of the aims of schooling, and the relation of knowledge to individual and social values. Open to freshmen in the second semester who have taken or are taking a course in philosophy or psychology, and to sophomores, juniors, and seniors without prerequisite. Mrs. Ulich

201 (2). History of Educational Ideas (3 hrs.)
Study of the interrelationship between educational ideas and ideals and their historical setting, their influence on the educational process, and their contribution to the general development of culture. Prerequisite, 200. Mrs. Ulich

202 (2). The Elementary School (3 hrs.)
The organization of the elementary school, its curriculum, the teacher’s work, and current educational policies. Emphasis placed on the development and characteristics of elementary school children. Observation in schools required. Prerequisite, 200. Miss Edwards

205 (1). The Education of the Young Child (3 hrs.)
A survey of the theory and practice of early childhood education, including the study of young children as members of society who are responding to educational influences. Four hours a week of observation and participation at

* Offered in alternate years.
* Appointed for the second semester only.
the Page Memorial School. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 200 and a course in psychology.

Mrs. Keller

206 (2). The Education of the Young Child
Further studies in early childhood education. Advanced participation at the Page School. Prerequisite, 205.

Mrs. Keller

207 (1) (2). Child Psychology
For description and prerequisite, see Psychology 207.

(3 hrs.)

208 (2). The Education of the Young Child
Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 200 and a course in psychology.

Mrs. Keller

207 (1) (2). Child Psychology
For description and prerequisite, see Psychology 207.

(3 hrs.)

300 (1). Secondary Education
The aims, organization, and administration of secondary schools considered in relation to their social, political, and economic environments. Criteria for evaluating curricula and classroom problems included. Observation in schools required. Prerequisite, 200.

Mrs. Ulich

301 (2)* Educational Problems and Practices in Other Countries
A comparative study of contemporary educational policies and plans in older and newer nations. Prerequisite, 200.

Mrs. Ulich

302 (2)* Principles of Teaching
Study of teaching objectives, curriculum planning, classroom procedures. Review of learning theories. Class divided into groups for six weeks of intensive work in the methods and materials of a specific subject matter; for example, English, foreign language, social science, science. Intended only for those who plan to teach immediately after graduation. Open by permission to juniors and seniors who have taken 300. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

The Staff

307 (1). Psychology of the Development of Personality
For description and prerequisite, see Psychology 307.

Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

The Staff

(3 hrs.)

Directions for Election
Students who intend to teach should (in their sophomore year if possible) consult the department concerning the various city and state requirements for the certificate to teach and the appropriate undergraduate preparation for fifth year and paid intern programs which combine professional study with further study in teaching fields and lead to Masters degrees honored by all states. (See also General Information, page 31.

Although the College does not offer a major in education, students may take up to eighteen hours, which is the required number in many states. They may elect also the courses listed above in philosophy and psychology which are important in the preparation of teachers.

* Offered in alternate years.
ANNE L. PAGE MEMORIAL SCHOOL

Director: LOUISE CATHERINE KELLER, ED.M.

Teachers: JULIA MERRILL BAUER, M.S.; NATALIE B. BARLOW, M.S.; MARY LOUISE MEYER, B.A.; MAXINE LOUISE MCDONALD, B.S. ED.

Assistant Teachers: DOROTHY STAPLES EGBERT, B.A.; VIRGINIA M. HUCKABEE; BARBARA LOUISE LIEPMANN, B.S. ED.

Secretary: JEANNE FARHAM TRIPP

The Anne L. Page Memorial School for children from three to five years of age is the college laboratory school and as such it is an integral part of the educational program of the College. It is a center for child study, observation, and participation for students from all departments of the College, and it is especially helpful to students working in the departments of Education and of Psychology.

ENGLISH

Professors: WALTER EDWARDS HOUGHTON, PH.D.; MARY RUTH MICHAEL,\(^1\) PH.D.; VIRGINIA FLEMING PRETTYMAN, PH.D.; HELEN STORM CORSA, PH.D.; KATHERINE LEVER, PH.D.; PATRICK FRANCIS QUINN, PH.D. (Chairman)

100. STYLE AND ORGANIZATION (6 hrs.)

The Staff

106. LITERATURE IN THREE AGES: RENAISSANCE, NEO-CLASSIC, AND ROMANTIC (6 hrs.)

An introduction to critical analysis through the reading of major works from Marlowe to Wordsworth in their historical contexts. Open to all undergraduates.

The Staff

107.\(^†\) INTERPRETATIONS OF MAN IN WESTERN LITERATURE (6 hrs.)

For description and prerequisite, see Interdepartmental 107.

\(^1\) Absent on leave.
\(^2\) Appointed for the first semester only.
\(^5\) Appointed for the second semester only.
\(^†\) Counts as related work but not as part of a major in English. Acceptable as a prerequisite for grade II literature courses.
Courses 200-203 inclusive are planned as workshops in writing, with informal group meetings and frequent individual conferences. While the emphasis is on constant practice in writing, each course requires a critical reading of pertinent examples of the type of writing being studied. Courses 301 and 302 inclusive continue the same plan at an advanced level.

200 (1) (2). SHORT NARRATIVE
Sketches and the short story. For interested students, experience in the writing of one-act plays. Prerequisite, 100. Not open to students who have taken three semesters of grade II work in writing or who are taking another writing course.
Mr. White, Miss Robinson (1); Miss Robinson (2)

201 (1). THE CRITICAL ESSAY
Training in the organization and presentation of literary analyses and judgments. Reading of some of the best contemporary criticism. Prerequisite or corequisite, 106.
Mr. Garis, Mr. Lewis

202 (1). POETRY
The writing of short lyrics and study of the art and craft of poetry. Open to juniors and seniors, and by permission to sophomores.
Mr. Kennedy

203 (2). EXPOSITORY AND JOURNALISTIC WRITING
The writing of reviews, reports, news stories, and magazine articles. Prerequisite, same as for 200.
Miss Halsall

210 (1) (2). MODERN POETRY
English and American poetry and poets, recent and contemporary. Open to sophomores who have taken 106 or Interdepartmental 107, and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.
Mr. Ferry

211 (2). RENAISSANCE DRAMA
Mrs. Jackson

212 (1) (2). MODERN DRAMA
The study of English, American, and European drama from Ibsen to the present day. Prerequisite, same as for 210.
Mrs. Spacks (1); Mr. Lewis (2)

215 (1) (2). INTRODUCTION TO SHAKESPEARE
The study of a number of representative plays, with emphasis on their dramatic and poetic aspects. Open to juniors and seniors only. For non-majors.
Mr. Garis (1); Mr. Friedlander (2)

217 (1). MILTON
A critical study of Milton as a master of lyric, epic, and dramatic poetry, and as a writer of notable prose. Prerequisite, same as for 210.
Miss Lever

220 (1) (2). CHAUCER
A study of Chaucer's poetry, tracing the development of his art, with some attention to the relation of his work to the social and literary background of his time. Prerequisite, same as for 210.

Mrs. Jackson, Miss Halsall (1); Miss Corsa, Miss Lever, Miss Diamond (2)

223 (1). AMERICAN LITERATURE
(3 hrs.)
The beginnings of American literature and the social conditions out of which it grew, followed by a consideration of American writers through Melville. Emphasis upon major figures. Prerequisite, same as for 210. Mr. Quinn, Mr. Gold

224 (2). AMERICAN LITERATURE
(3 hrs.)
American writers from Whitman to the present time. Emphasis upon major figures. Prerequisite, 223. Mr. Quinn, Mr. Gold

225. THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE ENGLISH NOVEL
(6 hrs.)
The growth of the English novel from its beginning in the 18th century. Concentration on the major novelists from Defoe through Conrad, with attention to the philosophical, cultural, and historical milieux. Prerequisite, same as for 210. Not open to those who have taken 226. Miss Corsa, Miss Diamond

226 (1) (2). STUDIES IN FICTION
(3 hrs.)
A study of the art of fiction in the writings of major European, English, and American novelists of the 19th and 20th centuries. Prerequisite, same as for 210. Not open to those who have taken 225. Miss Moloney (1); Mrs. Spacks, Mr. White, Miss Moloney (2q

228 (1). EIGHTEENTH CENTURY POETRY
(3 hrs.)
Pope and Gay to Cowper and Burns. The variety of poetic expression and of critical theory involved in the change from Neo-classicism to Romanticism. Prerequisite, same as for 210. Mrs. Spacks

230 (1). EARLY ROMANTIC POETS
(3 hrs.)
Intensive study of poems and critical writings of Blake, Wordsworth, and Coleridge. Prerequisite, same as for 210. Mr. Houghton, Miss Prettyman

231 (2). LATER ROMANTIC POETS
(3 hrs.)

Mr. Houghton
315 (2). Victorian Poetry (3 hrs.)

The poetry of Tennyson, Browning, Arnold, and Hopkins. Prerequisite, 314, or either 230 or 231 and an additional three-hour grade II literature course. Open to other students by permission.

Mr. Houghton

316 (2). Seventeenth Century Poetry and Prose Exclusive of Milton (3 hrs.)

The stress and conflict of an age of transition, presented through the innovations of Donne and Jonson in poetry, and of Bacon, Browne, Burton, and Taylor in prose. Brief study of Cavalier and religious poetry. Prerequisite, same as for 307.

Mr. Garis

317 (1). American Literature (3 hrs.)

Mr. Quinn

318 (1). Advanced Studies in the Novel (3 hrs.)

Critical and aesthetic problems in the field of fiction, as seen in the work of several major English and American novelists, selected, for the most part, from the 20th century. Prerequisite, same as for 307.

Miss Corsa

321 (1). Seminar (3 hrs.)

Topic for 1964-65: George Eliot. Her work studied against the background of biography and critical theory. Open by permission to seniors who have taken six hours of grade III in literature, and to qualified juniors.

Miss Diamond

322 (2). Seminar (3 hrs.)

Topic for 1964-65: Studies in Milton. Significant themes and poetic premises in the major works. Open by permission to seniors who have taken six hours of grade III in literature and to qualified juniors.

Miss Lever

323 (1). Seminar in Writing (3 hrs.)

Advanced course in writing, the focus and emphasis to be announced each year. Prerequisite, 301 or 302. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

350. Research or Independent Study (3 or 6 hrs.)

Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

Directions for Election

The above courses, with certain exceptions, may be elected to fulfill the distribution requirement in Group I. These exceptions are writing courses and 312.

Although English 100 counts for the degree, it does not count toward a major in English and is not included within the maximum number of hours (42 hours) permitted in one department.

For students interested in writing, a sequence of practice courses is provided, but no two writing courses may be taken simultaneously. Enrollment in writing workshops is, in general, limited to fifteen.

A student majoring in English is required to take 106, 217 or 220, 309, and six additional hours before the modern period. Additional courses within the 42-hour limit may be freely elected in accordance with the student’s interests.
Students of at least B standing in the work of the department will have first consideration in applying for admission to seminars and 350 work.

Placement and Exemption Examinations

Freshmen who secure the permission of the chairman may qualify for entrance to grade II work in literature by passing an exemption examination covering the material of course 106.

Related Courses

Knowledge of English history, of the course of European thought, and of at least one foreign literature at an advanced level (preferably in the original language) is of great value to the student of English. See, for example, History 103, 213, 217, 310; Philosophy 203 and 214; grade II and grade III courses in foreign literatures; see also Greek 104 and 203; Italian 103; Interdepartmental 107, 201, and 202.

For opportunities to specialize in certain periods (e.g. the Middle Ages, the Renaissance), see courses in the departments of Art, History, other languages, Philosophy, etc. This correlation should be planned as early as possible.

French

Professors: Edith Melcher, Ph.D.; Germaine Lafeuille, Agrégée des lettres, Ph.D.; René Marie Galand, Ph.D.

Associate Professor: Carlo Roger François, Ph.D. (Chairman)

Assistant Professors: Leo Bersani, Ph.D.; Florence Turner McCulloch, Ph.D.

Instructors: Elizabeth Stanton Blake, M.A.; Elisabeth Deberdt Malaquais, Lic.-ès-lettres; Monique Y. Crochet, dipl. e.s.; Martine Astier Loutfi, dipl. e.s.; Monique Eliane Fol, m.a.; Rebecca Marianne Valette, Ph.D.; Mary Jane Smalley, M.A.; Lucy Joy Newton, Ph.D.

Lecturers: Jeanette McPherrin, M.A.; Edouard Gade, Doctorat-ès-lettres

Secretary: Dorothea O. Crooker

All courses of the department are conducted in French. Oral expression and practice in writing are stressed.

The department reserves the right to place a new student in the course for which she seems best prepared, regardless of the number of units she has offered for admission.

Attention is called to the opportunity for residence in the French Center, Tower Court.

Qualified students may be recommended by the department for the junior year abroad. See page 30, The Junior Year Abroad.

The life and works of a writer in relation to the social history and literary trends of his period. In 1964-65 the author studied will be Marcel Proust. Prerequisite, same as for 321.

Mr. Bersani

350. Research or Independent Study (3 or 6 hrs.)

Prerequisite, same as for 321.

Directions for Election

Course 103 and all grade II and grade III courses, except the linguistic courses, may be elected to fulfill the literature requirement in Group I.

Course 101 counts for the degree but does not count toward a major.

Students who have taken 101 and 102 may not elect 103.

Course 102 counts for the major only if directly followed by a six-hour course of grade II.

Students taking their first grade II literature course are urged to elect 222. Students planning to major in French (with the exception of those who carried a grade II course in their freshman year) should not elect a second literature course of grade II without permission of the department.

Courses 222, 308, 310 give valuable training in language skill. Students majoring in French are required to elect at least two of these courses. The department may require majors to take 224.

Students majoring in French are advised to include 204 or 306, and 301 in their program.

Students who begin with 101 in college and who may wish to major in French should consult the chairman of the department at the end of their freshman year.

Special attention is called to Education 302; this course is recommended to students majoring in French who wish to prepare for teaching in secondary schools.

Related Courses Suggested for Election

Students who may wish to do graduate work in French are advised to begin the study of a second modern language.

Related courses in art, history, philosophy, English and those courses in foreign languages that meet the literature requirement are recommended.

Geography 208, and History 210 and 211 are especially useful for French majors.

By careful choice of related courses, a student majoring in French may plan a field of concentration emphasizing one period. Students interested in such a plan should consult the chairman of the department as early as possible.

GEOGRAPHY

Professor: Elizabeth Eiselein, Ph.D. (Chairman)
Assistant Professor: Martha Eleanor Church, Ph.D.
Custodian: Martha Miles Gordon

102 (1). Fundamentals of Geography (3 hrs.)

A study of the physical elements of geography and of the principles underlying their distribution in the world; local field observation of geographical patterns; special reference to geographical problems in emerging and more developed regions of the world. Open to all undergraduates. Miss Church

104 (1). Geography of the United States and Canada (3 hrs.)
A study of the major geographical regions of Anglo-America. Particular consideration given to environmental factors of importance to current economic and political problems. Open to all undergraduates.

Miss Eiselen

105 (2). Geography of South America (3 hrs.)
A study of the environmental characteristics of the countries of South America; the relationship of environment to past, present and possible future development of the various countries. Open to all undergraduates.

Miss Eiselen

208 (2). Geography of Europe (3 hrs.)
A study of the geographical character of the European continent. Economic and political implications of recent developments in resource utilization as well as changes occurring in traditional land use patterns. Open to sophomores who have taken 102 or 104 or six hours of economics, history, political science or sociology, and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.

Miss Church

209 (2). Geography of Africa South of the Sahara (3 hrs.)
A study of sub-Saharan Africa with emphasis on selected geographical factors affecting current economic and political changes in the region. Prerequisite, same as for 208.

Miss Eiselen

210 (1). Geography of the Middle East and North Africa (3 hrs.)
Investigation of particular environmental conditions related to economic and political development in the Middle East and North Africa. Prerequisite, same as for 208.

Miss Church

211 (2). Cartography (3 hrs.)
History of maps; principles and problems involved in map making and map interpretation; use of aerial photographs and other source materials. Opportunity in laboratory for individual map projects to suit special interests of the student. Open to sophomores who have taken one course in geography or geology and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite. Two periods of lecture and laboratory.

Miss Church

213 (2). Geography of Asia (3 hrs.)
An examination of the geographical character of the Asiatic continent. Analysis of resources and of the imprint of varying cultures upon the land. Emphasis placed upon newly developing patterns of land use in China, Japan, India, and Pakistan. Prerequisite, same as for 208.

Miss Church

306 (1). Conservation of Natural Resources (3 hrs.)
A study of selected problems associated with the need for and the principles governing the conservation of the natural resources of the United States; problems of water supply, floods, land use, wildlife, and mineral and power supplies. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken six hours of geography or are majoring in economics, political science, geology, or the biological sciences.

Miss Eiselen

310 (1). Geography of the U.S.S.R. (3 hrs.)
Intensive study of significant geographical developments in the U.S.S.R. Spepecial attention given to particular aspects of resource planning. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken six hours of geography, or, by permission, to specially qualified students. Miss Church

312 (2). Seminar. Economic Geography of the Western Hemisphere (3 hrs.)

Investigation of selected problems in the economic geography of Anglo- and Latin America, including Mexico, Central America, and the Caribbean Islands. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken six hours of world or regional geography, and to juniors and seniors majoring in Spanish who have taken Geography 104 or 105. Miss Eiselen

313 (1). Seminar (3 hrs.)

An examination of theory and methodology in one special field of geography. Subject for 1964-65: Economic Geography as Applied to Regions of Poverty in the World. Open to juniors and seniors majoring in geography or related fields who have taken twelve hours in geography. Miss Eiselen

350. Research or Independent Study (3 or 6 hrs.)

Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

Directions for Election

Grade I and II courses may be elected as non-laboratory science courses to fulfill part of the Group III distribution requirement. Grade III courses in geography do not count for distribution.

A geography major should include 102 and 211. In addition, related work should include Geology 101 (1), or Ecology (Biology 205).

Attention is called to the possibility of emphasizing area studies in the field of concentration.

GEOLOGY

Professor: Louise Kingsley, Ph.D. (Chairman)
Assistant Professor: Dabney Withers Caldwell, Ph.D.
Teaching Assistant: Laurence Graves Walker, M.A.
Custodian: Martha Miles Gordon

101.† General Geology (6 hrs.)

Physical and historical geology. The work of rivers, oceans, glaciers, and volcanoes throughout geologic time. The origin and history of mountains, and the structure and development of the North American continent. The history of living things as recorded by fossils. Mineral and fuel resources.

Open to all undergraduates. Two periods of lecture or discussion and three of laboratory. Occasional afternoon field trips substituted for laboratory work.

The Staff

202 (1). Mineralogy (3 hrs.)

A study of common ore, rock-forming, and accessory minerals. Geologic occurrence and economic use. Identification by physical properties and simple chemical tests. Field trips. Prerequisite, 101, or Chemistry 101, 102, 104, or 105. Five periods of lecture and laboratory.

Mr. Caldwell

† The first semester may be elected separately by junior and senior geography majors.
204 (1). Geomorphology

A study of land forms and their origin; their use in interpretation of geologic history; streams, glacial features and shore processes studied in the field and in the laboratory. Quantitative studies of topographic maps and stream-gauge data. Practical application of geomorphology. Open to students who have taken one semester of 101. Three periods of lecture and laboratory. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

Mr. Caldwell

205 (1). Invertebrate Paleontology

The facts and principles of organic evolution as revealed by the lile of the past. The steps in the development from simple, generalized forms to more complex and specialized types illustrated by a comparative study of fossils. Prerequisite, 101, or Zoology 105, or Biology 101. Three periods of lecture and laboratory.

Miss Kingsley

206 (2). Regional Geology of North America

A systematic study of the United States, Canada, and Mexico by physiographic provinces, dealing with the geologic history, the kinds of rocks (including the economically important rocks), the structures and their relations to topography. Prerequisite, 101. Three periods of lecture and laboratory. (Not given in 1964-65.)

Miss Kingsley

207 (2). Economic Geology

A study of economically valuable mineral deposits, both metallic and non-metallic. The origin, composition, and geological and mineralogical relations of these deposits; their geographic distribution and political significance. Prerequisite, 101 and, by permission, Geography 104. Three periods of lecture and laboratory.

Mr. Caldwell

301 (2). Petrography

A study of the crystal systems of the rock-making minerals, the optical properties of those minerals, and identification of igneous, sedimentary, and metamorphic rocks by optical mineralogy. Two periods of lecture. Laboratory to be arranged. Prerequisite, 202. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

The Staff

313 (2). Studies in Stratigraphy

Various aspects of sedimentary rocks such as lithology, origin, environments of deposition, structures and relationships studied as aids in reading the stratigraphic record. Various laboratory techniques utilized in determining origin, history, and correlation of sedimentary materials. Individual study projects. Prerequisite, 101 and 202. Three periods of lecture and laboratory.

Mr. Caldwell

314 (1). Structural Geology

Description and interpretation of rock structures. The origin and structure of mountain ranges. Individual study of areas of special interest. Laboratory work: interpretation of geologic maps, the drawing of cross-sections, and graphical solution of problems. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 101 and a grade II course in geology. Three periods of lecture and laboratory, with occasional field trips.

Miss Kingsley

* Offered in alternate years.
315 (2). Vulcanism and Igneous Rocks (3 hrs.)

Extrusive and intrusive phases of vulcanism. Description, identification, and origin of igneous and related metamorphic rocks. Particular emphasis on regional studies. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 101 and 202. Lecture and laboratory, with occasional field trips. Miss Kingsley

350. Research or Independent Study (3 or 6 hrs.)

Open, by permission, to juniors and seniors who are majoring in the department.

Summer Field Courses. The department will recommend summer field courses given by other colleges (dealing chiefly with the Rocky Mountain region) to interested students who have completed one year or more of geology at Wellesley. Credit may be given for such courses provided the student's plans are approved in advance by the department.

Directions for Election

A geology major must include 101. Grade II courses should be selected with a view to the type of advanced work which the student desires. Advice from the department should be secured. A summer field course in western United States is suggested as a good background for advanced courses.

Geography 306 and the regional courses correlate well with geology. Chemistry is desirable for students majoring in geology. Those intending to do graduate work should consult the department in the selection of related courses.

German

Associate Professors: Barbara Salditt, Ph.D.; Martha Julia Goth, Ph.D. (Chairman)

Assistant Professor: Laura Evelyn Hourtienne, Ph.D.

Instructors: Valda Dreimanis Melngailis, M.A.; Renata Hofman Briggs

The language of the classroom in all courses is almost exclusively German. The student thus has constant practice in hearing, speaking, and writing German. Capable students in 101 have the opportunity, by doing special reading during the summer and upon approval of the Chairman, to omit 102 and proceed with 202, an introductory course in German literature. A summer term at the German School, Middlebury College, is recommended as stimulating and helpful.

Well qualified students will be allowed to spend the junior year in Germany. See page 30. The Junior Year Abroad.

Attention is called to the opportunity for residence in the German Corridor of Wellesley College.

101. Elementary Course (6 hrs.)

Study of grammar and vocabulary; frequent written exercises; reading of short stories; special emphasis on oral expression. Open to students who do not present German for admission. Three periods and laboratory. The Staff

102. Intermediate Course (6 hrs.)

Extensive reading with emphasis on vocabulary building; review of fundamental principles of grammar; frequent composition and oral expression; discussion of German culture. Prerequisite, 101 or two admission units in German. Three periods and laboratory. The Staff
104. Outline History of German Literature (6 hrs.)

First semester: an introduction to German literature from its beginning to the 17th century. Second semester: an introduction to the 17th and 18th centuries, Schiller and Goethe. Open to freshmen only who present three or more admission units in German.
Miss Salditt

202. Introduction to German Literature (6 hrs.)

A study of the development of German literature and its cultural background from 800-1800. Works read and discussed are: the Hildebrandslied, selections from the Nibelungenlied, the works of Wolfram, Gottfried, Hartmann, the Minnesingers; Volklied, selections from Luther, Hans Sachs, Lessing, Herder, Schiller, Goethe. Prerequisite, 102 or, by permission, 101. Three periods.
Miss Goth, Mrs. Melngailis

204 (1). Goethe

Goethe’s life and work; his literary growth studied with emphasis on his development from “Sturm und Drang” to classicism. Prerequisite, 104 or 202.
Miss Salditt

205 (1). The Development from Romanticism to Realism (3 hrs.)

Study of romantic thought, its literary expression and its evolution to the realistic thinking of the 19th century. Prerequisite, 104 or 202.
Miss Hourtienne

206. Conversation (2 hrs.)

Practice in the use of the spoken language. Class discussions based on readings in newspapers, periodicals, and other contemporary materials. Open to students taking 202, and to others by permission of the instructor. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

207 (2).° Advanced Composition and Conversation (3 hrs.)

Intensive work in written and oral German; composition, translation, grammar. Prerequisite, 104 or 202.
Miss Hourtienne

304 (2). Goethe’s Faust

Intensive study of Goethe’s Faust, Part I; extensive study of Part II. Prerequisite, 104 or 202, and 204.
Miss Salditt

305 (2).° From Classicism to Romanticism (3 hrs.)

A study of the following authors and their respective relationships to classicism or romanticism: Schiller, Hölderlin, Kleist. Prerequisite, 204 or 205. (Not offered in 1964-65.)
Miss Hourtienne

308 (1). Literature of the Late Nineteenth and the Early Twentieth Centuries (3 hrs.)

Intellectual and aesthetic trends of the period. Varied texts: dramas, lyric poetry, novels, essays, letters of representative authors. Prerequisite, 204 or 205, and open to seniors by permission of the instructor.
Miss Goth

312 (2). Literature of the Twentieth Century (3 hrs.)

Aspects and tendencies of 20th century literature from the First World War to the present time. Prerequisite, 308.
Miss Goth

° Offered in alternate years.
321 (1). Seminar. The Writer and His Age

(3 hrs.)

Intensive study of the works and lives of one or two writers in relation to philosophical, historical and literary trends of their periods. Topic for 1965-66: The Poetry and Prose of Nietzsche and its Influence on Modern German Writers. Prerequisite, 308 and 312. Open by permission to specially qualified non-majors. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

Miss Goth

322 (2). Seminar

(3 hrs.)

Study of a topic or various topics. Subject for 1965-66: The Significance of Myth in Various Epochs of German Literature—the Edda, Herder, classicism; Hölderlin and the religious revival of myth; 19th and 20th centuries. Prerequisite, same as for 321. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

Miss Goth

350. Research or Independent Study

(3 or 6 hrs.)

Open by permission to seniors.

Directions for Election

To fulfill the literature requirement in Group I, students may elect courses 104, 202, 204, 205, and grade III courses.

Course 101 may be counted for the degree but not for the major.

Course 102 may count for the major.

Students who begin with 101 in college and wish to major in German should consult the department in order to obtain permission to omit 102 and take 202.

Students intending to major in the department are requested to take 104 or 202 and at least 12 hours of grade III work.

Open by permission of the department to juniors and seniors.

Directions for Election

Beginning students electing history may choose any of the introductory courses (101, 102, 103, 104), but not more than one of these courses may be counted in the hours for a major.

Major students in history must distribute their work so that they have some acquaintance with the general political or cultural history of the periods both before and after 1715. To fulfill this requirement students beginning with 101 or 103 should include in their program three hours of advanced work in the period prior to 1715 and, ordinarily, six hours of advanced work in the period after 1715. Students beginning with 102 or 104 should include three hours of advanced work in the period after 1715 and, ordinarily, six hours of advanced work in the period before 1715.

In addition to fulfilling these distribution requirements a student may, if she wishes, design a major which will emphasize but not concentrate exclusively on a period (e.g., ancient, medieval), an area (e.g., the Americas, Western Europe), or a special aspect of history (e.g., diplomatic, intellectual).

Placement and Exemption Examinations

Students who before entering college have had unusual preparation in European history with regard to both amount and type of training may apply for examination for exemption from the requirement for distribution, or for entrance directly into grade II work. In addition to the evidence offered by the examination, they will be expected to give further indication of their training by submitting papers prepared in secondary school for their class in history.

Interdepartmental Courses

107. Interpretations of Man in Western Literature (6 hrs.)

Representative views of the nature of man, and of his relation to the universe and society, reflected in the work of major writers of the Western world; the expression of their thought in significant artistic form, such as epic, drama, essay. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors, and to specially qualified freshmen by permission of the Dean of Freshmen. Miss Taylor, Miss McPherrin

201 (1). Russian Literature in Translation (3 hrs.)

Russian literature from its beginning to the middle of the 19th century with emphasis upon the works of Pushkin, Lermontov, Gogol', and Turgenev. Open to juniors and seniors without prerequisite. Mr. Bowen

 This course may be elected to fulfill the literature requirement in Group I.

† Since enrollments are limited, application forms for seminars should be obtained from the History Department.
202 (2). Russian Literature in Translation
Russian literature from the second part of the 19th century to the present with emphasis upon the works of Dostoyevskij, Tolstoy, Chekhov, and the Soviet writers. Open to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.  Mr. Bowen

218. History of Science
A course designed to trace the development of scientific ways of thinking and to show how scientific ideas, methods, and theories both reflect and influence man's thought in other areas. Topics from physical and biological science selected from several historical periods. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken six hours in a laboratory science and in history or philosophy. By permission the first semester may be elected independently.  Miss Webster

INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

For description of an interdepartmental major in Classical Archeology, see page 50.

ITALIAN

Professor: Grazia Avitabile, Ph.D. (Chairman)
Visiting Lecturers: Odoone Ortolani, Dott. in giurisprudenza; Giovanna Bruguière
Merola, Dott. in lettere

All courses are conducted in Italian. In all courses except seminars some work will be required in the laboratory.
Qualified students are permitted to spend the junior year in Italy with the foreign study group of Smith College.
A summer term at the Italian School, Middlebury College, is recommended.

101. Elementary Course
Development of basic language skills. Frequent oral and written exercises.
Reading of modern short stories and plays. A general view of Italian civilization. Three periods and laboratory.
The Staff

200. Significant Moments of Italian Literature Important literary movements interpreted through the study and analysis of two or three representative works from each of the following periods:
Medieval, Renaissance, Romantic, and Contemporary. Prerequisite, 101.
Miss Avitabile

201. From Verismo to Neo-Realismo
A study of the main literary trends of the last century as seen in the works of representative authors such as: Verga, Carducci, Pascoli, Pirandello, Moravia, Vittorini, Calvino, Ungaretti. Prerequisite or corequisite, 200.  Mr. Ortolani

203 (1). Intermediate Italian Emphasis on oral and written expression through the use of material which deals with contemporary Italy. Prerequisite, 101.  Miss Avitabile

204. Italian Literature of the Nineteenth Century
This course may be elected to fulfill the literature requirement in Group I.
 This course may be elected to complete the distribution requirement in Group
III after the student has taken a six-hour laboratory course.
Italian

Miss Avitabile

301.† Dante

A study of Dante's Divina Commedia and minor works. Prerequisite, 200.

Mr. Ortolani

302. (2). Advanced Italian

Analysis and translation of contemporary Italian prose. Oral and written exercises aimed at developing style and precision of expression. Prerequisite, 203, or by permission.

Miss Avitabile

305.† The Italian Renaissance

Major trends of the Renaissance as reflected in the works of authors such as Petrarch, Boccaccio, Alberti, Machiavelli, Castiglione, Ariosto, and Tasso. Prerequisite, 200.

Mr. Ortolani

309.† (1) or (2). Seminar. Italian Romanticism

Research in some significant phases of Italian Romanticism. Open by permission.

Mr. Ortolani

350.† Research or Independent Study

Open by permission to juniors and seniors who have taken or are taking a course of grade III in the department.

Directions for Election

To fulfill the literature requirement in Group I, students may elect any course except 101, 203, and 302.

It is recommended that students majoring in Italian take as related work at least one course in another literature, ancient or modern, and one or more courses in European history and art, and in philosophy. Majors are advised to include in their programs 302.

Course 101 may not count toward the major.

Latin

Professors: Margaret Elizabeth Taylor, Ph.D. (Chairman); Charlotte Elizabeth Goodfellow, Ph.D.

Assistant Professors: Mary Rosenthal Lefkowitz, Ph.D.; Katherine Allston Geffcken, Ph.D.

102. Beginning Latin

A course designed to enable students to acquire in one year the basic preparation for the reading of Latin authors. Form, syntax, reading of simple Latin and selections from classical writers. Open to students who do not present Latin for admission. Three periods. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

The Staff

† It will be the privilege of students in grade III courses to have access to the manuscripts and early—often contemporary—editions of Italian authors contained in the Frances Pearsons Plimpton Collection in the college library.
103. Review of Latin Fundamentals: Vergil's Aeneid
Intensive review of grammar and syntax, with reading of prose selections; study of the Aeneid through substantial portions in Latin, and reading of the remainder in translation. Prerequisite, two admission units of Latin or 102, or by permission. Miss Taylor, Miss Geffcken

201. Latin Literature of the Republic and Early Empire
Reading of the first semester drawn from a variety of types and authors: the lyrics of Catullus, a comedy of Plautus or Terence, and an essay of Cicero; the second semester largely devoted to the Odes of Horace. Prerequisite, three or four admission units of Latin or 103. Miss Taylor, Miss Geffcken

206. Composition
Studies in syntax and the writing of Latin prose. Prerequisite, 103 or 106 or 201. (Not offered in 1964-65.) Miss Taylor, Miss Geffcken

211 (1). Lucretius
Reading from the De Rerum Natura, the poetry and philosophy of Epicureanism. Prerequisite, 201, Miss Taylor

212 (2). Ideals of Early Rome
Selections from the authors of the Golden Age, especially Livy, and Cicero, correlated with the student's earlier reading of Vergil and Horace. Prerequisite, 201. Miss Goodfellow

302 (1). Satire. Horace and Juvenal
The origin and development of satire as a literary form. Special emphasis upon the satires of Horace and Juvenal. Prerequisite, 211 and 212. Miss Goodfellow

305 (1). Comedy. Plautus and Terence
Careful study of representative plays followed by the rapid reading of others. The sources of Latin comedy, its linguistic and literary features, and its influence upon later literature. Prerequisite, same as for 302. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

306 (2). Studies in Roman Religion
The changing religious experience of the Republican period and of the early Empire; the influence of oriental cults. Readings from the sources, especially from Livy, Cicero, and Ovid. Prerequisite, same as for 302. Miss Taylor

309 (1). Prose Literature of the Early Empire
History: Livy, Tacitus, Suetonius, Velleius Paterculus. Reading based on choice of topics. Prerequisite, same as for 302. Miss Goodfellow

310 (2). Life and Times of Cicero
Readings from the works of Cicero as sources for the study of the life and thought of the late Roman Republic. Additional readings from his contemporaries which illuminate the period. Prerequisite, same as for 302. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

* Offered in alternate years.
311. Vergil

The Eclogues, Georgics, Aeneid. The poet's achievement in the pastoral, didactic and heroic epic; studies in his literary inheritance from the Greek and his influence on later literature. Prerequisite, same as for 302. By permission the first semester may be taken independently. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

Miss Taylor

312 (2). Poetry of the Empire

Elegy: Tibullus, Propertius, Ovid. Selections from representative poets of the later period. Prerequisite, same as for 302.

Miss Geffcken

350. Research or Independent Study

Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

Directions for Election

All courses except 102, 103, 206, and 306 meet the literature requirement in Group I. Latin 102 counts for the degree but does not count toward the major.

Students intending to major in Latin are advised to take at least one course in Greek and History 303. Attention is also called to Art 201 and 209 and to courses in ancient philosophy.

Students who plan to do graduate work in classics are reminded that work in both Greek and Latin is usually required.

Students interested in Medieval Latin should consult the department chairman.

Students interested in archaeology are referred to the interdepartmental major in Classical Archaeology (see page 50).

MATHEMATICS

Professors: Helen Gertrude Russell, Ph.D.; Alice Turner Schafer, Ph.D.

(Chairman)

Associate Professor: Jacqueline Pascal Evans, Ph.D.

Assistant Professor: Judith Hirschfield Obermayer, Ph.D.

Instructors: Carole Colebob Labrousse, M.A.; Robert Leslie Pierce, M.A.

Lecturer: Bernice Liberman Auslander, Ph.D.

Students should consult the announcements of the departments of astronomy, chemistry, economics, philosophy, and physics for courses to which mathematics is either an absolute or an alternative prerequisite.

106. Introductory Mathematics

Plane trigonometry, plane analytic geometry and an introduction to calculus with emphasis on fundamental unifying mathematical concepts and the inter-relationship of mathematical systems of thought. Prerequisite, three admission units in mathematics.

The Staff

109. Analytic Geometry, Introduction to the Calculus

Differential calculus of algebraic and transcendental functions including applications to the geometry of the conic sections; introduction to integral calculus. Prerequisite, four admission units in mathematics, or, by permission, three admission units with a substantial course in trigonometry.

The Staff

* Offered in alternate years.
202. Differential and Integral Calculus
A study of the derivative and the integral including geometric and physical interpretations. Prerequisite, 106, or, by permission, four admission units in mathematics with a substantial introduction to the calculus.
The Staff

204. Intermediate Calculus
The Staff

205 (1). Introduction to Probability and Statistics
Elementary probability theory and fundamentals of mathematical statistics with special emphasis on the use of calculus in the development of the theory and in applied problems. Prerequisite, 202 or 204.
Mrs. Obermayer

302. Advanced Calculus
Infinite series; functions of several real variables; introduction to complex variable theory. Prerequisite, 202 or 204.
Miss Evans

303 (1).† Differential Equations
An introductory course in ordinary differential equations. Prerequisite, same as for 302.
Mrs. Labrousse

305. Modern Algebraic Theory
Introduction to algebraic systems including groups, rings, integral domains, fields, vector spaces; polynomials; linear transformations, matrices, determinants. By permission, the first semester of this course may be taken for credit by students not majoring in mathematics. Prerequisite, same as for 302.
Mrs. Schafer

309 (2). Projective Geometry
Concepts and theorems of projective geometry developed by both synthetic and analytic methods. Prerequisite, 202; prerequisite or corequisite, 204.
Mr. Pierce

310 (1). Functions of a Complex Variable
Elementary functions and their mapping properties; integration theory; series expansions of analytic functions. Prerequisite, 302.
Miss Russell

311 (2). Elementary Topology
Elementary topology with applications to function theory: set theory, metric spaces, mappings and related topics. Prerequisite, same as for 310.
Mrs. Labrousse

350. Research or Independent Study
Open to juniors and seniors by permission.
* Offered in alternate years.
† Physics 304 and 306 may be counted toward a major in mathematics. Physics 306 must be preceded by Mathematics 303.
Directions for Election

A major must include 12 hours of grade III in mathematics. At least three of these hours must be taken in each semester of the senior year. Courses 302 and 303 are required in the major.

Placement and Exemption Examinations

An examination for exemption from a course in mathematics to satisfy partially the distribution requirement in Group III will be offered to students who have been unusually well prepared in algebra, trigonometry, analytic geometry, and the elements of differentiation and integration.

Students desiring to enter directly into grade II work may either apply for the exemption examination or give evidence of having completed the work in secondary school in a satisfactory manner.

MUSIC

Professor: Hubert Weldon Lamb, Jr., b.a., mus.d.(hon.)
Assistant Professors: Owen Hughes Jander, Ph.D.; William A. Herrmann, Jr., Ph.D.; John Charlton Crawford, Ph.D.
Instructor: Elinor L. Duff, M.A.

Lecturers: Evelyn Claire Barry, M.A.; John Ernest Cook, Mus.B.

Instructors in Practical Music: David Barnett, B.A.; Mus.D. (Hon.) (Piano); Alfred Zicheria (Cello); Klaus Goetze (Piano); Ruth Possett Burgin (Violin); Frank Cochran Taylor II, B.A. (Organ); Eleanor Miriam Davis, M.Mus. (Voice); Eugene Leining (Viola); Louise Came Pappoutsakis (Harp); Louis Speyer (Oboe and English Horn); Harry Shapiro (Horn); Felix Alfred Viscuglia, Mus.B. (Clarinet); Elinor Preble, Mus.B. (Flute); Mary Crowley Vivian, B.A. (Organ)

Secretary and Custodian: M. Eva Armstrong, B.A.

101. Introductory Course

Notation, modes, intervals, chords. Terminology. Drill in ear training, sight singing, clef reading, and transposition. Introduction to classical harmony. Open to all undergraduates. Three periods, one lecture and two section meetings.

Miss Barry

103. Introduction to the Literature of Music

An historical survey course designed to develop the student's musical understanding, insight, and powers of observation through the study of music of various styles and periods. No previous knowledge of music required. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors who have taken no other course in the department. Not to be counted toward a major. Two periods of lecture and one section meeting.

Mr. Herrmann

200. Survey of Design in Music

A survey of materials and methods of composition from the earliest times to the present. Prerequisite, 101.

Mr. Jander

1 Absent on leave.
2 Appointed for the first semester only.
203. Counterpoint
   Mr. Cook, Mr. Crawford

209 (1). The Classical Period
   The development of the classical sonata, string quartet, symphony, and concerto. Prerequisite, 101 or 103. Not to be counted toward a major. Mrs. Duff

209 (2). The Romantic Period
   Study of the larger forms of the 19th century through analysis of selected works. Prerequisite, same as for 209. Not to be counted toward a major. Mr. Jander

214 (2). The Twentieth Century
   An introduction to contemporary music through analysis of representative compositions. Prerequisite, 200 or 209. Not to be counted toward a major. (Not offered in 1964-65.) Mr. Jander

303 (1). The Middle Ages and the Renaissance
   Topics in music before 1600. Prerequisite 200 or 202. Mr. Jander

306 (1). The Seventeenth Century
   Studies in baroque style. Prerequisite, same as for 303. Mr. Jander

307 (2). The Opera
   A study of operatic forms, styles, and traditions from the time of Mozart to the present. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken six hours of grade II. Mr. Herrmann

309 (2). Bach
   The style of J. S. Bach and its place in the history of music. Analysis of selected vocal and instrumental works. Open to students who have taken 200 and who have taken or are taking 312. Mr. Jander

312. Harmony
   The figured bass. Harmonization of melodies. Analysis. Prerequisite, 203. Three periods. Mr. Crawford

316. Introduction to Composition
   Advanced studies in theory. The principles of instrumentation. Composition for various chamber music combinations. Prerequisite, 312. (Not offered in 1964-65.) Mr. Lamb

318 (1). Seminar. Beethoven
   The development of the style of Beethoven to its culmination in the Ninth Symphony, the Missa Solemnis, and the last quartets. Prerequisite, same as for 309. Mr. Crawford

319 (2). The Nineteenth Century
   A study of the principal styles of the romantic period. Prerequisite, same as for 303. (Not offered in 1964-65.) Miss Barry
320 (2). Studies in Music Since 1900
   Background and development of selected traditions of the 20th century.
   Prerequisite, same as for 303.
   Miss Barry

350. Research or Independent Study
   Directed study in theory, orchestration, composition, or the history of music.
   Open to seniors by permission.

Practical Music (Instrumental and Vocal Lessons)*

Instruction is provided in piano, organ, violin, violoncello, and voice, and arrangements may be made for private instruction in other instruments. Though no academic credit is given for such study, the department strongly recommends it as a complement to the course work in music. Students in piano who wish to do so may supplement their private lessons with group study which is available to them without additional charge as part of the piano course. Advanced students of string instruments or piano are eligible, also without additional charge, for group instruction in the performance of chamber music.

Students may take practical music provided they take or have already taken a college course in the theory of music. Practical music is an elective, and students wishing to take it should notify the department in accordance with the procedure required for the election of an academic course.

Instruction in practical music is available to graduates of Wellesley College and to residents of the town of Wellesley by special arrangement.

Practical music study is normally undertaken on a yearly basis, though with the permission of the chairman of the department it may be elected for a single semester only. Students whose work proves unsatisfactory may be required to discontinue their lessons.

The College subscribes for eight seats in the Saturday series of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Tickets for these concerts are available at cost, and students taking music courses are given preference in the use of them.

Directions for Election

Students wishing to major in music should consult with the chairman of the department, who will advise them in planning their work both in the major and in such related fields as European history, literature, and art. Those who propose after graduation to continue into musicology should note that a reading knowledge of both French and German is essential for work in that field, and that in addition a certain proficiency in Italian and in Latin is highly desirable.

Placement and Exemption Examination

An examination for exemption from Music 101, and for advanced standing, is offered to qualified students.

* Students who elect practical music are charged at the rate of $140.00 for a half-hour lesson per week throughout the year. The charge for the use of a practice studio is $20.00 per year for one period daily. The charge for a daily period of organ practice is $30.00. Practical music fees are payable in advance by semesters, and are not subject to return or reduction except upon recommendation of both the Dean of Students and the department chairman.
PHILOSOPHY

Professors: Virginia Onderdonk, b.a.; Ellen Stone Haring, ph.d. (Chairman)

Instructor: Ann Congleton, ph.d.

101 (1) (2). Introduction to Classical Philosophy (3 hrs.)
A study of the writings of Plato and Aristotle in order to investigate the nature of philosophical inquiry, and to examine theories fundamental in Western thought, i.e. of the universe, man, society. Open to all undergraduates.

The Staff

102 (1) (2). Introduction to Philosophical Analysis (3 hrs.)
An examination of philosophical problems such as freedom and determinism, perception and the physical world, and the existence of God. Readings from classical and contemporary sources. Emphasis on analysis, the use of evidence, and the student's attempt to construct solutions. Open to freshmen who have taken 101 and to others without prerequisite.

The Staff

104 (2). Introduction to Moral Philosophy (3 hrs.)
An examination of some outstanding moral theories, discussion to include such topics as the good, the right, freedom, moral obligation. Open to freshmen who have taken 101, and to others without prerequisite.

The Staff

201 (2). Further Studies in Plato and Aristotle (3 hrs.)
A comparative study of the two decisive originators of Western philosophy, with emphasis upon their theories of knowledge and being. The reading will include early and later dialogues of Plato and selections from Aristotle's Analytics, Physics, and Metaphysics. Prerequisite, 101.

Mrs. Haring

203 (1). Aesthetics (3 hrs.)
An examination of some major traditional and contemporary theories of art and art criticism. Emphasis on the clarification of key concepts, such as style, meaning, truth, and on methods used in solving such central problems as the justification of judgments about beauty and artistic excellence. Open to sophomores who have taken a course in the department and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.

Mrs. Stadler

206 (1). Ethical Theory (3 hrs.)
A systematic study, stressing contemporary works in ethics, of the problems of the meaning and justification of moral judgments and the nature of moral reasoning. Open to students who have taken one course in the department.

Mrs. Putnam

211 (1).* Philosophy of Religion (3 hrs.)
A philosophical examination of basic problems regarding the nature of religion and the grounds of religious belief. Open to juniors and seniors. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

Miss Spitzer

214. Studies in the Development of Modern Philosophy (6 hrs.)
A study of important European philosophies from Descartes to Nietzsche designed to give students a knowledge of the chief philosophical systems and to provide some philosophical background for the understanding of related movements in literature and the natural and social sciences. Prerequisite, same as for 203.

* Offered in alternate years.

215 (2). TRENDS IN RECENT PHILOSOPHY
An introduction to four schools of contemporary philosophy (Pragmatism, Positivism, Linguistic Analysis, Existentialism); careful study of a few representative works. The course is designed to provide a background for intelligent participation in current philosophical discussion. Prerequisite, 214 or permission of the instructor.

216 (1). FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES OF LOGIC
A study of the forms of valid reasoning with emphasis on the analysis and symbolic formulation of ordinary English sentences and the deduction of simple conclusions. Some discussion of such notions as implication, proof, consistency, definition, postulate. Open to sophomores who have taken a course in philosophy or mathematics, and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.

217 (2).* PHILOSOPHY OF SCIENCE
A study of the logical structure of scientific inquiry, including analysis of key concepts such as “law,” “theory,” and “explanation,” with some discussion of the implications for philosophy of a scientific outlook. Open to sophomores who have taken 216 and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.

218. HISTORY OF SCIENCE
For description and prerequisite, see Interdepartmental 218.

306 (2). ADVANCED LOGIC
A study of some modern developments in logic with emphasis on the characteristics of deductive systems (e.g., consistency and completeness) and on axiomatic set theory; some discussion of philosophical problems connected with the axiom of choice. Prerequisite, 216.

311 (1). KANT
Intensive study in the philosophy of Kant, with some consideration of his position in the history of philosophy. Prerequisite, 214.

312 (2). CONTEMPORARY EUROPEAN PHILOSOPHY
A study of central themes in contemporary European philosophy, emphasizing phenomenology and existentialism. Prerequisite, 12 hours of philosophy including 214.

321 (2). SEMINAR. THEORIES OF KNOWLEDGE
An inquiry into the nature of knowledge and truth. Readings chosen primarily from contemporary material. Prerequisite, 214, or 216 and 217.

* Offered in alternate years.
 Counts as related work but not as part of a major in philosophy.
Courses of Instruction

322 (1). Seminar, Metaphysics

An examination of one or several contemporary theories about the ultimate constituents of reality, with some consideration of earlier theories and current counter-metaphysical criticism. Prerequisite, 214.

Mrs. Haring

350. Research or Independent Study

Open to juniors and seniors by permission.

Directions for Election

To fulfill the distribution requirement, students may elect six hours from among the grade I and II courses except 211, 216, and 218.

A major in philosophy must include 201, 214, 321, and 322.

All majors are urged to take 216, and are advised that a knowledge of Greek or French or German is desirable.

Physical Education

Associate Professor: Betty Spears, Ph.D. (Director)

Assistant Professor: Jane Ann Schoonmaker, M.S.

Instructors: Evelyn Boldrick Howard, M.S.; Anne Pepper Neal, B.S.; Sylvia Ann Carlier Rowbotham, Dipl.; Linda Kent Vaughan, M.A.; Rose Rochman Langbert, M.S.; Sybil Ann Shonyo, B.S.; Mary Miller Carson, B.S.; Victoria Maida Woskoff, M.A.

Registrar: Elizabeth Hale Holmgren

Secretary: Clara Helen Anderson

Musician for the Dance: Kathryn R. Hodgson

Two periods a week of physical education are required for freshmen and sophomores. A student’s choice of activity is subject to the approval of the department and of the college Health Service. Every student is expected to attain a satisfactory standing posture. A student who fails to merit a satisfactory grade in her standing posture before the winter season of the sophomore year will be required to enroll in Posture and Body Mechanics.

The activity program of the year is divided into four seasons: fall, winter (1), winter (2), and spring. Courses are conducted according to skill levels. The levels offered in each activity are indicated as follows: E—elementary, I—intermediate, and A—advanced.

In the lists of activities superior figures indicate special requirements as follows:

1. Swimming ability required (Senior Life Saving Certificate, Watersafety Instructor’s Certificate or Swimming Test.)

2. Students who elect horseback riding are charged a fee of approximately $48.00.

3. Students who elect these courses must meet American Red Cross prerequisites. Certificates are issued on completion of course.
Individually planned program for students unusually well qualified in physical education activities. Prerequisite, first semester, 121, and permission of the department chairman.

Seasonal Activities

Fall: Archery (E-I), canoeing (E-I-A), crew (E-I-A), diving (E-I), field hockey (I-A), golf (E-I-A), independent physical education, modern dance (E-I-A), riding, swimming (E-I-A), synchronized swimming (E-I), tennis (E-I-A), volleyball.

Winter (1): Badminton (E-I-A), basketball (E-I-A), diving (E-I), fencing (E-I), folk dance (American), gymnastics, independent physical education, modern dance (E-I-A—elementary composition), posture and body mechanics, skiing (E), squash (E), swimming (E-I-A), synchronized swimming (E-I).

Winter (2): Badminton (E-I-A), basketball (E-I-A), diving (E-I), fencing (E-I), folk dance (Scottish, European), gymnastics, independent physical education, modern dance (E-I-A), posture and body mechanics, skiing (E-I), squash sophomores only, E-I, swimming (I-A), synchronized swimming (E-I choreography), Spring: Archery (E-I), canoeing (E-I-A—instructor's), crew (E-I-A), diving (E-I), golf (E-I-A), independent physical education, lacrosse (E-I), modern dance (I-A elementary composition), riding, swimming (E-I) tennis (E-I-A instructor's), volleyball.

Semester Activities

(1) Pre-classic dance forms, senior life saving.

(2) Camp leadership, modern dance forms, senior life saving, watersafety instructors.

121. Physical Education Activities

Fundamentals of Movement required Winter (1) or (2); choice of seasonal or semester activities at other times. Required of freshmen. The Staff

122. Physical Education Activities

Choice of seasonal or semester activities. Required of sophomores. The Staff

131 and 132. Modified Physical Education Activities

Required of freshmen (131) and sophomores (132) whose medical or orthopedic condition indicates the need for modified activities and individually planned programs. Upon recommendation of the college physician. Miss Spears

Directions for Election

With the permission of the department, students and faculty may elect any of the activities offered.
PHYSICS

Professors: Dorothy Heyworth, Ph.D. (Chairman); Janet Brown Guernsey, Ph.D.
Associate Professor: Phyllis Jane Fleming; Ph.D.
Instructor: Judith Claire Brown, Ph.D.
Teaching Assistant: Irene Starr, M.S.
Secretary: Anne Fricke Purdy, B.A.

101. Elementary Physics
Designed to give an intelligent understanding of man's physical environment and the everyday applications of the fundamental laws of mechanics, heat, electricity, sound, and light. Open to students who are not eligible for 105. Two and one-half periods of lecture and discussion with one three-period laboratory appointment.

The Staff

104. Elementary Physics
The same topics as in course 101, but with greater emphasis upon the mathematical development of the subject. Open to students who are not eligible for 105. Prerequisite, three admission units in mathematics. Two and one-half periods of lecture and discussion with one three-period laboratory appointment.

The Staff

105 (1). Fundamental Principles of Physics
Selected topics in mechanics; wave motion and its applications in sound and light; current electricity. Open to students who offer physics for admission, and who have taken Mathematics 106 or 107 or are taking Mathematics 109. Two and one-half periods of lecture and discussion, with one three-period laboratory appointment.

Mrs. Guernsey

200 (2). Modern Physics
Introduction to the kinetic theory of gases. Waves and particles; atomic and nuclear structure. Optical and X-ray spectra; the periodic table of elements. Radioactive decay. Prerequisite, 101, 104, 105, or exemption from 105. Two periods of lecture and discussion with laboratory work.

Miss Brown

201 (1). Electricity and Optics
Fundamental laws of electric and magnetic fields; electric circuits; electric and magnetic properties of matter; physical optics. Prerequisite, Physics 101, 104, or 105; and Mathematics 106, or 109. Two periods of lecture and discussion, with one three-period laboratory appointment.

Miss Brown

206 (2). Electronics
Fundamental principles of electron tubes and transistors; application to power supplies, amplifiers, oscillators, modulators. Introduction to non-linear electronic circuits. Prerequisite, 201. Two periods of lecture and discussion, with one three-period laboratory appointment.

Mrs. Guernsey

303 (1). Nuclear Physics
Static properties of atomic nuclei. Properties of charged particles, neutrons, and gamma rays; their interactions with matter. Natural and artificial radioactivity. Nuclear reactions. Prerequisite, 200 or its equivalent.

Mrs. Guernsey

1 Absent on leave.
Physics

304 (2).† Electromagnetic Theory
Maxwell’s equations; electromagnetic waves and radiation; physical optics. Prerequisite, 201 and 306.
Mrs. Guernsey

305 (2). Thermodynamics
The laws of thermodynamics; kinetic theory of gases; statistical mechanics. Lagrangian and Hamiltonian mechanics. Prerequisite, 101, 104, or 105; and Mathematics 202 or 204.
Miss Heyworth

306 (1).† Mechanics
A vector analytical presentation of Newtonian mechanics; introduction to Lagrangian and Hamiltonian mechanics. Prerequisite, same as for 305.
Miss Brown

309 (2). Advanced Experimental Physics
Fundamental experiments selected from different fields of physics. Prerequisite, 200 or its equivalent, and 201. Five periods of laboratory.
Mrs. Guernsey

350. Research or Independent Study
Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

Directions for Election
A major in physics should ordinarily include 201, 206, 303, 304, 305, 306. Mathematics 202 or 204 and a year of college chemistry or its equivalent are required for a major in physics. Attention is also called to courses in astronomy as appropriate for related work. A reading knowledge of two of the following languages is desirable: French, German, Russian.

Premedical students are referred to the requirements as given on page 32.

Placement and Exemption Examinations
An examination for exemption from Physics 105 is offered to qualified students who present one admission unit in physics. Students who pass this examination and who present an acceptable laboratory notebook will be eligible for grade II work in physics.

Political Science
Professors: Owen Scott Stratton, Ph.D. (Chairman); Alona Elizabeth Evans, Ph.D.
Associate Professor: Dante Lee Germino, Ph.D.
Assistant Professors: Barbara Buckstein Green, Ph.D.; Philip Monford Phibbs, Ph.D.; Alan Henry Schechter, B.A.
Instructors: Anthony A. D’Amato, M.A.; John Robert Schott, Ph.D.; Edward Gonzalez, M.A.
Secretary: Charlotte Boyd Murphy, B.S.

100. Introduction to Political Science
Fundamental political principles developed through a study of the governments of the United States, Great Britain, Soviet Russia, and other selected countries. Special emphasis upon the theory and functioning of democracy. Open to all undergraduates.
The Staff

† Mathematics 303, if followed by Physics 304 and 306, may be counted toward a major in physics.

†Absent on leave.
202 (1). Political Parties and Pressure Groups (3 hrs.)

Nature and functions of parties and pressure groups; party organization; nominations and elections; campaign funds; the problem of party responsibility. Emphasis upon the United States, with some consideration of other democracies. Prerequisite, 100.

Mr. Schechter

205 (1). Political Problems of Metropolitan Areas (3 hrs.)

Policy formation in the modern central city and suburb; the changing role of the state; implications of metropolitan politics for constitutional democracy and the two-party system; consideration of selected issues such as urban renewal and racial conflict. Prerequisite, 100. (Not offered in 1964-65.)

208 (2). Public Policy in the Federal Government (3 hrs.)

An analysis of policy formation through a study of the organization and functions of Congress, independent regulatory commissions, and the executive branch; major political relationships between the legislative and executive branches. Prerequisite, 100.

Mr. Straton

208. International Politics (6 hrs.)

A study of contemporary world politics with special attention to international security and efforts to achieve cooperation; the United Nations and regional arrangements; tension areas and current disputes; foreign policies of major powers. Prerequisite, 100, or six hours in history, economics, sociology, or geography. Not open to students who have taken or are taking 209. Recommended for students planning to take further work in international politics.

Mrs. Green, Mr. Gonzalez

209 (1) (2). International Politics (3 hrs.)

Survey of much of the material covered in 208; the international community and the forces which influence the conduct of its members; the nature and pursuit of foreign policy; international organization and the attempts to achieve security in a divided world. Prerequisite, same as for 208. Not open to students who have taken or are taking 208. Not recommended for students planning to take further work in international politics.

Mr. Phibbs

212 (2). Comparative Government: Europe (3 hrs.)

A functional analysis of the governmental process in Great Britain, the German Federal Republic, Soviet Russia, and other European states: consideration of methodology in comparative government, constitutionalism, electoral experimentation, political leadership, policy-making process, control of political power. Prerequisite, 100; by permission to students who have completed the first semester of 100.

Mr. Germino

301 (2). International Law (3 hrs.)

A study of the function of law in the international community; nature of international law, international entities, jurisdiction and responsibility, law and force in the settlement of disputes; current problems in the development of the international legal system. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 100 and a grade II course in political science, economics, history, or sociology; or 208.

Mr. D'Amato
303 (1). Law and the Administration of Justice
(3 hrs.)

An introduction to the nature and functions of law; the adversary system; methods of legal development based upon an analysis of selected problems in contract, tort, and criminal law; comparison of common law and civil law systems; relation of law and politics. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 100 and a grade II course in political science, economics, history, or sociology, and by permission to specially qualified students who have not taken 100.

Mr. D’Amato

304 (2). Constitutional Law
(3 hrs.)

The Constitution of the United States as interpreted by the Supreme Court, and the Supreme Court’s role in the political process; the President’s powers, interstate commerce, due process, the police power, protection of civil rights and liberties. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 100 and a grade II course in political science, economics, history, or sociology.

Mr. Schechter

306 (1). Comparative Government: Asia
(3 hrs.)

A study of politics and government in selected Asian states, including China, Japan, and India; treating dynamics of power, leadership, political institutions, problems in policy-making. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 100 and a grade II course in political science, or History 226.

Mr. Phibbs

307 (2). Comparative Government: Latin America
(3 hrs.)

A study of politics and government in selected Latin American states, including Argentina, Brazil, Chile, and Mexico; treating dynamics of power, constitutionalism, crisis government, factors underlying policy formation. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 100 and a grade II course in political science, History 214, or who are majoring in Spanish.

Mr. Gonzalez

308 (2). Comparative Government: Soviet Union and Eastern Europe
(3 hrs.)

A study of politics and government in the Soviet Union and East European satellites: the interrelationship of ideology and power, leadership, political institutions, policy formation. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 100 and either a grade II course in Political Science or History 209 or History 313.

Mrs. Green

315 (2). International Politics and United States Foreign Policy
(3 hrs.)

Intensive study of selected current problems of international politics, with emphasis upon the nature and background of each, possible solutions, and alternative policies for the United States. Open by permission to students who have taken 208 and to other specially qualified students.

Mr. Phibbs

316 (1). History of Political Thought
(3 hrs.)

The course of Western political thought from the Greeks to the early English liberals. Relation of ideas to the development of political institutions such as the polis, the Roman Republic and Empire, the medieval Christian Commonwealth, and the modern nation state. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 100 and a grade II course in history, philosophy, political science or sociology; by permission to specially qualified students who have not taken 100.

Mr. Germino
318 (1) (2). Recent and Contemporary Political Thought
(3 hrs.)
Main currents in political theory of the 19th and 20th centuries, including liberalism, the romantic reaction, socialism, communism, and fascism. Evaluation of the adequacy of the liberal conception of man and society for the present day. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 316, or 100 and a grade II course in history, philosophy, political science, or sociology.
Mr. Germino, Mr. Schott

319 (1). The Politics of Public Policy
(3 hrs.)
Intensive study of representative contemporary American policy problems selected from such areas as agriculture, collective bargaining, public power, and welfare. Emphasis on politically possible alternatives. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 206; by permission to other specially qualified students.
Mr. Stratton

320 (2). Electoral Politics in the United States
(3 hrs.)
Intensive study of methods of selecting political leaders in the United States. Nominations, voting, campaigning, organization, and operation of national and state parties. Comparison of state party systems. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 202.
Mr. Schechter

322 (2). Seminar
(3 hrs.)
Intensive study of one problem or a series of related problems. Emphasis upon use of source materials. Topic for the year to be announced. Open by permission to juniors and seniors majoring in political science or related fields who have taken 12 hours in political science.
Mr. Schott

323 (1). Seminar
(3 hrs.)
Intensive study of one problem or a series of related problems. Emphasis upon use of source material. Prerequisite, same as for 322.
Mr. Germino

324 (1). Seminar
(3 hrs.)
Intensive study of one problem or a series of related problems. Emphasis upon use of source material. Topic for the year to be announced. Prerequisite, same as for 322.
Mr. D'Amato

350. Research or Independent Study
(3 or 6 hrs.)
Open by permission to seniors who have taken six hours of grade III in political science.

Directions for Election
Political Science 100 and a minimum of six hours of grade II are required for all majors. Students planning to major in political science should elect 100 before taking 208 or 209. The courses in political science above the grade I level are classified into five fields: American Government and Politics, Comparative Government, International Politics, Public Law, and Political Theory. Students majoring in political science will be expected to elect courses in four of these five fields. Each student will take a general examination in three of the four fields which she has elected in the department.
Attention is called to the possibility of emphasizing international relations or area studies in the field of concentration.
Placement and Exemption Examinations

A. Open to any student who considers herself qualified, either by work in preparatory school or by individual reading and study. The examination will cover approximately the material studied in the second semester of Political Science 100. This examination would exempt students from three hours of the distribution requirement in Group II.

B. An examination covering substantially the material of the first semester's work in Political Science 100. Open to any student who considers herself qualified, either by preparatory school work or individual reading and study. This examination would exempt students from three hours of the distribution requirement in Group II.

Freshmen desiring to take either examination should communicate with their class dean; other students with the department chairman.

Students passing both examinations are entitled to enter any grade II course. Students passing exemption examination A, and not intending to major in the department, may enter 202, 205, or 206.

Psychology

Professor: Thehma Corfinkle Alper, Ph.D. (Chairman)

Associate Professor: Claire Zimmerman, Ph.D.

Assistant Professors: Ellen Silver Greenberger, Ph.D.; Michael Donald Zeiler, Ph.D.; Hilda Dickoff Perlitzh, Ph.D.

Instructors: Mabel L. Scan, Ph.D.; Paul Switzer, M.A.; Susan Raymond Vogel, Ph.D.

Research Associate: Ernst Gerhart Georg Wolf, Ph.D.

Graduate Assistants: Sandra J. Eber, B.A.; Shirley S. L. Wang, B.Ed.

The development of political, social, and artistic life in Spain. Parallel readings and papers. Prerequisite, same as for 301.
Miss Bretón

* Offered in alternate years.
350. RESEARCH OR INDEPENDENT STUDY
(2 to 6 hrs.)
Open, by permission, to seniors who have taken six hours of grade III in the department.

DIRECTIONS FOR ELECTION

To fulfill the literature requirement in Group I, students may elect courses 104, 204, 206, and grade III courses (except 309).

Course 101 counts for the degree but does not count toward a major.

Students who begin with 101 in college and who may wish to major in Spanish should consult the chairman of the department at the end of their freshman year.

The major should ordinarily include 201, 206, 301, 302, six additional hours of grade III work, and History 214 or Spanish 309.

Students interested in Latin American studies are invited to confer with the chairman to plan a major in Spanish with emphasis on Latin America.

Mr. Barstow

Directions for Election

Although the College does not offer a major in Speech, a student may elect three or six hours of grade I work and a maximum of 12 hours of grade II work in the department.

At the opening of the college year freshmen and transfer students are asked to attend an individual conference at which an analysis of the student’s speech, voice, and ability to communicate orally is made. For those who would benefit from instruction, the most helpful course or courses will be suggested; for those who do not wish to elect a course, individual or small group conferences will be recommended. If any student has a genuine disability, remedial work will be required.

A student interested in theatre studies should consult the Director of Theatre and the chairman of her major department to plan a field of concentration which emphasizes subjects which are important for an understanding of the theatre.

A student who wishes to undertake graduate study in the field of Speech should consult the chairman of the department to plan a program of courses in Speech and related subjects in other departments which will prepare her for graduate work.

* Offered in alternate years.
ADMISSION

ADMISSION OF FRESHMEN

The Board of Admission consisting of eight members of the Academic Council selects the incoming freshman class. They regard as essential for admission intellectual ability, interest in learning, good character and health. From the candidates who meet these essentials they try to select a class which will have a complementing variety of individual interests and which represents many different public and independent schools throughout the United States and abroad. The Board of Admission reserves the right to determine in all cases which candidates shall be admitted.

As evidence of a candidate's ability the Board considers her secondary school record, the recommendation of her school, information about her independent reading, her extracurricular and special interests, intelligence tests which she may have taken, and her record on the required College Board Entrance Examinations. In addition, each candidate must have an interview, the arrangements for which are her responsibility. This may be held at the College or in the home or school region of the candidate, except that the few candidates who are considered for entrance after only three years of high school must have their interview at the College. Appointments should be arranged in advance. Upon request the Director of Admission will supply the name and address of the alumna interviewer in a candidate's region.

SECONDARY SCHOOL PREPARATION

In general, candidates are expected to complete a full four-year secondary school course. A sound program of studies in preparation for entrance to Wellesley College includes four years of English grammar, composition, and literature; Latin or Greek and a modern foreign language, one carried through the most advanced course offered by a school; one or more of the following fields of history: American, Ancient, Medieval, Modern European; three years of college preparatory mathematics; one or more laboratory sciences: biology, chemistry, physics. Electives may be offered in additional courses in the subjects listed above or in other academic fields. Admission credit is not given for courses in typewriting, although this skill is helpful to the college student and the Board of Admission urges candidates to learn to typewrite in secondary school or during a summer vacation.

The Director of Admission will comment on the suitability of the program of any candidate who wishes to submit it in advance of formal application for admission. She welcomes correspondence with students, their parents, and school advisers on any matter concerning admission to the College. Information from schools about new courses and curricular plans is also welcomed. Because secondary school curricula vary widely, some candidates may be unable to study some of the subjects recommended for admission. Other candidates may be ready for college work before completion of four years of secondary school. The Board of Admission is glad to consider the applications of candidates whose school work differs in extent or in program from the normal preparation for college, provided that there is evidence of continuity and sound work in the study of basic subjects.

Early Decision Plan

This optional plan of admission is designed to give well qualified applicants, who by the end of the junior year in secondary school have made their choice of college, an opportunity to have a decision on their applications in December rather than in April of the senior year.

Students are eligible for Early Decision who apply to Wellesley College and to no other college, who agree to file no other application until they receive a decision, and who agree to make a non-refundable deposit of $200 by February 1 if they are accepted and plan to enter. This deposit will be applied in equal portions to the first and second semester fees of the first year. All candidates for admission under this optional plan must complete a form entitled “Request for Early Decision” before October 1 of the senior year.

Application for Admission

Admission forms may be secured from the Director of Admission. A fee of $15 must accompany the formal application. This fee is not refunded if a candidate withdraws her application or is not admitted. Candidates must apply not later than January 1 of the year in which they plan to enter college. A student who wishes to apply under the Early Decision Plan should make application before October 1 of her senior year in high school. Early Decision Plan candidates will receive notices concerning admission in December; candidates applying under the regular admission plan will be notified in late April.

College Board Entrance Examinations

Examinations Required

All candidates for admission to Wellesley must take the following examinations offered by the College Entrance Examination Board: Scholastic Aptitude Test, including both the verbal and mathematical sections, and three Achievement Tests, including the English Composition Test and two other tests chosen from two of the following fields: (1) foreign languages; (2) social studies; (3) either science or mathematics. The preferred program for the Achievement Tests includes, in addition to English Composition, one in foreign language, and one selected from social studies, science, or mathematics.

All College Board Tests are designed to be taken without special preparation.

Timing of the Examinations

Candidates for admission under the regular plan (decisions made in April) must schedule their examinations as follows:

The Aptitude Test should be taken in December or January of the senior year. If these candidates wish to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test for guidance purposes during the junior year, they are encouraged to do so. In this case the College Entrance Examination Board should be asked to forward the results of the preliminary test to the College. The Director of Admission can then upon request give additional assistance to candidates who seek advice about their candidacy.

The Achievement Tests may be divided between May of the junior year and December or January of the senior year. (Tests taken in March of the senior year are not suitable since the results will be received too late to be considered for an April decision.)

Junior Year Tests: Students completing a one year subject (such as chemistry or American history) in the junior year are advised to take one or more Achievement Tests in May. Tests in the junior year are also suitable in mathematics or a foreign language.

Senior Year Tests: Achievement Tests in the senior year should be taken in either December or January in continuing subjects only. These dates are inappropriate for examinations in one year subjects.

Candidates for admission under the Early Decision Plan (decisions made in December) must schedule their examinations as follows:

These candidates must take both the Aptitude Test and three Achievement Tests in the spring of the junior year. The Aptitude Test may be taken in March or May. The Achievement Tests should be taken in May or July. May tests are preferable.

APPLICATION FOR THE COLLEGE ENTRANCE EXAMINATION BOARD TESTS

Each candidate for admission is responsible for making proper application to take the College Board tests and for having the results of the tests sent to the College.

Candidates living in states from Montana to New Mexico and west should send inquiries to the College Entrance Examination Board, P.O. Box 1025, Berkeley 1, California. Candidates from all other states and candidates applying from foreign countries should send inquiries to the College Entrance Examination Board, P.O. Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey. The College Board sends a copy of its Bulletin of Information to every candidate requesting an application blank.

Applications and fees should reach the College Board offices approximately seven to eight weeks before the dates of the tests specified below:

Dates of Tests
December 5, 1964
January 9, 1965
March 6, 1965
May 1, 1965
July 14, 1965

FINANCIAL AID

Candidates who will require financial assistance in order to attend Wellesley should read carefully the information on pages 116-119.

SEVEN COLLEGE CONFERENCE PROGRAM FOR ADMISSION AND SCHOLARSHIP

The Seven College Conference, an informal association of Barnard, Bryn Mawr, Mount Holyoke, Radcliffe, Smith, Vassar, and Wellesley Colleges, has long maintained a cooperative program to encourage able and interested students who live at a distance from these eastern colleges to apply for admission and, if they need aid, for scholarship help.

Simplified procedures have been adopted for students planning to enter college in or after the fall of 1965. Candidates from the states heretofore included in the program (Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Oregon, Texas, and Washington) will apply for admission and scholarship to the colleges of their choice as do candidates from all states. The same amount of financial aid will continue to be available to applicants from the area, although the scholarships will no longer be designated as Seven College Awards. The Seven College Conference will continue to have a special Field Director traveling in these distant states and their alumnae groups will continue to assist in giving information to prospective students and to schools.

ADVANCED PLACEMENT AND CREDIT

A student who has taken one or more advanced courses in secondary school is eligible for college credit in each course for which she receives a score of 4 or 5 on the Advanced Placement Test of the College Entrance Examination Board. Three semester hours of credit may be given in Intermediate Latin; six semester hours of credit in all other courses.

Credit is given automatically for one course provided the student accepts advanced placement if she elects to continue study of the subject in college. Further credits for each other course in which the student received a grade of 4 or 5 will be awarded after she has completed a course in the subject at Wellesley College at an appropriate level and has earned a grade of C or better. There is no limit to the number of semester hours which the student may earn through advanced placement courses, though not more than six hours will be credited in any one subject.

A student who presents an English score of 4 or 5 may be exempted from English 100.

Any student who receives college credit for two or three advanced courses taken in secondary school and who wishes to plan to complete the requirements for the B.A. degree in less than four years should consult the Dean of Freshmen during the first semester of her freshman year.

Students entering under the Advanced Placement Program who are not eligible to receive college credit and other students who have not participated in this program in secondary school but are unusually well prepared for college work in certain subjects may be admitted to advanced courses in the freshman year if the department concerned finds their preparation acceptable. Students interested in being considered for advanced placement should write to the Dean of Freshmen during the summer for advice about their electives and for information about examinations which are required in some fields to achieve advanced placement.

Examinations for exemption from certain requirements for the degree are described on page 29.

ADMISSION OF TRANSFER STUDENTS

Wellesley accepts a limited number of students who enter as sophomores or juniors. Students wishing to transfer who have maintained excellent records elsewhere and are strongly recommended by their dean and instructors may file applications.

Requests for permission to apply should be made to the Director of Admission not later than April 1 of the year in which admission is sought. The selection of transfer students is made in June and in August. Each request for permission to apply should be accompanied by a statement of reasons for wishing to transfer to Wellesley, the student’s field of interest or probable major, a transcript of school and college records, and the names of a dean and two instructors who know the applicant well. Also, the applicant should arrange directly with the College Entrance Examination Board to send to the Director of Admission her scores on all College Board tests which she has taken. If she has never taken the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Board, it is her responsibility to arrange to take it and to have the results sent to the Director of Admission. (See pages 107-109.)

No application will be supplied until all of the above material has been reviewed. Admission forms will be sent to those candidates who can be encouraged to apply. They should be returned promptly together with a fee of fifteen dollars. The fee is not refunded if a candidate withdraws her application or is not admitted. The Board of Admission reserves the right in all cases to determine which candidates shall be admitted.

Credit for courses completed at another college is tentatively granted early in the first year of residence at Wellesley, but determination of credit, which depends upon the quality of the student's work at Wellesley, is not made until the end of the year.

READMISSION

A student who has withdrawn from the College is not automatically readmitted. She should make application for readmission to the Secretary of the Committee on Student Records. A non-refundable fee of fifteen dollars must accompany the application.

ADMISSION OF FOREIGN STUDENTS

Students living in foreign countries who wish to enter Wellesley College are asked to make application well before January 1 of the year in which they wish to enter college. The application should be accompanied by a letter from the student giving her reasons for wishing to study at Wellesley College and a detailed statement of her previous educational experience or a transcript of her record. Inquiries concerning admission and scholarships should be sent to the Board of Admission.

ADMISSION OF GRADUATE STUDENTS

Wellesley accepts a limited number of candidates for the degree of Master of Arts. A summary of requirements for the Master's degree appears on page 33. Interested students should write to the Chairman of the Committee on Graduate Instruction.
GENERAL INFORMATION AND REGULATIONS

REGISTRATION

Each student must register in her residence hall at the beginning of each college year. The time of registration is stated in the calendar on page 6.

FRESHMAN ORIENTATION

Entering students come into residence two days before most upperclassmen. During this period they meet their class dean, other officers of the College, and some upperclassmen who answer their questions and help them to become acquainted with the activities and traditions of the College. They visit the library, take appropriate placement tests, and have opportunity to consult their deans should changes in their programs of study seem advisable. Special events of various types are scheduled for entering students during their first week at Wellesley.

ADVISING OF STUDENTS

Class deans under the chairmanship of the Dean of Students are the interpreters to students of the academic and other policies of the College and are ready to discuss informally with individual members of their classes any academic or personal problem which the student may have. The deans are officers of the College and members of the faculty who are relieved of some of their teaching duties. They keep in touch with the faculty, heads of house, doctors, and student leaders in order to help establish sound policies for the life of the community and to be of maximum service to individual students. Students are invited to turn to the deans both for immediate help and for information about specialized services, because the deans are the persons who know best all of the resources which the College has to assist the student in her academic, personal, religious, health, and employment interests. Each class has one dean for the first two years and another dean for the last two years.

ACADEMIC STANDARDS

Each student is given full responsibility for her attendance at classes and for the timely preparation of her work. In case of illness or other difficulty she should consult her dean for assistance in making special arrangements for her studies.

The student is expected to prepare all her work with integrity and to abide scrupulously by the regulations of the faculty concerning academic work. The College attaches major importance to this. A student who finds herself in doubt as to a proper method or course of action should consult her instructor or dean immediately.

At the end of each semester the academic record of each student, including grades, evidence of interest in study, and potential for further achievement, is reviewed. A student may be excluded from the College if she has given little evidence of interest or growth in her work or if she has fallen below diploma grade standing. If the record, although poor, shows promise, the student is warned and efforts are made to help her improve it. Because of the selective policies of admission, a student who has made consistent effort to meet the requirements rarely has to be excluded. Ordinarily no student may enter the senior year who is below diploma grade standing or has failed to complete the foreign language requirement.

RESIDENTIAL LIFE

Residence Halls

Wellesley maintains thirteen large residence halls, each of which has its own living rooms and dining room. Students in proportionate numbers from all four classes live in each hall. A Resident Head of House who is interested in the welfare of each student works with the students in her hall to create an environment which invites study and intellectual discussion as well as relaxation and entertainment of friends.

Rooms are assigned to entering students by the Director of Residence with a view to maintaining among the freshmen in each hall representative diversity in backgrounds and interests. Regulations for moving from one hall to another at the end of each year vary from time to time but are always based on general policies equally applicable to all students. Only juniors are assured in advance that if they wish they may continue in the same residence hall for the following year.

Rooms are equipped with essential furniture. Students are expected to furnish blankets and couch covers, and to furnish bed linen and towels or rent them from a supply company designated by the College. A list of permissible additions is sent to each entering student. It should be noted that the College accepts no responsibility for the safety of personal possessions of the student. She may leave her possessions at her own risk in her room or in storage areas designated by the College. Valuable items should be left at home or should be insured.

The College reserves the right to inspect any room at any time and to dispose of articles remaining unclaimed after due notice or after a student has left college, either by withdrawal or graduation.

Residence halls are closed during Christmas and spring vacations. One hall is kept open on a per diem basis if enough students wish to remain. A Resident Head is in charge of the vacation house.

Rules of Residence

Residence in college halls is required of all unmarried undergraduate students except those who live with their parents near the College. Each student must keep her room clean and give two to three hours a week to light housework, which is scheduled by student Heads of Work. Once assigned a room, the student may expect continuing opportunity to reside at the College, provided her academic progress is considered satisfactory and provided she upholds high standards of civic and personal morality as well as the specific rules of residence which are stated in the College Government Handbook.

Married students are not allowed in the freshman or sophomore classes. A junior or senior who has lived in residence at the College for two years and who then marries may apply to the Dean of Students for permission to continue her studies at Wellesley as a non-resident student. Permission is usually given to a student in good academic and social standing and whose new home is within thirty miles of the College. Ordinarily a married junior or senior may not live at the College, because the College believes that women should postpone marriage until they are ready and able to establish their own homes. In an exceptional case and if permission has been requested and received from the Dean of Students at least one month before the marriage, a married junior or senior may live at the College. Except in special circumstances for which Government loan funds may be available, financial aid is not given to married students.

Health Provisions

The College emphasizes preventive medicine. The services of the college physicians and psychiatrists are available to students without charge. Campus employees are examined by a college physician. Food is carefully selected by the college dietitian and prepared under her direction. Cleanliness in the residence halls is maintained by the cooperative efforts of College Government and administrative officers.

When a student is admitted to the infirmary as a bed patient, a routine notice is sent to her parents. Each resident student is allowed six free days in the infirmary each year when prescribed by a college physician, provided that no special service is required. Only three of the free days may be taken at any one time; thereafter an infirmary charge of eighteen dollars a day is made. Charges for special services are determined in the usual way, according to the type and amount of service rendered.

To supplement the free service, the College strongly recommends purchase of a group student health and accident insurance policy for which it has made arrangements. The insurance gives protection to the student over a twelve-month period whether or not in residence at the College. Information concerning it is sent to parents in the fall.

The college physicians study carefully the health information which the College requests of parents and family physicians in connection with admission. This information helps the college physicians to decide whether the student should be placed in remedial or restricted physical activity in the department of Physical Education and may be useful should a student become ill. It also makes possible cooperation with home physicians in continuing necessary treatment. For these reasons the requested information should be complete and accurate; failure to supply full information initially may result later in exclusion from college. Many types of illness and disability are not insurmountable handicaps at Wellesley, but the College cannot supply special diets or encourage the entrance of students who find walking very difficult.

Cooperation with the college physician is a requirement of residence. A student in residence must notify a college physician before consulting a physician outside of the College or before leaving the campus for reasons of health. If she needs medical attention when away from the campus, she should inform her class dean immediately upon her return and take to the infirmary a statement signed by the attending physician.

The proximity of the College to Boston permits early consultation between college physicians and specialists whenever advisable. In case of serious illness parents are notified by telegram or telephone, but the College reserves the right to make decisions concerning operations and other health matters if parents cannot be reached at a time when decision seems imperative.

WITHDRAWAL AND EXCLUSION

A student who plans to withdraw must inform her class dean. The Recorder will then provide a withdrawal blank for the student's parents or guardian to sign. The official date of withdrawal is the date on which the signed blank is returned to the Recorder.

The College reserves the right to require the withdrawal at any time of a student whose academic work falls below its standards or who in the opinion of the college authorities should not remain at Wellesley. In the latter case no specific reason need be assigned.

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

The Placement Office assists students and alumnae who are interested in employment opportunities. It helps students to obtain summer positions and part-time work in the winter and helps seniors and alumnae to locate positions upon graduation and later in their careers.

During the academic year caring for children provides the largest number of job opportunities. Within the College three exchanges dealing with furniture, books, and food afford regular work for a number of students. Agencies for newspapers, magazines, laundry, and dry cleaning yield substantial returns to some students. Clerical work and other positions are also available, but students are cautioned against depending upon employment during the academic year for any considerable income. Summer opportunities are varied and provide more remuneration.

Students and alumnae may consult the staff and use the vocational library of the Placement Office at any time for information and suggestions concerning present work opportunities and future career possibilities. Lectures and discussions on occupations are arranged for students, and information is made available concerning training courses, apprentice- ships, and graduate assistantships. Upon payment of a small fee a senior may register permanently with the Placement Office. The Office arranges interviews for registered students with employers who come to the College and informs senior and alumnae members of various openings; it collects credentials and thereafter keeps up-to-date the papers of each interested registrant to be sent to prospective employers and others upon request.

FINANCIAL AID

The endowment funds of the College for undergraduate scholarships amount to approximately $7,000,000. They include more than two hundred and fifty separately endowed funds, each of which bears the name of the donor or of a person whom he wished to honor, and also a large, general fund which supports many awards. Total annual awards presently amount to more than $600,000. Of this sum about $500,000 comes from income earned by the endowed scholarship funds of the College, appropriations from current income, and gifts made to the College by alumnae clubs, corporations, and individuals. About $100,000 comes from endowed funds of the Wellesley Students' Aid Society and gifts to it from alumnae clubs and individuals. These resources make possible awards in the amount of their need to approximately twenty percent of the student body.

The Committee on Scholarships acts with power in the selection of holders of awards and in determination of the amount of each award. Financial aid is given only to students who require assistance in order to attend the College and usually consists of a gift supplemented by a loan and a work guarantee.

Preference among the accepted candidates for admission who require assistance is given to the students with the best admission credentials.
The geographical area from which the applicant comes is also considered. For resident students awards are reviewed annually and are renewed, provided they are needed, so long as the student maintains a good academic and civic record. Ordinarily students who receive financial aid work during the summer in order to contribute to their expenses of the following year. Earnings vary with the type of employment, but in general the Committee on Scholarships estimates that a student can earn between $250 and $300 during the summer.

APPLICATION FOR FINANCIAL AID

In making awards to entering students, the Committee on Scholarships considers only those applicants who were registered candidates for admission by January 1 of their senior year in school and who completed in full and presented at the times and places noted below the following two scholarship forms.

One form is the "Wellesley College Application for Financial Aid," a copy of which will be sent to any registered applicant who, no sooner than the fall of her last year in secondary school, requests it from the Secretary to the Committee on Scholarships. To receive consideration, the form must be filled out completely and must be returned to the Secretary by October 15 of the senior year in secondary school by candidates requesting Early Decision, and by January 1 of the year of entrance by all other candidates.

The other form, which asks for a financial statement from parents, is issued by the College Scholarship Service of the College Entrance Examination Board. Anyone may secure a copy by writing to the College Scholarship Service, Box 176, Princeton, New Jersey, unless the parents live in or west of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, or New Mexico, in which case they should write to Box 1025, Berkeley 1, California. Copies of this form are also available in secondary schools. For the convenience of students who are registered for admission at Wellesley, the Secretary to the Committee on Scholarships will enclose a copy of the CSS form with the Wellesley College Application for Financial Aid if so requested by a registered applicant. The College Scholarship Service form should be filled out completely and sent before October 15 by candidates for Early Decision, and before January 1 by all other applicants. This form should be sent, not to Wellesley, but to the College Scholarship Service at the address given above. The Service will then forward a copy for confidential use only to the college or colleges which the parents of the applicant designate.

Candidates for admission who have sufficient money for the first year but who expect to need assistance for the later years should inform the Secretary to the Committee on Scholarships by February 1 of the year of entrance. The Committee on Scholarships endeavors to allocate funds so that students to whom scholarships have been awarded may continue to have financial help as needed and merited throughout their course. The Committee also reserves some limited funds for qualified students who may be faced with financial emergencies during their later college years but did not have help in the first year.

Applications from students in college should be filed with the Secretary to the Committee on Scholarships on forms obtained from her office. Instructions concerning applications are posted shortly before the Christmas vacation.

It should be noted that the candidate does not make direct application for any of the named scholarships which are within the award of the College. She applies for assistance in general terms.

Types of Financial Aid

Financial aid is offered in three forms: (1) Scholarship Gift, (2) non-interest bearing Loan, (3) term-time Guaranteed Work on the campus. Most awards are a combination of these three.

Gift Scholarships

Most gift scholarships are supported by named funds and annual gifts and are awarded without special designation from the general fund for scholarships. Among them are ten tuition scholarships made available for students who meet the standards for admission and are residents of the township of Wellesley. These tuition scholarships are renewable so long as the student remains of diploma grade standing at the College and continues to reside in Wellesley. Selection of Town Scholars is made by the Selectmen of the Town of Wellesley.

Work Guarantees

Work guarantees assure holders that they will earn $115 to $190 a year toward their fee by working three to five hours a week in the library, academic departments, offices, etc. Students are selected to hold work guarantees on the basis of proficiency in the work involved, personal qualities, and financial need. In general, these guarantees constitute a part of a larger award.

Loans and Special Aids

The Wellesley Students’ Aid Society was established in the early days of the College by Mrs. Henry Fowle Durant, the wife of the founder, at a time when the College had no scholarship funds. Now the Society works in close cooperation with the College Committee on Scholarships to supplement college awards with gifts and loans. Students’ Aid gift awards are made for one year at a time to students who have applied to the Committee on Scholarships for financial aid; they are renewable on the same bases as college awards.

In addition to funds for scholarship gifts, the Students' Aid Society administers a loan program in cooperation with the College Committee on Scholarships. Loans are made from funds held by the Society supplemented by college funds. Not less than 10%, and not more than 20% of each financial recipient's total need is normally met with loan, which is convertible into gift after graduation for students who enter teaching or graduate study followed by teaching.

The Students' Aid Society also renders personal assistance to students through loans of books and other items and through gifts of clothes and loans of small amounts of money for incidental expenses and emergencies.

Wellesley College participates in the National Defense Student Loan Program. Admitted students whose financial need cannot be met by college scholarship may obtain information concerning this program by writing to the Secretary of the Committee on Scholarships.
FEES AND EXPENSES

The annual inclusive fee for tuition, board and room is $2,800. The fee represents approximately three fourths of the cost to the College for each resident student; the difference is made up from endowed funds and gifts. In addition, each entering student deposits $50, which is refunded at the time of graduation, after deducting any special charges which were not previously paid.

Each resident undergraduate may elect to pay all fees in accordance with the time schedule of either the Standard or the Twelve-Payment Plan.

STANDARD PLAN

First Payments made only by students entering in 1964:
- May 8—General Deposit (refundable) $50
- May 8—Reservation Payment (non-refundable) to reserve a place at Wellesley the following year. $200*

Total $250

First Payment made by returning students only:
- July 10—Reservation Payment (non-refundable) $200

Second Payment made by all students:
- Sept. 10—First Semester Payment $1,300

Third Payment made by all students:
- Feb. 1—Second Semester Payment $1,300

TWELVE-PAYMENT PLAN

Payments made only by students entering in 1964:
- May 8—General Deposit (refundable) $50
- May 8—Reservation Payment (non-refundable) $200*

Total $250

- June 10 through April 10, a payment of $238 each month

Total $2,618

Total of all payments $2,868

Payments made by returning students only:
- May 10 through April 10, a payment of $235 each month.

(The July payment includes the non-refundable reservation deposit.)

Total of all payments $2,820

* Freshmen entering under the Early Decision Plan pay the $200 Reservation Deposit on February 1 and the $50 General Deposit on May 8.
All checks should be payable to Wellesley College and sent to the Controller. The College necessarily makes commitments in advance for instruction and living arrangements, and the parent or guardian is responsible for the entire fee for a semester even if withdrawal or exclusion occurs. The only rebate in event of withdrawal or exclusion is $17 per week for each remaining full week of the semester. All fees which are due must be paid before the student may begin, or continue, class attendance, and all financial obligations to the College must be discharged before a diploma is awarded.

Undergraduates who wish information concerning non-resident fees should write to the Controller, after establishing non-resident status with the Class Dean. Graduate students should consult the bulletin on Graduate Study at Wellesley College.

Special Fees and Expenses

A non-refundable application fee of $15 is required of all candidates for admission and readmission (see page 111.) Ordinarily a fee of $150 is required for each three hours taken in excess of the normal academic program for the semester. No extra fee is required for an additional course, however, if it is taken to replace one which has been dropped at any time during an earlier semester for health reasons and with the approval of the class dean, or to replace one which has been dropped for any other reason before the middle of the semester with the approval of the class dean. Infirmary fees for care in excess of the free days allowed by the College are stated on page 114. Fees for instrumental and vocal lessons are stated on page 85. There are no other college fees. The student should plan, however, on an annual expenditure of $50 to $100 for books, supplies, and subscriptions, and at least $150 for incidentals and recreation.
THE BUILDINGS AND EQUIPMENT

All of the buildings described below are located on the campus, a four hundred acre tract of rolling meadow and woodland which borders on a natural lake one mile in length. The campus contains special plantings in the Hunnewell Arboretum and the Alexandra Botanic Gardens, experimental gardens for students of botany, the Hay Outdoor Theatre, and ample facilities for a wide range of land and water sports.

ACADEMIC AND COMMUNITY BUILDINGS

Billings Hall, erected in 1880 as a music college, was remodeled in 1962 to provide a center for student organizations. The addition of 1904 currently serves as a warehouse.

Simpson Infirmary was the gift of M. H. Simpson in memory of his wife, who had been a trustee of the College. It was erected in 1881 as a residence hall, later became the infirmary, and now provides living quarters for members of the staff. In 1942 a new wing containing a 29-bed hospital and a clinic was erected and connected with the old infirmary.

The Houghton Memorial Chapel was presented in 1899 by Miss Elizabeth G. Houghton and Clement S. Houghton as a memorial to their father, William S. Houghton, a trustee of the College. In it are stained glass windows commemorating the founder and several former members of the College, and a famous tablet by Daniel Chester French in memory of Alice Freeman Palmer, Wellesley's second president.

The Whitin Observatory, the gift of Mrs. John C. Whitin, a trustee of the College, was erected in 1900 and enlarged in 1962. It contains laboratories, darkrooms, and the library of the department of Astronomy. Its extensive research equipment includes six-inch and twelve-inch Clark visual refractors.

Mary Hemenway Hall, the gymnasium, was erected in 1909 when the Boston Normal School of Gymnastics affiliated with the College and Mrs. Mary Hemenway of Boston provided the funds for this building. It contains an indoor gymnasium, offices, and lecture rooms.

The Library Building, erected in 1910 and enlarged in 1916, was the gift of Andrew Carnegie. A new wing constructed in 1957, which doubles its size, and a complete remodeling of the original building, finished in 1958 and including a language laboratory shared by the modern foreign language departments, are the gifts of alumnae and friends. A major contribution was made by David M. Mahood and Mrs. Helen M. Petit as a memorial to Helen Ritchie Petit of the Class of 1928. The Library Building contains approximately 290,000 volumes which include a number of special collections, among them the English Poetry Collection created by George Herbert Palmer and added to by Katharine Lee Bates, Elizabeth Manwaring, and Sara Teasdale, the Browning Collection, the Plimpton Collection of Italian books and manuscripts, and the Elbert Collection on the Negro in slavery. Two other collections, the Laura Hibbard Loomis Collection of Medieval Literature and the collection on the Far East given by the Mayling Soong Foundation, while not housed separately, enrich the resources of the library. The Rare Book Collection contains manuscripts and a small collection of rare books and first editions which range in time from a copy of the Ratdolt Euclid printed in 1482 to the books issued by the contemporary Grabhorn Press. Another 80,000 volumes are located in the Art, Music, and Science departmental libraries.
Buildings and Equipment

The Anne L. Page Memorial School, for boys and girls of three, four, and five years of age, occupies two small buildings, the first of which was erected in 1913. It is equipped with one-way screens enabling students to observe the children effectively without themselves being seen.

Founders Hall, a classroom building for the humanities, social sciences, and mathematics, was erected in 1919. Dedicated as a memorial to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fowle Durant, it was built from the Restoration Fund which trustees, faculty, alumnae and friends of the College secured after the College Hall fire.

Alumnae Hall, the gift of the alumnae, was built in 1923. It houses the largest auditorium on the campus, a ballroom, and "The Well," the campus snack bar.

Sage Hall is named in honor of Mrs. Russell Sage, its principal donor. The unit for botany and bacteriology was erected in 1927 and that for zoology and physiology in 1931. In 1956 the building was remodeled and enlarged to provide facilities also for geography and geology. It now contains the laboratories, lecture rooms, and offices of the departments of Biological Sciences, Geology, and Geography, a library, a teaching museum, and display areas. Equipment for the research of students and faculty includes greenhouses with a range of climates from tropic to desert, a vivarium, an aquarium, and extensive map collections.

Hetty H. R. Green Hall, erected in 1931, was in large part the gift of Mrs. Green's son and daughter, Colonel Edward H. R. Green and Mrs. Matthew A. Wilks. It contains the administrative offices, the faculty assembly hall, class and seminar rooms, and an interdepartmental statistical laboratory. The Galen L. Stone Tower, named for its donor, who was long a trustee of the College, houses a carillon which was the gift of Mrs. Charlotte Nichols Greene.

Pendleton Hall, erected in 1935, was named at the request of the students in honor of Ellen Fitz Pendleton, president of the College from 1911 to 1936. It contains the laboratories, lecture rooms, libraries, and offices of the departments of Chemistry, Physics, and Psychology. Extensive facilities and equipment provide opportunity for advanced work in various fields of chemistry, including chemical spectroscopy and instrumental analysis; in optics, electronics, and atomic physics; and in various types of experimental psychology.

The Recreation Building was opened in 1939. It contains game rooms, badminton and squash courts, lounges, and the George Howe Davenport Swimming Pool which bears the name of the trustee who gave generously toward its construction.

The Jewett Arts Center, completed in 1958, was the gift of the late Mr. George Frederick Jewett, his wife (now Mrs. David Gaiser), their son, George Frederick Jewett, Jr., and their daughter, Mrs. William H. Greer, Jr. Mrs. Gaiser, a trustee of Wellesley College, is an alumna, as is her daughter and as was Mr. Jewett's mother. The Center consists of the Mary Cooper Jewett Art Building and the Margaret Weyerhaeuser Jewett Music and Drama Building.

The Mary Cooper Jewett Art Building contains the museum, classrooms, study rooms and studios, offices and slide collections, of the Art Department and, through the use of a bequest from Mrs. William Hewson Baltzell, a trustee of the College from 1930 to 1938, the Art Library. The museum collection contains choice examples of classical and medieval art; sculptures by Sansovino, Lehmbruck, and Maillol; a famous early Corot and other paintings by such artists as Crespi, Magnasco, Strozzi, Terborch, Cezanne, and Picasso; and, on extended loan, works by Piero di Cosimo, Rubens, Rodin, and Copley.

The Margaret Weyerhaeuser Jewett Music and Drama Building contains the music library of books, scores, and recordings; listening rooms, practice studios, classrooms, and offices of the Music Department, and a variety of musical instruments including a baroque organ, a clavichord, and a harpsichord; also a rehearsal room and workshop for the College Theatre, and an auditorium seating 350 people for art and music lectures, concerts, and experimental theatre.

Wellesley College Club, completed in 1963, is a center for faculty, staff, trustees, alumnae officers, and committees serving the College, and has a few bedrooms for official guests, alumnae, and other visitors to the College.

RESIDENCE HALLS

The thirteen residence halls for undergraduate students compose three groups on the campus. Each group is approximately the same distance from the central academic buildings. In the northwest section are Munger Hall and Hazard Quadrangle, which is formed by four halls, Beebe,
Buildings and Equipment

Cazenove, Pomeroy, and Shafer. Tower Court, Claflin, and Severance Halls are together on the hill overlooking Lake Waban where the original College Hall once stood. The third group stretches east from Stone and Davis on the lake shore to Bates, Freeman, and McAfee, the newest halls.

Munger Hall, which houses about 125 students, was given by Miss Jessie D. Munger, of the Class of 1886, in honor of her mother, Gertrude C. Munger. Each of the halls in the Hazard Quadrangle, which is named in honor of Wellesley’s fifth president, accommodates about 120 students. Beebe was made possible by a legacy from Captain John Allen Beebe, a Nantucket sea captain and the father of Alice B. Beebe, of the Class of 1896. Cazenove, the gift of Pauline Durant, who with her husband founded the College, bears the name of Mrs. Durant’s mother; Pomeroy, too, is named for its donor, Mrs. Martha D. Pomeroy, who bequeathed the funds to build it. Shafer honors the memory of Wellesley’s third president.

Tower Court, so named because of its tower in the central part separating the two wings and because of its courtyard overlooking the lake, houses approximately 235 students. It was the gift of Ellen Stebbins James. Claflin accommodates about 120 and Severance 145 students. Claflin is named in memory of William Claflin, governor of Massachusetts and a member of the original corporate body of the College in 1870, while Severance bears the name of Elizabeth Severance Prentiss, of the Class of 1887, who was the largest individual donor to the building.

Stone and Davis Halls house about 90 students each. The present Stone Hall was built on the site of old Stone Hall, which was made possible by a bequest from Mrs. Valeria G. Stone. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., made generous contributions toward the present Stone and Davis Halls. Olive Davis, for whom Davis Hall is named, was a member of the Class of 1886 and for many years Director of Residence at Wellesley; upon her death she made Wellesley her residuary legatee.

Bates Hall is named in memory of Katharine Lee Bates, of the Class of 1880, for many years a professor of English literature at Wellesley; Freeman Hall in memory of Alice Freeman Palmer, Wellesley’s second president; and McAfee Hall in honor of Wellesley’s seventh president. These dormitories each house about 140 students.
