Inquiries, Visits & Correspondence

Wellesley welcomes inquiries and visits to the College from prospective students, their parents, and other interested individuals. For those who would like more detailed information on many of the programs and opportunities described in this catalog, the College publishes a number of brochures and booklets. These publications, as well as answers to any specific questions, may be obtained by writing to the appropriate office as listed.

For those who would like to visit the College, the administrative offices in Green Hall are open Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and by appointment on most Saturday mornings during the academic term. With the exception of a few holidays, arrangements can usually be made to greet prospective students during Wellesley’s vacation periods. Rooms for alumnae and for parents of students or prospective students are available on the campus in the Wellesley College Club and may be reserved by writing to the club manager.

A prospective student who wishes to arrange an interview with a member of the professional staff of the Board of Admission should make an appointment well in advance.

Student guides are available to provide tours for visitors without appointments. Visitors may, however, wish to call the Board of Admission prior to coming to Wellesley to obtain information regarding scheduled tours.

The College

A student's years at Wellesley are the beginning — not the end — of an education. A Wellesley College degree signifies not that the graduate has memorized certain blocks of material, but that she has acquired the curiosity, the desire, and the ability to seek and assimilate new information. Four years at Wellesley can provide the foundation for the widest possible range of ambitions, and the necessary self-confidence to fulfill them. At Wellesley, a student has every educational opportunity. Above all, it is Wellesley's purpose to teach students to apply knowledge wisely, and to use the advantages of talent and education to seek new ways to serve the wider community. These are the elements of an education that can never grow old and can never become obsolete.

Wellesley is a college for the serious student, one who has high expectations for her personal and intellectual life, and for her career. Beyond this common ground, there is no Wellesley stereotype. Students at the College come from all over the world, from different cultures and backgrounds. They have prepared for Wellesley at hundreds of different secondary schools; sixty-seven percent of them attended public secondary schools. Wellesley students are American Indian, Asian-American, black, Hispanic, and white. Through the Continuing Education Program, a number of older women, many of whom are married and have children, are part of the nonresident student body working toward a Wellesley degree. Men and women from other colleges and universities study at Wellesley through various exchange programs.

This diversity of people and personalities is made possible, in large part, by the College's "aid-blind" admission policy. Students are accepted without reference to their ability to pay. Once admitted, those with demonstrated need receive financial aid through a variety of services. Approximately 65% of the student body currently has financial help; about 43% of those receive aid directly from the College.

Wellesley's founder, Henry Fowle Durant, was an impassioned believer in educational opportunity for women. Throughout its 112 year history Wellesley has been one of a handful of preeminent liberal arts colleges in the country, and, at the same time, a distinguished leader in the education of women.

The Wellesley College Center for Research on Women, a policy-oriented research institution on campus, was founded in 1974 and has produced much work of national importance about the role of women in contemporary society.

In some respects, the liberal arts curriculum at Wellesley, like the traditional commitment to women, has changed little since the College was founded. The constant features are the grouping of disciplines into the humanities, the social sciences, and the natural sciences and the requirement that each student sample widely from courses in each group. Consistent also is the concept of the major — the opportunity for each student, through concentrated study during her junior and senior years, to establish mastery in a single area. The College has adhered to this framework because it emphasizes the building blocks of a continuing education: the ability to speak and write clearly, the knowledge to manage quantitative data with ease, the confidence to approach new material, the capacity to make critical judgments. Whatever the student chooses to do with her life, these skills will be essential.

Within this traditional liberal arts framework, the Wellesley curriculum is dynamic, responsive to social change and quick to incorporate new fields of study. The dramatic expansion of information of the last 20 years has led to an increasingly interdisciplinary course of study. Single majors in traditional disciplines have been joined by double majors, and especially designed interdisciplinary and interdepartmental majors. A multidepartmental First Year Student Writing Course is a degree requirement.

Wellesley students and faculty in all disciplines are encouraged to use the Academic Computing facilities in their courses and research. Use of the computer is not limited to word processing and the sciences; faculty members are pioneering applications of artificial intelligence and teaching technology in such fields as philosophy, music, history, and languages. A Technology Studies program designed primarily for humanities students began in 1983. Wellesley was one of the first liberal arts colleges to have a separate Computer Science Department and Computer Science major. Both were established in 1982.

Also new since 1984 is the Cluster Program. It offers first year students a new format in which to study traditional materials of the liberal arts curriculum.

The Wellesley curriculum is further extended through exchange programs, residential and nonresidential, with a number of other institutions.

The Wellesley MIT Cross-Registration Program allows students to combine the strengths of these two outstanding institutions while remaining in residence on their own campuses. Wellesley students enroll in a large variety of MIT subjects, largely in the humanities, social sciences, planning, and management, as well as courses in computer science, engineering, mathematics, and the sciences. Popular courses have been “Issues in Architecture,” “Financial and Management Accounting” and “Field Geology.” Wellesley students construct individual majors in such subjects as Urban Planning, Engineering, and Linguistics which draw on the resources of departments at both MIT and Wellesley. A bus runs hourly between the two campuses.

The Twelve College Exchange Program brings men and women from other member colleges to Wellesley for a semester or a year, and enables Wellesley students to live and study on another campus. The College also offers exchanges between Wellesley and Brandeis University in nearby Waltham, Spelman College, a distinguished black liberal arts college in Atlanta, Georgia, and Mills College, in Oakland, California.

Wellesley students are encouraged to spend a semester or a year abroad in programs at many institutions throughout the world. Financial aid for study abroad is available through several Wellesley funds. The Slater program underwrites the cost of attending European institutions for a summer or academic year, and it brings Slater Fellows from abroad to the Wellesley campus. The Waddell program provides funds for study in Caribbean countries or in Africa. The Stecher program enables students to study art abroad either during the academic year or summer.

Wellesley’s faculty brings to the College a vast range of academic and professional interests. Poets, artists, musicians, scientists, political and economic analysts, the members of the faculty are scholars dedicated to teaching and committed to all aspects of life in the Wellesley community. Many administrators also teach at least one course. A number of faculty live on or near the campus, and are available to students long after the end of class.

At Wellesley there is one faculty member for every ten students. As a result, the average class size is 15 to 18 students. A few popular introductory courses enroll more than 100, but these classes routinely break into small discussion groups under the direction of a faculty member. In general, seminars bring together 12 to 15 students and a professor to investigate clearly defined areas of concern. The low student-faculty ratio offers an excellent opportunity for students to undertake individual work with faculty or honors projects and research.

Learning at Wellesley is supported by excellent academic facilities. The Margaret Clapp Library has an extensive general collection of over 700,000 volumes in its open stacks, as well as many rare books in special collections. In addition to the collections in the main library, many departments have their own libraries, totaling 100,000 volumes.

Wellesley’s strength in the sciences dates to the nineteenth century, when the College’s physics laboratory was the second such laboratory in the country (the first was at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology). The Science Center brings together all the science departments, including mathematics and computer science, in a contemporary setting that fosters interdisciplinary discussion and study. Laboritories in the Science Center are completely equipped for a wide variety of fields. The Center also includes an extensive complex of greenhouses and a fine observatory.

Students in the arts find excellent facilities in the Jewett Arts Center, a complex consisting of the art department wing and the theatre and music wing, linked by the Wellesley College Museum.

Wellesley recognizes that classroom activities and studying are only part of a college education. The residence hall system not only provides a pleasant and comfortable place to live, but seeks, through educational programs, to integrate academic and extracurricular life. Residence life is administered in several different ways, ranging from professional heads of houses to student-run cooperatives.

For many students, the lessons learned competing on the athletic field, publishing the Wellesley News, or participating in a Wellesley-sponsored summer internship in Washington are of lifelong importance. The College encourages self-expression through any of the over 100 established extracurricular activities, as well as any interest that a student may choose to pursue alone or with a small number of friends. Wellesley also supports those students who investigate religious issues and thought. The College chaplaincy offers a religious program embracing many faiths, including denominational services for those who wish to participate.

Wellesley is a small community, and the quality of life depends upon the involvement and commitment of each of its constituents. For this reason, students at the College participate in decision making in nearly every area of College life. They serve, frequently as voting members, on every major committee of the Board of Trustees, including the Investment Committee, and on committees of the Academic and Administrative Councils, including the Board of Admission and the Committee on Curriculum and Instruction. In academic departments, they are voting members of the curriculum and faculty search committees. They also serve on committees that set policy for residential life and govern Schneider Center, the focus for much student and community activity on campus.

The Wellesley College Government Association was established in 1918 by student and faculty agreement. Through Senate, its elected representative body, it is the official organization of all Wellesley students. College Government officers are elected each spring on a campus-wide basis; Senate representatives are elected from each residence hall and from the Nonresident Student Organization.

In its desire to create the best possible education Wellesley continues to seek solutions to problems faced by men and women in a changing world. The College also looks closely at its own immediate environment, and tries to make it a better place in which to study and to grow. Members of the Wellesley community are exploring new patterns of work, new ways for campus groups to communicate more effectively, and new styles of residential life.

Each student who comes to Wellesley College joins an extended community, composed of the thousands of alumnae who have preceded her. Some of them have been outstanding scholars and researchers; others have been leaders in politics and social issues; still others have made important contributions to their communities through volunteer work. We are proud of our alumnae. Their contributions, however they have chosen to make them, prove that four years at Wellesley College is just a beginning.
The Campus

Wellesley College has a campus of more than 500 acres bordering on Lake Waban. There are woodlands, hills and meadows, an arboretum, ponds, and miles of footpaths. In this setting are 64 buildings, with architectural styles ranging from Gothic to contemporary. The focal point of the campus is the Galen Stone Tower which rises 182 feet.

Facilities & Resources

The broad scope of Wellesley's curriculum is supported by excellent academic facilities, ranging from large lecture halls to study carrels, from tools to create art to equipment for advanced scientific research. Of equal importance to the quality of its academic facilities is the College's policy of making them available to all students.

Classrooms

The two primary classroom buildings, Founders Hall and Pendleton Hall, are located in the academic quadrangle. The humanities are taught in Founders and the social sciences in Pendleton East.

Science Center

The Science Center houses the departments of astronomy, biological sciences, chemistry, computer science, geology, mathematics, physics, and psychology. The Center includes completely up-to-date and fully equipped teaching and research laboratories.

The Science Library is a part of the Center. It has 78,000 volumes which include collections from all of the above departments. Group study rooms, carrels, audiovisual and tutorial rooms, copying equipment, microfilm facilities, portable computer terminals, even tool boxes for loan are under the supervision of a science librarian.

Greenhouses

The Margaret C. Ferguson greenhouses, named after an early Wellesley professor of botany, contain more than 1,000 different kinds of plants. The 14 houses, completely renovated and double glazed in 1982-83 for energy efficiency, can be controlled separately, providing a range of conditions from temperate to tropical. Laboratories used for botany classes open directly into the greenhouses, where considerable space is set aside for student and faculty research and classroom instruction. The greenhouses and the adjacent 22-acre Botanic Gardens are open to the public throughout the year.
Observatory

The Whitin Observatory contains laboratories, classrooms, darkroom, and the library of the astronomy department. Its research equipment includes a 6-inch, a 12-inch, and a 24-inch telescope. The observatory was a gift of Mrs. John C. Whitin, a former trustee of the College. It was built in 1900, enlarged in 1962 and 1966, and is considered to be an unusually fine facility for undergraduate training in astronomy.

Computer Facilities

Many courses and research projects at Wellesley involve the use of a computer. The College has a DECSYSTEM-20 timesharing system, a MicroVAX II running Unix, and a MicroVAX II running VMS on an Ethernet network. This equipment is housed in the Science Center, with terminal clusters located in the Science Center, the Margaret Clapp Library, and at various locations in academic buildings. The College also has a Microcomputer Lab in the Margaret Clapp Library with a network of IBM and compatible microcomputers, and clusters of PCs in the common rooms of dorms. A recent acquisition is a number of Apple Macintosh computers.

Jewett Arts Center

The Jewett Arts Center, consists of the Mary Cooper Jewett art wing and the Margaret Weyerhaeuser Jewett music and drama wing. Linking the two buildings is the Wellesley College Museum.

The Museum was founded in 1889 to provide original works for the study of art at Wellesley. Its collection of over 3,000 objects includes classical, medieval and Renaissance sculpture, old master paintings, prints, drawings, photographs and twentieth-century art. Ten or more exhibitions annually include exhibitions organized by Wellesley, traveling shows and works from the permanent collection. Special collections are available for the public rooms of campus dormitories and for student rental for dormitory rooms. The Museum presents lectures, ArtBreaks, gallery talks, receptions, and tours for students and members of the community. Students are encouraged to participate in the professional life of the Museum.

The art wing consists of the Art Department and Museum offices, classrooms, an extensive library, photography darkrooms, and a print laboratory. The music and theatre wing contains the music library, listening rooms, practice studios, classrooms and offices. A collection of musical instruments of various periods is available to students.

The Jewett Auditorium, a theatre seating 320 persons, was designed for chamber music performances, and is also used for special events. In addition, there are rehearsal rooms and other theatre facilities.

Pendleton West contains laboratories, studios, a sculpture foundry, an extension of the Music Library, the choir rehearsal room, and a concert salon.
Margaret Clapp Library

The third enlargement and complete remodeling of the Margaret Clapp Library was finished in 1975. At the center of the modern and functional building is the reference room which distinguishes the original building erected in 1910.

The College library's holdings (including art, music, and science collections) contain more than 900,000 items and an important collection of public documents. Subscriptions to periodicals number over 2,800. Interlibrary loans through the Boston Consortium of Academic and Research Libraries augment the College's own collections.

The Special Collections include letters, manuscripts, and rare books and the Archives contain materials documenting the history of Wellesley. The language laboratory and a listening room for the collection of spoken and dramatic recordings are in the library. A lecture room is available for meetings.

Continuing Education House

The CE House is the official home for Continuing Education students. The Dean and the staff who coordinate the academic and support systems of the Continuing Education program are located here. The CE House is also used for meetings and special events and as an informal gathering place to study, relax and share ideas. A House Council is elected each year to plan and organize activities for the CE population, and CE advisors serve as peer counselors for the new students entering each semester.

Child Study Center

The Child Study Center is a preschool and laboratory which serves the College and the neighboring community. It is housed in the Anne L. Page Memorial Building, which was specifically designed in 1913 as a school for young children. Under the direction of the Psychology Department, students and faculty from any discipline can study, observe, conduct approved research, volunteer or assistant teach in classes with children ages two to five. In addition to the observation and testing booths at the Center, there is a Developmental Laboratory at the Science Center; research equipment is available at both locations.

Physical Education Facilities

Classes for all indoor sports and dance are conducted in the new Sports Center. This Center includes an eight-lane competition swimming pool; badminton, squash and racquetball courts; exercise/dance studios; volleyball courts; and an athletic training area. The new field house has basketball and volleyball courts, indoor tennis courts and a 200-meter track. Outdoor water sports center around the boathouse where the canoes, sailboats, and crew shells are kept. Wellesley also maintains a nine-hole golf course, 24 tennis courts, hockey, lacrosse, and soccer fields, and a swimming beach.
The largest auditorium on the campus, seating 1,500 people, is in Alumnae Hall. The Hall also has a large ballroom and houses the Wellesley College Theatre. Visiting lecturers, concert artists, and professional theatre groups often appear there. The building was erected in 1923 and is the gift of Wellesley alumnae.

The Houghton Memorial Chapel was presented to Wellesley in 1897 by the son and daughter of William S. Houghton, a former trustee of the College. The chapel’s stained glass windows commemorate the founders and others, while a tablet by Daniel Chester French honors Alice Freeman Palmer, Wellesley’s second president. The chapel is a setting for lectures and community meetings as well as religious services.

The center for extracurricular life at the College is Schneider College Center. Its facilities provide lounge areas, a cafeteria, an entertainment stage, a Convenience Store, meeting rooms, offices for student organizations, the College Government Office, facilities for nonresident students (lounge, mailboxes, kitchen, typing room), a meeting room and kosher kitchen for Hillel, a student staffed Info-Box, which also sells bus tickets for the Senate bus, a student managed Café Hoop, a student managed Candy Store, and the Wellesley College radio station, WZLY. It also contains administrative offices for the Center Director, the Residence Office and the Chaplaincy.

Harambee House is the cultural and social center for the black community at Wellesley. Diverse program offerings, which highlight various aspects of black culture, are open to the College community. Harambee has a growing library of the history and culture of African and Afro-American peoples and boasts a record library (classical-jazz by black artists), which is housed in the Jewett Music Library. The House also contains offices for the staff, Ethos (the black student organization), and Ethos Woman (a literary magazine), as well as rooms for seminars, meetings, and social gatherings.

Slater International Center is a social and educational center for foreign and American students and faculty. The Center serves campus organizations that have an interest in international affairs and helps to sponsor seminars and speakers on international topics. The Foreign Student/Multicultural Advisor, located in the center, counsels students from abroad and Asian-American and Hispanic students with special needs. She also handles immigration matters for students and faculty. The Slater International Center is the headquarters for all international and multicultural organizations providing student members a place to study, cook, entertain, and get to know each other better. In addition, the Center coordinates a peer counseling group of foreign students to help new students make a smooth adjustment to the United States.
| Society Houses | There are three society houses. Each house has kitchen and dining facilities, a living room, and other gathering rooms. Members are drawn from all four classes, beginning with second semester first year students. Shakespeare House is a center for students interested in Shakespearean drama; Tau Zeta Epsilon House is oriented around art and music; and Zeta Alpha House is for students with an interest in modern drama. Phi Sigma, reinstated in 1985, is a society that promotes intelligent interest in cultural and public affairs. |
| Green Hall | The offices of the president, the board of admission, the deans, and all administrative offices directly affecting the academic and business management of the College are located in Green Hall. The building has large rooms for Academic and Administrative Council and trustee meetings and class and seminar rooms. Named for Hetty R. Green, the building was erected in 1931. |
| Infirmary | Simpson Infirmary consists of an Outpatient Clinic and hospital which is licensed by the State and approved by the American Hospital Association. The original infirmary was built in 1881. |
| President's House | The President's House, formerly the country estate of Wellesley's founders, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fowle Durant, is located on a hill just south of the main campus. The spacious lawns border Lake Waban. Remodeled and renovated in 1968, it is frequently the scene of alumnae and trustee gatherings as well as receptions for distinguished visitors, for entering students, and for graduating seniors and their parents. |
| Wellesley College Club | The Wellesley College Club is a center for faculty, staff, and alumnae. Its reception and dining rooms are open to members, their guests, and parents of students for lunch and dinner and are used for many special occasions. Overnight accommodations are available for alumnae and for parents of students and prospective students. |
| Center for Research on Women | The Center for Research on Women was established in the summer of 1974 by a grant from the Carnegie Corporation and has received major support from a variety of private foundations, government agencies, corporations, and individuals. The Center conducts policy-oriented studies of women's education, employment, and family life with special emphasis on the concerns of minority women. Extensive research and program work is also being conducted on curriculum change, child care, adolescent girls' development, and stress in the lives of women and men. The Women's Review of Books is published at the center. |
STUDENT LIFE
Student Life

Intellectual growth is only part of the realization of one's talents and abilities. Wellesley College offers many opportunities for a student to develop self-confidence, leadership skills, and a sense of social responsibility through participation in student organizations and college governance. Camaraderie built through these involvements creates solid friendships that support Wellesley students during their college years and for a lifetime.

On the Wellesley campus many student groups reflect ethnic, social, political, and religious interests. Among the organizations are Mezcla, an association of Chicana, American Indian, and Hispanic-American students; Ethos, an organization of black students; the Asian Association, composed of Asian and Asian-American students; the Women's Alliance, a group interested in feminist issues; and the Nonresident Council. Religious groups such as the Newman Club, the Wellesley Christian Fellowship, Hillel, the Ministry to Black Women, the Lutheran-Episcopal Fellowship, the Campus Crusade for Christ, and the Christian Science Organization offer many programs throughout the year.

Students are also responsible for a number of publications, among them the Wellesley News, the weekly student newspaper; Ethos Woman, a student publication for and about Third World women; Legenda, the College yearbook; and WRagtime a literary publication. WZLY, the campus radio station, is operated by an all-student staff.

There are many opportunities for volunteer service. The Chaplaincy coordinates student groups working with youth services, the elderly, the Easter Seal Swim Program, the Boston Food Bank, and Rosie's Place, a shelter for homeless women. Internships in many areas of community service are available through the Career Center.

Sports are a significant part of life at Wellesley. There are eleven intercollegiate programs, and numerous opportunities for competition in the intramural program. Other students pursue physical education just for fun, or to stay in shape. Interests range from yoga and fencing to dance and scuba diving. Wellesley's new Sports Center includes an eight-lane competition swimming pool, badminton, squash and racquetball courts; exercise/dance studios; volleyball courts; and an athletic training area. The new field house has basketball and volleyball courts, indoor tennis courts and a 200-meter track. Lake Waban is used for water sports and Paramecium Pond for ice skating.

The arts have always been a highly visible part of the Wellesley experience. The College Choir, the Madrigals, the Tupelos, the Collegium Musicum, the Chamber Music Society, the Chapel Choir, the Ethos Choir, the Carillonneurs Guild, and the MIT
Orchestra are some of the many groups that offer experiences for students with interests in music. Those inclined toward the theatre can choose among the Wellesley College Theatre, the Experimental Theatre, and the Shakespeare Society.

Life at Wellesley also includes a number of traditional social events. Junior Show, Sophomore Parents’ Weekend, Spring Weekend, and International Week are supplemented by frequent informal parties.

Schneider Center, which also has a coffee house, conference rooms, and a student-run store, is the center of community activity. Supplementing the facilities and resources of Schneider are Slater International Center, which is the frequent setting for international events and celebrations, and Harambee House, the social and cultural center of the black community at Wellesley. Harambee sponsors lectures, music and dance performances, many in conjunction with other departments in the college. Lectures and cultural programs are presented also by Mezela, the Asian Association, and Hillel.

Student Residences & Resources

Although some students live off campus, most live in one of Wellesley’s twenty residence halls. For resident and nonresident students alike, the College provides the counseling, religious, and health services necessary to ensure the spiritual and medical health of the community.

The residence halls are the focus of much campus life. Each has a character of its own. Much of the informal learning at Wellesley takes place in spontaneous discussions and debates in the residence halls. The diversity of Wellesley’s students, who bring to the College differing life styles and cultural backgrounds, contributes much to this process.

The residence hall system at Wellesley is designed to foster a sense of community, with most of the administration and program planning left to the individuals who live within the community. Within this principle of student self-government, the halls offer many opportunities for residents to assume leadership positions.

The residence experience is also likely to include lectures, faculty, staff and alumnae Guests in Residence, group discussions, dinners with faculty members, and parties. One tradition, initiated in the early years of the College, is Wednesday Tea — an informal occasion which continues to attract many students.

There are several types of residence halls at Wellesley, each with a distinctive theme and structure. Of the 15 larger residence halls (most housing 120-140 students), 11 are staffed by a professional
Head of House, four by a student Head of House. Each Head of House serves as an advisor and counselor to individuals and groups in each hall and as a liaison to the College community. The Heads of House supervise a residence staff which includes a Resident Advisor on each floor, a First Year Student Coordinator, and a House President. The smaller halls (Simpson West, Homestead, and French House) are staffed by student Resident Advisors or Coordinators and have a more informal system of house government for the 8-18 upperclass students living there. Crawford and Instead are student-run cooperatives.

Students in the larger residence halls elect a House Council which administers the day-to-day details of living. The Vice President of Programming and her committee in each hall plan a variety of social, cultural, and educational events throughout the year. Each residence also elects representatives to the Senate, and these students consult with members of the residence hall on campus-wide issues and convey opinions of their constituencies to the student government.

A residential policy committee reviews many aspects of residential life and is developing ways to involve students in all areas of residential policy making. The Residence Office has been working to strengthen the involvement of faculty, staff, and alumnae in residence hall life.

Most of the residence halls contain single rooms, double rooms, and some suites. Incoming first year students are placed in double rooms. The cost of all rooms is the same, regardless of whether they are shared, and students are required to sign a residence contract. Each hall has a spacious living room, smaller common rooms, and a study room. All but six have dining facilities, and in the remaining halls, facilities are open on a five-day or seven-day basis. There are limited kitchenette facilities in the halls for preparing snacks. Each building is equipped with coin-operated washers and dryers.

The College supplies a bed, pillow, desk, chair, lamp, bookcase, and bureau for each resident student. Students may rent linen or supply their own. Students supply blankets, quilts, and their own curtains, pictures, rugs, and posters. They clean their own rooms and contribute two or three hours a week answering the telephones and doing other miscellaneous jobs which are scheduled by the student heads of work.

Twenty residence halls are grouped in three areas of the campus: Bates, Freeman, McAfee, Simpson, Dower, French House, Homestead, Instead, Stone, and Davis are near the Route 16 entrance to the campus; Tower Court, Severance, Crawford House, Lake House, and Claflin are situated off College Road in the center of the campus; and Shafer, Pomeroy, Cazenove, Beebe, and Munger are located by the Route 135 entrance to the College.
Counseling and Advising Resources

Counseling is readily available. Many students benefit from talking with someone other than friends and roommates about personal matters, whether their concerns are large or small, affecting their daily life or their more basic sense of purpose and direction.

The offices of the Dean of Students offer a wide range of counseling and advising services for individuals and groups of students. They include the Class Deans, the Residence Office staff, Heads of House and student staff in residence halls, the Nonresident Advisor, the student activities staff in Schneider Center, Harambee House, Slater International Center, and the Chaplain and religious group advisors.

The College Counseling Service, part of the Stone Center for Developmental Services and Studies, provides short-term counseling and a variety of outreach services. Staff members are all professionals who offer individual and group counseling as well as preventive programs such as workshops and issue-oriented groups. They are trained in a variety of fields including psychiatry, psychology, and psychiatric social work. Long-term psychotherapy is not provided at the College, but the resources for such treatment are readily available in the Greater Boston area. The counseling service can help students locate appropriate long-term therapists. Complete professional confidentiality is maintained at all times.

Religious Resources

Wellesley seeks to respond sensitively to a variety of religious traditions. The College encourages independent religious involvement on the part of its students.

The College Chaplaincy offers diverse religious, personal growth, and social action programs as well as service opportunities. The Chaplain and members of the Chaplaincy staff are regularly available for religious and personal counseling.

The Chaplain also officiates at regular Sunday morning worship, an ecumenically oriented Protestant service in Houghton Memorial Chapel with guest preachers invited once a month.

Catholic masses are offered on Sunday and Thursday afternoons, and the Newman Catholic Ministry offers a number of other programs.

Jewish students will find a varied program including high holiday services and a kosher meal plan. Schneider Center houses a Hillel room and kosher kitchen facilities.

Attendance at all worship services is open and voluntary. Many activities are also sponsored by other religious groups on campus.
Simpson Infirmary consists of an outpatient clinic and hospital which is licensed by the State and approved by the American Hospital Association. Regular full-time students and Continuing Education students who carry three or more courses are eligible for care. There is no health fee. Appropriate charges are made for inpatient care which are covered by most health insurance plans. There are no charges for outpatient treatment except laboratory studies, elective examinations or procedures, immunizations and treatment of preexisting or ongoing conditions. A College-sponsored student insurance plan is available which is designed to cover most claims, but is not intended to provide comprehensive benefits. There is an additional plan available which provides more extensive coverage. Consultation with specialists in all fields is readily available both locally and in Boston. Financial responsibility for these consultations rests with the student, parents, or their health insurers.

Besides the usual care given by College Health Service, members of the staff establish programs to expand the use of the health service and arrange special programs in response to student interests.

The confidentiality of the doctor-patient relationship is carefully preserved. College medical personnel will not share any medical information concerning a student with any College authorities, or with the parents of students, without the written consent of the student. It may be necessary to disclose minimal information to insurance companies for verification of medical claims. Students are required to enroll in the College Student Health Insurance Plan unless they have equivalent coverage.
Student Government

Throughout its history the College has based its policies regarding student life upon the concepts of personal integrity, respect for individual rights, and student self-government. The rules and procedures governing student life reflect these concepts, and are designed chiefly to ensure the privacy and safety of individuals. Legislation concerning all aspects of Wellesley community life is contained in the Articles of Government, copies of which are available to all students.

Honor Code

Inherent in Wellesley's system of democratic government, and its accompanying law, is the honor code. As the vital foundation of government, the honor code rests on the assumption that individual integrity is of fundamental value to each member of the community. Within the philosophy of self-government, the personal honor and responsibility of each individual as he or she approaches both the regulated and nonregulated areas of academic, social, and residence hall life in the Wellesley community are of central importance.

The honor code covers all duly adopted rules of the College for the governance of academic work, for the use of College resources and for the special conduct of its members. Each student — degree candidate, exchange student, and special student — is bound by all the rules.

Each student is expected to live up to the honor code, as a member of the student body of Wellesley College both on and off the campus. She should also remember that she is subject to federal, state, and local laws which are beyond the jurisdiction of Wellesley College.

The honor code can work only with full support among all members of the College community. In addition to upholding the regulations and spirit of the honor code personally, both students and faculty are responsible for the success of the system. This includes guarding against and, if necessary, reporting any inadvertent or intentional abuses of the honor code by any member of the community.
College
Government

Most of the legislation and regulations guiding student life is enacted and administered by the student College Government, of which all students are members. Responsibilities delegated by the Board of Trustees to the College Government include governance of all student organizations, appointment of students to College committees, allocation of student activity monies, and administration of the Honor Code and judicial process. Many of these responsibilities are assumed by Senate, the elected legislative body of College Government, which also provides the official representative voice of the student body.

Violations of the Honor Code are adjudicated through the student-run Judicial System. Three separate branches of the Judicial System address infractions of residence hall violations, violations of academic principles, and the appeal process.

Confidentiality of Student Records

Maintenance of the confidentiality of individual student educational records has been and continues to be important at Wellesley, as is a concern for the accuracy of each record. Under the provisions of the federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, every Wellesley student is assured the right to inspect and review all college records, files, and data directly related to her, with certain exceptions such as medical and psychiatric records, confidential recommendations submitted before January 1, 1975, records to which the student has waived her right of access, and financial records of the student’s parents. The student may also seek a correction or deletion where a record is felt to be inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of the privacy or other rights of the student. The Privacy Act also protects the privacy of personally identifiable information maintained in student records by prohibiting the release of such information (other than those facts defined below as “Directory Information”) without the written consent of the student, except to persons such as officials or teachers within the College who have a legitimate educational interest in seeing the information, officials of other institutions in which the student seeks to enroll, the student’s parents if the student is a dependent for tax purposes, and certain other persons and organizations.

The final regulations for the Act make clear that, in the case of students who are dependents of their parents for Internal Revenue Service purposes, information from the education records of the student may be disclosed to the parents without the student’s prior consent. It will be assumed that every student is a dependent of her parents, as defined by the Internal Revenue Code, unless notification to the contrary with supporting evidence satisfactory to the College is filed in writing with the Registrar by October 1 of each academic year.
All correspondence relating to a student’s undergraduate performance is removed from a student’s file and destroyed one year after graduation. All disciplinary records are destroyed when a student graduates from the College. Disciplinary records are never a part of a student’s permanent file while she is at Wellesley.

Copies of the Privacy Act, the regulations therein and the “Wellesley College Guidelines on Student Records” are available on request from the Office of the Dean of Students. Students wishing to inspect a record should apply directly to the office involved. Complaints concerning alleged noncompliance by the College with the Privacy Act, which are not satisfactorily resolved by the College itself, may be addressed in writing to the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act Office, Department of Education, 550 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20201.

The Privacy Act gives to Wellesley the right to make public at its discretion, without prior authorization from the individual student, the following personally identifiable information: name; class year; home address and telephone number; college address and telephone number; major field; date and place of birth; dates of attendance at Wellesley College; degrees, honors and awards received; weight and height of student athletes; participation in officially recognized sports and activities; previous educational institution most recently attended.

The Privacy Act also allows individual students to place limitations on the release of any of the above information. A student who wishes to do this must inform the Registrar, Green Hall, in writing each year by July 1 for the following academic year.

In practice, College policies discourage the indiscriminate release of any information about individual students. College directories and lists are for use within the College community itself.
Career Center

The Career Center helps students translate their liberal arts skills into specific career opportunities. Through programs such as Women in Action and Management Basics, students are introduced to the realities of various professions. Other programs teach job search skills. On the job experience is offered through over 2,500 internship programs. Students are encouraged to maintain contact with the Center throughout their time at Wellesley. All services are available to alumnae and staff.

The Center Library houses information on specific professions and career options, graduate and professional study, entrance examination requirements, and opportunities for work and study abroad.

The Career Center maintains a file of alumnae who are willing to talk to students about their graduate study and/or career experience. The Center also sponsors a wide variety of programs that bring alumnae back to the campus to discuss their personal and professional working lives.

Counseling

During the school year, there are counselors available each day to answer career-related questions on a drop-in basis. Group counseling sessions and individual appointments are also offered. The Center gives workshops on career goal setting, resume writing, and applying to graduate and professional schools. These workshops take a variety of forms, from simple discussion to role playing. Students may also practice their interviewing skills during regularly scheduled videotaped mock interviews.

Recruiting

The Career Center arranges employment interviews with recruiters from over 80 companies. Students are notified of impending visits by postings in the Center, in Wellesley Week and in the Agenda, and are advised to consult with a career counselor prior to the interview.

Job Notices

Job notebooks are maintained by the Center staff and are open to all students and alumnae. Notices of job openings are filed in these notebooks as they are received by the Center. A job bulletin newsletter is sent to alumnae and seniors upon request.

Graduate Schools

Students seeking information on the academic programs at specific graduate and professional schools should speak with their academic advisors and members of the faculty as well as career counselors. The Career Center provides complete assistance and materials for application to graduate school, including information on graduate school and professional school examinations, application forms, copies of recommendations solicited by the students but maintained on file at the Center, and advice on completing graduate school applications.
Internships

The Career Center houses information on a wide variety of internship programs available at the College, in the local community, and throughout the country, during the term, January, and summer. Interns work in dozens of fields ranging from engineering to environmental advocacy, from stage management to banking. The Center serves as the clearinghouse for information concerning all internships and can direct students to the appropriate faculty members for those programs administered by College academic departments. The Center also coordinates efforts with the Massachusetts Internship Office. All internships require early application and considerable planning; students interested in internships should consult a counselor well in advance.

Scholarships and Fellowships

The Center provides information and assistance on a wide variety of scholarships and fellowships, some for very specific institutions or fields of interest, and others with more general application. A full listing and description of scholarships and fellowships is maintained in the Center Library.

Recommendations

All students are encouraged to build a reference file; all references will be forwarded to schools and employers upon request. In addition to recommendations from faculty, students should consider obtaining references from summer employers, from responsible individuals with whom the student has worked on internships or special programs, and from faculty members at schools she attends on exchange programs. The Center provides standard recommendation forms acceptable to graduate schools and employers.

Admission

The Board of Admission chooses students who will benefit from and contribute to the type of education offered at Wellesley and be able to meet the standards for graduation from the College. Consideration is given to creativity and high motivation as well as strong academic potential.

The Board of Admission considers each application on its merits and does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, creed, or national origin. In accordance with its desire to maintain diversity in its student body, Wellesley College encourages applications from qualified students who come from a wide variety of cultural, economic, and ethnic backgrounds.

The Board of Admission at Wellesley is composed of representatives of the faculty, the administration, and the students. In selecting the candidates who will comprise the student body, the Board of Admission considers a number of factors: high school records, rank in class, scholastic aptitude and achievement test scores, letters of recommendation from teachers and principals, the student's own statements about herself and her activities, and the interview reports of the staff or alumnae. The Board of Admission values evidence of unusual talent and involvement in all areas of academic and social concern.

Each application is evaluated with care. The admission decision is never made on the basis of a single factor. Each part of the application, however, contributes to a well rounded appraisal of a student's strengths and is useful in attempting to predict whether Wellesley would be the right place for her to continue her education.

Criteria for Admission

Wellesley College does not require a fixed plan of secondary school courses as preparation for its program of studies. However, entering students normally have completed four years of strong college preparatory studies in secondary school. Adequate preparation includes training in clear and coherent writing and in interpreting literature, training in the principles of mathematics (usually a minimum of three years), competence in at least one foreign language, ancient or modern (usually achieved through three or four years of study), and experience in at least one laboratory science and in history.
Students planning to concentrate in mathematics, in premedical studies, or in the natural sciences are urged to elect additional courses in mathematics and science in secondary school. Students planning to concentrate in language or literature are urged to study a modern foreign language and Latin or Greek before they enter college.

There are often exceptions to the preparation suggested here, and the Board will consider an applicant whose educational background varies from this general description.

The Application

Application forms may be obtained from the Board of Admission. A nonrefundable fee of $35 must accompany the formal application. If the application fee imposes a burden on the family’s finances, a letter from the applicant’s guidance counselor requesting a fee waiver should be sent to the Director of Admission with the application for admission.

The Interview

A personal interview is required of each applicant. If it is not possible for a candidate to come to the College for an interview, she should write to the Board of Admission or use the form provided in the application to request the name of an alumna interviewer in the candidate’s local area. A high school junior just beginning to think about colleges may arrange for an informal conversation with an alumna or member of the Board. The Board of Admission is closed for interviews from February 13 to April 1; however, tours will still be given by student guides during this time.

Campus Visit

Students who are seriously considering Wellesley will have a better understanding of Wellesley student life if they can arrange to spend a day on campus. Candidates are welcome to attend classes, eat in the residence halls, and talk informally with Wellesley students. Prospective students who plan to spend some time exploring the College are urged to notify the Board of Admission at least two weeks in advance so that tours, interviews, meals, and attendance at classes can be arranged before arrival on campus. Overnights in the residence halls can also be arranged for high school seniors.

College Board Tests

The Scholastic Aptitude Test and three Achievement Tests of the College Board are required of all applicants for admission. One Achievement Test must be the English Composition or English Composition with Essay Test.

Each applicant is responsible for arranging to take the tests and for requesting the College Board to send to Wellesley College the results of all tests taken. The College Board sends its publications and the registration forms necessary to apply for the tests to all American secondary schools and many centers abroad. The applicant may obtain the registration form at school, or may obtain it by writing directly to College Board, Box 692, Princeton, New Jersey 08540; or in western United States, western Canada, Australia, Mexico, or the Pacific Islands, to College Board, Box 1025, Berkeley, California 94701.

It is necessary to register with the College Board approximately six weeks before the test dates; however, limited walk-in registration may be available at some test centers.

Either the SAT or three Achievement Tests may be taken on any of the following dates, but it is not possible to take both the SAT and the Achievement Tests on the same day, so students must select and register for two different test dates. The latest test date from which scores can be used for admission in September, 1988 is January 23, 1988.

The College Board Code Number for Wellesley College is 3957.

In addition, on October 10, 1987 the SAT only is offered in California, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, North Carolina, South Carolina and Texas.

Admission Plans

A candidate who uses the regular plan of admission must file an application by February 1 of the year for which she is applying. Applicants will be notified of the Board of Admission's decisions in mid-April. Applicants for regular admission may take Scholastic Aptitude Tests and Achievement Tests any time through January of the senior year. It is preferred, however, that students take these tests before the January test date to ensure that scores will arrive well before the Board of Admission begins to review records.

Results of tests taken after January arrive too late for consideration by the Board of Admission.
Early Decision

This plan is intended for those students with strong high school records who have selected Wellesley as their first choice college by the fall of the senior year. Candidates under this plan may initiate applications at other colleges, but they agree to make only one Early Decision application, and if admitted under Early Decision, they must then withdraw all other applications.

Candidates who wish Early Decision must submit the application by November 1 and indicate that they want to be considered under the Early Decision Plan. Although College Board tests taken through the November 7, 1987 test date may be used, it is preferred that students complete the appropriate tests by the end of the junior year. Decisions on admission and financial aid will be mailed no later than mid-December.

Early Evaluation

Candidates whose credentials are complete by January 1, and who request it by checking the appropriate box on the application form, will receive an Early Evaluation of their chances of admission. These evaluations will be sent by the end of February. Candidates will receive the final decision from the Board of Admission in mid-April.

Early Admission

The College considers applications from candidates who plan to enter college after completing three years of high school and who have demonstrated academic strength and personal and social maturity. These candidates are considered for admission along with other applicants for the Regular Decision Plan. They are requested to identify themselves as Early Admission applicants in their correspondence with the Board of Admission. It is preferable that these candidates have their interviews at the College if distance permits. Early Admission candidates are not eligible for Early Decision or Early Evaluation. In all other respects they follow the regular procedures for the Regular Decision Plan.

Deferred Entrance

Students who complete their applications and are admitted and who then wish to defer entrance to the first year student class for one year should accept the offer of admission by May 1, and at the same time request a year's deferral. Students who attend another American college full-time during the year between high school and their entrance to Wellesley are not considered deferred students, but must reapply for entrance as transfers. Ordinarily, transfer students may not defer entrance to the following semester or year. This also applies to foreign students.
United States Citizens Living Abroad

For U.S. citizens living in other countries the entrance requirements and procedures for making application are the same as for applicants within the United States. U.S. citizens who have been educated exclusively in foreign school systems follow the same application procedures as foreign students.

Continuing Education

The Continuing Education program offers educational opportunity for women beyond traditional college age. The program is designed for women who wish to work toward the Bachelor of Arts degree, as well as for a limited number of men and women who seek nondegree course work as special students. Continuing Education students enroll in the same courses as the traditional Wellesley undergraduates and meet the same degree requirements. They may enroll on a part-time or full-time basis.

Prospective candidates for the B.A. degree are women, usually over the age of twenty-four, whose education has been interrupted for at least two years, or whose life experience makes enrollment through Continuing Education the logical avenue of admission to Wellesley College. At least 16 of the 32 units required for the B.A. degree must be completed at Wellesley. There is no time limitation for completion of the degree.

The College will accept for credit only those courses which are comparable to courses offered in the liberal arts curriculum at Wellesley. One Wellesley unit is equal to four semester hours or six quarter-hours. The Registrar will evaluate credit earned at accredited colleges with the official transcript, catalog, and degree requirements from those colleges. All applicants should have course descriptions and degree requirements from the period of enrollment at all previous colleges sent as part of their application.

Special Students

Special students apply to Wellesley with a special purpose in mind. They may be graduates of an accredited college or university who wish to do further undergraduate work to prepare for graduate studies; they may be matriculated students currently affiliated with another accredited college or university who wish to take courses for degree credit at the affiliate; or they may have special needs for nondegree course work. The College reserves the right to limit the number of semesters and/or courses that a Special Student may take for credit.

Application for admission to the Continuing Education Program is made through the Office of the Dean of Continuing Education. The deadline for first semester admission is April 1 and for second semester admission is December 1.

The CE program is essentially nonresidential. However, housing is available on a limited basis for full-time CE students who desire to live on campus. Applicants who want campus housing should indicate this interest at the time of application.
Foreign & Transfer Students

Through the years Wellesley has sought and benefited from a large body of foreign students on campus. The College also seeks highly qualified transfer students who believe that Wellesley's special opportunities will help them to achieve specific goals. For foreign and transfer students there are some additional and different application procedures and deadlines.

The following students apply for admission through the Foreign Student Board of Admission, using the special Foreign Student Application form:

1. All foreign citizens applying from overseas secondary schools or universities;
2. Foreign citizens who will have completed only one year (grade 12) in a high school in the United States before entering college;
3. U.S. citizens who have been educated in a foreign school system.

Admission is for September entrance only. Application must be received by January 15 of the year in which the student plans to enter, and all credentials in support of the application must be received no later than February 10. There is no application fee for foreign citizens living outside of the United States. Financial aid is available for a limited number of foreign citizens.

The College Board entrance examinations are required of all foreign students in addition to their own national examinations. The official SAT and Achievement Test score reports must be forwarded directly to Wellesley College by the College Board by using Wellesley’s Code Number 3957 on the College Board registration form.

Interested students are encouraged to initiate the application process one full year in advance of the planned date of entrance. To obtain the information brochure Foreign Students and the Foreign Student Application form, please write to the Board of Admission. Letters of inquiry should include the student’s country of citizenship, present school, academic level, and the month/year of planned college entrance.

Citizens of other countries who will have completed two or more years of secondary school in the United States before entering college do not use the Foreign Student Application, but apply instead through the regular admission program. Foreign citizens applying through the regular admission program, who also wish to apply for the limited financial aid funds, are eligible to apply only under the Regular Decision Plan (February 1 deadline).
Wellesley College accepts transfer students from accredited four and two year colleges. They must offer an excellent academic record at the college level and strong recommendations from their Deans and college instructors. Scholastic Aptitude Tests are required of transfer applicants. In order to receive a Wellesley degree, a student must complete two years of course work at the College, so ordinarily, only incoming sophomores and juniors are eligible to apply. Students wishing to transfer into Wellesley should apply by February 1 for entrance in the fall semester, and before November 15 for entrance in the spring semester, on forms which may be obtained from the Board of Admission. Notification is in mid-April and late December, respectively. The application forms should be returned with a nonrefundable registration fee of $35, or a fee waiver request authorized by a financial aid officer or College dean.

The College will accept for credit only those courses which are comparable to courses offered in the liberal arts curriculum at Wellesley. Candidates accepted for transfer will be given a tentative evaluation of their credit status at the time of admission. Transfer credit for studies completed in foreign countries will be granted only when the Registrar has given specific approval of the courses elected and the institutions granting the credit.

To receive a Wellesley degree, a transfer student must complete a minimum of 16 units of work and two academic years at the College. A Wellesley unit is equivalent to four semester hours and some transfer students may need to carry more than the usual four courses per semester in order to complete their degree requirements within four years. Wellesley College has no summer school and courses done independently during the summer may not be counted toward the 16 units required. Incoming juniors, in particular, should be aware that Wellesley requires evidence of proficiency in one foreign language before the beginning of the senior year. In addition, all transfer students should note Wellesley's writing and course distribution requirements which must be fulfilled for graduation. These requirements are described on p. 55 and p. 53 in this catalog.

Incoming junior transfer students may not take part in the Twelve College Exchange Program or Junior Year Abroad. All transfer students may elect to take courses through the cross-registration program with MIT. Candidates who are older than the usual undergraduate age and whose educations have been interrupted for several years prior to the date of application, may wish to consult the Office of Continuing Education.
COSTS AND FINANCIAL AID
Costs

The cost of an excellent education is high, both at Wellesley and at comparable institutions. To assist students and their families in meeting this cost, Wellesley offers a variety of payment plans and financing programs. At the same time, through financial aid, the College is currently able to open its educational opportunities to all students regardless of their financial circumstances. The amount and kind of financial assistance is determined solely by financial need.

Fees & Expenses

At Wellesley the comprehensive fee represents approximately 60% of the educational cost to the College for each student. The difference is provided from gifts and income earned on endowment funds.

The comprehensive fee for 1987-88 resident students is $15,980. In addition, there is a fee of $240 for Basic Student Health Insurance. The breakdown is as follows:

*First year resident students must take the 20 Meal Plan.

A kosher meal plan is available to resident students. It includes kosher dinners five days a week and is served in one residence hall. The additional charge for this plan is $200 per year or $105 per semester.

Student Activity Fee

The student activity fee of $90 is administered by the Student College Government. It provides resources from which the student government organization can plan and implement the programs of student activities.

Facilities Fee

The facilities fee of $170 is a usage charge for the sports center.
Information about the Wellesley College Student Health and Insurance Program is sent to the parents or guardian of each traditional student by the Bursar. Students who take at least three courses are eligible for treatment at the Infirmary where routine procedures are available to these students at no additional cost.

All traditional students are enrolled for Basic Health Insurance, and pay $120 per semester, unless the waiver card verifying the student's coverage under an equivalent policy is sent to the Bursar by May 15, (October 31, for second semester). Students who have purchased Wellesley's Basic Health Insurance will not be charged for laboratory tests or inpatient services at Simpson Infirmary and will be covered for specified medical treatment while away from Wellesley. Inpatient care (hospital admission), laboratory tests, immunizations, and many other Infirmary services are available on a fee-for-service basis to students covered by other insurance.

An optional Master Medical program providing supplementary coverage is also recommended. Wellesley College does not assume financial responsibility for injuries incurred in instructional, intercollegiate, intramural, or recreational programs. Wellesley carries an NCAA policy to provide limited supplemental coverage for students injured while participating in intercollegiate athletics under the auspices of the Department of Physical Education and Athletics.

Continuing Education students carrying three or more courses per semester are eligible to purchase Student Health Insurance.

These include, but are not limited to, the following:

Certain special fees and expenses listed in departmental descriptions, e.g., the cost of instrumental and vocal lessons given on p. 186.

- A fee for each unit of work taken for credit in excess of five in any semester: $1,428.
- A fee for each unit of work done independently during the summer: 50% of the tuition cost per course.
- A fee for each examination for credit during the summer: 50% of the tuition cost per course.
- An automobile parking fee for resident students: $40 for each semester, or $75 for the year if purchased in September; and for nonresident students: $30 per semester, or $50 per year.

All fees, with the exception of tuition, room and board, are subject to change without notice.

Admission candidates must notify the Director of Admission of withdrawal. Refunds will be prorated among the sources of original payment. </table>
The tuition fee for a Continuing Education student is $1,428 per semester course, payable July 31 for the fall semester and December 31 for the spring semester. Continuing Education students taking four units of academic credit a semester may take a fifth unit at no charge. A $12 per unit student activity fee will be charged with a maximum of $45 per semester. In addition, a $22 per unit facilities fee will be charged with a maximum of $85 per semester. Continuing Education applicants pay a nonrefundable $35 application fee. There is also a nonrefundable registration fee of $25, payable when the student is accepted.

A Continuing Education student who finds it necessary to withdraw from a course is entitled to refunds as follows: a full refund of payment will be allowed for withdrawal from courses during the first two weeks of classes. Thereafter, charges will be prorated on a weekly basis until the midpoint of the semester. No refunds will be made for withdrawal after the semester midpoint. The date of withdrawal shall be the date on which the student notifies the Office of Continuing Education of withdrawal in writing or if the Office of Continuing Education is not notified, the date on which the College determines that the student has withdrawn. Refunds will be prorated among the sources of original payment. Scholarships, grants and educational loans are generally not refundable to the student.

Fees, payment schedules, and the refund policy for special students, such as high school students taking courses at Wellesley, are the same as for Continuing Education students.

Payment Plans

Wellesley offers three payment plans to meet varied needs for budgeting educational expenses: the traditional Semester Plan, a Deferred Monthly Payment Plan, and a four-year Prepaid Tuition Stabilization Plan.

It is necessary that all Wellesley fees be paid in accordance with one of these approved payment plans before the student can register or receive credit for courses, and all financial obligations to the College must be discharged before the degree or diploma is awarded.

It is a student’s responsibility to verify that loans, grants, and other payments to Wellesley from third party sources will be received by the College due dates. Frequently the student must send a copy of her Wellesley bill to the grantor before the award will be sent to Wellesley. Any funds that may not arrive on time must be discussed with the Student’s Account Representative in the Bursar’s Office before the due dates. Late payment fees as well as interest at the rate of 1½ percent a month (18 percent APR) may be charged on accounts not paid in full by the due date of the chosen plan.
Detailed descriptions of plans are sent by the Bursar to the parents of traditional students, to Continuing Education students, and to others on request. Although there are minor variations in the payment plans for Regular Decision and Early Decision students, the Comprehensive Fee due dates for each group are the same. Sample Payment Schedules appear on the following page.

Semester Plan

The Comprehensive Fee due for each semester (after subtracting amounts paid in advance, scholarships, and education loans for that semester) is paid to the College by July 31 for the fall semester, and by December 31 for the spring semester. This plan is generally used by families who are paying college expenses from money previously saved for this purpose, or who have access to low-interest loans from employers, life insurance policies, credit unions, relatives or similar sources, or who are using educational loan programs like MELA or SHARE described on the following pages.

Deferred Monthly Payment Plan

The Comprehensive Fee due for each semester (after subtracting amounts paid in advance, scholarships, certain Wellesley College loans, and the Perkins loan for that semester) is budgeted over five payments. Interest at an Annual Percentage Rate (APR) of 9 percent is charged on the amount deferred. The payments are due on the last day of every month, June 30 to October 31 for the fall semester and November 30 to March 31 for the spring semester. Late fees are charged for late payment.

The Deferred Plan was established to enable families to pay Wellesley charges out of current family earnings, and about one quarter of Wellesley’s families choose this plan. Families that can start in April to put their money into a savings account or prepayment program, so that funds are available for July 31 and December 31 remission to Wellesley, have the convenience of monthly payments without the interest expense. Parents who find the Deferred Plan monthly payments to be too large are advised to review the longer-term loans described under “Financing Programs”; the College cannot further extend the terms of this Deferred Plan.

Prepaid Tuition Stabilization Plan (PTSP)

This program provides a written contract that guarantees that the cost of tuition will remain the same for each of four consecutive years provided the student’s parent or other guarantor pays the College, by June 30 before the year the student first enters Wellesley, an amount equal to four times the first year’s tuition cost. The tuition for 1987-88 is $11,420; the amount required to be paid to Wellesley College by June 30, 1987 would be $45,680 ($11,420 x 4). Financing for this program may be done through family savings, the Massachusetts Family Education Loan Program (MFELP), the SHARE Program, home equity loans, or any other source of funds available to the family. Provisions are made for leaves of absence (up to two semesters), refunds, and withdrawals. This program stabilizes the cost of tuition only; all other charges such as room, board and other fees will be charged on the Semester or Deferred Payment Plan chosen by the guarantor at the rate in effect each year.

Payment for Students on Financial Aid

Grants and loans are generally applied equally against charges for the semester. The remaining financial obligation must be paid in accordance with one of the approved plans. Students on financial aid who have difficulty meeting the planned payment schedule should consult the Financial Aid Office promptly. This is especially important if there have been significant changes in the family’s financial situation.
Financing Programs

To finance the Wellesley Payment Plans there are numerous loans available to students and their families. With these loans, education expenses can be spread over a 5- to 19-year period to meet family budgets and cash flow projections.

The Wellesley Parent Loan Plan, available to all parents as well as to Continuing Education Students, establishes a fixed monthly payment amount for a period of five to eight years to pay all or a desired portion of the anticipated four-year college expense. The interest rate (Annual Percentage Rate), which is now 9 percent, may vary over the life of the loan. If parents borrowed $12,000 for each of four academic years starting with Fall 1987, for example, and the interest rate remained 9 percent, they would make 77 monthly payments of $691.20 beginning June 1, 1987 and a last payment of $306.41. The total financed would be $48,000; total principal and interest paid would equal $53,528.81; interest would be $5,528.81. If the interest rate or the amount borrowed was subsequently increased, the number (rather than the dollar amount) of payments would be increased. Optional life and disability insurance of $12,000 per year would cost a borrower aged 40-55 an additional $28.80 per month.

The Consortium on Financing Higher Education, Nellie Mae, and The Education Resources Institute (TERI) recently developed a new long-term, moderate-cost education loan with flexible repayment terms to enable students and their families or other supporters to share college expenses. A student and co-applicant(s) apply through Wellesley College to borrow up to $15,000 per year for up to four years or up to the total cost of tuition for four years ($45,680 for July 1987). One of the applicants must be a U.S. citizen.

Loans may be unsecured or secured by a mortgage. The interest may be variable or fixed for 5 years. The maximum variable interest rate will be the prime rate plus 2 percent; 4 percent of the amount borrowed will be sent to TERI to provide a repayment guarantee reserve and death and disability insurance coverage for the primary borrower in the amount of the loan.

Repayment of borrowed funds to Nellie Mae begins 45 days after the loan is made and may extend for up to 15 to 19 years after graduation; while the student is in school, interest only or interest plus principal payments may be made at the discretion of the primary borrower. A family borrowing $10,000 in February, 1987 and repaying over 6 years would have been scheduled for payments of $180.26 per month at the 9 percent interest rate then in effect. If $40,000 was borrowed and repaid over 15 years at 9%, the monthly payment would be $405.71.
Massachusetts
Family
Education
Loan Program
(MFELP)

The College has reserved limited funds which will be loaned by the Massachusetts Education Loan Authority (MELA) to creditworthy, middle-income students and/or their families. Higher income families, with several dependents in college or other unusual circumstances, may also qualify. The cost of attendance for a single year, or the total cost of tuition for four years ($45,680 for July 1987), less the total amount of other education loans such as GSL or PLUS may be borrowed. Loan payments are made directly to MELA monthly (starting within a month after the loan is made) over a 15-year period at an estimated fixed annual rate of 10-11½ percent plus fees of about 7 percent of the loan total. Loans may be unsecured or secured by a mortgage.

Other Financing

The loan programs described on pp. 43-44 were selected by Wellesley College from a variety of available alternatives. Additional loan plans are discussed in the Financial Aid section of this catalog. Many credit unions, banks, and other financial institutions offer trust, investment and loan programs; some are based on a security interest in the borrower’s home or other assets; others rely on the borrower’s credit worthiness alone. In some families, parents apply for the loan with the understanding that the student will assume responsibility for repaying part of it out of school time earnings in future years. Many Wellesley students use skills and contacts developed at the College to earn a significant portion of their tuition through summer, winter break and term time employment. The Bursar, Associate Bursar and Student Account and Loan Representatives will be happy to discuss possible avenues of financing with students and their families and other supporters to help them attain their educational goals.
Financial Aid

The Wellesley College program of financial aid opens educational opportunities to able students of diverse backgrounds, regardless of their financial resources. No entering first year student should be discouraged from applying to Wellesley because of the need for financial aid. At Wellesley, admission decisions are made without regard for financial need, and only after a student is admitted does the Financial Aid staff determine the amount of aid she will require. Approximately 65 percent of all Wellesley students receive aid from some source, 43 percent receive financial aid based on need from the College.

At Wellesley College financial aid is given solely because of demonstrated need. Amounts vary in size according to the resources of the individual and her family, and may equal or exceed the comprehensive College fee. Although aid is generally granted for one year at a time, the College expects to continue aid as needed throughout the student’s four years, provided funds are available.

Determination of the amount of aid begins with examination of family financial resources. Using a national system of need analysis, modified to meet special needs, the Financial Aid staff establishes the amount the parents can reasonably be expected to contribute. The staff also looks at the amount that the student can contribute from her summer earnings, assets, and benefits. The total of the parents’ and the student’s contributions is then subtracted from the student’s budget which is comprised of the College fees, a $1,000 book and personal allowance, and an allowance toward two low-cost round trips from her home area to Wellesley. The remainder, which equals the “financial need” of the student, is offered in aid.

Evaluations of all students’ academic records are made at the end of each semester by the Academic Review Board. Eligibility for financial aid may be terminated or reinstated at each evaluation period. Records are maintained by the Academic Review Board. If a student is permitted to return to the College, the Academic Review Board has judged that she is making adequate progress toward the degree. No credit is associated with course incompletion, course withdrawal, noncredit remedial courses or course repetition; therefore, these courses are not considered in progress toward the degree.

Under normal circumstances, a full-time undergraduate student completes the requirements for the B.A. degree in eight semesters. A student may submit an appeal to the Academic Review Board for additional time. The Academic Review Board will consider special circumstances and may grant up to 10 semesters for a full-time student or up to 14 semesters for a part-time student. A student may request financial aid for semesters beyond the usual eight which have been approved by the Academic Review Board.

Most financial aid packages are a combination of three types of aid: work, loans, and grants.

Work

Generally, the first portion of a student's financial aid is met through jobs on and off campus, usually as part of Federal Work-Study Programs. Students are expected to devote approximately nine hours a week to their jobs, earning $1,100 or $1,150 a year.

Over 70 percent of Wellesley College students work on or off campus. The Office of Financial Aid is the center for student employment, a service open to all students, whether they are receiving aid or not. Financial aid students receive priority for on-campus jobs such as office work in academic and administrative departments. Off campus, students have worked in offices, stores, and restaurants.

Loans

The next portion of a student's financial aid, $2,450 for first year students and $2,500 for upperclass students, is met through low-interest loans. There are several kinds of loans available with different interest rates. In most cases a student is required first to apply for a Guaranteed Student Loan from a lending institution in her local area.

Repayment of Loans from the College

A student who has received a loan from the College has the obligation to repay the loan after withdrawal or graduation. Before she leaves the College she should make arrangements for an exit interview with the Bursar. At that time she will be notified of her responsibilities regarding the loan and will be given a repayment schedule.

Grants

The remaining portion of the student need is awarded in grants by the College from its own resources, or from the federal government through the Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants and Pell Grant Programs, or from outside agencies.

Students who are eligible for other federal or state grants are required to apply; if the student does not apply, the College will not replace the amount she would have received. In addition, whenever possible, students should seek grants from local programs, from educational foundations, and from other private sources.

Town Tuition Grants

Wellesley College offers ten Town Tuition Grants to residents of the Town of Wellesley who qualify for admission and whose parents or guardian live in the town. These students may live at home or on campus. Those who choose to live on campus may apply to the College for financial aid, and their applications will be reviewed in relation to the same financial aid considerations presently applicable to all Wellesley students.
| ROTC Scholarships | ROTC admission criteria conflict with the nondiscrimination policy of Wellesley College (see inside back cover). However, students may enroll in ROTC programs offered at MIT through the College's cross-registration program. Wellesley students may also apply for scholarship aid from all services. Interested students should contact the appropriate service office at Building 20E, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, MA 02139, or call: Air Force, (617) 253-3755; Army, (617) 253-4471, or Navy, (617) 253-2991. |
| Financial Aid for Transfer Students | Financial aid funds are available to assist a limited number of transfer students. Those students with demonstrated need will be eligible to receive aid for the number of semesters determined by the Registrar as necessary for degree completion. If a transfer student does not receive a grant upon admission to the College, she will not qualify for a grant while she is at the College. It is possible, however, that she may receive work-study or loans. |
| Financial Aid for Continuing Education Students | Financial Aid is available for Continuing Education students who are degree candidates. A financial aid advisor is available to assist CE students in planning their budgets and in their efforts to obtain funds from outside sources. All CE applicants are encouraged to discuss their financial aid plans with a financial aid officer before applying for admission. |
| Wellesley Students’ Aid Society | The Wellesley Students’ Aid Society, Inc. is an organization of Wellesley College alumnae. In addition to making some grants and long term tuition loans, the organization also provides short-term emergency loans and other services to students. |
| Assistance for Families Not Eligible for Aid | Wellesley has special concern for the growing number of middle and upper income families who find it difficult to finance their daughters' education through current income. The services of the Office of Financial Aid are designed to assist all families, regardless of the need for aid. For those families not eligible for aid, the College will assist in several ways. Wellesley will help any student find a job, on or off campus. The College will furnish information and advice on obtaining student and parent loans. Three payment programs are offered by the College: a Semester Plan, a Deferred Plan, and a Prepaid Tuition Stabilization Plan. And a number of financing options: The Insured Tuition Payment Plan, Parent Loans to Undergraduate Students, Supplemental Loan for Students, the Wellesley Parent Loan Plan, the Massachusetts Family Education Loan Program, and SHARE, a supplemental education loan for families. These programs are described under Costs and Payment Plans. |
For Further Information

Detailed information on all the material summarized here is available in a booklet entitled Financial Aid. This booklet is sent to every student who requests this information. In addition, each spring information is available on the payment and loan programs.

Applying for Financial Aid

Each registered applicant for admission who is applying for financial aid must file four forms: the Wellesley College Application for Financial Aid, the Financial Aid Form of the College Scholarship Service, and signed copies of all pages and schedules of both the parents' and the student's latest federal income tax returns. Additional forms are required if parents are separated/divorced or self-employed.

Application Form

The Wellesley College Application for Financial Aid should be returned to the Director of Financial Aid, Box FA, Wellesley College, by November 1 for Early Decision applicants; February 1 for Regular Decision applicants and fall semester Transfer applicants; and November 15 for spring semester Transfer applicants.

Financial Aid Form

This form is available in secondary schools, or may be obtained by writing to the College Scholarship Service, CN6300, Princeton, New Jersey 08540; or Box 380, Berkeley, California 94701. A copy can also be provided by the Director of Financial Aid if specifically requested by an applicant. The Financial Aid Form should be filed with the College Scholarship Service which will then mail a copy for confidential use to the college or colleges indicated on the form.

The Financial Aid Form must be filed by February 1 for Regular Decision applicants and fall semester Transfer applicants; and by November 15 for spring semester Transfer applicants. Early Decision applicants must file the Early Version Financial Aid Form which is mailed to students after their Wellesley financial aid application is received and must be filed by November 15. Early Decision applicants should also file the 1988-89 Financial Aid Form of the College Scholarship Service by February 1.
Graduate Fellowships

A number of fellowships for graduate study are open to graduating seniors and graduates of Wellesley College, while others administered by Wellesley are open to women graduates of any American institution. Awards are usually made to applicants who plan full-time graduate study for the coming year. Preference in all cases, except for the Peggy Howard Fellowship, will be given to applicants who have not held one of these awards previously. Awards will be based on merit and need.

Trustee Scholarships are awarded on a competitive basis to seniors who intend to pursue graduate studies. These scholarships are unrestricted as to field of study. The title Trustee Scholar is honorary and in cases of financial need stipends may be awarded to the scholars or, if not needed by them, to alternates who need financial assistance. All applications and credentials are due by December 1. Recipients share the total annual stipend.
Stipend: Up to $6,000

Fanny Bullock Workman Fellowship for graduate study in any field. Stipend: Up to $3,000

Mary Elvira Stevens Traveling Fellowship for a full year of travel or study outside the United States. Any scholarly, artistic, or cultural purpose may be considered. Candidates must be at least 25 years of age in the year of application. Applications may be obtained from the Secretary to the Stevens Fellowship Committee, Office of Financial Aid, and must be filed before December 1. Stipend: $14,000

Some graduate fellowships for study at the institution of the candidate's choice are administered by Wellesley College and are open to alumnae of any American institution, including Wellesley.

Alice Freeman Palmer Fellowship for study or research abroad or in the United States. The holder must be no more than 26 years of age at the time of her appointment, and unmarried throughout the whole of her tenure. Non-Wellesley candidates should file through their institutions. Wellesley will accept no more than four applications from an institution. Stipend: Up to $4,000

Mary McEwen Schimke Scholarship a supplemental award for the purpose of affording relief from household and child care while pursuing graduate study. The award is made on the basis of scholarly expectation and identified need. The candidate must be over 30 years of age, currently engaged in graduate study in literature and/or history. Preference given to American Studies.
Stipend: Up to $1,000

M. A. Cartland Shackford Medical Fellowship for the study of medicine with a view to general practice, not psychiatry.
Stipend: Up to $3,500

Harriet A. Shaw Fellowship for study or research in music and allied arts, abroad or in the United States. Preference given to music candidates; undergraduate work in history of art required of other candidates. Stipend: Up to $3,000

Information and application forms may be obtained from the Secretary to the Committee on Graduate Fellowships, Office of Financial Aid, Box GR, Wellesley College, Wellesley, Massachusetts 02181. Application forms for the Peggy Howard Fellowship may be obtained from the Economics Department, Wellesley College, Wellesley, Massachusetts 02181. The applications and supporting materials should be returned to the same address by April 1.

Applications and supporting materials for all other fellowships are due December 1.
THE ACADEMIC PROGRAM
The Academic Program

The process of learning begins with the mind and motivation of the student herself. The most tempting array of courses and the most carefully planned requirements alone will not guarantee the growth of an educated mind. The academic experience is designed for the student who seeks a broad acquaintance with the many and diverse fields of human inquiry as well as the opportunity to explore her personal intellectual interests in depth. It provides for the acquisition of knowledge and of the skills appropriate to the liberal arts but above all it is responsive to the student who genuinely wishes to acquire the habit of learning. It seeks to stimulate the mind, refine the eye, and enlarge the capacity for free, independent and discriminating choice.

The Curriculum

The curriculum at Wellesley is structured to provide strong guidance and to allow, at the same time, great personal choice. Central to the curriculum is the concept of diversity, the concept that the student should pursue a number of disciplines during her four years at the College. Accordingly, by the time the Bachelor of Arts degree is earned, she should be acquainted with the main fields of human interest, capable of integrating knowledge from various fields, and prepared for continuous scholarly and personal growth. In her major field, the student is expected to demonstrate maturity of thought, acquaintance with recognized authorities in the field, and general competence in dealing with sources of research or analysis.

At Wellesley academic advising for the first year and sophomore student is provided by the class deans. The Class Dean is a central source of information about degree requirements, academic legislation, and resources available at the College to help students achieve their academic goals. She advises students about course selections and sequences, and she is available throughout a student’s years at Wellesley for consultation about matters of more general intellectual and personal concern.

Students are also encouraged to consult faculty members early in their time at Wellesley for academic advice.

The advising of juniors and seniors is shared by faculty and Class Deans. This arrangement provides for systematic and equitable supervision of each student’s progress toward the B.A. degree. In addition, it has the double benefit of specialized advice from faculty in the major field, and detailed examination of the student’s overall program.
In addition to the regular office hours all instructors hold for students needing extra help, peer tutoring is available in the Study Center located in the Margaret Clapp Library. Peer tutors, called A+ Advisors, are trained in study skills and time management in addition to being well-prepared to tutor in specific subjects. An A+ advisor lives in each residence hall. She conducts workshops on study skills, test taking, etc. through the semester and serves as a resource person on matters of academic policy.

A noncredit reading course and reading workshops are offered several times during the semester.

Each student is responsible for meeting all degree requirements and for ensuring that the Registrar’s Office has received all credentials. Each candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts is required to complete 32 units of academic work at a C average or better. Each semester course is assigned one unit of credit. A unit of credit is equivalent to four semester-hours or six quarter-hours. The normal period of time in which to earn the degree is four years and a normal program of study includes from three to five courses a semester. First year students are encouraged to carry a maximum of four courses each semester, but upperclass students may take five.

Courses are classified in Grades I, II, and III. Introductory courses are numbered 100-199 (Grade I); intermediate courses, 200-299 (Grade II); advanced courses, 300-399 (Grade III). Each student must include in her program at least four units of Grade III work, at least two of which shall be in the major. The program in the senior year may not include more units of Grade I than of Grade III work, and at least two must be Grade III. Directions for election of the major vary with the department. Please see departmental listings for specific major requirements.

In order to provide students with as much flexibility as possible, Wellesley requires no specific courses except Writing 125. To ensure, however, that students gain insight and awareness in areas outside their own major fields, the College does require that they elect three semester courses in each of three academic areas as part of the 32 units required for graduation. (Courses numbered 350 — Research or Individual Study — do not satisfy this requirement.) Students who enter in the fall of 1988 and thereafter must take two of the three courses in each academic area at Wellesley. Transfer and Continuing Education students who enter with eight units prior to Wellesley must take at least one of the three courses in each group at Wellesley, and students entering with 16 prior units may take the distribution requirements at Wellesley or elsewhere. The three groups of academic disciplines are:
GROUP A
Literature, Foreign Languages, Art, and Music

Three units chosen from courses in Art, Chinese, English, French, German, Greek and Latin, Hebrew, Italian, Japanese, Music, Russian, Spanish, Theatre Studies; or from certain courses offered by the Department of Black Studies and from those extradepartmental literature courses which are designated as fulfilling the requirement in Group A.

GROUP B
Social Science, Religion, Philosophy, and Education

Group B¹
One or two units chosen from courses in the Departments of History, Philosophy, Religion, and courses offered by the Departments of Black Studies, Education and the Women's Studies Program in these fields and

Group B²
One or two units chosen from courses in the Departments of Anthropology, Economics, Political Science, Psychology, Sociology, and courses offered by the Departments of Black Studies, Education and the Women's Studies Program in these fields.

GROUP C
Science and Mathematics

Three units, at least one of which shall be a course with laboratory, chosen from courses offered in the Departments of Astronomy, Biological Sciences, Chemistry, Geology, Mathematics, Physics and courses in Computer Science above the Grade 1 level.

Foreign Language Requirement

Before the beginning of the senior year, students must exhibit a degree of proficiency in the use of one foreign language, either ancient or modern. Many students fulfill this requirement by passing one of the language tests offered by the College Board. Wellesley requires a score of 610 or better on the College Board Achievement Test, or a score of at least 3 on the Advanced Placement Examination (AP). This requirement can also be met by the completion of two units of language study at the second year college level or one unit of language study above the second year college level.

Students may take introductory courses in only two modern foreign languages.
Fulfillment of the foreign language requirement through work done at another institution must be approved by the appropriate department. A student whose native language is not English will be exempted from this requirement, subject to approval of the Class Dean and the Academic Review Board.

Writing Requirement

Since September 1983, each entering student has been required to complete one semester of expository writing in her first year. Writing courses (numbered 125) are offered in the Department of English and in a number of other departments. These courses are described under the Writing Program. Transfer and Continuing Education students who have not fulfilled a similar requirement must also complete one semester of expository writing, either a Writing 125 course or English 200.

Other Requirements

Students are expected to use acceptable standards of spoken and written English in their college work. Special assistance in English, mathematics, and other basic and special skills is offered at the College.

In addition, all students must complete the physical education requirement described on p. 192 for which no academic credit is given.

Preparation for Engineering

Students interested in mathematics, physics, chemistry, or biology can apply these interests in a very practical way through engineering, an expanding field for women.

Engineering can be pursued at Wellesley through the cross-registration program with MIT. Wellesley students can prepare for graduate study in engineering by combining courses in engineering at MIT with their Wellesley science major. Students interested in an undergraduate engineering degree might try to qualify for the Double Degree Program. See p. 63.

Students interested in engineering should take mathematics and physics at Wellesley in their first year in preparation for MIT courses. Information concerning possible fields, prerequisites and contact persons at MIT is available through the Office of the Class Deans.

Preparation for Law School

The prelaw student should develop three basic competencies: skill in analysis and reasoning, effective writing and speaking, and breadth of understanding of the diverse factors which make up the community in which the legal system functions. These competencies can be developed in any field in which the student chooses to major, whether in the social sciences, the humanities, or in the natural sciences. Law schools do not specify particular major fields or particular courses of study for admission.
Preparation for Medical School

Medical, dental, and veterinary schools require special undergraduate preparation. Students should consult as early as possible with the Health Professions Advisory Committee to plan their academic preparation to meet their individual needs and interests. Appointments can be made through the Health Professions Secretary in the Science Center.

In general, most health profession schools require two units of English and two units each of the following science courses (with lab): Introductory Biology, Introductory Chemistry, Organic Chemistry, and Physics. Many schools also require mathematics, in some cases two units of calculus, and additional science courses. Veterinary schools frequently require courses such as speech, technical writing, animal nutrition, genetics, biochemistry, etc. Requirements vary and catalogues of individual schools should be consulted.

All science requirements should be completed before taking the Medical College Admission Test (MCAT) or the Dental Admission Test (DAT), which are taken approximately 16 months before entering medical or dental school. In order to receive the full support of the Health Professions Advisory Committee, undergraduate students should plan to complete at least six of the science and math course requirements at Wellesley and/or its exchange colleges.

The Major

Students may choose from among 28 departmental majors, 16 interdisciplinary majors — American Studies, Architecture, Biological Chemistry, Chinese Studies, Classical Civilization, Classical and Near Eastern Archaeology, Cognitive Science, East Asian Studies, French Studies, German Studies, Italian Culture, Jewish Studies, Language Studies, Medieval/Renaissance Studies, Psychobiology, and Women's Studies — or they may design an individual major. Of the 32 units required for graduation, at least eight are to be elected in the major, and at least 18 must be elected outside of any one department.

Students who are interested in an individual major submit a plan of study to two faculty members from different departments. The plan should include four units in one department above the introductory level. The program for the individual major is subject to the approval of the Committee on Curriculum and Instruction. Some students wish to center their studies upon an area, a period, or a subject which crosses conventional departmental lines. Examples of possible area studies include Latin American Studies and Russian Studies; of periods, the Middle Ages, the Renaissance; of subjects, Comparative Literature or International Relations. A model for the way an individual major might be constructed is provided in the listing of majors under Theatre Studies.

In the second semester of the sophomore year each student elects a major field and prepares for the Registrar a statement of the courses to be included in the major. Later revisions may be made with the approval of the chairman of the major department; the director of the interdepartmental major; or in the case of the individual major, with the consent of the student’s advisors and the Committee on Curriculum and Instruction. Any revisions must be presented to the Registrar not later than the second semester of the junior year. Directions for Election of the major vary. See departmental listings for specific requirements for the major.

The Minor

Some departments at Wellesley offer a minor. Normally, a minor consists of at least five courses, with one of them at the Grade III level. Interested students should consult the chair of the department.

Academic Policies & Procedures

The academic policies and procedures of the College have been subject to continuous change and examination throughout the College history, responding to changes in student life styles and innovations in the curriculum. The policies and procedures that govern most routine aspects of academic life are described below.

Academic Standards

Academic standards at Wellesley are high, and students take full responsibility for attending classes, submitting required work on time, and appearing for examinations. If students have difficulties with course work, become ill, or have other problems which interfere with their academic work, they should consult with their class deans for assistance in making special arrangements for their studies. Tutoring and programs in study skills are offered through the Academic Assistance Program.

Students are expected to maintain at least a C average throughout their college careers. At the end of each semester each student’s record is reviewed, and appointments with the Class Dean are arranged if needed. The College tries to provide the appropriate support services to students in difficulty. Students who show consistent effort are rarely asked to leave the College.

Academic Review Board

The Academic Review Board is the principal body for review of academic legislation and for overseeing each student’s academic progress. Chaired by the Dean of Students, the Board is composed of the class deans, the Dean of Continuing Education, and seven elected faculty and student representatives. The student members of the Academic Review Board do not participate in discussions of individual students’ standing, but they do contribute to discussions of academic policy and of student requests for exceptions to regulations. The Board researches and recommends changes in academic policy and is also responsible for proposing an annual academic calendar. Dates of Academic Review Board meetings are posted in the Registrar’s Office. A student who wishes to submit a petition to the Academic Review Board should do so in consultation with her Class Dean. She should deliver her petition, in writing, at least one week before the petition is to be considered by the Board.

Credit for Advanced Placement Examinations

Students entering under the Advanced Placement Program of the College Entrance Examination Board, and who make the scores specified by Wellesley, will receive credit toward the B.A. degree, provided they do not register in college for courses which cover substantially the same material as those for which they have received Advanced Placement credit. For students entering in the fall of 1988 and thereafter, one unit of credit will be given for each AP examination in which a student received a grade of 4 or 5 with the following exceptions: one unit of credit will be given for a score of 3 and two units for a score of 4 or 5 on the Mathematics BC examination.

Those entering with scores of 4 or 5 on the Mathematics BC examination receive two units of credit. Not more than two units may be offered for credit in any one department. Note: the taking of a course deemed equivalent to one for which credit has been granted will nullify the credit previously awarded.

Credit for Other Academic Work

Of the 32 units required for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, a student may earn a maximum of 16 units through a combination of the following: AP examinations (no more than eight); courses taken at another institution during the summer or the academic year. Four units may be earned in summer school. Eight units, in addition to summer school, may be earned through courses taken at another institution. Students, including transfer students and Continuing Education students who enter in January 1988 and thereafter, must complete 16 units at Wellesley.

Credit may be given for a liberal arts course taken at an accredited institution for which prior approval has been obtained from the Registrar and the department chair. Credit will be given only for a course in which a grade of C or better is earned. Students should not take a course on a credit/noncredit or pass/fail basis. Students must request that an official transcript be sent to the Wellesley College Registrar's Office.

First year students must fulfill the writing requirement by completing Writing 125.

Exemption from Required Studies

Students may be exempted from any of the studies required for the degree, except Writing 125, provided they can demonstrate to the department concerned a reasonable competence in the elements of the course. Exemption from any of the studies required does not affect the general requirement for completion of 32 units of credit. It does, however, make it possible for some students to select more advanced courses earlier in their college careers.
Such exemption may be achieved in one of two ways: a score of 4 (Honors) or 5 (High Honors) on the CEEB AP tests, or passing a special exemption examination. Permission for the exemption examination must be obtained from the chairman of the department concerned. In addition to the evidence offered by the examination, some departments may require the student to present a paper or an acceptable laboratory notebook.

Research or Individual Study

Each academic department provides the opportunity for qualified students to undertake a program of individual study directed by a member of the faculty. Under this program, an eligible student may undertake a research project or a program of reading in a particular field. The results of this work normally are presented in a final report or in a series of short essays. The conditions for such work are described under the course numbered 350 in each department. Wellesley offers further opportunities for research and individual study. (See Honors in the Major Field.)

Credit for Summer School

The amount of summer school credit allowed toward the degree is limited to four units, and is not automatic. Students should consult their class deans before enrolling in summer school courses. In addition, students must get approval for summer school courses first from the Registrar for the amount of credit, and then from department chairmen for course content. Approval forms are available in the Registrar's Office. (A summer school course must be equivalent to four semester-hours or six quarter-hours in order to earn one full unit of Wellesley credit.)

Grading System

Students have the option of electing courses on a letter or nonletter grading system. At the beginning of the eighth week of a semester, students notify the Registrar and their instructor whether they plan to take a course for a letter grade or on the credit/noncredit basis. Credit is given to students who have earned a grade of C or better in the work of the course, thereby indicating satisfactory familiarity with the content of the course. If credit is not earned, the title of the course does not appear on the student's permanent record except that it is included in the total number of units attempted.
Examinations

An examination period occurs at the end of each semester. Within this period, students may devise their own examination schedules for the majority of courses. Examinations are scheduled for some art, music, science, and foreign language courses which require audiovisual equipment. Special examinations are offered in September for admission to advanced courses without the stated prerequisites, and for exemption from required studies.

Examinations may be taken for admission to a more advanced course and for exemption from the required studies in Groups A, B, and C. Examinations passed with a grade of C or better also count for advanced placement and/or exemption. Examinations passed for advanced placement may also count for exemption. Examinations taken solely for the purpose of exemption from required studies do not count for credit. However, the transcript does include a record of the number of credits completed as well as the number of credits attempted.

Transcripts and Grade Reports

Official transcripts may be ordered in writing from the Office of the Registrar. The request for transcript should include the name and address of the person to whom the transcript is to be sent, the name by which the person was known as a student at Wellesley, and the years of attendance at the College. There is a charge of $2 for each transcript, and this fee should accompany the request. Transcript may not be issued if a student has an outstanding bill. Grade reports are mailed to students at the end of each semester.

Registration for Courses

All returning students must register in April for the courses they select for the fall semester, and in November for the spring semester. Upon returning to college at the start of each semester, the student will be issued a schedule card of her classes. All changes to this schedule must be recorded in the Registrar's Office by the end of the first week of classes. A student will not receive credit for a course unless she has registered for it, and a student who has registered for a course will remain registered unless she takes formal action to drop it. Each student is responsible for maintaining the accuracy of her registration by informing the Registrar's Office, in writing, of any changes made to it.
Any conflicts in scheduling must be reported to the Registrar's Office immediately. A student is not permitted to take a course if it conflicts with any other course on her schedule.

Adding or Dropping Courses

Add/Drop cards are available from the Registrar's Office during the first week of classes. A student may submit only one Add/Drop card, indicating on it any changes in her schedule. New courses must be added by the end of the first week of classes. A course may be dropped at any time through the last day of classes. Permission is required from the department chairman or the major advisor if a student wishes to drop a course which affects the major. If a course is dropped, before the beginning of the eighth week of classes, it will not appear on a student's record. Students are advised to consult with their class dean when making any changes in their program.

Auditing Courses

A student who wishes to attend a class as a regular visitor must have the permission of the instructor. Auditors may not submit work to the instructor for criticism, and audited courses will not be considered for credit. An audited course does not appear on the transcript.

Acceleration

A few students complete all the requirements for the degree in less than the usual eight semesters. After two semesters at Wellesley, students who wish to accelerate should consult their deans and then write a letter to the Academic Review Board, petitioning to fulfill the requirements in less than the normal period of time. The petition should include the month and year in which the degree requirements will be fulfilled, and all units which will be counted toward the degree.

Normally, a plan to accelerate must include eight units at Wellesley in two consecutive semesters during the junior and senior years. In accumulating units in addition to courses taken at Wellesley, an accelerating student may count:

1) Advanced Placement credit (no more than eight units);
2) A maximum of four units earned in summer school validated by the College; and
3) A maximum of two units of college or university credit earned prior to graduation from secondary school, which is not included in the units of secondary school work required for admission.

An accelerating student must maintain at least a C average at all times.
Recognizing that many students benefit educationally if they interrupt the normal sequence of four continuous years at Wellesley, the College has established a policy for temporary leaves of absence. Leaves may be taken for as short a period as one semester or as long as two years, and for a variety of reasons which may include study at another institution, work, travel, or other activities which meet personal needs. Application for leave of absence may be made to the class dean or Dean of Continuing Education at any time after a student has completed at least one semester at Wellesley. First year students who have completed only one semester may remain on leave for a maximum of three semesters. A student who goes on leave of absence cannot remain in residence on campus more than 48 hours after the effective date of leave.

To obtain permission to spend the year at another institution as nonmatriculated students or guests, students submit a detailed plan to the class dean or advisor and, if a major has been chosen, to that department. The plan should list the course of study for the year and justify its relationship to the four-year program. No more than eight units of credit taken during an academic year at another institution while a student is on leave may be counted toward the Wellesley degree.

Students who plan to withdraw must inform the class dean and sign an official withdrawal form. The official date of the withdrawal is the date agreed upon by the student and the class dean and written on the withdrawal card which is signed by the class dean. The withdrawal date is important in order to compute costs and refunds. (See Refund Policy p. 38.) Students who have officially withdrawn from the College cannot remain in residence on campus more than 48 hours after the effective date of withdrawal.

The College reserves the right to require the withdrawal of any student whose academic work falls below its standards, who violates its rules and regulations or the rights of others, or whose continuing presence constitutes a risk to the health, safety, or general well-being of the College community or herself. In addition, the College may require the withdrawal of any student who fails to meet financial obligations to the College.

A student who has withdrawn from the College and wishes to return should apply to the Office of the Dean of Students for the appropriate forms. Readmission will be considered in the light of the reasons for withdrawal and reapplication, and in the case of resident students, available residence hall space. A nonrefundable fee of $15 must accompany the application form for readmission.
Special Academic Programs

The traditional four-year curriculum offered at Wellesley is expanded by many special academic programs. Some are administered by the College and some are programs run by other institutions in which Wellesley students may participate. Students may participate in some while in residence at the College; others involve living at other colleges or abroad for a semester or a year.

These courses are designed for first year students and sophomores to undertake concentrated study of a significant, well-defined topic. They offer students the opportunity to work in small groups in association with individual faculty members. They are similar to advanced seminars in method and approach in that they stress discussion, independent work, and oral and written presentations.

A program of cross-registration of students at Wellesley and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology was officially inaugurated in 1968-69. The program allows students to elect courses at the other institution, and extends the diversity of educational experiences available in the curricula and in the environments of both.

A Wellesley student interested in exploring the possibilities of electing specific courses at MIT should consult the Exchange Coordinator, her department advisor, or the appropriate exchange program faculty advisor. Registration in MIT courses takes place each semester in the MIT Exchange Office. Students electing to take courses at MIT must register at both institutions during the add-drop period each semester. Students must follow the instruction sheet carefully to ensure that they register for courses that are equivalent in credit to Wellesley courses.

Students who are on leave of absence can, upon return to the Wellesley campus, pick up information about registering for MIT courses in the MIT Exchange Office.

Wellesley offers a Double Degree Program that enables Wellesley students who are accepted to MIT as transfer students to earn a B.A. degree from Wellesley and a S.B. degree from MIT over the course of five years. Students will fulfill the requirements for a major at both institutions. Interested Wellesley students will apply for transfer admission to MIT at the end of their sophomore year. They are encouraged to consider any of the 23 courses of study offered at MIT but advised that access to a given department could at times be limited for transfer students. Wellesley applicants are subject to the same admissions criteria and financial aid policies used by MIT for all other college transfer applicants.
Accepted students would not enroll at MIT until they had completed their junior year at Wellesley. During this “bridge year” students will be assigned major advisors at both institutions so that they can plan a program which will advance their work toward both degrees. During the fourth and fifth years students enroll at MIT. The existing Wellesley/MIT Exchange permits cross-registration throughout the five year period; this enables students to integrate their two courses of study more completely.

Cross-Registration Program with Brandeis University

Wellesley has established an experimental cross-registration program with Brandeis University. Students can register in a limited number of departments at the other institution. Wellesley students will be able to take courses at Brandeis in the following areas: Anthropology, Biology, Chemistry, Classical and Oriental Studies, Economics, Philosophy, Political Science (Politics), Russian, Spanish, Women’s Studies, Psychology and Linguistics, Near Eastern and Judaic Studies, Theatre Arts and Legal Studies. Courses must be approved by the relevant Wellesley department.

The Twelve College Exchange Program

Wellesley belongs to a consortium which includes Amherst, Bowdoin, Connecticut College, Dartmouth, Mount Holyoke, Smith, Trinity, Vassar, Wesleyan, Wheaton, and Williams. Two one-semester programs associated with the Twelve College Exchange are the National Theater Institute in Waterford, Connecticut, and the Williams Mystic Seaport Program in American Maritime Studies. Students in good standing may apply through the Office of the First Year Dean for a semester or full academic year in residence at any of the member institutions. The number of places is limited and admission is competitive. Preference is given to students planning to participate in their junior year.

Students must request that transcripts be sent to the Registrar’s Office to receive credit for work done away from Wellesley.

The Wellesley-Spelman Exchange Program

Wellesley maintains a student exchange program with Spelman College in Atlanta, Georgia, a distinguished black liberal arts college for women.

The program is open to students in their junior or senior year. Students apply through the Office of the Exchange Coordinator.

The Wellesley-Mills Exchange Program

Wellesley maintains an exchange program with Mills College, a small women’s college in Oakland, California, which has a cross-registration program with the University of California at Berkeley. Students apply through the Office of the Exchange Coordinator.
Study Abroad

Students may apply for admission for their junior year to programs and universities overseas, not only in Europe but in almost all parts of the world. By studying at respected universities in other countries, students gain new insights into the cultural wealth of other nations and a new perspective on their studies. Some scholarship money is available to students eligible for financial aid. The Slater Fund provides scholarships for semester and academic year study in Europe, while the Waddell Fund offers money to students going to Africa or the Caribbean during the academic year or the summer. In addition, there is the Stecher Fund for the study of art abroad. This money is used for semester, year and summer programs, as well as for the January Art Department trip to Italy. Finally, there is a fund for study in Asia during the academic year.

The selection of recipients for awards is made early in the second semester of the sophomore year on the basis of academic qualifications and faculty recommendations. The amount of each individual award is determined according to need. Information about these awards may be obtained from the Office of Foreign Study.

The Office of Foreign Study helps students with individual plans for study abroad, for example, applications for direct enrollment as visiting students in British universities. Undergraduates with strong background in their majors may apply to the Foreign Study Committee for places at both Cambridge University and Oxford University.

Wellesley College administers a program in Aix-en-Provence, France, and in Konstanz, West Germany. The College also shares in the governance of a program in Córdoba, Spain.

Students who are interested in spending the junior year abroad should consult their Class Dean and the Foreign Study Advisor during their first year to ensure completion of Wellesley eligibility requirements. No more than eight units of credit may be earned at another institution during a one-year leave of absence.

Students must request that transcripts be sent to the Registrar’s Office in order to receive credit for study done abroad.

Summer Study Abroad

Students planning summer study in foreign countries should consult the Office of Foreign Study. While Wellesley supports summer study, there are only a limited number of programs that accept transfer credit.

Wellesley awards Stecher Summer Scholarships for study of art. First consideration is given to applicants whose summer studies are related to honors projects approved for the senior year.

Waddell Summer Scholarships provide opportunities for students wishing to study in Africa or the Caribbean.

An application for the Waddell and Stecher Scholarships requires the support of the student’s major department and a statement from the Director of Financial Aid showing what funds are needed to supplement the student’s financial resources.
The Mayling Soong Summer Scholarship for study, either within the U.S. or abroad, of an East Asian language is available for sophomores and juniors who qualify for financial aid. Applications are available through the Special Events Office.

The Women’s Studies Program funds two summer internships with women’s organizations, either in the U.S. or overseas for juniors and seniors who have taken at least one Women’s Studies course.

Summer Internships

The College sponsors a Washington Summer Internship Program which provides a unique opportunity for students to learn about the national government through direct participation in political activity. Interested juniors may apply for 16 available summer internships, in governmental and nongovernmental offices. Interns hold full-time jobs for ten weeks and also participate in evening seminars with guest speakers on governmental or political problems. Job assignments are made according to the interest of the student and the potential for learning. Recent assignments have included positions in congressional offices, in the Department of Justice, with the International Trade Administration, in the Office of the President, National Institute of Health, Women’s Equity Action League, Smithsonian Public Affairs Office, and with a major broadcasting system. Salaries are offered in some of these positions; the College provides stipends for students who hold nonsalaried positions.

In addition, the Wellesley Urban Politics Summer Internship Program offers juniors the opportunity to focus on some of the dilemmas of contemporary urban life. Students participating in this program spend ten weeks working for government agencies or private organizations in Los Angeles. Interns attend seminars and other meetings designed to stimulate analytical thinking about politics, government institutions, and public policymaking. Interns receive a stipend from the College.

Community Involvement

Wellesley students can become involved in the Greater Boston community in a variety of ways. Some students choose to work in communities where they can participate in legal aid, tutoring, and health services, or church work. Others work with the City of Boston or the Town of Wellesley in various departments.

Credit may be given for supervised field work as a research component of some courses or independent study; in other instances, experience in the community forms part of the required work of courses dealing with social, political, or economic issues. Generally, students become involved in community work for many reasons besides the possibility of earning academic credit.
Academic Distinctions

To give recognition for superior or advanced work, either upon graduation or during the student's career, the College confers a number of academic distinctions.

Students who have shown marked excellence and an unusual degree of independence in their work may participate in the Honors Program, based on their record in the major field. Current legislation requires a 3.5 average in all work above Grade I in the major field. Students with exceptional qualifications whose averages fall between 3.5 and 3.0 also may be recommended by their departments. Normally students apply to their departments in the spring of their junior year. Under this program, an eligible student may undertake independent research or special study which will be supervised by a member of the faculty. In several departments, options for general examinations, special honors seminars, and opportunities to assist faculty in teaching introductory and intermediate level courses are available to honors candidates. The successful completion of the work and of an oral honors examination leads to the award of Honors in the major field.

The College names to First Year Distinction those students who maintain high academic standing during the first year. Wellesley College Scholars and Durant Scholars are named at Commencement, based on academic records after the first year. Students with an honors average of 3.33 or higher graduate as Wellesley College Scholars cum laude; those with an average of 3.67 or higher are Durant Scholars magna cum laude; students with a 3.90 or higher average are Durant Scholars summa cum laude.

Juniors and seniors are elected to membership in the Eta of Massachusetts chapter of Phi Beta Kappa on the basis of their total academic achievement in college. Seniors who are majoring in the sciences may be elected to associate membership in the Wellesley chapter of Sigma Xi.

On recommendation of the faculty, the trustees award the title of Trustee Scholar to four seniors who intend to pursue graduate studies. The awards are made on a competitive basis; the title is honorary. In cases of financial need, stipends are awarded to the Scholars or, if not required by them, to alternates who need financial assistance. Applications and supporting credentials should be sent to the Secretary to the Committee on Graduate Fellowships by December 1.

Certain prizes have been established at the College for the recognition of excellence in a particular field. The selection of the recipient is made by the appropriate academic department; each award carries a small stipend or gift and usually bears the name of the donor or the person honored.
In the Class of 1987, 97 students achieved the highest academic standing and were named Durant Scholars, 19 graduated summa cum laude, 78 graduated magna cum laude, and 212 students were named Wellesley College Scholars graduating cum laude. The names of members of the Class of 1987 who were awarded other honors and prizes appear below.

Academic Prizes

The Academy of American Poets Prize is administered by the English Department for the Academy of American Poets. It is awarded each year for the best work of poetry by an undergraduate.

CHARLENE LOGAN

The June Kaufman Bakalar Awards are given for the best examples of painting, drawing, print making, sculpture, or photography.

SONJA KRISTINA PASTORIZA
SUZAN RIGGSBEY WHITE

The Lucy Branch Allen Prize was given in 1934 by an anonymous friend in memory of Lucy Branch Allen of the Class of 1897, "to perpetuate the spirit of one who was endlessly generous; who loved everything that walks or flies, or scrambles in the world of out-of-doors; to whom the poetry of life was a perpetual joy." It is awarded in the field of Biological Sciences.

TRACY KIMBERLY FURTH
KRISTANNE ELLEN PIKE
MICHELL MARIL WINTER

The Adelaide Niles Belyea Prize in Botany was founded in 1974 and is awarded to a student who has exhibited general excellence in plant science.

FRANCESCA F.ION

The Billings Performance Award in Music was a gift from the estate of Robert C. Billings in 1903. This award is given in recognition of an outstanding contribution to the community through the performance of music.

RENEE DE ANNE JACKSY
ANNA SANG-HEE KIM

The Billings Prize in Music, was a gift from the estate of Robert C. Billings in 1903. The income provides a prize in recognition of excellence in music studies.

JENNIFER HELEN GROW

The Ralph H. Bollard Prize for Distinction in American History was founded in 1961 by his daughter, Margaret Bollard Rogers ’30 to promote more surely the knowledge of, and interest in United States History.

DIANA BENTLEY SPAULDING

The Natalie V. Bolton Faculty Prize in Economics was established to honor the memory of this distinguished alumna. Its purpose is to encourage good scholarship and analytical ability in the field of economics.

ELIZABETH MARY KINCH
AUDREY THE RESE WINGET

The Natalie V. Bolton Student Prize in Economics is awarded annually to the economics major designated by her peers as an outstanding economist.

LEISA SCHINELLER

The María Luisa Bombal Prize in Spanish in memory of the great Chilean novelist is awarded each year to a student who has distinguished herself in the field of Latin American Literature.

GOUNAZ AMIN LADJEVARDI

The Dr. Bernice D. Brooks Prize is given in memory of Dr. Bernice D. Brooks, mother of Iris Jill Brooks ’87. The award is established to honor distinguished academic achievement in, and personal commitment to, the study of Italian and Spanish language and culture.

LYNNE SCOTT MCMAMARA

The Susan Lee Campbell Memorial Prize for Graduate Study in the Health Professions is given to a senior for graduate study in the health professions. She must exhibit strong motivation, academic achievement, leadership potential, an openness to new ideas and a sensitivity to her fellow human beings.

SUSAN YOONSOOK LEE
The Cervantes Prize in Spanish is awarded for the best paper written on Cervantes. Given by former Professor Alice Bushee.

IRIS JILL BROOKS

The Davenport Performance Prize for Acting was established in 1922 by George H. Davenport and is awarded to an undergraduate with an outstanding performance record in a regular dramatic college production.

ANITA LYNN ELIZABETH NESSEY

The Joanne Mankiewicz Davis Fiction Prize was established in 1975 in her memory and is awarded for an outstanding work in fiction writing.

Courses of Instruction

A semester course which carries one unit of credit requires approximately eleven hours of work each week spent partly in class and partly in preparation. The amount of time scheduled for classes varies with the subject from two periods each week in many courses in the humanities and social sciences to three, four, or five scheduled periods in certain courses in foreign languages, in art and music, and in the sciences. Classes are scheduled from Monday morning through late Friday afternoon.

Prerequisites are given in terms of Wellesley courses, exemption examinations, AP scores, and "admission units." Admission units refer to the secondary school credits acquired in various precollege courses. For a general description see page 63. The colloquia have no prerequisites, although some are open only to first year students. Each course counts as one unit, and may be elected to satisfy in part one of the distribution requirements. Since class sizes are limited, students ordinarily may not enroll in more than one of these courses. They may, however, apply for more than one, indicating their preference. If a course is oversubscribed, the chairman or instructor, in consultation with the class dean, will decide which applicants will be accepted.

In 1987-88 colloquia are offered by the Departments of Black Studies and English.

American Studies
AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Cain (English)

The American Studies major seeks to understand the American experience through a flexible yet integrated program of study.

Eight courses are required for a minimum major, including two Grade III level courses. To ensure sufficient concentration in a single American field, at least four courses above the Grade I level must be elected in one department; and at least one of these must be a Grade III course. Majors must also complete American Studies 315, the required integrative seminar; it is recommended that majors elect this course in their junior or senior year.

Within this structure students are encouraged to explore the diversity of American culture, and the many ways to interpret it. Most courses at the College that are primarily American in content may be applied to the American Studies major.

315 (1) Seminar. American Studies
Topic for 1987-88: Political Thought in the American Constitutional Period. An intensive examination of the political writings of the leading figures in the Revolutionary War and Constitutional periods, with particular attention to Madison, Jefferson, Hamilton, Adams, Wilson and Marshall. Emphasis on the interplay of theoretical conceptions of politics with the need to develop specific political institutions in the new nation. Some attention paid to the influences of this period on later American thought.

Mr. Stettner

The following is a list of courses available that may be included in an American Studies major. If a student has a question about whether a course not listed here can count toward the major, or if she would like permission to focus her concentration on a topic (e.g., law) studied in more than one department, she should consult the Director.

Anthropology

Professor: Shimony (Chair)

Associate Professor: Kohl, Merry, Bamberger, Campisi, Manz

104 (1) (2) Introduction to Anthropology
Considerations of the human place in nature. Brief survey of physical anthropology, archaeology and linguistics. Ethnological study of social and political systems, religion, and art. Examination of the nature of culture with examples primarily from non-Western societies. Open to all students.

Mrs. Shimony, Ms. Manz

106 (1) Introduction to Archaeology
A survey of the development of archaeology. The methods and techniques of archaeology are presented through an analysis of excavations and prehistoric remains. Materials studied range from early hominid sites in Africa to the Bronze Age civilizations of the Old World and the Aztec and Inca empires of the New World. Field trips to neighboring archaeological sites will be planned. Open to all students.

Mr. Kohl

200 (2)* Current Issues in Anthropology
An examination of current controversial issues in anthropology. Topics covered will include Sociobiology, Race and Intelligence, Anthropological Interpretations of Malthus, the Culture of Poverty, and Neo-Colonialism. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors without prerequisite, and to freshmen with previous anthropological experience, and by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Campisi

204 (2) Physical Anthropology
The origin of humans as a sequence of events in the evolution of the primates. This theme is approached broadly from the perspectives of anatomy, paleontology, genetics, primatology, and ecology. Explanation of the interrelationship between biological and socio-behavioral aspects of human evolution, such as the changing social role of sex. Review of the human fossil record and the different biological adaptations of the polytypic species Homo sapiens sapiens. Open to all students. Mr. Kohl

205 (1)* Social Anthropology
A comparative approach to the study of social organization. Emphasis is placed on the influence of ecology and economy, and on the roles of kinship, marriage, politics, and religion in the organization of tribal societies. Prerequisite: 104 or by permission of the instructor.
Ms. Bamberger

210 (1)* Racism and Ethnic Conflict in the United States and the Third World
A comparative view of racial and ethnic conflict in Western and non-Western societies, focusing on underlying social processes and barriers to intercultural communication. Topics for discussion include the history of American immigration, racial conflict in American neighborhoods, school busing, separatist movements, refugee problems, and the competition for subsistence in multi-ethnic nations. Prerequisite: 104, or one unit in Sociology, Black Studies, Political Science, or Economics, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

212 (2) The Anthropology of Law and Justice
Cross-cultural examination of modes of resolving conflict, processes of social control, and mechanisms for constructing laws in the U.S. and non-industrial societies. The course will focus on war, peace, and conflict. It will examine the nature of law, legal and non-legal dispute resolution, and the imposition of law in colonial and post-colonial situations. Major topics include legal change and development, the role of the court in American communities, and court reform efforts such as the American dispute resolution movement. Prerequisite: 104, or one unit in Political Science or Sociology, or by permission of the instructor.
Mr. Campisi

234 (2)* Urban Poverty
An anthropological analysis of urban poverty in the U.S. and the Third World. Cultural and structural interpretations of poverty. The strategies of the poor for coping with poverty. Ameliorating poverty as a problem in applied anthropology. Prerequisite: 104, or one unit in Sociology, Political Science, Economics, or European History; open to juniors and seniors without prerequisite. Not offered in 1987-88.

242 (2)* The Rise of Civilization
A comparative survey of the emergence of the Early Bronze Age civilizations in Mesopotamia, Egypt, the Indus valley, and Shang China, as well as pre-Columbian developments in Mesoamerica and Peru. The course will examine ecological settings, technologies, and social structures of the earliest complex urban societies. Open to all students.
Mr. Kohl

243 (1)* Food Production: Origins and Development in the Old and New World
An examination of the beginnings of agriculture and domestication of animals in the Old and New World and a discussion of the causes and effects of the “neolithic revolution.” A survey of traditional subsistence systems throughout the world, such as swidden agriculture, pastoral nomadism, and Asian wet-rice cultivation, and an examination of their effect on social development and structure. Prerequisite: 104 or 106 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

244 (1)* Societies and Cultures of the Middle East
Comparative study of political, economic, and other social institutions of several major cultures of the Middle East. Traditionalism vs. modernization. International conflict in anthropological perspective. Prerequisite: 104, or one unit in Political Science, Economics, Sociology, or History. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Kohl
246 (1)* Societies and Cultures of Central America and the Caribbean

A survey of the tribal, rural, and urban peoples of Central America and the Caribbean with attention to their histories and current social conditions. Topics include ecology and village economies, male/female roles, race and social class, religious groups and mass movements, and current regional conflicts. Attention also will be given to current political developments and human rights issues in Central America. Prerequisite: 104, or one unit in Sociology, Political Science, Economics, or History. Not offered in 1987-88.

247 (1)* Societies and Cultures of the Soviet Union

A survey of the non-Russian, largely non-European peoples of the Soviet Union (particularly ethnic groups in Transcaucasia, Central Asia, and Siberia). Nationality policies and issues in the Soviet Union will be introduced. Attention also will be given to the study of native groups and practices by Soviet ethnologists, as well as theoretical issues in Soviet anthropology. Prerequisite: 104, or one unit in Sociology, Political Science, Economics, or History.
Mr. Kohl

248 (2)* African Cultures in Modern Perspective

A survey of the ethnological background and an analysis of cultural transformations of African institutions. Topics covered will include racial and ethnic conflict, stratification, leadership, militarization, economic modernization, and cult formation. Emphasis on West and South Africa. Prerequisite: 104, or one unit in Political Science, Economics, Sociology, History, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

269 (1) The Anthropology of Gender Roles, Marriage and the Family

An examination of the variations in gender roles and family life in several non-Western societies. Comparisons of patterns of behavior and belief systems surrounding marriage, birth, sexuality, parenthood, male and female power, and masculine and feminine temperament in non-Western and Western societies. Emphasis on the ways kinship and family life organize society in non-Western cultures. Open to all students.
Ms. Manz

275 (1)* Technology and Society in the Third World

Examination of the social and political implications of the transfer of technology from the industrial North to Third World societies. We will begin with an historical overview of the role of technology in the encounter between Europeans and agricultural and foraging peoples since the 15th century. The course will focus on the impact of the introduction of both simple and complex technologies in the contemporary world. Topics to be discussed include the use of small-scale technologies in development, the Green Revolution in agriculture, women and development, industrial technologies and major accidents such as Bhopal, India, and the emergence of a culture of technology and technological modes of thinking. Prerequisite: one unit in Technology Studies, Anthropology or Sociology, or two units in another social science or in the physical sciences. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mrs. Merry

301 (1) Anthropological Theory

Historical landmarks of anthropological thought. Examination of current evolutionary, functional, and symbolic theories of culture. Discussion of the relationship between personality and culture. Problems of method in anthropology. Prerequisite: 104 and one Grade II unit, or by permission of the instructor.
Mrs. Shimony

308 (1) Seminar for Materials Research in Archaeology and Ethnology

Seminar-laboratory subject offered at MIT by the Center for Materials Research in Archaeology and Ethnology. Role of materials and technologies in the development of ancient societies; major focus on scientific analysis of archaeological artifacts and ecofacts. Open by permission of the instructor.
Ms. Lechtman (MIT)
317 (2)* Economic Anthropology
Analysis of economic structures of non-Western societies in relation to our industrial capitalistic system. Concentration on substantive issues in economic anthropology, such as the debate on the applicability of formal economic theory to simpler societies, the nature and importance of the economic surplus, and problems of scarcity and development. Prerequisite: 104 and one Grade II unit in Anthropology, or Sociology, or Political Science, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

The Staff

318 (2) Social Theories and Models of the Past
An examination of the social theories that have inspired prehistorians, historians, and historical sociologists/anthropologists. Various speculative philosophers of history (e.g. Vico, Marx) and classical sociological and anthropological schools (e.g. evolutionism, Weberian historical sociology), which attempt to define large-scale historical patterns, will be briefly reviewed. Contemporary macro-historical and major prehistoric studies will be analyzed to determine how the compilation and presentation of data have been guided implicitly or explicitly by specific social theories. Readings will include selections from Abrams, Adams, Anderson, Braudel, Childe, Wallerstein, and Wolf.

Mr. Kohl

341 (2) Law and Native American Issues
An examination of selected legal issues facing Native Americans in the 1980s. Special emphasis will be given to land litigation, freedom of speech and religion, tribal relations with states and the Federal Government, and the process of gaining federal status for a tribe. Prerequisite: one unit in anthropology or sociology, or two units in any of the social sciences, or permission of the instructor.

Mr. Campisi

342 (2)* Seminar on Native American Ethnology
Selected topics concerning Native Americans today. Ethnographic review of North American cultures. Problems of tribal and urban Indian communities, ethnic conflicts, the impact of recession, sovereignty and legal questions. Native Americans in literature and art. Prerequisite: 104 and one Grade II unit in Anthropology, or Sociology, or Political Science, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Campisi

346 (1) Colonialism, Development and Nationalism: The Nation State and Traditional Societies
Examination of the impact of modern national political systems on traditional societies as these are incorporated into the nation state. Focus on the nature of development, colonialism, and dependency and the implications for cultural minorities, technologically simple societies, peasant populations, and the urban poor. Topics related to an understanding of the impact of world capitalism on indigenous peoples will also be covered. Prerequisite: two Grade II courses in any of the following: Anthropology, Sociology, Political Science, Economics, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Manz

347 (2)* Human Rights Issues in Central America

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2
Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360
Cross-Listed Courses

Extradepartmental 259 (1)
Peace and Conflict Resolution. For description and prerequisite see Extradepartmental 259.

Language Studies 114 (1)
Introduction to Linguistics. For description and prerequisite see Language Studies 114.

Directions for Election

Majors in anthropology must take eight courses (which may include courses from MIT’s anthropology offerings), of which 104 and 301 are obligatory. In addition, at least one “methods” course is strongly suggested. Preferably this should be calculus or statistics in the mathematics department, or a computer science course, but it may also be the methods course offered by economics, psychology, or sociology (depending on the particular need and interest of the student).

Architecture

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Directors: Friedman, Harvey

A major in architecture offers the opportunity for study of architectural history and practice through an interdisciplinary program. Following Vitruvius’ advice on the education of the architect, the program encourages students to familiarize themselves with a broad range of subjects in the humanities, sciences, and social sciences. Students may also elect courses in studio art, mathematics, and physics which lead to appreciation of the principles of design and the fundamental techniques of architecture.

Although courses at MIT are not required for the major, the MIT-Wellesley exchange provides a unique opportunity for students to elect advanced courses in design and construction. Students are also encouraged to consider travel or study abroad as important aspects of their education in architecture, and to take advantage of the wide resources of the College and the Department of Art in pursuing their projects.

Each student designs her program of study individually in consultation with the directors. Majors are advised to take Art 100 (or 215/216) and Art 105. In addition, four courses above the Grade I level and two Grade II courses must be taken in the Department of Art. At least three of these Art courses (including one at Grade III level) must be taken at Wellesley College.

Students may include selections from the list below in their core programs.

Visiting Professor: Macaulay
Associate Professor: Carroll, Friedman (Chair), Harvey
Assistant Professor: Black, Dorrien, Drew, Pastan, Rhodes, Schouten, Swift, Ribner, Kernan
Instructor: Berman, Higonnet
Visiting Instructor: Strickland
Lecturer: DeLorme, Taylor
Teaching Assistant: White

The Department of Art offers majors in the history of art, architecture, studio art, and art history and studio combined. Some of the courses in art history include studio laboratories, since the department believes that laboratory training has great value in developing observation and understanding of artistic problems. However, no particular artistic aptitude is required for these laboratories and the laboratory work is adjusted to the student’s ability.

Stecher Scholarships are available to qualified students for the study of art abroad during the school year, Winter session, or the summer.

History of Art

100 (1-2) Introductory Course
A foundation for further study in the history of art. The major styles in Western architecture, sculpture, and painting from ancient Egypt to the present are presented in lectures and in conference sections. Some consideration of the sculpture and painting of Asia is included. Simple laboratory work requiring no previous training or artistic skill gives the student a greater understanding of artistic problems. One unit of credit may be given for 100 (1), but 100 (2) cannot be taken without 100 (1). Open only to first year students and sophomores.

The Staff

200 (1) Classical Art
Topic for 1987-88: Roman Art. A survey of the arts of Imperial Rome. Principal focus on the period from Augustus to Constantine. Architecture, sculpture, and painting; the function of art in Roman society; the nature of Roman taste; and the influence of Roman art on later Western art. Topic for 1988-89: Greek Art. Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors who have taken 100 (1) or 215, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Marvin

201 (2)* Egyptian Art
A survey of Egyptian architecture, sculpture, painting and minor arts from 3000 to 31 B.C. The course will trace historically the development of ancient Egyptian Art in its cultural context. Readings from contemporary Egyptian sources in translation. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors; and to first year students who have taken 100 (1).

Ms. Marvin

202 (1) Medieval Art
Topic for 1987-88: Art and Architecture from the Catacombs to Charlemagne. Beginning tentatively in the catacombs, Christian art and architecture developed with extraordinary assurance during the dying days of the Roman Empire, spurred in part by the state and then by the church. This development forms the basis to observe the brilliant flowering of mosaic art in Ravenna, to study the growth of monastic culture in the distant, holy islands of the north like Iona and Lindisfarne (where such objects as the Book of Kells were made), and to witness the synthesis of Mediterranean and northern artistic traditions in the revived court of the Frankish King and Roman Emperor, Charlemagne, and of his successors. Prerequisite: Art 100(1)-215, or permission of the instructor.

Mr. Fergusson

203 (2) Cathedrals and Castles of the High Middle Ages
A study of the major religious and secular buildings of the Romanesque and Gothic periods with emphasis on France and England. Attention will be given to the interpretation and context of buildings and to their relationship to cult, political and urban factors. Occasional conferences. Open to all students.

Mr. Fergusson
211 (2)* The Art of Tribal Societies
Not offered in 1987-88.

215 (1) Introduction to the History of Art I
The major movements in architecture, sculpture, and painting from ancient Egypt through the Renaissance with some consideration of the sculpture and painting of Asia. Students attend lectures and conferences with Art 100. Reading and paper assignments differ from those of 100. Open only to juniors and seniors who have not taken 100.
The Staff

216 (2) Introduction to the History of Art II
Western art from the Renaissance to the present with emphasis on painting, sculpture, and architecture. Students attend lectures and conferences with Art 100. Reading and paper assignments differ from those of 100. Prerequisite: same as for 215.
The Staff

219 (2) Painting and Sculpture of the Nineteenth Century
History of Western European visual culture in the 19th century. Concentration on painting's rise to predominance and on its relationship to social issues and sources: photography, prints, ethnographic art, urban design, and dance. Course requirements emphasize critical reading and address problems of writing about visual material. Open to sophomores who have taken Art 100 (1) and (2), by permission of the instructor to first year students who are taking Art 100, and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.
Ms. Higonnet

220 (1) Painting and Sculpture of the Later Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries in Southern Europe
A study of Italian and Spanish painting and sculpture from early Mannerism through the Baroque. Among the principal artists studied are Michelangelo, Il Rosso Fiorentino, Pontormo, Parmigianino, Tintoretto, El Greco, the Carracci, Caravaggio, Bernini, Pietro da Cortona, Ribera, Velasquez. Open to sophomores who have taken 100 (1) and (2), and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.
Mr. Wallace

221 (2) Seventeenth-Century Art in Northern Europe
Dutch and Flemish painting of the 17th century, with emphasis on Rubens, Hals, Rembrandt, and Vermeer. Prerequisite: same as for 220.
Mrs. Carroll

223 (2) The Decorative Arts
Topic: The Taste of France. A study of the taste which shaped the interiors of French town houses and châteaux from the end of the Middle Ages to the 20th century. Topics include architecture, furniture, porcelain, silver, painting, sculpture, tapestries, and garden design, all of which contributed to the settings created for the display of monumental art. English interiors of the Palladian and Adam periods, including those of leading English cabinetmakers, are also considered. Open to all students.
Mrs. DeLorme

224 (1) Modern Art
A survey of modern art from its roots in the late 19th century to the 1980s. Beginning with Post-Impressionism, significant vanguard movements in Europe and America will be examined: Symbolism; Cubism and its Affinities; Fauvism and Expressionism; Abstract Art in Holland, Germany, and Russia; Dada and Surrealism; Abstract Expressionism and Post-War developments. These movements will be introduced through monographic treatments of their initiators—Picasso, Matisse, Kandinsky, Mondrian, Giacometti, Pollock, and Stella—as well as such significant institutions as the Bauhaus. Although primarily a history of painting and sculpture, the course will also examine allied developments in architecture, functional design and decorative arts. Open to students who have taken Art 100/216, Art 105 or by permission of instructor.
Ms. Berman

226 (2) History of Photography
This course will survey the history of photography in terms of its significant technical developments and its context within broader aesthetic currents of the 19th and 20th
228 (2) Nineteenth- and Twentieth-Century Architecture
A survey of the major movements in architecture in Europe and the United States from Neo-Classicism to the present. Open to all students.
Mr. Rhodes

229 (1) Renaissance and Baroque Architecture
A survey of architecture in Europe from 1400 to 1750 with particular emphasis on Italy. Open to all students.
Mr. Rhodes

231 (1) Painting, Sculpture and Architecture in the English North American Colonies and the United States to the Civil War
A survey of the visual arts of the United States from their colonial origins to the third quarter of the 19th century with special reference to political, social, and literary parallels.
Mr. O'Gorman

232 (2) Painting, Sculpture and Architecture in the United States from the Civil War to World War II
A survey of the visual arts of the United States from the 1860s to the 1940s with special reference to political, social, and literary parallels.
Mr. O'Gorman

233 (1)* Domestic Architecture and Daily Life
A survey of European and American houses, their design and use from the late Middle Ages to the present. Economic and social conditions will be stressed, with particular attention to changes in family structure and the role of women. The use of rooms and furnishings will also be discussed. Not offered 1987-88. Open to all students.
Mrs. Clapp

247 (2) Islamic Art and Culture
A survey of Islamic art and culture beginning with its formation in the 7th century and continuing through the early 14th century. For the early period, the focus will be on the historical and philosophical development of Islamic art from the diverse cultural and artistic traditions in which it originated. In the key period of the eleventh to fourteenth centuries, the regional developments in Egypt, Spain, and Baghdad, and their impact on Western art will be studied. Museum visits to the Sackler, BMFA, and Metropolitan will complement course material. Open to all students.
Ms. Friedman

248 (1) Chinese Art
Topic for 1987-88: The arts of China from the Neolithic to the 18th century. This course will examine the major cultural and aesthetic ideals of Chinese civilization as reflected in the plastic arts: the ritual vessels of the Bronze Age, sculpture under the Buddhist Church, the beginnings of painting in the Han dynasty leading to the classical art of Sung, and the painting of the literati in the later dynasties. Study of and papers on the collections of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and Sackler Museum, Harvard University. Open to all students.
Mrs. Clapp

249 (2) Far Eastern Art
Topic for 1987-88: Japanese Art. The sculptural and pictorial arts of Japan, from the Buddhist period to the 18th-century woodblock print. The course will concentrate on Japan's early ties with India and China, the subsequent development of native Japanese styles, the art of the great screen painters, and the emergence of the print tradition. Study of and visits to the collections of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and the Sackler Museum, Harvard University. Open to all students.
Mrs. Clapp
250 (1)* From Giotto to the Art of the Courts: Italy and France, 1300-1420

Topics to be explored are: the great narrative tradition in Italian painting and sculpture—Giotto, Duccio, and Giovanni Pisano, the Siennese painters Simone Martini and the Lorenzetti in the context of the Italian medieval city state; the reaction of artists to the Black Death of 1348; French manuscript painting under Valois patronage, especially the Limbourg Brothers and Jean, Duc de Berry. Visits to Rare Book Collections are planned. Open to sophomores who have taken 100 (1) and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Armstrong

251 (1) Italian Renaissance Art

Painting and sculpture in Italy in the 15th and early 16th centuries. Topics included in this survey are: the formation of the Early Renaissance style by Masaccio, Donatello, Ghiberti and Luca della Robbia; the spread of the Renaissance outside of Florence by Piero della Francesca, Mantegna and Bellini; Medici patronage of Uccello, Pollaiuolo and Botticelli; the development of the High Renaissance style by Leonardo, Raphael, and Michelangelo. Prerequisite: Open to sophomores who have taken Art 100 (1 or 2) and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.

Ms. Armstrong

254 (1) Urban Form: Medieval Renaissance, and Baroque

The course surveys the history of urban form from antiquity to the 18th century with emphasis on medieval and Renaissance urban phenomena in Italy, France, and Germany. Topics include: introduction to Greek and Roman city planning; medieval town types such as market towns, cathedral towns, and planned "new towns"; medieval Siena and its public art; Italian Renaissance architectural theory and practice in relation to the city; Renaissance and Baroque innovations in Italy and France. Open to sophomores who have taken 100 (1 or 2), or a 200-level course in Medieval or Renaissance art; to juniors and seniors without prerequisite; or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Armstrong

304 (2) Problems in Italian Sculpture

Major Italian Renaissance sculptors of the 15th and 16th centuries will be considered. Topics include: the formation of the Early Renaissance style by Donatello and Ghiberti; the revival of interest in antique sculpture; patterns of patronage and its effect on Luca della Robbia, the Rossellini, and Verrocchio; the High Renaissance sculpture of Sansovino and Michelangelo; and the Mannerist sculpture of Benvenuto Cellini and Giovanni Bologna. Open to sophomores who have taken 220 or 251, to juniors and seniors who have taken or are taking one Grade II unit in history of art, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Armstrong

305 (1) The Graphic Arts

A history of prints and visual communication from the time of Gutenberg to the present. Among the master printmakers studied will be Dürer, Parmigianino, Rembrandt, Ribera, Hogarth, Goya, Gauguin, Munch and Picasso. There will be slide lectures with class discussion, careful study of original prints in the Wellesley College collections, and frequent field trips to public and private collections. Laboratory required. Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors who have had at least one 200-level art course involving the history of painting.

Mr. Wallace, Ms. Ribner

309 (1) Seminar. Problems in Architectural History

Topic for 1987-88: Theory and Criticism of Architecture 1830 to the Present. An investigation of architectural theory and design education in Europe and America. Prerequisite: Art 228 or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Friedman

311 (2)* Northern European Painting and Printmaking

Painting and printmaking in Northern Europe from the late 14th through the 16th centuries. Emphasis on Jan van Eyck, Rogier van der Weyden, Bosch, Dürer, and Pieter Bruegel the Elder. Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors who have taken or are taking one Grade II unit in the history of art, or in Medieval / Renaissance Studies or by permission of the instructor.
Mrs. Carroll

342 (2) Seminar. Problems in Nineteenth-Century Art
Topic for 1987-88: Women Imagining Themselves. A course on 19th-century women's pictures and women's writings about themselves. Various kinds of self-expression, professional and amateur, will be considered such as paintings by artists like Berthe Morisot and Mary Cassatt, as well as albums, photographs, fashion illustration, decorative arts, diaries, letters, memoirs, biographies and novels. Several short comparative assignments will emphasize oral presentation and group discussion. Reading knowledge of French would broaden assignment options. Prerequisite: any Grade II or Grade III course in 19th-century art or history, or by permission of the instructor.
Ms. Higonnet

320 (1) Seminar. Studies in American Art and Architecture
Topic for 1987-88: American Architectural Drawings to 1930: A study of architectural graphics in their context, with special emphasis upon technical and stylistic developments, the history of the profession, and the role of the drawing in the study of building history. Prerequisite: 231 or by permission of the instructor. Limit: Ten students.
Mr. O’Gorman

330 (1)* Seminar. Renaissance Art in Venice and in Northern Italy
Issues in Venetian and Northern Italian painting, sculpture, architecture, and manuscript and book decoration from 1450 to 1530. Consideration of the impact of the Florentine Renaissance, especially the sculpture of Donatello, on Northern Italian art; Andrea Mantegna and the revival of Classical Antiquity; the paintings of Giovanni Bellini, Carpaccio, Giorgione and the early works of Titian. Venetian book decoration will be considered in visits to the Rare Book collections of Wellesley and Harvard. Pre-

331 (1)* Seminar. The Art of Northern Europe
Not offered in 1987-88.
Ms. Carroll

332 (2) Seminar. The Thirteenth-Century King as Patron
The brilliant reigns of Philip Augustus and Louis IX in France, and of Henry III and Edward I of England witnessed a prodigious flowering of both ecclesiastical and castle architecture. The seminar will focus on the role of the monarch as patron and of the court as a forcing ground of technical and artistic innovation. Prerequisite: Art 100(1)/215, or by permission of the instructor.
Mr. Fergusson

333 (2) Seminar. The High Baroque in Rome
Topic for 1987-88: The art and architecture of Gian Lorenzo Bernini, Francesco Borromini and Pietro da Cortona. Prerequisite: 220 or permission of the instructor.
Mr. Wallace

334 (2)* Seminar. Archaeological Method and Theory
Not offered in 1987-88. Offered in 1988-89. Prerequisite: one grade II course in art history or ancient history or permission of instructor.
Ms. Marvin

335 (1) Seminar. Problems in Modern Art
Topic for 1987-88: Edvard Munch. The Norwegian artist Edvard Munch, a key figure in modern art, is regarded as one of the great innovators of the Symbolist movement, an initiator of the fin-de-siecle woodcut revival, and the “father” of Expressionism. This seminar will use Munch (1863-1944) as a prism through which to view these developments in European art, focusing on his relationship with the work of Van Gogh, Gauguin, Rodin, Klinger, Matisse, and the artists of Die Brücke, and with turn-of-the-century philosophical and social currents. Seminar reports will examine his biography, influences and private iconography, as well as broader issues of Symbolist and Expressionist aesthetic theory and cross-currents in French and German art. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 223, 224, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Berman

336 (1) Seminar. Museum Issues
An investigation of the history and structure of the museum, the philosophy of exhibitions and acquisitions, and the role of the museum in modern society with particular emphasis on the college museum. Issues of conservation, exhibition, acquisition, publication, and education will be discussed. Visits to museums and private collections in the area will be arranged. In 1987, students will be involved in the planning and installation of the major fall exhibition of the Wellesley College Museum. Limited enrollment. Open by permission of the instructor to junior and senior art majors.

Ms. Taylor

337 (2) Seminar. Chinese Painting
Not offered in 1987-88. Offered 1988-89. Prerequisite: Art 248 or the equivalent.

Mrs. Clapp

340 (2) Seminar. The Architecture of H. H. Richardson
1988 marks the sesquicentennial of the birth of H. H. Richardson. This course will focus upon his contribution to the history of American architecture with special reference to his influence upon L. H. Sullivan and Frank Lloyd Wright. Prerequisite: Same as for 231 or by permission of the instructor. Limit: Ten students.

Mr. O'Gorman

345 (1) Seminar. Historical Approaches to Art for the Major
Comparative study of the major art-historical approaches and their philosophical bases: connoisseurship, iconography, theories of the evolution of art, theories of style, psycho-analysis and art, psychology of perception, and theories of art criticism. Weekly meetings will stress class discussion. Recommended to all art majors. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken or are taking one Grade II unit in the department.

Mrs. Clapp

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2
Open to qualified students by permission of the instructor and the department chair.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360.

Boston Museum of Fine Arts Seminars
A limited number of qualified students may elect for credit seminars offered by the curators of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. These are held in the museum and use objects from the collections for study. Call the instructor for the day and time of classes. For additional information, consult the department chair.

387 (2) Renaissance Painting in Tuscany
Prerequisite: general art history course including a survey of Italian Renaissance art.

Laurence B. Kanner
Assistant Curator, Paintings Department, 267-9300 ext. 406

388 (1) French Landscape Painting Between Neoclassicism and Impressionism, 1790-1870
A reading knowledge of French is highly recommended. Open to juniors and seniors.

Philip Conisbee
Assistant Curator, Paintings Department, 267-9300 ext. 406

394 (2) The Preservation and Scientific Examination of Works of Art
Preference given to juniors and seniors.

Arthur Beale and Conservation Staff, 267-9300 ext. 465
397 (1) The Japanese Woodblock Print
Some familiarity with Japanese language is recommended. Prerequisite: previous course work in Japanese art, literature or history.
Money Hickman
Fellow for Research, Department of Asiatic Art, 267-9300 ext. 223

Cross-Listed Courses

Anthropology 308 (1)
Seminar for Materials Research in Archaeology and Ethnology. For description and prerequisite see Anthropology 308.

Extradepartmental 225 (2)
The Muses and the King: Art, History and Music in the Age of Louis XIV. For description and prerequisite see Extradepartmental 225.

Directions for Election

History of Art
An Art major concentrating in History of Art must elect:
A. Art 100 (1) and (2)
B. 204, 205, 209 or 213
C. A minimum of five further units in History of Art to make a total of eight units, which must include distribution requirements.
For distribution a student must elect at least one unit in three of the following six areas of specialization: Ancient, Medieval, Renaissance, Baroque (17th and 18th centuries), Modern (19th and 20th centuries), non-Western Art. Among the three areas elected one must be either before 1400 A.D. or outside the tradition of Western European art.
Normally Art 223, 233, 254, 305 and 345 may not be used to meet this distribution requirement. Consult the department chair for exceptions to this practice. If approved by the department chair, courses elected at other institutions may be used to meet the distribution requirement.
Although the department does not encourage overspecialization in any one area, by careful choice of related courses a student may plan a field of concentration emphasizing one period or area, for example, medieval art or oriental art. Students interested in such a plan should consult the department chair as early in the first year or sophomore year as possible.

Students intending to major in History of Art should plan to take 204, 205, 209 or 213 in the sophomore or junior year.
Art 345 is recommended for all majors, especially those who are considering graduate study in History of Art.
A reading knowledge of German, French, or Italian, is strongly recommended. Graduate programs in the History of Art require degree candidates to pass exams in French and German, so these languages are particularly important for students considering graduate school.
Students intending to major in art history whose high school preparation does not include a thorough grounding in history should take History 100 and 101. They should also consult the Catalog carefully for other courses in history as well as in the literature, religion, philosophy, and music of the areas which particularly interest them.
Students interested in graduate study in the field of art conservation should consult with the department chair regarding requirements for entrance into conservation programs. Ordinarily college-level chemistry through organic should be elected, and a strong studio art background is required.
The attention of students is called to the interdepartmental majors in Architecture, Classical and Near Eastern Archaeology, and in Medieval/Renaissance Studies.

Studio Art
Studio courses meet twice a week for double periods.

105 (1) (2) Drawing I
Introductory drawing with emphasis on basic forms in spatial relationships. Stress on the essential control of line in a variety of media. Open to all students.
The Staff

108 (1) (2) Photography I
Photography as a means of visual communication. Problems dealing with light, tonal values, two- and three-dimensional space, documentary and aesthetic approaches to the medium. Emphasis on printing and critical analysis of photographs. Limited enrollment, preference will be given to students majoring or intending to major in Art.
Mr. Swift, Ms. Black

204 (1) General Techniques Course
A survey of significant technical material related to the history of Western painting from the Middle Ages to the modern period. Included are laboratory problems of a purely technical nature requiring no artistic skill. Prerequisite: 100 (1) and (2) or permission of the instructor.
Mr. Drew

205 (2) Materials and Techniques of Sculpture
A survey of significant techniques and materials relating to the history of sculpture from the classical to the modern period. Laboratory problems of a purely technical nature requiring no artistic skill. Prerequisite: 100 (1) and (2) or permission of the instructor.
Mr. Drew

206 (2) Drawing II
Drawing problems dealing with line, value, structure, space, and abstraction. Students use various drawing materials including graphite, charcoal, wash, and monotype. Stress on developing an individual project during the course. Prerequisite: 105.
Ms. Ribner

207 (1) (2) Sculpture I
An exploration of sculptural concepts through the completion of projects dealing with a variety of materials including clay, wood, plaster, stone and metals, with an introduction to basic foundry processes. Some work from the figure will be introduced. Studio fee. Prerequisite: 105 or 213 or permission of the instructor.
Ms. Schouten

208 (2) Photography II
The development of the student’s personal photographic vision. Weekly critiques of students’ on-going personal photography. Several classes and a semester-long study will be concerned with photographic technique and processes. Preference will be given to students majoring or intending to major in Art. Limited enrollment. Prerequisite: 108 or permission of the instructor.
Mr. Swift

209 (1) (2) Basic Two-Dimensional Design
A series of problems in two-dimensional design intended to develop both observational and formal skills. Introduction to line, shape, color, structure, and other tools of the artist. Design involves the formation of an effective visual statement. Open to all students.
Mr. Drew

210 (1) Color
Basic problems in the interaction of color. Special attention will be given to considerations of value, intensity and the natural mutability of hue. Open to all students.
Mr. Rayen

212 (1) Printmaking
Topic for 1987-88: Intaglio. Including etching, aquatint, lift ground, soft ground, phototransfer, engraving and drypoint. Monotypes will also be explored. Emphasis on both image and process. Studio fee. Topic for 1988-89: Lithography. Prerequisite: 105 or 209 or permission of the instructor.
Ms. Kernan

213 (2) Basic Three-Dimensional Design
Introduction to three-dimensional design stressing various formal and spatial concepts related to sculpture, architecture and product design. A wide range of materials will be handled in completing several preliminary problems as well as constructing a final project. Open to all students.
Ms. Schouten

218 (1) (2) Introductory Painting
A study of basic forms in plastic relationships in a variety of media. Prerequisite: 105 or 209 or permission of the instructor.
Mr. Rayen (1), Ms. Harvey (2)

307 (1) (2) Sculpture II
Continuation on a more advanced level of sculptural issues raised in Sculpture I. Projects include working from the figure, metal welding or wood construction, and metal casting in the foundry as well as stone carving. Studio fee. Prerequisite: 207 or permission of the instructor.
Ms. Schouten

316 (2) Life Drawing
Intensive analysis of anatomy, perspective, composition, chiaroscuro, with direct visual observation of the model. Prerequisite: 105.
Mr. Drew

317 (1) Seminar. Problems in the Visual Arts
A course in which students explore solutions to a variety of conceptual and visual problems in several media. Each student will pursue an individual project throughout the semester as well as participate in assigned projects and weekly class discussions. All studio majors are encouraged to take this course; it is especially recommended as preparation for those who are contemplating an independent study project. Prerequisite: either 206, 207, 316, 318, or permission of the instructor.
Ms. Harvey

318 (2) Intermediate Painting
Continuing problems in the formal elements of pictorial space, including both representational and abstract considerations. Prerequisite: 105 and 218.
Mr. Rayen

321 (2) Advanced Painting
Advanced studies in painting. Each student will be required to establish and develop personal imagery. Emphasis will be given to the roles which observation and memory play in the development of individual concepts. Prerequisite: 318.
Ms. Harvey

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study
Open to qualified students by permission of the instructor and the department chair.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67. Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360.

Applied Arts Program
In addition to the regular Studio curriculum, a separately funded program makes it possible to offer one noncredit course each year in such fields as metal casting and enameling, ceramics, woodworking, and weaving.
Topic for 1987-88: Paper Arts: Including hand manufacture, bookbinding, marbling and other related topics. Open to all students.
Ms. Strickland

Directions for Election

Studio Art
An art major concentrating in Studio Art must elect 100 (1) and (2), 105, 209, and 213; and in addition at least two Grade II and two Grade III units in Studio Art. All Studio majors are encouraged to take 317, especially those interested in independent study projects. Since the department believes in the importance of understanding the history of art, the attention of students is drawn to 224 and 219 (see History of Art). For students particularly interested in design, attention is further drawn to Theatre Studies 206.

Directions for Election
The Combined Major in Art History and Studio Art
A student may elect a combined Art History/Studio Art major by taking:
Art 100 (1) and (2) Introductory Survey 1 semester of Art 105 Introductory Drawing 1 semester of Art 209 Two-Dimensional Design 1 semester of Art 213 Three-dimensional Design 1 semester of Ancient, or Medieval, or Non-Western Art History 2 additional semesters of Grade II Art History 2 semesters of Grade III Art History 2 additional semesters of Grade II Studio Art 2 semesters of Grade III Studio Art 14 courses
The Combined Major in Art will require early planning, preferably in the first year.
Astronomy

Professor: Birney
Associate Professor: Bauer (Chair), French
Assistant Professor: Little-Marenin, Benson

103 (1) (2) Introduction to Astronomy
A survey of the solar system, stars, galaxies and cosmology. Two periods of lecture and discussion weekly; laboratory in alternate weeks, and unscheduled evening work at the Observatory for observation of stars and constellations, and use of the telescopes. Open to all students. The Staff

104 (2) Recent Developments in Astronomy
Contemporary topics in optical, radio, and space astronomy. Topics include cosmology, pulsars, quasars, black holes, exploration of the planets, and extraterrestrial communication. Not to be counted toward the minimum major. Prerequisite: 103, or by permission of the instructor. Ms. Bauer

110 (2) Fundamentals of Astronomy
A survey of astronomy with emphasis on the underlying physical principles. The treatment of all topics will be more analytical and more quantitative than that provided in Astronomy 103. Two periods of lecture and discussion weekly. Laboratory in alternate weeks and unscheduled observations at the Observatory. Recommended for students intending to choose one of the sciences as a major. Not open to students who have already taken 103. Ms. Little-Marenin

111 (2) Fundamentals of Astronomy
Identical to Astronomy 110 except that it will not include the laboratory. A term paper will be required. Not open to students who have already taken 103. Ms. Little-Marenin

206 (1) Basic Astronomical Techniques
Mr. Birney

207 (2) Basic Astronomical Techniques II
Measurement of stellar radial velocities. Spectroscopy. Classification of stellar spectra. Applications of the Method of Least Squares and statistical methods. The semester's work includes an independent project at the telescope. Prerequisite: 206 and some familiarity with calculus.
Mr. Birney

210 (1) Astrophysics I
The physical principles behind the analyses of stars, interstellar matter and galaxies. Prerequisite: 103 and Physics 108 or [200] taken previously or concurrently, or by permission of the instructor. Mr. French

304 (1) Stellar Atmospheres and Interiors
The formation of continuous and line spectra in stellar atmospheres. An introduction to stars with unusual spectra. The structure of and energy generation in stellar interiors. Stellar evolution. Prerequisite: 210 and Mathematics 205. Physics 204 is recommended. Ms. Bauer

307 (2) Planetary Astronomy
Study of the properties of planetary atmospheres, surfaces and interiors with emphasis on the physical principles involved. Topics covered include the origin and evolution of the planetary system, comparison of the terrestrial and giant planets, properties of minor bodies and satellites in the solar system and inadvertent modification of the earth's climate. Recent observations from the ground and from spacecraft will be reviewed. Prerequisite: 210 and Physics 108 or [200]; permission of the instructor for interested students majoring in geology or physics. Mr. French
310 (2) Astrophysics II
Kinematics and dynamics of stars and stellar systems, galactic structure, special and general relativity, and cosmological models. Prerequisite: 210 and Physics 108 or [200].
Mr. French

349 (1)* Selected Topics
Topics in previous years have included variable stars, galaxies, stars of special interest. Open by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.
Ms. Bauer

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study
1 or 2
Open to juniors and seniors by permission.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360

Cross-Listed Courses

Mathematics 205 (1) (2)
Intermediate Calculus. For description and prerequisite see Mathematics 205.

Physics 204 (1)
Modern Physics. For description and prerequisite see Physics 204.

Directions for Election
The following courses form the minimum major: 103 or 110, 206, 207, 210, 310; Mathematics 205; Physics 204; one more Grade III course in Astronomy plus an additional Grade III course in Astronomy or Physics. Students intending to major in astronomy are encouraged to begin physics as soon as possible. These students should try to take 110 rather than 103. Extradepartmental 216 and Computer Science 110 or III are strongly recommended. In planning a major program students should note that some of these courses have prerequisites in mathematics and/or physics. Additional courses for the major may be elected in the Departments of Physics, Mathematics, and Astronomy.
A substantial background in physics is required for graduate study in Astronomy.
A student planning to enter graduate school in astronomy should supplement the minimum major with courses in physics, including Physics 306 and other Grade III work. The student is also urged to acquire a reading knowledge of French, Russian, German, or Spanish.
See page II for a description of Whitin Observatory and its equipment.
Biological Chemistry
AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Allen

The Departments of Biological Sciences and Chemistry offer an interdepartmental major in Biological Chemistry which gives opportunity for advanced study of the chemistry of biological systems. In addition to two units of Biochemistry (228 and 328 or [323] and [324]), the area of concentration must include the following units of Chemistry (114, [or 113] and 115, or 120; 211 and 231); Biology (110, 111, 200, 205, and one Grade III unit with a scheduled laboratory taken at Wellesley excluding 350, 360, or 370); Physics (104 [105], 107 or [109]); and Mathematics (116 or the equivalent). Students should be sure to satisfy the prerequisites for the Grade III courses in biology and chemistry. Please discuss your program with the Director as soon as possible and consult the Department of Chemistry Student Handbook for additional pertinent information.

Biological Sciences

Professor: Widmayer, Allen, Coyne, Webb (Chair)
Associate Professor: Harris, Hirsch, Eichenbaum, Smith
Assistant Professor: Standley, Cameron, Blazar, Beltz
Laboratory Instructor: Muise, Dermody, Hall, Hacopian, Hoults, Paul, Soltzberg

Unless otherwise noted, all courses meet for two periods of lecture, and one three-and-one-half hour laboratory session weekly. Seminars normally meet for one double period each week.

108 (2) Horticultural Science
Fundamentals of cultivation and propagation of plants, the effects of chemical and environmental factors on their growth, and methods of control of pests and diseases. Laboratory includes work in the Alexandria Botanic Gardens, Hunnewell Arboretum and in the greenhouses. Not to be counted toward the minimum major in biological sciences. Open to all students except those who have taken III.
Ms. Standley, Mrs. Muise

109 (1) Human Biology
The study of human anatomy and physiology, with a focus on nutrition, the nervous system, reproduction, embryology, circulation and respiration. Two lectures weekly with a double period every other week for demonstration-discussions. Does not meet the laboratory science distribution requirement. Not to be counted toward the minimum major in biological sciences. Open to all students except those who have taken III.
Mr. Hacopian

110 (2) Cell Biology
Eukaryotic and prokaryotic cell structure, chemistry and function. Cell metabolism, genetics, cellular interactions and mechanisms of growth and differentiation. Open to all students.
The Staff
111 (1) Biology of Organisms
Major biological concepts including the evolution, ecology, and the structure and function relationships of multicellular plants and animals. Open to all students.
The Staff

200 (2) Cellular Physiology
A study of the experimental basis for current concepts in cellular physiology using plant, animal, and microbial models. Topics include enzyme kinetics, thermodynamics, membrane structure, immunology, intercellular communication, intracellular messengers, the photochemistry of photosynthesis and vision; normal and uncontrolled cell proliferation, cytoskeletons, irritability of cells. Prerequisite: II0 and III and one unit of college chemistry.
Mrs. Coyne, Mr. Harris, Ms. Blazar

201 (1) Ecology
Studies on the interrelationship between living organisms and their environment will include: the physical environment and aspects of physiological ecology; reproductive ecology and population interactions; community structure; and biogeography. Emphasis will be on evolutionary aspects of ecology. Laboratory studies will include field work and data analysis. Prerequisite: III, 108, 109 or permission of the instructor.
Ms. Standley

203 (1) Comparative Physiology and Anatomy of Vertebrates
A study of the functional anatomy of vertebrates. The course will cover topics in thermoregulatory, osmoregulatory, cardiovascular, respiratory, digestive, endocrine and muscle physiology. There will be some emphasis on comparative environmental physiology. The laboratory will be divided between anatomy and physiology. Prerequisite: III, or by permission of the instructor.
Mrs. Muse

205 (1) Genetics
Principles of inheritance, structure and function of hereditary informational molecules, application of genetic principles to biological problems. Laboratory and lecture material selected from plant, animal, microbial and human studies with emphasis on the contribution of recombinant DNA methodology to recent understanding in molecular genetics. Prerequisite: II0 or by permission of the instructor.
Miss Widmayer, Mr. Webb, Mrs. Dermody, Mrs. Hall

206 (1) Histology I: Microscopic Anatomy of Mammals
The structure and function of mammalian tissues, and their cells, using light microscopic, histochemical and electron microscopic techniques. Topics covered include the connective tissues, epithelia, nervous tissue, blood, lymphoid tissue and immunology, as well as others. Laboratory study includes direct experience with selected techniques, including tissue sectioning and electron microscopy. Prerequisite: II0.
Mr. Smith

209 (2) Microbiology
Introduction to the microbial world with emphasis on representative groups of bacteria and viruses. A detailed consideration of biological principles which characterize microbes and their activities in nature. Microbial pathogenicity and human diseases will also be considered. Prerequisite: II0 and one unit of college chemistry.
Mrs. Allen

210 (2) Marine Biology
The study of marine organisms in the context of their environment. This course will cover the biology of marine animals and plants and survival mechanisms in both coastal and oceanic environments. Prerequisite: III, or by permission of the instructor.

213 (1) Introduction to Psychobiology
An introduction to the study of the relationship between the nervous system and behavior, with particular emphasis on the structure and function of the nervous system. Topics include basic neuroanatomy and neurophysiology, and brain mechanisms involved in such aspects of behavior as emotion, language, motivation, memory, sensation, and cognition. Emphasis on comparison of experiments with animal and human subjects in an effort to shed light on human cognitive functions. Laboratory. Prerequisite: III or 109 and Psychology 101. Mr. Eichenbaum, Mrs. Paul

216 (1) Concepts in Growth and Development
Introduction to principles governing the growth and development of organisms. Lectures and laboratory integrate the use of plant, animal and microbial systems to illustrate the concepts of development from the molecular to the gross morphological level. Prerequisite: II and III or by permission of the instructor. Ms. Hirsch, Ms. Beltz

302 (2) Animal Physiology
The physiology of organ systems in vertebrates, with an emphasis on humans. The course will focus on recent findings in cardiovascular, respiratory, excretory, endocrine, sensory, neural and muscle physiology. Students gain experience in the use of various physiological measuring devices, including polygraphs, pressure transducers, stimulators, oscilloscopes and computers. Prerequisite: 200, 203, or 213 or by permission of the instructor.

304 (2) Histology II: Human Microscopic Anatomy and Pathology
Analysis of structure: function relationships of human systems, based principally on microscopic techniques. Examination of structural changes caused by selected disease states in each system, as well as discussion of recent literature. Laboratory study includes tissue preparation for electron microscopy, as well as hands-on experience at the transmission electron microscope. Prerequisite: 206. Mr. Smith, Mr. Hacopian

305 (2) Seminar. Genetics
Not offered in 1987-88.

306 (2) Embryology and Developmental Biology: Principles of Neural Development
Aspects of nervous system development and how they relate to the development of the organism as a whole. Topics such as axon guidance, programmed cell death, trophic factors, molecular bases of neural development, synaptogenesis, transmitter plasticity, and the development of behavior will be discussed.

Laboratory sessions will focus on a variety of methods used to define developing neural systems. Prerequisite: 213 and 216 or permission of the instructor. Ms. Beltz

307 (2) Topics in Ecology
Topic for 1987-88: Conservation Ecology
This course will examine the effects of pollution, disturbance, and development on temperate and tropical plant communities and ecosystems. Among the topics to be considered are: conservation of rare plants and communities; tropical deforestation; and effects of acid rain, road salt, toxic chemicals, and ozone. Laboratory studies will include investigation of ecological sampling techniques, comparisons of disturbed and undisturbed communities, and effects of pollutants on growth and fitness. Prerequisite: 201 or permission of the instructor. Ms. Standley

312 (2) Seminar. Endocrinology
This course involves studying endocrine tissues at several levels of organization. The introductory section covers signal transduction in response to hormones at the cellular and biochemical level. The second section covers neuroendocrinology (the pituitary gland and its control by the brain) while the final section focuses on selected areas of endocrinology in which several systems (endocrine and nonendocrine) interrelate to control body function, such as reproduction; salt/water metabolism and blood pressure; calcium/phosphate metabolism and bone physiology; growth and development; carbohydrate, protein and lipid metabolism. Prerequisite: 200 or permission of the instructor. 302 is recommended. Mrs. Coyne

313 (1) Microbial Physiology and Biochemistry
The study of the chemical activities (cellular growth and its physiological basis, metabolic patterns, biochemical and molecular genetics, and the relation of structure to function) of microorganisms as model systems in order to explain living processes in molecular terms. Emphasis on experimental approaches and current literature. In the laboratory, groups carry out a number of experimental problems
314 (1) Topics in Microbiology
Topic for 1987-88: Identity and Defense
This course will study the immune system of mammals with an emphasis on humans. Topics will include the generation of the immune response, T and B cell antigen receptors, host response to transplantation, tumor immunology, and malignancies of the immune system, including acute onset juvenile diabetes, Lupus Erythematosus, and AIDS. The laboratory will involve experiments to induce immunity in animals with subsequent evaluation of humoral and cell mediated immune responses. Prerequisite: 200, Chemistry 211 and by permission of the instructor.
Ms. Blazar.

315 (1) Research in Neurobiology
Topic for 1987-88: Neuroethology: From Behavior to Neurons to Molecules
This advanced course is designed to delve into current theories, controversies and research methods in the neurosciences. Meetings consist of one weekly double period seminar including presentation, criticism, and discussion of research journal articles. The course also includes one weekly laboratory that will utilize modern neuroanatomical and physiological methods.

Examination of a variety of neural systems (e.g., walking in the cat, swimming in the leech, orientation and navigation in birds and fish, animal communication, and invertebrate learning), analyzing the cellular components involved taking our studies from whole animal behaviors to the level of synaptic interactions. Prerequisite: 213 or by permission of the instructor.
Ms. Beltz.

316 (1) Molecular Biology of Plants
Not offered in 1987-88.
316 (2) Molecular Biology of Animals
The practical applications of recombinant DNA techniques to the study of the control and organization of animal and/or plant genes at the molecular level. The course will be centered around a laboratory project designed to provide experience with the methodologies used in molecular biology (e.g., molecular cloning, gene mapping, mutagenesis and expression, DNA sequencing, computer analysis of nucleic acid and protein structure and homology). Prerequisite: 205 and by permission of the instructor.
Mr. Webb (2)

317 (1) Advanced Cellular Biochemistry and Physiology
An in-depth analysis of structure to function relationship in eukaryotic cells. The lectures will deal principally with plasma and organelle membranes, excluding the nucleus. Laboratory emphasis will be on membrane related phenomena (e.g., ion transport, hormone signal transduction, protein phosphorylation) and protein biochemistry (e.g., sucrose density gradient centrifugation, electrophoresis, isoelectric focusing, Western blotting, immunological techniques, enzymology). Prerequisite: 200 and Chemistry 211.
Mr. Harris

330 (1) Seminar.
Not offered 1987-88.

331 (2) Seminar.
Not offered 1987-88.

332 (2) Advanced Topics in Psychobiology
Topic for 1987-88: From Molecules to Madness: The Neurochemistry of the Mind and Mental Illness
The first part of the course will survey the chemical and anatomical pathways of major neurotransmitter systems, with a focus on the biological mechanisms of psychoactive drugs. The second part of the course will focus on the neurochemical and neuropsychiatric bases of several well-known mental and neurologic disorders, including senile dementia (Alzheimer's disease), schizophrenia, mania, depression, Parkinson's and Huntington's diseases, and drug addiction. Prerequisite: Biology/Psychobiology 213.
Ms. Shedlack
350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study
1 or 2
Open to juniors and seniors by permission of instructor.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research
1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360.

Cross-Listed Courses

Chemistry 228 (1)
Structure and Function of Macromolecules. For description and prerequisite see Chemistry 228.

Chemistry 328 (2)
Chemical Aspects of Metabolism. For description and prerequisite see Chemistry 328.

Extradepartmental 112 (2)
Evolution: Change Through Time. For description and prerequisite see Extradepartmental 112.

Technology Studies 207 (2)
Biotechnology. For description and prerequisite, see Technology Studies 207.

Directions for Election

A major in Biological Sciences must include 110 and III or their equivalent, and at least three Grade II courses which must be taken at Wellesley. Students are advised to check the prerequisites for Grade III courses carefully so they will have taken the appropriate Grade II courses early enough to enter the Grade III work of their choice. The required Grade II work should be completed within the first 5-6 units in the major. At least two Grade III units must be taken at Wellesley. One of these Grade III units, exclusive of 350, 360 or 370 work, must require laboratory experience. In addition to eight units in biological sciences, two units of college chemistry are also required. Additional chemistry is strongly recommended or required for certain Grade III courses.

Courses [228], [323], [324], [328] 350, 360 and 370 do not count toward a minimum major in biology.

Courses 108, 109 and [112] which do not ordinarily count toward the minimum major in biological sciences do fulfill the College distribution requirements for the degree; 108 as a laboratory science; 109 and [112] as non-laboratory science courses. Independent summer study will not count toward the minimum major. Course 213 does not fulfill the Group B distribution requirement for biology majors.

Within the major, students may design a program in general biology or one which emphasizes subjects dealing with animals, plants, or microorganisms. A broad training in the various aspects of biology is recommended.

Students interested in an interdepartmental major in biological chemistry are referred to the section of the Catalog where the program is described. They should consult with Mrs. Allen, the Director of the Biological Chemistry program.

Students interested in an interdepartmental major in Psychobiology are referred to the section of the Catalog where the program is described. They should consult with Mr. Eichenbaum and Ms. Koff, the Directors of the Psychobiology Program.

Students interested in an individual major in Environmental Sciences should consult a faculty member who teaches 201.

First year students with advanced placement or with III or III exemptions wishing to enter upper level courses are advised to consult the chair or the instructor in the course in which they wish to enroll. Units given to students for advanced placement in biology do not count towards the minimum biology major at Wellesley.

Students planning graduate work are advised to take calculus, statistics, organic chemistry, two units of physics, and to acquire a working knowledge of computers and a reading knowledge of a second language. They should consult the catalogs of the schools of their choice for specific requirements.

Premedical students are referred to the requirements given in the Academic Program section of the College Bulletin.
Black Studies

Professor: Martin (Chair)
Visiting Professor: Nyangoni
Associate Professor: Cudjoe
Assistant Professor: Darling

 Course may be elected to fulfill in part the distribution requirement in Group A.

 Course may be elected to fulfill in part the distribution requirement in Group B or Group B as designated.

105 (1) Introduction to the Black Experience
This course serves as the introductory offering in Black Studies. It explores in an interdisciplinary fashion salient aspects of the Black experience, both ancient and modern, at home and abroad. Open to all students.

Mr. Martin

150 (1) Colloquia
Open by permission to a limited number of first year student and sophomore applicants.

a. (2) The Internationalization of Black Power
The Black Power movement of the 1960s and 1970s represents one of the most militant periods in Afro-American history, similar in many respects to the “New Negro” period after World War I. As was the case with the New Negro movement, the Black Power idea quickly spread to Black populations in many countries. This colloquium will discuss some of the highlights of the Black Power era in the United States, Canada, Britain, and the West Indies.

Mr. Martin

b. (1) Black Autobiography
The purpose of this colloquium is to trace the formal and thematic development of Black autobiography from the early 19th century to the present. We will explore the complex relationship between the community and the individual, the public and the private, the political and the personal aspects of self which shape the Afro-American conception of identity. Authors will include Linda Brent, Frederick Douglass, Ida B. Wells, W.E.B. DuBois, Richard Wright, Maya Angelou, Malcolm X, and others.

Mr. Cudjoe

c. (2) The Harlem Renaissance
Described variously as the Harlem Renaissance, The New Negro Movement, and Harlem’s Golden Age, this period represents a flourishing of the arts in New York in the decade of the 1920s. This colloquium will examine the Harlem Renaissance within the broader historical tradition of Negritude in Afro-American letters as well as within the post-war American artistic and intellectual revolt against 19th-century beliefs and values. As a movement, the Renaissance symbolized the Black artist’s quest for a useable past as well as a sense of self and racial identity. The search for a distinctive tradition led the artist back to a folk culture rooted in slavery, the rural south, the cities in the north, and, even further back, to the ancient African past. The quest for identity led sometimes to personal doubt and racial despair, and other times, to self-pride and racial affirmation. We will examine these journeys of immersion into the fiction, literary debates, and manifestoes of such writers as W.E.B. DuBois, Marcus Garvey, Alain Locke, and Zora Neale Hurston.

Mr. Cudjoe

d. (2) 1919: The Year of the New Negro
The New Negro period was similar in many ways to the Civil Rights and Black Power era of the 1950s through 1970s. We will examine some of the major problems facing Black people in 1919, including lynching, mob violence and the mistreatment of Afro-American and West Indian soldiers. We will then examine the response to these conditions by Black folk in general, by the Black press and by leaders such as Marcus Garvey, W.E.B. DuBois and A. Philip Randolph. Finally, we will look at the way that state, federal and foreign governments viewed New Negro militancy. Our sources will mostly be newspapers and magazines from 1919. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Martin
200 (2) 1 Africans in Antiquity
Highlights of the African experience in the pre-Christian era: African origins of humankind; African Egypt; Nubia, Kush, and Ethiopia; Egyptian/Ethiopian influences on the beginnings of Western civilization; Africans in Greece and Rome; Africans in the Bible; ancient Africans in the Americas. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Martin

201 (1) The Afro-American Literary Tradition
A survey of the Afro-American experience as depicted in literature from the 18th century through the present. Study of various forms of literary expression including the short story, autobiography, literary criticism, poetry, drama, and essays as they have been used as vehicles of expression for Black writers during and since the slave experience. Open to all students.
Mr. Cudjoe

202 (2) 1 Introduction to African Philosophy
Initiation into basic African philosophical concepts and principles. The first part of the course deals with a systematic interpretation of such questions as the Bantu African philosophical concept of Muntu and related beliefs, as well as Bantu ontology, metaphysics, and ethics. The second part centers on the relationship between philosophy and ideologies and its implications in Black African social, political, religious, and economic institutions. The approach will be comparative. Offered in alternation with 211. Open to all students except those who have taken Philosophy 202.
Mr. Menkiti

203 (2) Economy and Society in Africa
Perspectives on the interaction of economic and other variables in African societies, drawn from topics such as: 1) ethical and economic bases of distributive justice; the role of value; objectivity in the social sciences; 2) models of social theory, e.g. Karl Marx and Max Weber; the economics of utopias; economic variables in the theory of state; economic issues and voter behavior; resource allocation in pre-colonial African societies; Islamic societies and economic egalitarianism; 3) efficiency and equality in law; African social elites; governmental bureaucracies and foreign multinational business corporations; civilian and military governments; towards a welfare society; 4) role of economic variables in the theory of history; 5) Africa and world systems analysis: Theory and Methodology. Open to all students.
Mr. Nyangoni

205 (1) 2 The Politics of Race Domination in South Africa
The politics of apartheid and racial domination in South Africa; its historical origins and present-day manifestations; the liberation struggle in South Africa; the apartheid system as a threat to international stability. Open to all students.
Mr. Nyangoni

206 (2) 1 Introduction to Afro-American History, 1500-Present
An introductory survey of the political, social, economic and cultural development of American Blacks from their African origins to the present. Particular attention will be focused on the evolution of Afro-American culture and the growth of Black institutions through self-reliance. Open to all students.
Ms. Darling

211 (2) Introduction to African Literature
The development of African literature in English and in translation. Although special attention will be paid to the novels of Chinua Achebe, writers such as James Ngugi, Camara Laye, Wole Soyinka, Ezekiel Mphahlele, and Christopher Okigbo will also be considered. The influence of oral tradition on these writers' styles as well as the thematic links between them and writers of the Black awakening in America and the West Indies will be discussed as time allows. Offered in alternation with 202. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Menkiti
212 (2) Black Women Writers
The Black woman writer’s efforts to shape images of herself as Black, as woman and as artist. The problem of literary authority for the Black woman writer, criteria for a Black woman’s literary tradition and the relation of Black feminism or “womanism” to the articulation of a distinctively Black and female literary aesthetic. Open to all students.
Ms. Darling

214 (2) The Supreme Court and Racial Equality
An analysis of the Supreme Court and its impact on the lives and experiences of Black Americans. Particular concern will focus on the Court’s role as protector-creator of fundamental rights and privileges for Black Americans. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors without prerequisite and to first year students by permission of the instructor.

215 (1) The Politics of Race in America
An introductory examination of the efforts by Blacks in the United States to realize various degrees of political effectiveness within the context of American politics. Particular attention will be focused on the special difficulties presented by the phenomena of race and racism as Blacks have sought to enjoy full citizenship status in the U.S. Some comparisons with other groups in the American political system. Open to all students.

216 (1) History of the West Indies
Survey of political, economic, and sociological factors shaping West Indian society. Topics covered include Africans in the New World before Columbus, genocide against the indigenous peoples, slavery and slave revolts, immigration and emigration, the West Indies and Africa, the West Indies and Afro-America, the struggle for majority rule, the spread of United States influence, independence and its problems. Open to all students.
Mr. Martin

222 (1) Images of Blacks and Women in American Cinema
A study of the creation of images and their power to influence the reality of race and sex in the American experience. Viewing and analysis of American cinema as an artistic genre and as a vehicle through which cultural and social history is depicted. Open to all students.
Mr. Cudjoe

225 (2) Psychology and People of Color
The historical development and contemporary dimensions of scientific racism in psychology. People of color in the context of oppression and transformative praxis. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.

230 (1) Black and Third World Women
A cross-cultural introduction to the lives and cultures of Women of Color. This course will undertake an interdisciplinary examination of the social, economic, political and cultural roles of Black and Third World Women within American and Third World societies. Open to all students.
Ms. Darling

234 (2) Introduction to West Indian Literature
Survey of contemporary prose and poetry from the English-speaking West Indies. Special attention paid to the development of this literary tradition in a historical-cultural context and in light of the perspectives recent literary theories offer. Authors to include: V.S. Naipul, Derek Walcott, Wilson Harris, Jean Rhys, and others. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.

235 (2) Women Writers of the English-Speaking Caribbean
An examination of the women writers of the English-speaking Caribbean, their contexts and contributions to West Indian literature. Special attention shall be given to their contributions to contemporary feminist discourses. Readings include the writings of Rhys, Guy, Kincaid, Hodge, Nunez-Harrel, Allfrey, Shinebourne, Goodison and critical essays by these and other writers. This course will emphasize research techniques and independent projects. Open to all students.
Mr. Cudjoe
265 (2) The Afro-American Expatriate Writer
The effects of living abroad on the fiction of selected major and minor twentieth-century Black authors. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Cudjoe

266 (2) Black Drama
This course will examine 20th-century Black drama, with a special emphasis on the period of its efflorescence during the Black Arts Movement of the 60s and 70s. We will also explore the Black theatre as a medium of aesthetic expression and communal ritual as well as an instrument of political consciousness and social change. Playwrights will include Douglass Turner Ward, Alice Childress, Ossie Davis, Lorraine Hansberry, James Baldwin, Ed Bullins, Adrienne Kennedy, LeRoi Jones (Amiri Baraka), Ntozake Shange, and others. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Cudjoe

310 (2) Seminar. Black Literature
Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Cudjoe

319 (2) Pan-Africanism
The historical efforts of African peoples all over the world to unite for their mutual advancement. Such topics as 19th-century emigrationist movements to Liberia and elsewhere, the role of Afro-American churches in African nationalism, the Pan-African Congress of W.E.B. DuBois, the Garvey movement, the Communist International and Pan-Africanism, Pan-Africanism in the 1960s, Pan-Africanism on the African continent. Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Martin

340 (1) Seminar. Afro-American History
Topic for 1987-88: Washington, DuBois and Garvey. Open to qualified juniors and seniors and by permission of the instructor to sophomores.
Mr. Martin

344 (1) Seminar. Interdisciplinary Perspectives in Black Family Studies
An examination of the evolution of the Black American family and an analysis of its intrafamilial structure and interface with other social institutions, the State and Public policies. Critical evaluation of the scholarship on Black family studies. Consideration of the historical development of Black nuclear and/or extended families, and male and/or female headed households. Analysis of kinship modes, sexuality, age and gender relations, child care, family planning, the rural-urban setting, migration, land loss and unemployment; and the legal and economic infrastructure of the State and public welfare policies. Open to qualified juniors and seniors. Ms. Darling

345 (2) Seminar. Women and International Development
Interdisciplinary approaches to examining the impact of change on contemporary events which have shaped international development with an analysis of applicable development theories as they identify salient issues in women's lives. The cross-cultural focus examines Women of Color in the West and elsewhere in the Third World through some of these issues: agriculture, health, nutrition, urban living, education and communications, family planning, women's organizations, technology, the law, energy, migration and employment, public administration and religion. Open to qualified juniors and seniors. 230 is strongly recommended.
Ms. Darling

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2
Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360.
Cross-Listed Courses

The following courses are offered as related work by other departments where they are described. Courses from this list may be counted toward the major, provided that a minimum of six courses is elected from the Black Studies departmental offerings.

History 264 (1)

History 265 (2)

Music 106 (2)

Directions for Election

The requirements for the major are consistent with the concept of Black Studies as a multidisciplinary field of study. The requirements are designed to provide a wide range of knowledge and analytical ability as well as a firm foundation in an area of specialization, such as sociology, history, political science, or literature.

It is suggested that two units be elected in each of the three general areas of Black history, humanities, and the social sciences as multidisciplinary training. As the basic introduction to the discipline of Black Studies, 105 is strongly recommended of all majors. Units taken at another institution to fulfill any departmental requirements must be approved by the department.

A minimum of six courses must be elected from Black Studies department courses. The others may be elected, after consultation with your advisor, from related courses taught in other departments or from courses taken on exchange.

Chemistry

Professor: Rock, Loeblin, Hicks, Kolodny
Associate Professor: Coleman (Chair), Hearn, Merritt, Haines
Assistant Professor: McGowan, Schneider, Stanley, Wolfson, Pagnotta
Laboratory Instructor: Darlington, Mann, Smith, Lieberman

Unless otherwise noted, all courses meet for two periods of lecture and one three-and-one-half hour laboratory appointment weekly and one 50-minute discussion period every other week, at the pleasure of the instructor. The selected topics courses will generally be taught without laboratory, but may include laboratory for some topics.

The Chemistry Department reviews elections of introductory chemistry students and places them in 113, 114, 115 or 120 according to their previous preparation and entrance examination scores.

Ordinarily, students who have taken one year of high school chemistry should elect 114. Chemistry 113, intended for students who have not studied chemistry within the past four years or whose preparation is insufficient for 114, leads to 115. Chemistry 120 replaces 114 and 115 for some students with more than one year of high school chemistry.

Contact lenses may not be worn in any chemistry laboratories.

101 (2) Contemporary Problems in Chemistry

Consideration of selected aspects of chemistry and related chemical concepts. Topic for 1987-88: Are We What We Eat? – Using Food and Nutritional Chemistry to Illustrate Chemical Principles. Open to all students except those who have taken any Grade I course in the department.

Mr. Pagnotta

102 (2) Contemporary Problems in Chemistry with Laboratory

Consideration of selected aspects of chemistry and related chemical concepts. Topic for 1987-88: Are We What We Eat? – Using Food and Nutritional Chemistry to Illustrate Chemical Principles. Open to all students except those who have taken any Grade I course in the department.

Mr. Pagnotta

113 (1) Fundamentals of Chemistry
The periodic table, chemical formulas and equations, atomic and molecular structure, chemical bonding, transition-metal complexes, colligative properties, states of matter. Three periods of lecture and one three-and-one-half hour laboratory appointment weekly. Open only to students who have not taken a chemistry course within the past four years, and to students who think that their preparation in high school chemistry is equivalent to less than one full year. Successful completion of 113 satisfies the prerequisite for 115.

Mr. Stanley

114 (1) (2) Introductory Chemistry I
Atomic and molecular structure, chemical bonding, transition-metal complexes, states of matter, colligative properties and review of stoichiometry. Open only to students who have taken at least one year of high school chemistry. Not open to students who have taken 113.

Ms. Stanley

115 (1) (2) Introductory Chemistry II
Properties of solutions, chemical kinetics and equilibrium, acids and bases, thermochromy, electrochemistry, chemistry of the elements. Prerequisite: 113 or 114.

The Staff

120 (1) Intensive Introductory Chemistry
A one-semester alternative to Introductory Chemistry I and II for students who have taken more than one year of high school chemistry. Atomic and molecular structure, chemical bonding, properties of liquids and solutions, chemical equilibria, thermochromy, electrochemistry, chemical kinetics. Three periods of lecture and one three-and-one-half-hour laboratory appointment weekly. Open only to students who have taken more than one year of high school chemistry. Not open to students who have taken any Grade I chemistry course.

Mr. Loeblin

211 (1) (2) Organic Chemistry I
A study of the synthesis and reactions of typical organic compounds with emphasis on the chemistry of aliphatic molecules. Prerequisite: 115 or 120 or by permission of the department.

The Staff

227 (2) Introduction to Biochemistry
A comprehensive overview of the structure of macromolecules, bioenergetics and metabolism. No laboratory. Three meetings per week. Beginning with the Class of 1989 this course cannot be counted toward a minimum major in Chemistry. Prerequisite: 211.

Ms. Hicks

228 (1) Structure and Function of Macromolecules
A study of the chemistry of proteins, nucleic acids and other macromolecules with emphasis on structure-function relationships and methodology. Prerequisite: 211, Biological Sciences 110 or high school biology.

Ms. Wolfson

231 (1) (2) Physical Chemistry I
Properties of gases, chemical thermodynamics, properties of solutions and chemical kinetics. Prerequisite: 115, 120, or by permission of the department, Mathematics 116, and Physics 104 or 105 or 109.

Ms. Koldray

241 (1) Inorganic Chemistry
Structure of atoms, periodic properties, bonding models for inorganic systems, chemistry of ionic compounds, non-metals, transition metal complexes, organometallic and bio-inorganic chemistry. Prerequisite: 313.

Mr. Coleman

261 (2) Analytical Chemistry
Classical and instrumental methods of separation and analysis, quantitative manipulations, statistical treatment of data. Prerequisite: 115 or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Merritt
306 (1) Seminar
Each year an important topic will be studied from a variety of chemical perspectives. Topic for 1987-88: The Chemistry of Lipids. One two-period meeting per week. No laboratory. Open to all students regardless of major who have completed two units of chemistry beyond the Grade I level and who have permission of the instructor.
Ms. Merritt

313 (1) (2) Organic Chemistry II
A continuation of 211, with emphasis on the chemistry of aromatic molecules. Prerequisite: 211.
The Staff

317 (1) Organic Chemistry III
A critical examination of advanced spectroscopic methods for organic structure determination, synthetic methods and selected topics from physical organic chemistry. Laboratory work will involve hands-on NMR experience, isolation and structural identification of natural products and organic synthesis. There will be no regularly scheduled discussion session. Prerequisite: 313.
Ms. Schneider

319 (2)* Selected Topics in Organic Chemistry
Ms. Stanley

328 (2) Chemical Aspects of Metabolism
An examination of reaction mechanisms, mechanism of enzyme and coenzyme action, interrelationships and regulation of metabolic pathways. Prerequisite: 228.
Ms. Hicks

329 (1)* Selected Topics in Biochemistry
Not offered in 1987-88.

333 (2) Physical Chemistry II
Quantum chemistry and spectroscopy. Structure of solids and liquids. Prerequisites: 231, Physics 108 or 200 and Mathematics 205 or Extradepartmental 216.
Mr. Loeblin

339 (2)* Selected Topics in Physical Chemistry
Not offered in 1987-88.

349 (2)* Selected Topics in Inorganic Chemistry
Mr. Coleman

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study
1 or 2
Open by permission to students who have taken at least two units in chemistry above the Grade I level.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research
1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67, Departmental Honors.

363 (1) Instrumental Analysis
Instrumental analysis with emphasis on data acquisition and manipulation. Electrochemical, spectroscopic and separation techniques for quantitative analysis. Prerequisite: 261 or by permission of the department.
Ms. Merritt

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360.

Directions for Election
Chemistry 113 or 114 serves as prerequisite for 115. Final assignment to one of these courses or to 120 will be made by the Chemistry Department.

Any student who plans to take chemistry beyond 115 or 120 should consult a member of the chemistry department faculty. The Department Handbook, available in the department office, contains specific suggestions about programs and deals with a variety of topics including preparation in mathematics and physics, graduate programs and careers of former majors.

A major in chemistry must include introductory chemistry (II3-II5, or II4-II5, or I20), II1, 21L, 23I, 31S, and 33S, plus two of the courses 228 (or 227 for the Class of 1988), 241 and 261. At least one additional unit at the Grade II or Grade III level in the department is also required. In addition, Mathematics 205 or Extradepartmental 216, and a Grade II unit of physics with laboratory are required. Note that Physics I06 does not qualify as a prerequisite for Grade II courses in physics. Starting with the class of 1990, Physics 200 will not meet the Grade II physics requirement. Early completion of the physics requirement is encouraged.

Students interested in biochemistry or biological chemistry are referred to the section of the Catalog where the interdepartmental major in Biological Chemistry is described. They should consult with the director of the biological chemistry program.

All students majoring in chemistry are urged to develop proficiency in the use of one or more computer languages.

Students planning graduate work in chemistry or closely allied fields should strongly consider additional mathematics and physics courses.

The American Chemical Society has established a set of requirements which it considers essential for the training of chemists. Students wishing to meet the standard of an accredited chemist as defined by this society should consult the Chair of the Department of Chemistry.

Placement and Exemption Examinations

For exemption with credit, students will be expected to submit laboratory notebooks or reports.

INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR:

East Asian Studies

Associate Professor: Lam

Instructor: Sing

Lecturer: Yao (Chair), Crook

Teaching Assistant: Sing

101 (1-2) Elementary Spoken Chinese 2

Introduction to vernacular Mandarin Chinese. Pronunciation, sentence structure, and conversation. Two periods. 101 and 102 combined form the first year Chinese course. Open to all students with no background or no previous formal Chinese language training. Co-requisite: 102.

Mrs. Yao, Mrs. Lam, Mr. Crook

102 (1-2) Basic Chinese Reading and Writing

Analysis of grammar and development of reading skills of simple texts and in character writing in both regular and simplified forms with emphasis on vocabulary currently used in People’s Republic of China. Two periods with an additional period for small group activities to be arranged. 101 and 102 combined form the first-year Chinese course. Open to all students with no background or no previous formal Chinese language training. Co-requisite: 101.

Mrs. Lam, Mrs. Yao, Mr. Crook

106 (1) Introduction to Chinese Culture

An inquiry into the patterns and themes of China’s culture by examining its history, philosophy, religion, literature, art and science. Particular themes will be explored through a series of historical topics. The patterns we will look for should help us answer questions such as: why did the Chinese Empire continue to exist for four millenia? Why did Chinese philosophy develop in the direction of Maoist ideology? Classes in English. Open to all students without prerequisite.
141 (2) China on Film
West looks East through the camera's eye. Charlie Chan in Shanghai, Shirley MacLaine at the Great Wall, Pearl Buck on the Good Earth: a cinematic exploration of Western conception of twentieth-century China. A broad selection of films, primarily documentary, will be analyzed in their historical context, supplemented by readings on both background material and film criticism. Focus on major shift of dominant Western opinion toward China. Films by Felix Greene, Antonioni, Rene Burri, Shirley MacLaine, Edgar Snow to be included among others. Course conducted in English. Discussion following each film showing. Short paper assignments throughout the course. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.

151 (1) Advanced Elementary Chinese I
Intensive oral training and practice in reading and writing with particular stress on sentence structure and vocabulary building. Open to students who can read and write some Chinese with a speaking ability of either Mandarin or any kind of Chinese dialect. More advanced students can enroll for second semester for 152 only by permission of the department chair.
Mr. Crook

152 (2) Advanced Elementary Chinese II
Logical continuation of 151. Students are urged to take both 151 and 152. Two units of credit are given only after completion of 152, the preparation for advanced work in 201-202. Prerequisite: more advanced students can be enrolled for only 152 by permission of the department chair.
Mrs. Lam

201 (1-2) Intermediate Chinese Reading
Reading with emphasis on vocabulary building; review and further development of sentence structure, composition, and oral expression. Newspaper reading. Two periods with an additional period for small group activities to be arranged. 201 and 202 combined form the second year Chinese course. Prerequisite: 101 and 102 taken concurrently, or 152, and by permission of the instructor. Corequisite: 202.
Mr. Crook, Ms. Sung, Mrs. Lam

202 (1-2) Intermediate Conversational Chinese
Discussion of current events and cultural topics combined with use of videotapes. Two periods. 201 and 202 combined form the second-year Chinese course. Prerequisite: same as for 201. Corequisite: 201.
Mr. Crook, Mrs. Lam, Ms. Sung

241 (2)*  Chinese Poetry and Drama in Translation
A survey of Chinese literature of classical antiquity, with emphasis on works of lyrical nature. Readings include selections from Book of Songs, elegiac poetry of Chi'u Yuan and works by the great poets of the Tang and Sung periods. The course concludes with the introduction to poetic drama of the Yuan Dynasty. Comparative analysis with other literature will be encouraged. Classes in English. Open to all students.

250 (1) Readings in Modern Style Writings
Reading and discussion in Chinese of selections from contemporary Chinese writings, including plays, poetry, and essays on various topics such as economics, history, philosophy, political theory, and sociology. Three periods. Prerequisite: 201 and 202 taken concurrently, or by permission of the instructor.
Mrs. Yao
275 (1) Readings in Expository Writings of People’s Republic of China
Readings and discussions in Chinese of selections from People’s Republic of China, including the works of Mao Zedong and important issues of various current events and focus on practice in writing and translating skills. Three periods. Prerequisite: 201 and 202 taken concurrently or by permission of the instructor. Mrs. Lam

300 (2) Readings in Contemporary Chinese Literature
Reading and discussion in Chinese of selections from short stories and novels. Readings from 1919 to the present. Three periods. Prerequisite: 252, 275 or by permission of the instructor. Ms. Sung

310 (1) Introduction to Literary Chinese
Wen-yen grammar, reading, and discussion in Chinese with concentration on analyzing the grammar of classical Chinese and further strengthening students’ writing skills in vernacular Chinese style. Two periods. Prerequisite: 252, 275 or by permission of the instructor.

311 (2) Readings in Classical Chinese
Reading and discussion in Chinese of selections of poetry, prose, traditional short stories, and novels. Two periods. Prerequisite: 310 or by permission of the instructor.

312 (2) Readings in Contemporary Developmental Issues of China
Texts from Mainland China and Taiwan chosen to improve reading, discussion, and translation skills. Emphasis on issues of contemporary cultural development as seen in works of scholarship, government publications, and case studies documenting various developmental models. Where applicable, students may translate Western studies of Chinese development from English to Chinese and apply their knowledge in comparing socioeconomic and political models. Offered in alternate years. Open to students who have taken the course by permission of the instructor. Mr. Crook

316 (1) Seminar. Chinese Literature in the Twentieth Century
Study of works and authors in Chinese theatre, poetry, novels, etc. Topic will be changed every year so students can elect repeatedly. Topic for 1987-88: Theatre. Readings and discussions all in Chinese. Prerequisite: 300 or 310 or by permission of the instructor. Ms. Sung

330 (2) Literary Images of Women of Intellect, East and West, Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries
A comparative study of the attitude which society, community, family, religion, cultural tradition had toward women through the analysis of 18th and 19th century novels of China, Russia, France, England and America, against the background of social systems, philosophical outlook, and psychological comprehension. Topics discussed through both male and female perspectives: repression of expression of love; women of intellect—“lusus naturae,” religion and guilt; community and self; independence and loneliness; rage and rebellion, etc. The course will include lecture materials, with an emphasis on classroom discussion. Open by permission of the instructor to students who have taken one Grade II course in any literature. Not open to students who have taken Extradepartmental 330. Taught in English.

349 (2) Seminar. Topics in Literary Chinese
Reading and discussion in Chinese of premodern literary writings. This course is conducted in Chinese. Topic will be changed every year so students can elect repeatedly. Prerequisite: 310 or 311 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2
Open by permission to qualified students.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360.
Directions for Election

Students who are interested in the area of Chinese have three options to consider for a major: 1. Chinese major, mainly working on language and literature; 2. Chinese Studies, Chinese Studies in general with Chinese language proficiency; 3. East Asian Studies. For categories 2 and 3, please check the respective directions for election listed in the interdepartmental majors. The individual should consult the chair of the department and the advisor early in the college career.

For students majoring in Chinese, Chinese 101, 151 and 106 which is required for students who have had no previous courses in Chinese history or culture, count toward the degree but not toward the major. Students must reach seminar level proficiency in the language before graduation. Students who enter with no previous Chinese language background are strongly recommended to take a summer and/or one semester abroad. Please consult with the chair of the department or the advisor as early as possible.

Students who wish to take Chinese 252 or other courses in Chinese literature are advised to have a knowledge of Chinese culture or literature in translation. Courses, strongly recommended for this, offered in this department and taught in English are Chinese 106, 141, 241, 242 and 330.

Course 350 is an opportunity for properly qualified students to work independently in fields not covered in other courses in the department.

For Chinese Studies majors, although only two years of Chinese language are required for language proficiency, an extensive language training and ability to read literature in the original are strongly recommended.

For East Asian Studies majors, although language is not required, some exposure to an Asian language is recommended. Chinese is one of the choices offered for East Asian Language learning.

Classical Civilization
AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Starr

Students who wish a Classical Civilization Major can plan with the Departments of Greek and Latin an appropriate sequence of courses, which should include work in art, history, philosophy, and literature. Such a program should always contain at least four units in the original language.

100 (1) English Grammar and Vocabulary: The Classical Heritage
The elements of traditional syntax. The origin and development of abstract and technical words. The formation of Greek and Latin words and their adaptation in English. Not open to students presenting admission credits in Greek or Latin or who have done college courses in either. Does not count toward distribution or foreign language requirements.
Ms. Ditmars

101 (2) Classical Literature: An Introduction
Reading in translation from the greatest and most influential works of ancient Greece and Rome, including such authors as Homer, Aeschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, Plato, Aristotle, Cicero, Horace, Vergil, and Ovid. The works in their own social, historical, and literary contexts; their influence on later ages. Open to all students.
Mr. Starr

104 (1) Classical Mythology
The more important classical myths read in English translations of Greek and Latin authors; their religious origins; their expression in ancient literature and art; their later influence. Open to all students.
Mrs. Lefkowitz

215 (2)*  Gender and Society in Antiquity
Expectations about marriage and sexual roles. Legal aspects of hetero- and homosexual activity. Open to all students.
Ms. Garrison

216 (2)*  Literature and Society in the Age of the Emperor Augustus
The transformation of the Roman Republic into the Roman Empire; the aristocracy; its role in the new Empire and its views of Augustus; the functions of literature in early Imperial Rome, including imperial patronage and its effects, literary propaganda and literary resistance, the public and the private spheres of both writers and their audiences. Open to all students.
The Staff

234 (1)*  Roman Law
Ancient Roman civil law; its early development, codification, and continuing alteration; its historical and social context (property, family, slavery); its influence on other legal systems. Open to all students.
Mr. Starr

244 (1)*  Sport and Ancient Society
The significance of organized athletics and recreational play for the understanding of Greek and Roman cultures; the events and mythology of athletic contests; ethical and political importance of the games. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.

246 (2)*  Ancient Medicine
A survey of medical practice in the Near East, Greece, and Rome focusing on the development of rational medicine under Hippocrates and the medical achievements of the Hellenistic era. Also, theories of physical and mental diseases and their consequences for later Western medical practice, doctor-patient relations, malpractice suits, the cult of the healing god Asklepios, and miracle cures. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.
The Staff

252 (2)*  Roman Women
The role of women in Roman society, legend, and religion; the influence of ancient values on present-day attitudes. Readings from historical, medical, legal and religious documents; consideration of archaeological materials, sculpture, and coins. Comparison of relevant materials from other periods and cultures. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.

Miss Geffcken

310 (2)* Greek Drama in Translation
Intensive study, in English translation, of tragedies by Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides and comedies by Aristophanes and Menander. The survival in literary form of primitive ritual; the development of new mythic patterns on ancient models; the role of contemporary psychoanalytic theory in evaluating the social function and structure of drama; the reflection of contemporary social and political issues in drama. Prerequisite: Classical Civilization 101 or 104 or any literature course in English or a foreign language or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Garrison

326 (2) The Ancient City
The ancient city as the characteristic social unit of the Graeco-Roman world and precursor of the modern city. The organization of cities; city planning, architecture, and social structure; the status of gender in the Athenian and Roman empires; the contribution of cities to the dissemination of Greek and Roman civilization. Focus on Athens, Rome, and Jerusalem. Prerequisite: History 229, 230, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Classical and Near Eastern Archaeology
AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Marvin

The purpose of a major in Classical and Near Eastern Archaeology is to acquaint the student with the complex societies of the Old World in antiquity.

The program for each student will be planned individually from courses in the Departments of Anthropology, Art, Greek, History, Latin, Philosophy, and Religion as well as from the architecture and anthropology programs at MIT. The introductory course in archaeology (Anthropology 106) or its equivalent is required for all archaeology majors.

Students who concentrate in classical archaeology must normally have at least an elementary knowledge of both Greek and Latin, and take both Greek and Roman history as well as Greek and Roman art. Students who concentrate on the ancient Near East must have an elementary knowledge of one ancient Near Eastern language (attention is called to the Brandeis exchange program) and take Anthropology 242 which details the emergence of early urban societies in the Near East, Religion 203 which traces their later history, and Egyptian Art (Art 201).

Students should plan for at least one summer of excavation and/or travel. Scholarship aid for this travel is available from the Stecher Fund for qualified students.

Cognitive Science
AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Lucas

A major in Cognitive Science is designed to provide students with the breadth necessary for an interdisciplinary approach to the study of the mind, as well as with substantive training in one of the component disciplines (Psychology, Artificial Intelligence, Linguistics, or Philosophy).

Students majoring in cognitive science must take three of the following four courses, although it is strongly recommended that all four courses be taken. In choosing courses students should be aware of prerequisites for core and concentration courses.

Computer Science 111 (1) (2)
Introduction to Computer Science

Psychology 101 (1) (2)
Introduction to Psychology

Philosophy 215 (2)
Philosophy of Mind

Language Studies 114 (1)
Introduction to Linguistics

In addition, students must take the following three courses:

Computer Science 230 (1) (2)
Data Structures

Psychology 217 (1)
Memory and Cognition

Psychology 330 (1)
Seminar. Cognitive Science

The student must also design a concentration for the major that involves a minimum of four courses, one of which must be at the 300 level. In designing concentrations, students may choose from the following list of electives:

Computer Science 231 (1)
Fundamental Algorithms

Computer Science 232 (2)
Artificial Intelligence

Computer Science 249 (1)
Languages and Automata
Computer Science 305

Computer Science 310 (2)

Computer Science

Associate Professor: Rosenthal
Assistant Professor: Herskovits, Khuri, Long (Chair), Shull, Wright
Lecturer: Baldwin, Lonske, Schofield

110 (1) (2) Computers and Programming
A broad introduction to computers and the art of programming. Students will learn a high-level programming language, and ways to solve problems and implement solutions on a computer. Open to all students. No prior background with computers or mathematics is expected. This course does not count toward the Group C distribution requirement. Students planning to take more advanced Computer Science courses should take III, not 110. Mr. Baldwin

111 (1) (2) Introduction to Computer Science
Introduction to the science of problem-solving and programming. The emphasis of the course is on the techniques of algorithm development and programming with style. A high-level, block-structured computer programming language is used as a vehicle for that purpose. Topics include: top-down design and stepwise refinement techniques, some searching and sorting algorithms, numerical examples, and business applications involving data manipulation. Students will also be required to complete a term project of reasonable complexity. Open to all students. PASCAL will be taught in 1987-88. Required for students who wish to major in Computer Science or elect more advanced courses in the field. This course does not count toward the group C distribution requirement.
Mr. Khuri, Mr. Rosenthal

120 (2) Computer Science and its Applications
Illustrates the use of computers and computational techniques to solve problems chosen from a variety of application areas. Concentrates on the development of good programming style and programming experience, using FORTRAN 77 as the implementation language. Topics include: program design and organization, structured programming methodology, use of advanced language facilities (files, subroutining), simulations and models, management of large programs and data structure design. Prerequisite: Computer Science 110. III or by permission of the instructor based on equivalent preparation from previous computer experience. Designed for students whose primary interest is in areas outside of computer science who want to pursue their understanding of computer science and its applications beyond the level of Computer Science 110. This course does not count toward the Group C distribution requirement.

Mr. Schofield

230 (1) (2) Data Structures
An introduction to the theory and applications of data structuring techniques. Topics include: internal data representations, abstract data types, stacks, recursion, queues, list structures, hashing, trees, and graphs; algorithms for searching and sorting, and methods for determining their efficiency. Prerequisite: III or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Herskovits, Mr. Rosenthal, Ms. Lonske

231 (1) Fundamental Algorithms
An introduction to the design and implementation of fundamental algorithms. Divide-and-conquer, greedy, dynamic programming and backtracking algorithms are covered. Topics include: sorting and searching, set manipulation and applications on graphs and trees. Prerequisite: 230 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Khuri

232 (2) Artificial Intelligence
An introduction to the basic problems and methods of artificial intelligence. To provide a basis for a realistic and concrete understanding of the field, the first part of the course will be a study of the artificial intelligence language LISP. The research areas considered in the second part will include knowledge representation, problem solving, heuristic search, natural language processing, logic and deduction, and one or more of the following: vision, learning, and expert systems. Prerequisite: 230 or by permission of instructor.

Ms. Herskovits

240 (1) (2) Assembly Language Programming
An investigation of the design of programming systems at the assembly language level. Topics include: machine language programming, basic system architecture, interaction with an operating system, the general structure of assemblers, and macroprogramming. Prerequisite: 230 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Long, Mr. Shull

241 (2) Operating Systems
An introduction to operating systems and computer systems architecture. Topics include: device management, file systems, multiprocess environments, and memory management. Additional topics as time permits. Prerequisite: 240 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Wright

249 (1) Topics in Computer Science
Topic for 1987: Languages and Automata. An introduction to the concepts of languages and automata. Topics will include languages, regular expressions, finite automata, grammars, pushdown automata and Turing machines. Emphasis will be placed on the mathematical content of the material. This course will serve as a prerequisite for 301 and 310 in the spring. Prerequisite: 230, Mathematics 225 (may be concurrent registration) or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Rosenthal

260 (1) Computer System Architecture
An introduction to computer hardware organization and principles of computer operation. Topics include: architecture of digital systems (gates, registers, combinatorial and sequential networks), computer major building blocks and their interactions, microprogramming, microprocessors, pipelined and multiprocessor systems, new technologies. Prerequisite: completion of, or concurrent registration in 240 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Shull

301 (2) Theory of Programming Languages
A survey of the techniques used in the design of a modern programming language and in the implementation of programming language translators. Emphasizes the relationship of research in computer science to the problems of programming language translation and considers such questions as the theory of parsing, formal languages and their grammars, table-driven lexical analysis, code generation and optimization. Prerequisite: 240, 249, Mathematics 225 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Khuri

349 (1) Topics in Computer Science
Topic for 1987: Computer Models of Natural Language. Central to the field of Artificial Intelligence is a new approach to the study of ordinary languages like English. We will examine how computer models shed light on the nature of language and communication. Topics include: syntax and parsing; semantics and knowledge representation; reasoning and language comprehension and production; pragmatics and computer models of discourse; philosophical problems raised by the computational approach to natural languages. Open to students by permission of instructor.

Ms. Herskowitz

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study
1 or 2
Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research
1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360.

Cross-Listed Course

Physics 219 (2) Modern Electronics.

Directions for Election

A major in computer science must include: Computer Science 230, 240, and at least one additional course at the Grade II level.

At least two Grade III courses in Computer Science, not including 350 or 370.

Additional courses to complete the required minimum of eight units in Computer Science, subject to the condition that no more than one unit of Grade I work may be counted as part of the required eight. Computer-related courses in other departments or at MIT used to meet this requirement must be approved by the department on an individual basis. In addition, all majors in Computer Science will be expected to complete (1) either Mathematics 225 or Mathematics 305 and (2) at least one additional course in Mathematics at the Grade II or Grade III level. Students who expect to go on to do graduate work in computer science are encouraged to concentrate on developing their background in mathematics and are especially encouraged to elect Mathematics 305. In addition, students who are planning either graduate study or technical research work are further encouraged to get as much laboratory experience as possible, either through a 350/370 project or appropriate courses at MIT.

Each course, which may be taken independently and in either order, presents a view of our market economy, beginning with the nature of economics and economic systems, supply and demand analysis, and the development of economic thought. 101, microeconomics, is an analysis of the choices individuals and firms make in the markets where they buy and sell. It deals with questions of equity and efficiency. Policy problems include income distribution, competition and its regulation, health and education as human capital investment, and current economic topics. 102, macroeconomics, is an analysis of the aggregate dimensions of the economy: GNP, national income and employment, price levels and inflation, money and banking, international trade and investment. Policy problems include the role of government, prosperity and depression, investment and economic growth, worldwide economic development, and current economic topics. All sections present the same course; individual instructors may offer slightly different material and problem sets. Small classes allow for discussion. Open to all students.

The Staff

| 201 (1) (2) Microeconomic Analysis |

Microeconomic theory; analysis of the individual household, firm, and industry. Two sections in the first semester and three sections in the second semester. One section in the spring semester, 201M, will require Mathe-
202 (1) (2) Macroeconomic Analysis
Analysis of aggregate income, output, employment, and the price level. Analysis of policies to control inflation and unemployment. Three sections in the fall and two in the spring. In the fall semester, one section (202M) will require Mathematics 115 (or the equivalent) and will be mathematics intensive in the exposition of the material and in required work.
Prerequisite: 101 and 102.
Mr. Morrison, Mr. Nichols, Ms. Paulin

204 (1) U.S. Economic History
Description and analysis of the growth and development of the U.S. economy and its institutions from Colonial times to the 20th century. Emphasis on the "new" economic history: explicit economic models and quantitative methods to analyze historical phenomena, including slavery and the South, the industrial economy and its labor force, the transportation revolutions, and government's role in economic change. Prerequisite: 101 and 102.
Mr. Jacoby

205 (2) The Corporation
The development of the modern corporation and its major activities. Topics include corporate growth, organization, marketing, strategy, forecasting, multinationals, finance and mergers. Prerequisite: 101 and 102.
Mr. Joyce

210 (1) Financial Markets
Overview of financial markets and institutions, including stock and bond markets, financial intermediaries, money markets, commercial banks and thrifts, monetary policy, foreign lending. Prerequisite: 101 and 102.
Mr. Joyce

211 (1) (2) Statistics and Econometrics
Descriptive statistics and an introduction to statistical inference. Expected values, probability distributions, and tests of significance. Classical models of bivariate and multiple regression. Problem solving using the computer. Prerequisite: 101 and 102, or for students who have completed one course, and are taking the other, and with instructor's permission in certain cases.
Mr. Case, Ms. Carey, Ms. Davis

212 (1) Financial Accounting and Managerial Economics
Mrs. Bell

214 (2) International Economics
An introduction to international economics in theory and practice. Major emphasis on macroeconomic issues and international finance. Topics to be covered include the gains from trade, foreign exchange markets, balance of payments analysis, international capital flows and international financial institutions. Prerequisites: 101 and 102.
Ms. Carey

216 (2) Elementary Mathematical Economics
Ms. Witte

217 (1)* Topics in Mathematics and Economics
Applications of calculus and linear algebra to economic analysis. Topics selected from: linear and general optimization, input-output analysis, marginal analysis, analysis of market equilibrium and stability. Additionally listed
218 (2) The East Asian Economics
Analysis of the past two decades of economic growth in China, Japan, Korea and Taiwan. Special attention paid to the roles of agriculture and industry, trade policy, and planning versus the market place. Other topics include domestic savings behavior, foreign aid, technology transfer, labor market institutions and women in the economy. The course emphasizes lessons for economic growth provided by East Asian experience as well as the major issues currently confronting these economies. Prerequisite: 101 and 102, or by permission of instructors.
Mr. Goldman, Mr. Lindauer

220 (1) Development Economics
Survey and analysis of problems and circumstances of less developed nations. Examination of theories of economic development. Review of policy options and prospects for Third World countries. Specific topics to include: population growth, income distribution, basic needs, rural development and international trade strategies. Prerequisite: 101 and 102.
Mr. Lindauer

225 (2) Urban Economics
Analyses of urban and suburban economies with particular reference to urban renewal, income distribution, transportation, housing markets, employment, and the economic development of the inner city. Prerequisite: 101.
Mr. Case

229 (2) Introduction to Labor Economics
Analysis of labor markets and wage determination including microeconomics of labor supply and demand, labor unions and collective bargaining, human capital and occupations, minimum wages and "new" theories of unemployment. Prerequisite: 101 and 102.
Mr. Seitchik

230 (2) Contemporary Economic Issues

234 (1) Government Policy: Its Effect on the Marketplace
The United States government imposes regulations on selected markets, restricts competition, corrects market failure, intervenes in the marketplace. These government actions in the American economy will be analyzed using microeconomic tools with primary emphasis on antitrust policy, direct regulation, quality and safety control regulation, and labor law. Industry studies will provide a basis for empirical examination of the historical consequences of regulation and deregulation in selected markets. Prerequisite: 101.
Mr. Andrews

241 (2) The Economics of Personal Choice
Analysis and decision making in ordinary life situations; using economics to plan for one's future. Representative topics include housing, borrowing, having a family, insurance, saving, retirement, investment in one's self. Prerequisite: 101 and 102. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mrs. Bell

243 (2) The Sexual Division of Labor
Neo-classical and Marxist-feminist economic analyses of the sexual division of labor, the assignment of women and men to different and complementary work. Causes of the sexual division of labor in the home and marketplace, and its effects on women and men, economic efficiency, and society at large. Analysis of the historical development and recent breakdown of the sexual division of labor in the U.S. and in selected other countries.
Evaluation of social policies to achieve sexual equality from an economic standpoint. Prerequisite: 101.

Ms. Matthaei

249 (1) Seminar. Radical Political Economy
Study of radical political economists’ critiques of capitalism, and their bases in Marxist, feminist, and anti-racist theories. Comparison with orthodox, neo-classical theory. Exploration of the radical vision of a just economy. Investigation of alternative economic institutions as practiced in the U.S. and abroad. Prerequisite: 101 or 102, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Matthaei

301 (1) Comparative Economic Systems
Comparative study of the treatment of economic problems under different economic systems. Analyzes the economic ideology of capitalism, utopian writings, market socialism, workers’ management, and Marxism. Functions of prices, profits, and planning in allocation of resources. Compares several capitalist and socialist countries including the U.S. and Yugoslavia. Prerequisite: 201 or 202.

Mr. Goldman

305 (1) Industrial Organization
Applied microeconomics directed to the study of the interactions of market structure, business behavior, and economic performance. The first two-thirds of the course emphasizes positive explanation and theory. The remainder focuses on policy and includes critical, ex-post analysis of antitrust rulings. Prerequisite: 201 and 211.

Mr. Nichols

310 (1) Public Finance
The role and function of government in a market economy. Issues in tax analysis including equity and efficiency, the effects of taxes on labor and capital supply, tax incidence and optimal taxation. Description and analysis of specific taxes and expenditure programs. Prerequisite: 201.

Mr. Case

313 (2) International Macroeconomics
Theory and policy of macroeconomic adjustment in the open economy. Topics to be covered include: the Keynesian model of income and balance of payments determination, the monetary approach to the balance of payments, fixed and floating exchange rate regimes, policy mix and effectiveness with capital mobility, and the asset-market approach to exchange rates. Prerequisite: 202 and 211.

Ms. Kiray

314 (1) International Trade Theory
Theory of international trade. Review of mercantilism, comparative advantage and the factor endowment model. Analysis of trade restrictions, such as tariffs and quotas and of the political economy of protectionism. Other topics include: economic integration and the impact of trade on growth. Prerequisite: 201 and 211.

Ms. Carey

315 (2) History of Economic Thought
Analysis of the history of economic theory over the last 250 years. Focus on the development and interaction of two opposed views of the market economy—Classical/Marxian and Neo-classical. Analysis of the issues of scarcity, price determination, income distribution, monopoly, unemployment, economic freedom, sexual and racial inequality, and limits to growth. Student debates on selected issues and search for a middle ground. Prerequisite: 201 or 202.

Ms. Matthaei

316 (2) Modern Economic History
Economic development and structural change from the Great Depression to the present. Economic policy in war and peace. International cooperation and division. Economic crises and economic theory. Prerequisite: 201 or 202.

Mr. Morrison

317 (2) Economic Modeling and Econometrics
Introduction to mathematical and econometric modeling. Techniques of specifications, estimation, and simulation of rational and behavioral economic models. Prerequisite: 201, 202, 211, and Mathematics 115 or 201, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. McClain

320 (2) Seminar. Economic Development
International and microeconomic issues of the less developed countries. Topics covered include: theories of growth and development import substitution and export promotion, the foreign exchange constraint, the debt problem, foreign investment, industrialization and employment, inflation, short-term stabilization policy and income distribution. Prerequisite: 202.

Ms. Kiray

325 (2) Law and Economics
Economic analysis of legal rules and institutions. Application of economic theory and empirical methods to the central institutions of the legal system including the common law doctrines of negligence, contract, and property as well as civil, criminal, administrative procedure and family law. The course will contrast economic and noneconomic theories of law and will address the strengths and limitations of the economic approach to law. Prerequisite: 201. Not offered in 1987-88; will be offered in 1988-89.

Ms. Witte

329 (1) Seminar. Labor Markets and Employment
The structure and functioning of the labor market from both neoclassical and institutional points of view. Human capital theory, labor force participation, the economics of discrimination, labor unions, minimum wage policy, and other topics. Prerequisite: 201 and 211.

Ms. Paulin

330 (1) Seminar. Macroeconomic Modeling
Focuses on contemporary macroeconomic issues, the economic events affecting them and the practical problems of analyzing and forecasting. Contemporary tools of applied macroeconomics, especially large-scale econometric models: their theoretical foundations, contemporary characteristics, and use. An interactive course: students participate in developing specification of key macroeconomic relationships which they use to analyze topical economic issues. Prerequisite: 201, 202, and 211. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Gough

331 (2) Seminar. Monetary Theory and Policy
The formulation of monetary policy and its theoretical foundations. This includes discussion of the latest developments in monetary theory, monetary autonomy in an open economy, the money supply process, and current procedures in the U.S. and other nations. Prerequisite: 202 and 211.

Mr. Joyce

333 (1) Seminar. Workshop in Divestment, Disinvestment, and Economic Sanctions
What happens to a corporation when stockholders sell shares for moral reasons? What happens to a country when companies leave for political reasons? Can people use economic power to influence events at home or abroad? Beginning with such questions students will design and carry out research in a team effort of organized exploration. Recommendations for policies at Wellesley, or for individuals, corporations, and governments may or may not be forthcoming. Limited to ten students. Prerequisite: 201, 202 and 211.

Mrs. Bell

334 (1) Seminar. Business Cycles
Evaluation of different economic theories of the business cycle. Analysis of the fundamental characteristics of the American business cycle since 1900, and of traditional and unique factors that contribute to turning points in the cycle. Empirical work through student papers to document past cycles and to forecast the current American business expansion. Prerequisite: 202 and 211.

Mr. Gough

335 (2) Seminar. Economic Journalism
Students will combine their skills at exposition with their knowledge of economics in order to address current economic problems in a journalistic format. Students will be expected to do independent research to produce weekly articles including editorials, book reviews, interviews, etc. Class sessions will be organized as a workshop devoted to critiquing student work. Enrollment limited to 10. Prerequisite: 201 and 202. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Lindauer

336 (2) The Welfare Economics of Stabilization Policy
The course will survey the literature on the "costs" of unemployment, inflation, economic growth and various counter cyclical policies. For each, an attempt will be made to identify those who gain, those who lose and the magnitude of the gains and losses. A comparison of responses to inflation and employment across countries will be included. Prerequisite: 201 and 202.
Mr. Nichols

337 (2) The Art of Economic Persuasion
Students will learn about types and styles of economic argument, e.g., mathematical, conceptual, and empirical arguments. They will probe the reasons that make an economic argument effective or ineffective. Students will study the rhetoric in a particular article or in the writing of a famous economist. These writings can be in both macro and microeconomics. The general objective is that the students develop their skills in economic argumentation and thus become better economists. Prerequisite: 201 or 202. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Klamer

343 (2) Race and the Market
This course investigates the role of race in the development of market economies: the ways in which racial stratification is similar to, and different from, class and caste distinctions in shaping the operation of markets; the role of racial marginalization and stratification in economic development; experiences of racial minority groups in North America, South Asia, and East Africa will provide cases of the impact of market development on a group’s economic prospects. Readings will draw on economic theory, economic anthropology, political theory, and economic history. Prerequisite: 201, or by permission of instructor.
Mr. Andrews

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2
Open by permission to juniors and seniors who have taken 201 and 202; 2II is strongly recommended. 350 students will be expected to participate in the Economic Research Seminar (see 370).

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360.
Students writing a senior thesis will be expected to participate regularly throughout the 360 and 370 in the Economic Research Seminar. This weekly seminar provides a forum for students conducting independent research to present their work to fellow students and faculty.

Directions for Election
Economics is a social science directed to the study of the universal problems of scarcity, choice, and human behavior. It contains elements of formal theory, history, philosophy, and mathematics. Unlike business administration, which deals with specific procedures by which business enterprises are managed, it examines a broad range of institutions and focuses on their interactions.
The complete survey course consists of both Grade I level courses. Neither 101 nor 102 is a prerequisite for the other and either may be elected separately for one unit of credit.
Any student who plans to take economics after 101 and 102 should consult a department advisor. See also the Department Handbook. An economics major must include 101, 102, 201, 202, 2II, two 300-level courses, and at least one other course. The department discourages a minimum major with only two Grade III courses, 201, 202, and 2II should be taken at Wellesley; permission to take these courses elsewhere must be obtained in advance from the department chair. Also, an economics major must take more than half of her Grade III economics units at Wellesley; permission for an exception must be obtained in advance from the chair.
Choosing courses to complete the major requires careful thought. All majors should choose an advisor and consult him/her regularly. Students are also advised to consult the Department Handbook, which deals with a variety of topics including preparation in mathematics, desirable courses for those interested in graduate study in economics, and complementary courses outside economics. The economics minor is recommended for students wishing to develop competence in economics in preparation for work or graduate study in law, business, public administration, area studies, international relations, public health, medicine, etc. The minor consists of Economics 101, 102, 201, and at least two other courses in the department other than 201 and 202. The plan for this option should be carefully prepared; a student wishing to add the economics minor to the major in another field should consult a faculty advisor in economics. Students are urged to supplement their program in economics with courses from many other disciplines in the liberal arts.

Education

Associate Professor: Bronzel (Chair)

Associate in Education: Dollase, Hayes, Platt, White

Assistant Professor: Beatty,

Lecturer: Leonard

Course may be elected to fulfill in part the distribution requirement in Group B1 or Group B2 as designated.

102 (1) Education in Philosophical Perspective

An introduction to philosophical ideas and ideals of education and pedagogy. Works by Plato, Rousseau, John Dewey, and other theorists will be read and analyzed in an attempt to answer questions about the purposes of education and to present rationales for particular pedagogical approaches. Special attention will be paid to the interpretation of philosophical texts and their application to various forms of education. Relevant field placement may be arranged as part of this course; it will be available for all students but especially for those wishing to fulfill requirements for teacher certification. Open to all students.

Mr. Hayes

202 (2) Educating the Exception: Social Responsibility for Nontraditional Students

This course will consider the psychological, social and pedagogical needs of those members of society who have traditionally been excluded from mainstream education. The principal focus will be on handicapped students, including those with learning disabilities. Attention will also be paid to foreign students and returning adult women. Social and personal ethics will be examined, and related public policy explored. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Leonard

206 (1) Women, Education, and Work

Examination of ways in which the background of women, the educational system, and the structure of work affect the lives of women, from a historical, sociological, and public policy point of view. Relationships between educational institutions and the economy, and intersections among the family lives, educational experience, and work lives of women will be studied. Open to students who have taken one unit in Group B. Not offered 1987-88.

Ms. Brenzel

212 (1) History of American Education
Study of the various historical conflicts and controversies leading to the development of education as a central force in American culture. Topics include the changing role of the family, the popularization of educational institutions, their role in socializing the young, and the effects of political, economic, and social forces in shaping American education. Emphasis will be placed on developing an understanding of the interrelationships of youth, culture, and society. Relevant field placement may be arranged as part of this course; it will be available for all students but especially for those wishing to fulfill state requirements for teacher certification. Open to all students.

Ms. Brenzel

214 (2) Youth, Culture, and Student Activism in Twentieth-Century America
Traditionally, educational institutions have separated youth from the larger society. At the same time, schools have been the seedbeds of youth unrest and student activism. The political activities of student groups will be studied in light of changing definitions of youth, their schooling, and dissent. We will address the relationship between society's efforts to educate the young and student activism among youth in schools as well as among "drop outs" and other disaffiliated groups. Open to all students.

Ms. Brenzel

216 (2) Education, Society, and Social Policy
An examination and analysis of educational policies in a social context. The formulation and implementation of these policies will be studied with emphasis on issues such as inequality, desegregation, tensions between communities and schools, parental choice, and the provision of various educational services. Relevant field placement will be available for all students. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.

220 (1) (2) Observation and Fieldwork
Observation and fieldwork in educational settings. This course completes the requirement of at least three documented introductory field experiences of satisfactory quality and duration necessary for teacher certification. Arrangements may be made for observation and tutoring in various types of educational programs; at least one urban field experience is strongly recommended. Students should discuss their plans for fieldwork with a member of the department and must apply for admission to this course in the semester before it is taken. Open only to students who plan to student teach and by permission of the instructor. Prerequisite: 102, 212, and 300. Mandatory credit/non credit.

Ms. Brenzel

300 (1) Educational Theory, Curriculum, Evaluation, and Instruction
An examination of the major philosophical and psychological theories underlying what is taught in schools. The course focuses on the relation of curriculum to intellectual development, learning, and the structure of the disciplines as well as on curriculum development, testing, evaluation, and instruction. Relevant field placement will be available for all students; it is mandatory for those wishing to fulfill requirements for teacher certification. Open to all students. Required for secondary school certification. Prerequisite: 102, 212 or 216, or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Haines

302 (2) Methods and Materials of Teaching
Study and observation of teaching methods and classroom procedures in secondary school with a focus on the social role of teachers and the teaching of reading and writing in the content areas. Examination of curriculum materials and classroom practice in specific teaching fields. Open only to students doing student teaching. Required for teacher certification. Students electing 302 and 303 may include in addition one unit usually of independent study in the same semester. Prerequisite: 300 and at least one of 102, 212, or 216, and by permission of the department.

Ms. Brenzel and Mr. Hawes

303 (2) Practicum – Curriculum and Supervised Teaching
Observation, supervised teaching, and curriculum development in students’ teaching fields throughout the semester. Attendance at appropriate school placement required full time five days a week. Students electing 302 and 303 may include in addition one unit usually of independent study in the same semester. Required for teacher certification. Students must apply to the department for admission to this course in the semester before it is taken. Corequisite: 302.

Ms. Brenzel, Mr. Hawes, and Staff

305 (1-2) Interdisciplinary Seminar in Mathematics and Science for Secondary School
This special seminar, which meets every other week for the entire year, will examine key ideas in the natural sciences and mathematics, and how these ideas should shape secondary school teaching activities. Secondary school teachers will be participants in the seminar along with Wellesley College students. Members of the College’s science departments will participate as guest lecturers. The impact of technology on education and the technological tools used in education will be considered also. One unit of credit will be awarded after successful completion of both semesters. By permission of instructor.

Mr. Hawes

307 (2) Seminar. Law, Ethics, and Education
Study of federal and state statutory and constitutional law governing public education as it reveals public purposes of education, the legal status of students and teachers, the requirements for equal educational opportunity, and the basis of public school finance. Emphasis on ethical aspects of issues such as student rights, academic freedom, and affirmative action. Attention will be paid to the comprehension and interpretation of legal cases and, to a limited extent, to methods of independent legal research. Special attention will be paid to efforts to desegregate the Boston Public Schools. Open to juniors and seniors. Not offered in 1987-88.

308 (1-2) Seminar on Foreign Language Methodology
A course in the pedagogical methods of foreign languages intended to apply to any foreign language; emphasizes the interdependence of the four language skills—listening, speaking, reading, writing; introduces students to a theoretical study of linguistic and psychological issues necessary to evaluate new ways of presenting language material. This special seminar, which meets every other week for the entire year, will focus on selected texts and readings on the methodology of foreign-language teaching. Secondary school teachers will participate in the seminar along with Wellesley College students, and there will be frequent guest lecturers as well. One unit of credit will be awarded after successful completion of both semesters. By permission of instructor.

Ms. Renjilian-Burgy

312 (1) Seminar. History of Child Rearing and the Family
Examination of the American family and the emerging role of the state in assuming responsibility for child rearing and education. Study of the role of institutions and social policy in historical and contemporary attempts to shape the lives of immigrants, poor families, and their children. Open to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.

Ms. Brenzel

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study
1 or 2
Open to juniors and seniors by permission.

Directions for Election
With the exception of Education 302 and 303 the department’s courses are designed for all students and not simply those planning a career in public or private school teaching. Students who wish to be certified as high school (grades 9-12) teachers upon graduation should obtain the department’s published description of the requirements of the Com-
Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the College's program for meeting those requirements. Briefly, the program requires students to take specific courses within their teaching fields and at least five additional courses.

Required:
Education 102 or 212, 300, 302 and 303; Psychology 207 or 208 or MIT 9.90.

Recommended:
Education 202, 216, or 307; Psychology 212, 217, or 219; Black Studies 105.

The Commonwealth requires that three courses taken prior to student teaching include field experience. The department has arranged field experiences that students may take in conjunction with three courses: Education 102 or 212; Psychology 207 or 208 or MIT 9.90; and Education 300. Students who plan to student teach may register for Education 220, a field work course which credits these field experiences, and which may be taken with permission of the department spring semester of the junior year or fall or spring semester of the senior year. In some circumstances, students may meet some of the requirements by submitting evidence of similar experience. Students should plan their program of studies to fulfill these requirements in consultation with a member of the department before the end of the sophomore year.

Certification in Massachusetts is recognized by many other states.

Authors to be studied likely to include: Sir Joshua Reynolds, Samuel Johnson, Edmund Burke, William Blake, Jane Austen, William Wordsworth, Samuel Taylor Coleridge. Prerequisite: same as for 320.
Ms. Sides

341 (2) Advanced Studies in the Romantic Period
Topic for 1987-88: Romantic Transformations. A study of relationships between key Romantic poems by Wordsworth, Coleridge, Shelley, and Keats, and important earlier poems and passages, from Shakespeare, Milton, Thomas Gray, William Collins, James Thomson. Study also of these key Romantic texts in relation to certain later poems, by such poets as Gerard Manley Hopkins, Thomas Hardy, Robert Frost, T.S. Eliot, Elizabeth Bishop. Prerequisite: same as for 320.
Mr. Ferry

345 (2) Victorian and Modern Literature
Mr. Pellaton

349 (2) Seminar. Approaches to Independent Study in Literature
Topic for 1987-88: Literature in Industrial America. A selection of diverse works from around 1900, read with attention to the historical and social conditions in which literature gets written and to which it responds. Possible authors: Henry James, Mark Twain, Sarah Orne Jewett, Jack London, Henry Adams, Edith Wharton, Gertrude Stein, Thorstein Veblen, Booker T. Washington.
A seminar organized to develop the skills necessary for sustained independent study in literature: the finding and using of pertinent secondary material (critical, historical, biographical); the development of larger from smaller projects; the presentation of work in progress. Recommended especially for juniors; open to others by permission of the instructor. Mr. Rosenwald

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study
1 or 2
Open to qualified students by permission of the instructor and the chair of the department. Two or more Grade II or Grade III units in the department are ordinarily a prerequisite.

351 (1) Advanced Studies in Modern Poetry
Topic for 1987-88: English and American Poetry in the Year 1914. The study of a moment in literary history, through the consideration of works published in a given year. Beginnings of Modernism in early work by Ezra Pound, T.S. Eliot, Wallace Stevens, William Carlos Williams, Marianne Moore and in middle-period work by W.B. Yeats. Relations to Modernism of work by Thomas Hardy, Robert Frost, Edwin Arlington Robinson, and Edward Thomas. Some emphasis on literary controversies through the reading and discussion of reviews, letters and manifestoes. Some attention to parallels in other arts during this year. Prerequisite: same as for 320.
Mr. Ferry

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research
1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67, Departmental Honors.

363 (1) Advanced Studies in American Literature
Topic for 1987-88: The Killers Inside Them: American Serve Noire. A study of the noir tradition in literature and film, a tradition that fills a significant gap in the continuity of modern American culture, a link between popular art and the avant garde. Among the writers and directors to be investigated: Raymond Chandler, Dashiell Hammett, James M. Cain, Horace McCoy, Jim Thompson, David Goodis, Fritz Lang, Robert Siodmak, Billy Wilder, Charles Vidor, Edgar Ulmer, Edward Dmytryk, Jules Dassin, Jacques Tourneur, Alfred Hitchcock, Orson Welles, and Stanley Kubrick. Prerequisite: same as for 320.

Mr. Polito

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360.

372 (2) Advanced Studies in the Novel
Topic for 1987-88: Joyce and Beckett. Close reading of Joyce’s Ulysses and Beckett’s trilogy (Molloy, Malone Dies and The Unnamable). Prerequisite: same as for 320.

Mr. Garis

381 (2) Linguistics, Philology and English Literature
Not offered in 1987-88.

382 (1) Criticism
Major late 19th- and 20th-century critics and theoretical issues. Emphasis on definitions and discussions of the reading process, the relations between criticism and history, interpretative “authority,” the role of the critic and intellectual in the modern world, and the development of “English” as an academic discipline. Figures to be examined include Arnold, Eliot, Pound, Leavis, the New Critics, Fish, Hirsch, Derrida, Foucault, and feminist theorists. Prerequisite: same as for 320.

Mr. Cain

383 (1) Women In Literature, Culture, and Society
Topic for 1987-88: Female Family Romances. Relations within the family as represented in 19th- and 20th-century novels by women, investigated from literary, psychological, and feminist perspectives. Prerequisite: same as for 320.

Ms. Reimer

386 (1) Seminar
Topic for 1987-88: Henry James. James’ fiction in all its phases, with special attention to the changes of narrative method during his career. Prerequisite: same as for 320.

Mr. Garis

387 (2) Seminar
Topic for 1987-88: Visions of Paradise. Visions of a better world in poetry and prose from the Pearl poet through Spenser and Milton to Henry James and Wallace Stevens. Some references to examples from the history of painting: e.g., Hieronymous Bosch’s “Garden of Earthly Delight.” Discussions and lectures to concern the social and critical function of a vision of paradise and the manner in which a vision of paradise excites attention to the nature and substance of literature and art. Prerequisite: same as for 320.

Mr. Gold

Directions for Election

Grade I literature courses are open to all students and presume no previous college experience in literary study. They provide good introductions to such study because of their subject matter or focus on training in the skills of critical reading and writing. Grade II courses, also open to all students, presume some competence in those skills. They treat major writers and historical periods, and provide training in making comparisons and connections between different works, writers, and ideas. Grade III courses encourage both students and teachers to pursue their special interests. They presume a greater overall competence, together with some previous experience in the study of major writers, periods, and ideas in English or American literature. They are open to all those who have taken two literature courses in the department, at least one of which must be Grade II, and by permission of the instructor or chair to other qualified students. For admission to seminars and for independent work (350), students of at least B+ standing in the work of the department will have first consideration. Students are encouraged to consult with the instructors of courses they are interested in. Students should consult the more complete descriptions of all courses, composed by their instructors, posted on bulletin boards in Founders Hall, and available from the department secretary.

The English Department does not grant credit towards the major for AP courses taken in high school. First year students contemplating further study in English are encouraged to consult the Department Chair or the advisor for first year students in relation to their course selection. Students majoring in English should discuss their programs with their major advisors, and should consult with them about any changes they wish to make in the course of their junior and senior years.

The English major consists of a minimum of eight courses, six of which must be in literature. At least four of the latter courses must be above Grade I and at least two at the Grade III level. Neither Writing 125 nor English 200 may be counted toward the major. For all students beginning their concentration in or after 1987-88, at least six of the courses for the major must be taken at Wellesley, including the two required Grade III level courses. Independent work (350, 360 or 370) does not fulfill the minimum requirement of two Grade III level courses for the major.

All students majoring in English must take Critical Interpretation (101), at least one course in Shakespeare (preferably at the Grade II level), and two courses focused on literature written before 1900, of which at least one must focus on writing before 1800. Students who have had work equivalent to 101 at the college level may apply to the chair for exemption from the Critical Interpretation requirement.

The department offers a choice of three programs for Honors. Under Program I the honors candidate does two units of independent research or a project in creative writing. Programs II and III offer an opportunity to receive Honors on the basis of work done for regular courses; these programs carry no additional course credit. A candidate electing Program II takes a written examination in a field defined by several of her related courses (e.g., the Renaissance, drama, criticism). One electing Program III presents a dossier of essays written for several courses with a statement of connections between them and critical questions raised by them.

Special attention is called to the range of courses in writing offered by the College. Writing 125 is open to all students who want to improve their skills in writing expository essays. Writing 125X is open, with the permission of the instructor, to students who would benefit from a continuation of Writing 125 or from an individual tutorial. English 200 is a new course made possible through an endowed fund given by Luther I. Replogle in memory of his wife, Elizabeth McIlvaine Replogle. It is a workshop designed especially for juniors and seniors who want training in expository writing on a level above that of Writing 125, and it satisfies the writing requirement for transfer and Continuing Education students. Courses in the writing of poetry and fiction (Grades II and III) are planned as workshops with small group meetings and frequent individual conferences. In addition, qualified students may apply for one or two units of Independent Study (350) in writing. Grade II and Grade III courses in writing and 350 writing projects as well, may at the discretion of the instructor be offered credit/noncredit/credit-with-distinction. Knowledge of English and American history, of the course of European thought, of theatre studies, and of at least one foreign literature at an advanced level is of great value to the student of English. Students expecting to do graduate work in English should ordinarily plan to acquire a reading knowledge of two foreign languages.

First Year Cluster Program

Director: Congleton

The First Year Cluster Program, begun in 1984, offers first year students a new format in which to study traditional materials of the liberal arts curriculum. One purpose of the new format is to help students develop more readily and fully a sense of the relationship between the materials and methods of several different disciplines. The new format is also intended to increase opportunities for sharing study with other students and with faculty and to enhance skills in the writing and presenting of papers. Six faculty members from different departments teach the Cluster courses, and student enrollment is limited to a maximum of 90 first year students.

The topic of the First Year Cluster changes each year. It is described fully in a Cluster brochure available from the Board of Admission or the Committee on Curriculum and Instruction. The 1987-88 Cluster is entitled "Roots of the Present: The Emergence of Judaism, Christianity and Islam in the Mediterranean World." This Cluster will focus on the origins and development of Rabbinic Judaism, Christianity and Islam in the Mediterranean world of A.D. 150-750. It will trace the processes by which the fragile but unequalled unity of the ancient world was shattered to give rise to three new empires (Western Europe, Byzantium and the Islamic Empire), in which Jews, Christians and Muslims were to co-exist. Studying these processes will deepen our understanding of our own conflict-ridden world in which the three religions still play a major part.

Students electing the Cluster begin their acquaintance with the Cluster topic through six representative objects sent to them in the summer, one from the field of each of the six Cluster faculty for that year. The six objects for the 1987-88 Cluster are:

A set of volcanic rocks called "porphyries" from various geologic periods and settings. Porphyry sometimes was used for imperial sculpture and buildings.
A booklet containing the closing lines of several of the plays of the Greek tragedian Euripides: "Many are the forms of divinity; the gods bring many things to pass unexpectedly. And what we thought would happen did not come to pass, but the god found a means to bring about what we did not imagine. That is how this action went."

A pop-up book of the Romans, including the city of Rome, the Forum, a Roman house, the army of Rome, the Colosseum, and Ostia, the port of Rome.

"The Bikini Girls," a floor mosaic from a luxurious 4th century A.D. villa, the Piazza Armerina in Sicily.

A poster of a synagogue floor mosaic at Beth Alpha in Roman Palestine of the 6th century A.D.

A copy of an English version of the Koran, the holy book of the Islamic faith.

The special format of the First Year Cluster is also described in the Cluster brochure. Briefly, the Cluster Program makes up half of each semester's work for each participating first year student, two courses out of the normal four each semester, a total of four Cluster courses for the year. Two of her four Cluster courses are chosen by the student from the six "Specialty Courses" of the program, one offered by each of the six Cluster faculty. These Specialty Courses meet distribution requirements in the area of the instructor of each course. The other two courses taken in the Cluster Program are XWRIT 125 and XSEM 100. Each of these two courses is taught in sections of no more than 15 students, each section led by one of the six Cluster faculty. XWRIT 125 meets the College writing requirement.

XWRIT 125 (1) Cluster Writing
Special sections of the regular College writing course, Writing 125. The Cluster sections of Writing 125 meet the College writing requirement while taking their materials from the subject matter of the Cluster. Required of all Cluster members. Maximum enrollment 15.

The Cluster Faculty

XSEM 100 (2) Cluster Seminar
A seminar meeting in the second semester to draw together the work of the Cluster. Beginning after the Specialty Courses have ended, the XSEM meetings are organized around presentation by each seminar member of the findings of her two Specialty Course papers and presentation by sub-groups of the seminar of reports on their findings concerning the particular topic of that XSEM. Required of all Cluster members. Maximum enrollment 15.

The Cluster Faculty

Cluster Specialty Courses for 1987-88

XART 100 Art of the Mediterranean
The years 300-700 mark an important crossroads in the history of art. This period witnessed the continuing vitality of classical art even as this art was being absorbed and transformed by the new cultures emerging in the Mediterranean world. We will study this phenomenon using a selection of major monuments including the Parthenon in Athens, the Synagogue of Dura Europas in Syria, the Christian catacombs in Rome, and the Dome of the Rock in Jerusalem. Although differences in style, taste, and devotional practices may at first seem the most readily apparent, we will seek to understand the underlying unity of the art from the world of the Mediterranean.

Ms. Pastan

XCLASSCIV 100 Rituals and Power in the Cities of the Roman Empire
This course will examine the relationship between religious rituals and politics in the cities of the Roman Empire. We will study founders and foundation legends, city planning, architecture, and social structure in relation to religious and political beliefs. The roles of priests, priestesses and politicians in the creation of civic identity will be explored. Among the cities to be studied will be Athens, Rome, Jerusalem, and Baghdad.

Mr. Rogers
XGEOL 100 The Mediterranean and Its Mountains
The eruption of Vesuvius in A.D. 79 stands out as one well known episode in the long and often dramatic physical evolution of the Mediterranean world. Earth movements and sea level fluctuations since Classical Antiquity have submerged 1st-century houses in southwest Turkey while simultaneously leaving Rome's ancient seaport miles from the shore. Several million years earlier, the entire sea dried up to form a vast salt flat now blanketed by deep marine sediments. Following the earth scientist's dictum "the present is the key to the past," we will study how the processes responsible for such geologically recent phenomena have acted over hundreds of millions of years to form both the Mediterranean ocean basin and the mountains around it. We will also consider how climate has modified these structures in places like the glaciated Alps and the deserts of North Africa.

Ms. Thompson

XHIST 100 Islamic Society in Historical Perspective
This course will introduce students to the rich mosaic of Islamic society in the four centuries following the rise of Islam. After a study of the social and political background to the rise of Islam and a survey of Islam's basic concepts, the course will pursue topics from three different strands of history: (i) the political history of the Islamic states; (ii) the history of ideas (literature, philosophy, law, medicine); and (iii) social history (how people of different social strata and ecological niches made a living, the social roles of women).

Ms. Kapteijns

XMYTH 100 Myth and Legend
This course will study the structure, style, and content of the stories that described major religious and cultural ideas for ancient pagans and Christians in the late antique world. We will read the documents used by these religious groups to persuade others to adopt their practices. Texts discussed will include the Iliad, hymns, Apuleius' Golden Ass, the Gospel according to Luke, Acts of the Apostles, and early Christian martyrologies.

Ms. Lefkowitz

XREL 100 Reconstructing the Past: Palestine in Late Antiquity
This course will study the Jewish, Christian, and pagan communities of Palestine in their diverse forms in the context of the major religious, political, social, and economic trends of the hellenistic age and of late antiquity. We will explore the origins and development of rabbinic Judaism and Christianity, their relationship with each other, and the Roman environment of which both were part. Special attention to problems of historical reconstruction as reflected in archaeological sources including coins, inscriptions, papyri, synagogue, church and funerary art, and such literary sources as the writings of the Rabbis, Church Fathers and Roman historians.

Ms. Nathanson

Directions for Election
The First Year Cluster Program is open for election by entering first year students at the same time that they choose the rest of their program. The materials sent to entering first year students by the Registrar's Office in the spring will contain a special registration card for students who wish to elect the Cluster Program. This special registration card will have spaces not only for electing the Cluster Program but also for electing courses outside the Cluster to complete the student's first year program. All first year student registration materials will be due no later than June 10, and Cluster enrollment will be limited to 90 on the basis of the date registrations are received in the Office of the Registrar. Each student who registers for the Cluster will be asked to send in also the regular registration card with an alternative program to be followed in case the Cluster has filled before her registration materials are received.

Students who become members of the Cluster will be asked to make a choice of Specialty Courses within the Cluster after they have had a chance to look at the Cluster materials sent to them in the summer. Cluster members will then choose two of the Specialty Courses listed above, one from XGEOL, XHIST, or XMYTH and one from XART, XCLASSCIV, or XREL. Students will be asked in the summer to list the three courses of each of these two groups in order of preference, and these preferences will be followed as far as is compatible with keeping the Specialty Courses equal in size.

In addition to her two Specialty Courses, each Cluster student takes two other units within the Cluster: XWRIT 125 in the first semester and XSEM 100 in the second semester. After the Specialty Course assignments have been determined, students will be assigned to a section of XWRIT 125 in such a way as to assure that each section contains students from each of the Specialty Courses other than that of the faculty member leading that section. An XSEM section is chosen by the student in the spring after the topics of the different XSEM sections have been decided by the Cluster faculty on the basis of the interests of the Cluster members at that point.

Cluster courses are graded according to the regular College grading system described on p. 59, except that it is a Cluster requirement that XWRIT 125 and XSEM 100 be elected on a credit/noncredit basis.

French

INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR: French Studies

Professor: Galand, Stambolian\textsuperscript{M}, Mistacco\textsuperscript{M}, Gillain\textsuperscript{M}, Lydgate

Associate Professor: Grimand\textsuperscript{A}, Respaut(Chair), Levitt

Assistant Professor: Abetti, Raffy\textsuperscript{A}, Lane\textsuperscript{A}, Abbate, Lagarde, Cinquin, Baier\textsuperscript{F}, Tranwouez, Huckle\textsuperscript{F}, Roy\textsuperscript{F}

Instructor: Egron-Sparrow\textsuperscript{F}, Russo

All courses (except 220 and 349) are conducted in French. Oral expression, composition, and, in certain courses, creative writing are stressed.

The department reserves the right to place new students in the courses for which they seem best prepared regardless of the number of units they have offered for admission.

Qualified students are encouraged to spend the junior year in France on the Wellesley-in-Aix program or another approved program. See p. 65.

101-102 (1-2) Beginning French 2

Intensive training in French, with special emphasis on culture, communication, and self-expression. A multi-media course, based on the video series French in Action. Weekly audiovisual presentations introduce new cultural and linguistic material. Regular video and audio assignments in the language laboratory. Three periods. No credit will be given for the course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily. Open only to students who do not present French for admission.

Mr. Lydgate and the Staff

111 (1) Elementary Intermediate French

Intensive oral training and practice in listening comprehension and writing. Thorough grammar review. Vocabulary building. Three periods. Open to students by permission of the department only. To receive credit for 111 and to fulfill the language requirement, students completing the course must proceed to 122.

Ms. Levitt

121-122 (1-2) Intermediate French 2
First semester: Particular stress on grammar review, listening comprehension, vocabulary building, and development of oral skills. Second semester: Choice of different sections emphasizing either the reading of modern texts with discussion and written work or further development of conversational skills through regular laboratory work using primarily non-literary materials. Three periods. No credit will be given for course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily. Prerequisite: 102.
Ms. Levitt and the Staff

141-142 (1-2) The Language and Culture of Modern France 2
Discussion of selected modern literary and cultural texts. Grammar review. Study of vocabulary and pronunciation. Frequent written and oral practice. Three periods. No credit will be given for course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily. Prerequisite: 122.
Ms. Baier, Ms. Mistacco and the Staff

201 (1) 202 (2) French Literature and Culture Through the Centuries 1 or 2
First semester: From the Middle Ages through Classicism. Second semester: From the Enlightenment through Existentialism. Class discussion of selected masterpieces, short papers, outside reading, slides. Either semester may be taken independently. Prerequisite: 142, or by permission of the instructor, 122.
Ms. Russo, Mr. Abbate

205 (1) French Society Today
Contemporary problems and attitudes. Class discussion of representative texts, periodicals, and newspapers. Oral reports, short papers, outside reading. Prerequisite: same as for 201.
Ms. Cinquin

206 (1) (2) Intermediate Spoken French
Practice in conversation, using a variety of materials including films, videotapes, periodicals, songs, radio sketches, and interviews. Regular use of the language laboratory. Enrollment limited to 15. Not open to first year students. Prerequisite: same as for 201.

Intensive study of narrative techniques and the representation of reality in major works by Balzac, Stendhal, Flaubert, Zola. Prerequisite: same as for 212.
Ms. Tranvouez

215 (1) Baudelaire and Symbolist Poets
The nature of the poetic experience studied in the works of Baudelaire, Verlaine, Rimbaud, Mallarmé, and Laforgue. Prerequisite: same as for 212.
Mr. Galand

219 (1) Love/Death
In major novels of different periods, this course will investigate the connection between fiction and our fundamental preoccupation with the issues of love and death. Texts ranging from medieval to 20th century will be studied, with an eye toward understanding how the themes of love and death are related to structure, narration, and the dynamics of reading. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit of French literature, or by permission of the instructor.
Ms. Respaut

220 (2) Proust and the Modern French Novel (in English)
Psychology and aesthetics in works by Flaubert, Gide, Sartre, Beckett, Duras, and Robbe-Grillet, with emphasis on Proust’s Remembrance of Things Past. Lectures, papers, and class discussion in English. Students may read the texts in French or in English translation. Open to all students except those who have taken two or more Grade II courses in French literature.

Mr. Stambaugh

222 (1) (2) Studies in Language I
Comprehensive review of French grammar, enrichment of vocabulary, and introduction to French techniques of composition and the organization of ideas. Limited enrollment. Not open to students who have taken 223. Prerequisite: 142, or or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Galand, Mr. Lagarde, Ms. Russo

223 (2) Studies in Language II
Techniques of expression in French essay writing, including practice in composition, vocabulary consolidation and review of selected grammar problems. Skills in literary analysis and appreciation will be developed through close study of short stories, poems and plays. Not open to students who have taken 222. Prerequisite: same as for 222.

Mr. Lydgate

226 (1) (2) Advanced Spoken French
Practice in oral expression to improve fluency and pronunciation with special attention to idiomatic vocabulary and phonetics. In addition to recordings, videotapes, and periodicals, classics of the French cinema will be studied for their linguistic interest. Regular use of the language laboratory. Enrollment limited to 15. Not open to first year students. Not recommended for students who have studied in France. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit except 206, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Gillain, Ms. Respaut

240 (1) French Cinema
A survey of French cinema from its invention (Lumière, Méliès) to the New Wave (Resnais, Godard, Truffaut) with emphasis on the classical narrative film of the ’30s and ’40s (Vigo, Carné, Renoir, Cocteau, Bresson). Prerequisite: one Grade II unit or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Gillain

249 (2) Selected Topics

Mr. Abbate

Topic 2: The Comic Spirit. A study of the various forms of the comic spirit in French literature. The humor of plot, character and milieu, and the different types of humor, such as comedy, satire and irony will be examined. Some consideration will be given to modern theories of what makes us laugh. Readings from different periods and genres, including Rabelais, Molière, La Fontaine, La Bruyère, Voltaire, Marivaux and Jarry. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit except 220, or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Lagarde

250 (2) The French Press
A reading of current newspaper and magazine articles in French. Analysis of cartoons, comic strips and advertisements. Ideological, sociological and stylistic differences will be stressed. Systematic comparison with the American Press. Intensive practice in conversation and composition. Oral and written reports. Enrollment limited to 15. Prerequisite: same as for 249.

Ms. Cinquin

301 (1) The French Classical Theatre
The crisis of passion and its resolution in the French classical theater. The representation of passions such as love, rivalry, or ambition in the tragedies and comedies of Corneille, Racine and Molière. Prerequisite: 201 and 202 or their equivalents, or one unit of 212, 213, 214, 215, or 219.

Mr. Lagarde
303 (1)* Advanced Studies in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries

Topic for 1987-88: A study of Rousseau’s thought in the context of his embattled personal and intellectual relationship with other important 18th-century thinkers: Diderot, Voltaire and the materialists. Discussion of major concepts and issues which divided the philosophers: interpretations of the concepts of nature, man, freedom, justice, equality and progress; literary and pragmatic approaches to the problem of political and social reform.
Prerequisite: same as for 301.
Mr. Abetti

304 (2)* The French Novel in the Eighteenth Century

Sentiment, desire, power: the affirmation of self and its impact on the evolution of narrative forms in masterpieces of 18th-century fiction. Special attention will be given to the ideological assumptions underlying the portrayal of women and to the correlation between female protagonists and narrative structures. Works by Prevost, Mme Riccoboni, Rousseau, Diderot, Laclos, Sade.
Prerequisite: same as for 301. Not offered in 1987-88.
Ms. Mistacco

305 (2)* Advanced Studies in the Nineteenth Century

Topic for 1987-88: From Novel to Autobiography: Self-knowledge and Self-representation in 19th-Century Literary Works. This course will focus on autobiography as a literary genre. Its links with neighboring textual forms (biography, diary, autobiographical novel) will be explored. The problems of narration within autobiographical texts will be emphasized. Works by Balzac, Stendhal, Chateaubriand, Musset, Fromentin and Sand will be studied.
Prerequisite: same as for 301.
Ms. Tramwosz

306 (1) Literature and Ideology in the Twentieth Century

Ideological purpose and literary form in selected works of Gide, Breton, Malraux, Sartre, Camus, and Robbe-Grillet.
Prerequisite: same as for 301.
Mr. Galand

307 (2)* French Poetry in the Twentieth Century

The nature and function of poetic creation in the works of Valéry, Apollinaire, Breton, Saint-John Perse, Char, and Ponge. Representative texts by poets associated with OULIPO and Tel Quel will also be included.
Prerequisite: same as for 301. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Galand

308 (1) Advanced Studies in Language I

The techniques and art of translation as studied through readings and an analysis of the major linguistic and cultural differences between French and English. Weekly translations from both languages.
Prerequisite or corequisite: one Grade III unit of French and 222 or 223, or their equivalents. Not open to students who have taken 309.
Mr. Abetti

309 (2) Advanced Studies in Language II

Translation into French from novels, essays and poetry. Study of French style through analysis of selected texts.
Prerequisite: same as for 308. Not open to students who have taken 308.
Mr. Galand

312 (2)* Advanced Studies in the Middle Ages and Renaissance

Topic for 1987-88: Social and Intellectual Contexts of the Renaissance in France. Humanism vs. traditional theology. Popular vs. official culture. Oral tradition and the evolution of printing. Tolerance vs. religious fanaticism. Study of major writers and the important literary beginnings their works reflect: Rabelais and the birth of the novel; Montaigne and the origins of autobiography; love poetry reoriented with Ronsard; a tradition of women’s writing established by Louise Labé and Marguerite de Navarre. Frequent reference to concurrent developments in music and the plastic arts.
Prerequisite: same as for 301.
Mr. Lydgate

Directions for Election

Course 101-102 is counted toward the degree but not toward the major. Students who begin with 101-102 in college and who plan to major in French should consult the chair of the department during the second semester of their first year. Course 141-142 may not be elected by students who have taken both 101-102 and 121-122. A student may not count toward the major 220, both 121-122 and 141-142, both 206 and 226. Course 349 may be counted toward the major but not toward the minimum major.

Students who achieve a final grade of A or A— in 121 or 141 may, on the recommendation of their instructor, accelerate their study of French in the following manner: from 121 to 142, from 141 to a lower Grade II course. Students achieving a final grade of A or A— in 102 may, upon the recommendation of their instructor, accelerate to 141. Students who accelerate from French 141 to a lower grade II course will receive one unit of credit from French 141, and will have satisfied Wellesley's foreign language requirement with the successful completion of one semester of Grade II work.

 Majors are required to complete the following courses or their equivalents: either 222 or 223, and either 308 or 309. In some cases 226 may also be required. Majors should consult their advisors regularly to arrange a program of study with these objectives: (a) oral and written linguistic competence; (b) acquisition of basic techniques of reading and interpreting texts; (c) a general understanding of the history of French literature; (d) focus on some special area of study (such as a genre, a period, an author, a movement, criticism, poetics, contemporary French culture).
Students interested in an interdepartmental major in French Studies should consult the listing of courses under that heading in the Catalog; those courses, plus Religion 104 and 105, are also recommended for departmental majors in French.

Students who plan to do graduate work in French are advised to begin or to pursue the study of a second modern language and the study of Latin; those who plan to do graduate work in comparative literature are advised to continue the study of one or more other modern literatures and to acquire proficiency in at least one classical language.

Students interested in obtaining certification to teach French in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts should consult the director of the Interdepartmental Major in French Studies and the Chair of the Department of Education.

French Studies
AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

The major in French Studies offers students the opportunity to achieve oral and written linguistic competence, a good knowledge of France through study of its history, literature, arts and thought, and an understanding of contemporary French society.

Students will have the further advantage of working closely with two advisors, one from French and one from another area of study, to devise and focus their programs. Programs are subject to the approval of the director.

Requirements: For the major, at least four units in French above the Grade I level are required. Of these, at least one shall be at the Grade III level, and at least one chosen from among the following: French 222, 223, 308, 309. All courses above French 102 may be counted toward the major in French Studies, except that French 121-122 and 141-142 may not both be counted, and only one course in each of the following pairs of related courses may be counted: French 206 and 226, French 222 and 223, French 308 and 309.

For the major in French Studies, two or more courses shall be elected from the following:

Art 202 (1)
Art and Architecture from the Catacombs to Charlemagne

Art 203 (2)
Cathedrals and Castles of the High Middle Ages

Art 219 (2)
Painting and Sculpture of the Nineteenth Century

Art 226 (2)
History of Photography

Art 312 (2)
Seminar. Problems in Nineteenth-Century Art

Black Studies 310 (2)

Extradepartmental 225 (2)
The Muses and the King: Art, History, and Music in the Age of Louis XIV

Extradepartmental 334 (2)

History 235 (1)*
The Formation of European Culture: Middle Ages and Renaissance

History 236*
The Emergence of Modern European Culture: the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries. Not offered in 1987-88.

History 242

History 243 (1)
The Enlightenment, the French Revolution, and Napoleon

History 244 (2)
History of Modern France, 1815 – Present

History 330 (2)
Seminar. Medieval Kings, Tyrants and Rebels

History 334(1)
Seminar. Cosmos and Psyche: Visions of Natural Order in the Middle Ages

Language Studies 237 (2)
History and Structure of the Romance Languages. Not offered in 1987-88.

Music 251 (1)*
Music in the Middle Ages

Music 252 (2)*
At the discretion of the director, after consultation with the course instructor, research or individual study (350) may be approved, as may such other courses as: Art 216. Later European and Oriental Art; Art 225. Modern Art; Art 228, 19th- and 20th-Century Architecture; History 237, Modern European Culture: the 19th and 20th Centuries; Music 209, the Classical Era; Philosophy 200, Modern Sources of Contemporary Philosophy; Philosophy 223, Phenomenology and Existentialism; Political Science 205, Politics of Western Europe; Political Science 222, Comparative Foreign Policies.

Students interested in obtaining certification to teach French in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts should consult the Director of the Interdepartmental Major in French Studies and the Chair of the Department of Education.

Geology

Professor: Andrews (Chair)
Associate Professor: Besancon, Thompson
Laboratory Instructor: Pearce

100 (1) Oceanography
An introduction to ocean science with an emphasis on marine geology. Topics include ocean currents and sediments, ocean basin tectonics and evolution, coral reefs, deep-sea life, and marine resources. No laboratory. Open to all students.
Mr. Andrews

102 (1) (2) Introduction to Geology
An introduction to the basic features of the solid earth and the processes that continue to modify it. Emphasis on the development and impact of the continental drift and plate tectonics theories. Laboratory and field trips include study of minerals, rocks, topographic and geologic maps. Open to all students.
The Staff

200 (2) Historical Geology
The geologic history of North America and the evolution of life as revealed in the fossil record. Interpretation of paleogeography and ancient sedimentary and tectonic environments. Laboratory and field trips. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor.
Mr. Andrews

202 (1) Mineralogy
Introduction to crystallography; systematic study of the rock-forming minerals. Emphasis on geochemical relationships including bonding, solid solution series, and mineral structure. Introduction to optical mineralogy. Laboratory. Prerequisite: 102 and one unit of chemistry or by permission of the instructor.
Mr. Besancon

206 (1) Structural Geology
Introduction to geometry and origin of rock structure ranging from microtextures and fabrics to large-scale folding and faulting. Emphasis on processes of rock deformation.
in terms of theoretical prediction and experimental findings. Laboratory and field trips. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88. Offered in 1988-89.

Ms. Thompson

307 (2)* Earth Resources

An introduction to the formation and location of geological resources. Water and petroleum movements provide a basis for understanding their origin, location, and production. The theory of groundwater hydrology is extended to the similar action of petroleum and natural gas. No laboratory. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88. Offered in 1988-89.

Mr. Besançon

304 (2)* Stratigraphy and Sedimentation

Study of the formation, composition, and correlation of stratified rocks. Emphasis on sedimentary environments, transportation of sedimentary particles, sediment diagenesis, and sedimentary petrography. Laboratory and field trips. Prerequisite: 202. Offered in 1987-88. Offered in 1988-89.

The Staff

305 (1)* Invertebrate Paleontology

The morphology and evolution of the major fossil invertebrate phyla with discussion of such general topics as functional morphology, origin of species and higher taxa, ontogeny and phylogeny, and animal size and shape relationships. Laboratory. Prerequisite: 200 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88. Offered in 1988-89.

308 (2)* Plate Tectonics

An examination of the geological, paleontological, and geophysical arguments underlying the plate tectonic theory of global dynamics. Topics to include: historic controversy over continental drift, evidence from the ocean basins leading to the concept of sea floor spreading, geophysical evidence for plate boundaries and plate motions, tectonic provinces associated with presently active plate boundaries, applications of plate theory in the interpretation of ancient tectonic provinces. Prerequisite: 102 and 206. Not offered in 1987-88. Offered in 1988-89.

Ms. Thompson

309 (2)* Petrology

Study of the origin and occurrence of igneous and metamorphic rocks with particular reference to modern geochemical investigations. Examination and description of hand specimens and thin sections using the petrographic microscope. Laboratory. Prerequisite: 202. Mr. Besançon

310 (2)* Geometrics

Statistical analysis of geologic data utilizing univariate, bivariate, and multivariate techniques. Development and application of FORTRAN computer programs for the solution of geologic problems. Laboratory includes field mapping and scientific photography. Prerequisite: 102 and one Grade II unit, or by permission of the instructor. Offered in 1987-88. Not offered in 1988-89.

349 (1)* Seminar, Catastrophes and Extinctions

An examination of mass extinctions in the history of life. Topics covered will include: evolution and the fossil record, uniformitarianism and catastrophic events, dinosaurs and their extinction, periodicity of mass extinctions, and an evaluation of the possible causes of extinctions, including sea-level changes, volcanism and meteorite impacts. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor. Offered in 1987-88. Not offered in 1988-89.

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of the department. See p. 67. Departmental Honors.

---

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Extradepartmental 112 (2)* ****
Evolution: Change Through Time. For description and prerequisite see Extradepartmental 112.

Directions for Election

In addition to eight units in geology, normally to include 200, 206, 304, and 309, the minimum major requires four units from other laboratory sciences, mathematics, or computer science. All four units may not be taken in the same department. A student planning graduate work should note that most graduate geology departments normally require two units each of chemistry, physics, and mathematics. All four units may not be taken in the same department. Biology often may be substituted if the student is interested in paleontology.

The department recommends that students majoring in geology take a geology field course, either 12.051 and 12.052 offered in alternate years by MIT or a summer geology field course offered by another college.

German

INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR:
German Studies

Professor: Goth (Chair1), Ward1 (Chair1)
Associate Professor: Hansen
Assistant Professor: Kruse, Rettig1, Luby1
Director of Wellesley-in-Konstanz-Program: Ursula Dreher

Because the language of instruction above the 100 level is almost exclusively German, the student has constant practice in hearing, speaking, and writing the language. The department reserves the right to place a new student in the course for which she seems best prepared regardless of background and number of units she offers for admission.

Upon recommendation of the instructor and approval of the Chair of the Department, students may proceed from 101 or 102 to 105; or from 104 to 203 at mid-year.

Qualified students are encouraged to spend the junior year in Germany on the Wellesley-in-Konstanz program or an approved non-Wellesley program.

100 (1-2) Beginning German 2
An introduction to contemporary German. Extensive practice in all four skills: listening, speaking, reading and writing. Regular laboratory assignments with emphasis on oral expression. General introduction to contemporary culture in German-speaking countries. Four periods. No credit will be given for course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily.
Mr. Kruse, Ms. Rettig

101 (1) Intensive Review German 2
Intended especially for students who have studied German previously but need to refresh their knowledge. Also, recommended for students whose preparation does not qualify them for 102. Thorough grammar review. Vocabulary building. Texts from the intermediate level. Five periods. All students must take a placement exam. To receive credit and to fulfill the language requirement, students must proceed to 103, or with special permission, 105. Three units of credit are given after completion of 101-103 or 101-105. Not offered 1987-88.

The Staff

102-103 (1-2) Intermediate German 2
Review of grammar and practice in all language skills with special emphasis on idiomatic usage. First semester: thorough grammar review, practice in classroom and language laboratory, reading in contemporary culture. Second semester: extensive composition practice. Three periods. To receive credit and to fulfill the language requirement, students must take both semesters of work. Prerequisite: one to two admission units and placement exam or 100.
Ms. Goth (102), Mr. Kruse (103)

104-105 (1-2) Studies in Language and Literature 2
Intermediate language study with emphasis on idiomatic usage, vocabulary building, and expository writing. First semester: grammar review, written and oral practice based on literary readings. Second semester: further training in analysis of fiction, poetry, and drama with emphasis on the continued development of language skills. Texts read are more difficult than those in 102-103. Three periods. To receive credit and to fulfill the language requirement, students must take both semesters of work. Prerequisite: two to three admission units and placement exam, or permission of the department. Permission will be based on a high grade in 100. One may not enter 104-105 after completing 102-103.
Ms. Ward (104), Ms. Rettig (105)

201 (1) Advanced Grammar and Writing Skills
The course, conducted primarily in German, emphasizes written expression. Grammar review will focus selectively on topics chosen by the group. Writing assignments will relate to cultural issues of modern Germany and call on skills that progress in sophistication from summarizing ideas or reporting experience (including the conventions of letter-writing), to composing logically argued essays. Vocabulary-building exercises and translation passages will be included. Does not count as prerequisite for Grade II literature course. Required for the major in German Language and Literature unless a student is exempted by the department from this course by virtue of her language proficiency. Prerequisite: 102-103, or 104-105, or placement examination.
Ms. Rettig

202 (1) 203 (2) Introduction to German Literature 1 or 2
Historical survey of selected literary masterpieces as well as introduction to interpretative methods. First semester: from the Middle Ages to the Enlightenment. Texts include selections from the Nibelungenlied and Parzival, from Johannes von Tepl, Luther, and the Baroque poets. Second semester: selections from the Storm and Stress and Classicism to late 19th century. Texts by Goethe, Schiller, the Romantics and the Realists. Both semesters are required for the majors in German Language and Literature and in German Studies. Each semester may be taken independently. Three periods. Prerequisite: three or more admission units and placement exam, or two units of intermediate-level German, or by permission of the department.
Ms. Goth

205 (1) Studies in Romanticism: Literature and Society
The impact of Romantic thought on literary and social forms: Discovery of the unconscious, fantasy, androgyne, “Geselligkeit.” A wide range of genres and authors will be studied in order to trace the development of the German Romantic movement from the late 18th through the mid-19th century. Writers include Friedrich Schlegel, Brentano, Novalis, Achim and Bettina von Arnim, Caroline Schlegel-Schelling, Rahel Varnhagen, E.T.A. Hoffmann, Eichendorff. Prerequisite: 202, 203 or permission of the instructor. Not offered 1987-88.
Ms. Ward

210 (2) The German Comedy from 1800 to the Present
A survey of modern comedy with special attention to the role of politics and anti-politics on the stage. The course will explore social and aesthetic concerns as well as dramatic theory. Texts include dramas by Kleist, Raimund, Buchner, Hofmannsthal, Brecht, Frisch and Dürrnmmatt. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit, 202 or 203, or permission of the instructor.

Ms. Goth

220 (1) Berlin in the Twenties
The capital city of Berlin during the Weimar Republic as the center of German cultural activity in the 1920’s. Topics include: political and social change within the economic dislocation cau sed by World War I; Berlin’s urban milieu as the backdrop for avantgarde culture;
the rise of National Socialism. Texts and issues from various media: autobiography, literature, theatre, cabaret, film, art and architecture. Prerequisite: two Grade II units, 202-203 or 201-203, or permission of the instructor. Especially recommended for German Studies majors.

Ms. Ward

228 (2) Literature since 1945: Women and Women Authors in the Two Germanies
(in English)
Discussion of the changing role of women in the Federal Republic of Germany and the German Democratic Republic through an analysis of works by representative women writers.
The image of women in literature considered within a political/historical context. Attention will also be given to recent trends in literary criticism, including feminist and Marxist approaches. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Ward

229 (2) The Folktale: Studies in the Märchen (in English)
The folktale of the western world, its mythic, psychological, and fabulous aspects; and its function as a mirror of the self and of the world. A study of its form and various schools of interpretation. Texts from the folktale traditions of England, France, Italy, Russia, with special emphasis on the folktale of the Brothers Grimm. All texts read in English.
Open to all students. Not offered 1987-88.

Ms. Goth

239 (2) The German Cinema (in English)
A survey of German cinema from its Golden Age in the 1920’s to the new wave films of Fassbinder, Herzog, Wenders, Margarete von Trotta. Various critical approaches to the study of film (thematic, structural, psychological) will be considered and evaluated. Open to all students.

Ms. Rettig

304 (1) Goethe
Texts from all phases of Goethe’s literary career will be studied in their socio-historical context. Readings will include: poetry, dramatic works including Faust, and narrative works. Prerequisite: 202-203 or permission of the instructor.

Mr. Kruse

305 (1) Readings in Eighteenth-Century
Literature
The problems and issues of the German Enlitenment and the Storm and Stress will be studied in their historical context. Texts by Lessing, Mendelssohn, Herder, Lenz, Wagner,
Kant, Goethe and Schiller will be read. Prerequisite: two Grade II units or permission of the instructor. Not offered 1987-88.

Ms. Goth

349 (2) Seminar. The German Novel in the Eighties
The course will examine the most recent works of four major postwar German novelists: Heinrich Böll’s Frauen vor Flußland-schaft (1985), Siegfried Lenz’s Exerzierplatz (1985), Günter Grass’s Die Rättin (1986) and Martin Walser’s Brandung (1985). A careful reading of these texts will provide insight into the diversity of the genre in contemporary German literature. Intensive study of the novels’ historical context will illuminate the social, political, ecological and moral issues of Germany in the eighties. Prerequisite: one Grade
III unit or by permission of the instructor.

German Studies

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Chair of the German Department

The major in German Studies is designed to provide the student with knowledge and understanding of the culture of the two Germanies, Austria and Switzerland by acquiring proficiency in the German language and through the study of the literature, history, philosophy, music and art of these countries. German Studies is an interdisciplinary major of at least 8 units that offers students an alternative to the major in German Language and Literature. A student may choose her program from various courses devoted to some aspect of German culture offered by several departments. The course in German literature in English translation (course number and topic may vary) is recommended. To ensure competence in spoken and written German, a minimum of 4 units above the Grade 1 level must be taken in the German Department. Of these, only German 202 and 203 are required. A 350 may not be substituted for one of these 4 units.

Students will choose major advisors, one from German and one from another department. Programs must be approved by the Chair of the German Department.

For the major in German Studies, two or more courses shall be elected from the following:

History 237 (1)*
Modern European Culture: The Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries

History 245 (1)
Germany in the Twentieth Century

History 325 (2)
The Romantic Era in Germany

History 341 (1)
Seminar. The Nature and Meanings of History

History 358 (1)
Seminar. Origins of the World Wars

Music 209 (1)*
The Classical Era

Directions for Election

German 100 is counted toward the degree but not toward the major. Intermediate level courses (101, 102-103, 104-105) are considered as Grade I courses and are not ordinarily counted toward the major. Students who begin with 100 and who wish to major in German Language and Literature should consult the Chair of the Department to obtain permission to omit the intermediate level and take 202-203. Students who begin with intermediate-level work and wish to major may be encouraged at mid-year to advance from 101 or 102 to 105 and from 104 to 203. Students intending to major in the department are required to take 202-203, 304 or 305 offered in alternate years, 201 or its equivalent, and at least one seminar. It is strongly recommended that the major include a distribution by approach; that is, at least one period, one genre and one single-author course, and that there be three Grade III units. Courses in art, music, philosophy, English, literature courses in other foreign language departments, and History 245 and History 325 are recommended.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360.
Seminars in Music may be counted toward the German Studies major as long as the topic is relevant and appropriate. For example:

Music 317 (1)
Seminar. The Baroque Era

Philosophy 203 (1)
Philosophy of Art

Philosophy 221

Philosophy 223
Phenomenology and Existentialism. Not offered in 1987-88.

Philosophy 302
Kant. Not offered in 1987-88.

The following Political Science courses may be counted toward the major in German Studies if the student does a research project on a topic related to a German speaking country:

Political Science 242 (1)
Contemporary Political Theory

Political Science 342 (1)
Marxist Political Theory

Religion 340 (2)
Seminar. The Holocaust

Directions for Election
To fulfill the distribution requirement in Group A, students may elect any courses in Greek or Latin except History 150, 229, 230, 231, 331; Classical Civilization 100, 215, 216, 243, 244, 246, 252, 326 (except for CLCV 100 these courses may be elected to fulfill the requirement in Group B). The following may not be counted toward the major in Greek or Latin: Classical Civilization 100, 101, 104, 203, 215, 216, 243, 244, 246, 252, 310, 326; History 150, 229, 230, 231.

All students majoring in Greek must complete four units of Grade III work.

All students majoring in Latin are required to complete 302 and at least two other units of Grade III work.

Latin students who offer an AP Latin score of 5 in the Latin Lyric examination should normally elect 249; an AP score of 5 or 4 in the Vergil examination usually leads to 221 but a student with a score of 4 in AP Latin Lyric examination should consult the Chair regarding placement.

Students majoring in Greek or Latin are advised to elect some work in the other language. It should be noted that work in both Greek and Latin is essential for graduate studies in the classics.

Courses in ancient history, ancient art, ancient philosophy, and classical mythology are recommended as valuable related work. Students interested in a major in Classical and Near Eastern Archaeology are referred to p. 115 where the program is described.

Students who wish to major in Classical Civilization can plan with the department an appropriate sequence of courses, which should include work in such areas as art, history, philosophy, and literature. Such a program should always contain at least four units of work in the original language. For details on the Classical Civilization major, see p. 113.

The departments offer a choice of two plans for the Honors Program. Plan A (Honors Research, see 360 and 370 above, carrying two to four units of credit) provides the candidate with opportunity for research on a special topic and the writing of a long paper or several shorter papers. Plan B provides an opportunity for the candidate to show through examinations at the end of her senior year that she has acquired a superior grasp, not only of a basic core of texts, but also of additional reading beyond course requirements. Plan B carries no course credit, but where appropriate, students may elect a unit of 350 to prepare a special author or project which would be included in the Honors examinations.

Honors candidates who are Classical Civilization majors should elect Plan B.

The College is a member of the Intercollegiate Center for Classical Studies in Rome, a program for American undergraduates in classical languages, ancient history and topography, archaeology, and art history. Majors, especially those interested in Roman studies, are urged to plan their programs so as to include a semester at the Center in the junior year.

Associate Professor: Tumanik, Knudsen, Park

Assistant Professor: Gouda, Kapteijn, Birt M., Rogers

Instructor: LaRue P.

100 (1) (2) Medieval and Early Modern European History
A survey of the major ideas and institutions that have shaped Western civilization from the fall of Rome to the age of Renaissance and Reformation. Emphasis on the processes of social, political, and cultural change in the history of Western Europe. Introduction to the techniques of historical analysis and the interpretation of historical evidence through extensive use of original sources. Open to all students.

Mr. Cox, Ms. Park

101 (1) (2) Modern European History
An introduction to European history from 1600 to the present, designed to aid the student in formulating historical judgments about the significance of representative institutions, the scientific revolution, the Enlightenment, the French Revolution, industrialization, imperialism, world wars, totalitarianism. Open to all students.

Ms. Gouda, Mr. LaRue, Ms. Tumanik, Mr. Knudsen

102 (1) The American Experience
An introduction to the social, cultural, political, and economic forces that have shaped American history, including colonization, slavery, immigration, civil conflict, industrialization, and international relations. Open to all students.

Ms. Jones

103 Introduction to Non-Western History
An introduction to world history focusing on major trends and developments outside Europe. Discussion of the delineation of world cultures in ancient, medieval and modern times. Emphasis on comparative themes in each period, from the Middle East and Africa to India, China and the Far East. Concludes with discussion of Afro-Asian responses to European colonialism, including such major topics as nationalism, socialism and non-alignment. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Kapteijn

104 (1) (2) Introduction to Japan
A survey of Japan from prehistory to the present. Topics include: Japan’s classical society; the rise of the samurai; the Tokugawa Peace; Japan’s response to the West and emergence as a modern economic and military power; the costs of modernization; Japan’s abortive attempt at empire; the postwar recovery, and Japan’s emergence as an economic superpower. Open to all students.

Mr. Birt

150 (1) (2) Colloquia
Open by permission to a limited number of first year student and sophomore applicants.

b. China in Outside Perspective
Can another people’s historical or cultural experience be understood in its own terms by an outsider? Or does the outsider’s outsider-ness place definite limits upon cross-cultural understanding? Many Westerners who went to China in the 20th century stayed for long periods, became deeply engaged in the revolutionary changes that were taking place, and then wrote accounts (often highly personal) of their experiences. What we can learn from these accounts about China—and what the accounts tell us about the outsiders themselves (many of them Americans)—will be the central problem explored in this course. Readings will be drawn from autobiography, fiction, personal memoirs, and journalism. Not offered 1987-88.

Mr. Cohen

c. The Fall of the Roman Empire: Suicide, Murder or Rebirth?
Since the 18th century Western historians have treated the disasters of the 5th century A.D. as the end of the World of Antiquity and the beginning of the Middle Ages. Did the Roman Empire fall due to the ‘pressure of its own weight’ (Edward Gibbon), was it ‘murdered’ by barbarians (A.H.M. Jones), or transformed into the ‘World of Late Antiquity’ (Peter Brown)? What role did Christianity play in this process and what were the effects of this suicide, murder, or rebirth on later European and Islamic History? Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Rogers

223* From Closed World to Infinite Universe

A history of science and medicine in Europe between 1100 and 1700. The course will trace the revival of classical ideas on nature in the 12th century, their flowering and transformation in the high Middle Ages, and the emergence of new explanatory systems during the Scientific Revolution. Authors to be read include Adelard of Bath, Nicole Oresme, Leonardo da Vinci, Paracelsus, Copernicus, Galileo, Descartes, and Newton. Alternates with 235. Open to qualified first year college students (see Directions for Election) and to all other students without prerequisite. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Park

229 (2)* Alexander the Great: Psychopath or Philosopher King?

Alexander the Great murdered his best friend, married a Bactrian princess, and dressed like Dionysus. He also conquered the known world by the age of 33, fused the eastern and western populations of his empire, and became a god. Was Alexander a drunken bisexual murderer or an ascetic philosopher king? This course will examine the personality, career, and achievements of the greatest conqueror in Western history against the background of the Hellenistic World. Open to all students.

Mr. Rogers

230 (1)* Greek History from the Bronze Age to the Death of Philip II of Macedon

A survey tracing the origins, development, and geographical spread of Greek Culture from the Bronze Age to the death of Philip II of Macedon. Greek Colonization, the Persian Wars, the Athenian democracy, and the rise of Macedon will be examined in relation to the social, economic, and religious history of the Greek polis. Open to all students.

Mr. Rogers

231 (2)* History of Rome

An introduction focusing on Rome’s cultural development from its origins as a small city state in the 8th century B.C. to its rule over a vast empire extending from Scotland to Iraq. Topics for discussion will include the Etruscan influence on the formation of early Rome, the causes of Roman expansion throughout the Mediterranean during the Republic, and the Hellenization of Roman society. Also, the urbanization and Romanization of Western Europe, the spread of mystery religions, the persecution and expansion of Christianity, and the economy and society of the Empire will be examined. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88. Offered in 1988-89.

Mr. Rogers

232 (2) The Medieval World, 1000 to 1300

An introduction to the history and culture of Europe during the High Middle Ages, for students interested in art, literature and philosophy as well as history. The attempt to create a Christian commonwealth will be examined, together with its effects upon feudal monarchy, knights and chivalry, peasants, townsmen and students. Life in castles, in manors, in villages and towns will be seen in relation to political, religious and social ideas as expressed in contemporary sources, including art and literature. Prerequisite: same as for 223.

233 (1)* Renaissance Italy

Italian history and culture from the age of Petrarch and Boccaccio to the age of Michelangelo and Machiavelli. The new urban civilization of late medieval Italy as a background to the developments in art, literature, and philosophy of the Renaissance. Topics to be discussed include the commercial revolution, the impact of the Black Death, republicanism and the growth of civic humanism, patronage and art, the rise of the court, theories of princely power, and Counter-Reformation culture. Alternates with 234. Prerequisite: same as for 223. Not offered in 1987-88. Offered in 1988-89.

Ms. Park
234 (2)* Heresy, Humanism, and Reform: Renaissance and Reformation in Northern Europe

An exploration of the crisis of late medieval culture; the challenge to traditional patterns of authority and the emergence of a new social, intellectual and religious order. Topics include humanism and the critique of scholasticism, printing and the spread of literacy, sexuality and the transformation of the family, religious experience and the shaping of personal identity, peasant revolts and popular culture, religious persecution and the great Witch Craze. Alternates with 233. Prerequisite: same as for 223.
Ms. Park

235 (1)* The Formation of European Culture: Middle Ages and Renaissance

A survey of Western thought from Abelard in the 12th century to Francis Bacon in the 16th. The transformation of religious ideas in the courts, monasteries, and universities of medieval Christendom and their re-emergence in the new secular world of Renaissance Europe. Reading largely from primary sources, including Abelard, Bonaventure, Aquinas, Ockham, Petrarch, Erasmus, and Montaigne. Alternates with 223. Prerequisite: same as for 223.
Ms. Park

236 * The Emergence of Modern European Culture: The Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries

A comparative survey of Enlightenment culture in England, France, and the Germans. Topics to be considered include skepticism, the scientific revolution, classicism in art, the formation of liberal society, the differing social structure of intellectual life. The approach is synthetic, stressing the links between philosophy, political theory, art, and their historical context. Among the authors: Locke, Hume, Voltaire, Diderot, Rousseau, Lessing, Kant, Goethe. Prerequisite: same as for 223. Not offered in 1987-88. Offered in 1988-89. Mr. Knudsen

237 (1)* Modern European Culture: The Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries

A survey of European culture from the French Revolution to the post-World War II period, from idealism to existentialism in philosophy, from romanticism to modernism in art and literature. As with 236, emphasis is placed on the social and historical context of cultural life. Among the authors: Wordsworth, Hegel, Marx, Mill, Nietzsche, Freud, Merleau-Ponty. Prerequisite: same as for 223.
Mr. Knudsen

238 (1) English History: 1066 and All That

From the coming of the Anglo-Saxons through the coming of Henry Tudor. This survey will study some of the traditional heroes and villains, such as Alfred the Great, William the Conqueror, Richard the Third; church and churchmen, such as Bede, Becket, and Beaufort; developments into and away from feudal monarchy; aspects of sociopolitical history, including baronial and peasant uprisings; and selected cultural achievements. Prerequisite: same as for 223.
Mrs. Robinson

239 (2) English History: Henry VIII and Elizabeth I

The first part of the course will focus on Henry VIII: the court and chivalry; connubial bliss and the church; T. Cromwell and the Commonwealth; the children. Part II will focus on Elizabeth: the Commons, courtiers, and courting; confrontations, domestic and foreign; colonial adventures; culture. Discussion of several films. Prerequisite: same as for 223.
Mrs. Robinson

240 (1) English History: Victorians and Edwardians

The 19th and early 20th centuries, emphasizing the interplay of individuals and groups confronted with historically unprecedented changes in their material and intellectual world. Exploration of the transformation of a basically agrarian, hierarchical, traditional society into an industrial, class-divided, secular world power. Prerequisite: same as for 223. Mrs. Robinson

241 (1) Women in European History

A survey of women in European history from the Enlightenment to the present, focusing on such issues as women’s legal, economic and affective position within the family, motherhood, religiosity, artistic expression, trends in female labor force participation, education, and the emerging feminist struggle for political rights or "equality of regard." Throughout careful attention will be devoted to the difference and/or commonalities in the lives of particular groups of women owing to their location in the class structure as well as their national origins. Open to all students.

Ms. Gouda

242 France in the Splendid Century
French history and culture, 1600-1715. Louis XIV and the palace-city of Versailles, both as a technique of government and as an expression of political theology and aesthetic ideas, will be studied against the background of religious wars and rebellion during the first half of the century. The art, architecture, literature and drama of the "Classical Age" will complete this picture of the France that became the wonder and the terror of its time. Prerequisite: same as for 223. Not offered in 1987-88. See Extracurricular 225 (2).

243 (1) The Enlightenment, the French Revolution, and Napoleon
The history and culture of France, 1715-1815. Monarchical splendor, lordly pleasures, the new urban culture, and the pursuit of happiness and reform, as seen in art, architecture and letters during the Age of Voltaire and Rousseau. Analysis of the causes and events of the Revolution, the effort to create a Republic of Virtue, the rise of Napoleon and the creation of the Napoleonic Empire. Napoleon himself will be studied as one of the more fascinating and enigmatic phenomena in modern European history. Prerequisite: same as for 223.

244 (2) History of Modern France, 1815-Present
Starting with the restoration of the monarchy this course will explore the interaction between the revolutionary tradition and reactionary factions in French politics, the eruption of revolution in 1830 and 1848, the Commune in 1870 and the emergence of a politicized labor movement and its connections to international Marxism. In the 20th century attention will be devoted to the fate of France during World War I, the United Front and political alignments during World War II. In the postwar era, we will discuss the Algerian crisis, and the student protests of the 1960s. Prerequisite: same as for 223.

Ms. Gouda

245 (1) Germany in the Twentieth Century
An examination of German politics, society, and culture from World War I to the present. The course concentrates on the greater German language area—including the contemporary Federal, German Democratic, and Austrian republics—and explores the German response to pressures felt throughout Western Europe. Prerequisite: same as for 223.

Mr. Knudsen

246 (1) Medieval and Imperial Russia
A study of the social, political, economic, and cultural development of Russia from the medieval period to the mid-19th century. Particular consideration is given to the rise of absolutism, the enferrment of the peasantry, and the impact upon Russia of successive foreign cultures—Byzantium, the Mongol Empire, and the West. Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors.

Ms. Tumarkin

247 (2) Modern Russia and the Soviet Union
One hundred years of reform, revolution, and reaction. Late Imperial Russia, the Revolution of 1917, and the creation of a Soviet state under Lenin and Stalin. Special emphasis is placed on the Russian Revolution and on continuity and change under Soviet rule. Prerequisite: same as for 246.

Ms. Tumarkin

248 (1) Europe in the Twentieth Century
An interpretative study of modern Europe emphasizing social change and the development of new modes of thought and expression. Topics include: communism, fascism, nationalism; Freud; changing artistic and intellectual perceptions; the mass media. Prerequisite: same as for 246.

Ms. Tumarkin
250 The First Frontier
The adaptation of the English, Europeans, and Africans to the alien environment of North America in the 17th century. Analysis of the formation of colonial settlements, problems of survival and leadership, relations with Indian cultures, the creation of new societies in the New World. Prerequisite: same as for 246. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mrs. Preyer

251 The Age of the American Revolution
The transformation of society, culture, and politics in the creation of the new nation, 1750-1820. The American Enlightenment; the struggle for independence; the making of the Constitution; the establishment of national identity. Prerequisite: same as for 246. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mrs. Preyer

252 The United States in the Nineteenth Century
An introduction to the century of the Industrial Revolution; westward expansion; maturation of the southern slave economy; civil war; and the first organized efforts of Afro-Americans, women, and workers to achieve full political and economic rights. Prerequisite: same as for 246. Not offered in 1987-88.
Ms. Jones

253 (1) The United States in the Twentieth Century
Selected 20th-century issues and problems, with emphasis on the responses of Americans and their institutions to social change. Topics include: the emergence of an urban industrial society; the tension between traditional values, liberal reform and radical protest; issues of war and peace; the welfare state and the limits of government power. Prerequisite: same as for 246.
Mr. Auerbach

255 (1-2) Intellectual History of the United States
The ideas associated with the development of American culture as they are embodied in political thought, religion, the arts, philosophy and social institutions from the colonial period to the present time. First semester to Civil War, second semester to the present. Either semester may be elected independently. Prerequisite: same as for 246.
Mr. Auerbach

257 (2) Women in American History
A survey of women in American history, from the colonial period to the present, focusing on the family, education, patterns of paid and unpaid labor, creative women, images of women in the popular media, women's rights, and feminism. Special emphasis on class, ethnic, racial, and religious differences among American women, as well as their common experiences. Open to all students.
Ms. Jones

258 (2) Freedom and Dissent in American History
An exploration of ideas of freedom and patterns of political and religious dissent since the founding of the nation. Special attention to the expanding and contracting constitutional boundaries of free expression. Among the issues to be examined: wartime censorship; political extremism; civil disobedience; individual rights and state power. Prerequisite: same as for 246.
Mr. Auerbach

263 (2) South Africa in Historical Perspective
The increasing racial violence in South Africa and the political system of Apartheid that is a major cause of this violence must be understood in the context of the region's political, social, and economic history. This course will therefore take a long-term perspective on the history of South Africa, which culminated in the development of Apartheid in the period after World War II. Open to all students.
Ms. Kapteijns

264 (1) The History of Precolonial Africa
The rich and complex history of precolonial Africa is characterized by the development of increasingly complex societies—from gathering and hunting groups and stateless societies to city-states and kingdoms. This course will trace the history of these societies and introduce students to the wide variety of source materials available to the African historian. Important themes will include the spread of Islam in Africa, the rise of towns and a middle class, the massive enslavement of African people, and the changing social relationships between old and young, men and women, nobles and commoners, and free-born and slaves in precolonial Africa. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88. Offered in 1988-89.
Ms. Kapteijns

265 (2) History of Modern Africa
Many of Africa's current characteristics are the heritage of its colonial experience, which varied from one area to the other. This course will deal with the different types of colonies—from those settled by European planters to the "Cinderella's" or minimally exploited ones—and will trace African responses to colonial rule up to the achievement of political independence. While the course will include an outline of the political history of the postcolonial period, the emphasis will be on an analysis of the roots of poverty, the food crisis, civil war and secessionism, the problem of tyranny, and East-West rivalry. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88. Offered in 1988-89.
Ms. Kapteijns

271 (1) Modern Japan
Japanese history in the 19th and 20th centuries. Topics to be covered include: internal developments during the Tokugawa era; the crisis created by the arrival of the West; the Meiji Restoration of 1868; factors contributing to Japan's rapid economic growth in the 19th century and the development of ultranationalism and militarism in the 20th; cultural and intellectual trends; World War II and the postwar recovery; problems faced by Japan in the future. Open to all students.
Mr. Brit

275 (2) Late Imperial Chinese History
After a brief survey of earlier developments in Chinese history, the course will focus on the period from Late Ming (ca. 1600) to the eve of the revolution of 1911. Emphasis will be placed on both internal and external sources of change: the growing commercialization of Chinese society, unprecedented population expansion, the doubling of the size of the Chinese empire in the 18th century, indigenous intellectual and cultural developments, the political-economic-intellectual impact of the West and the progressive breakdown of Chinese society and polity in the 19th century. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Cohen

276 (2) China in Revolution
An introduction to the revolutionary changes that have swept China in the 20th century. Among topics to be covered: the revolution of 1911 and its meaning; warlordism and the militarization of Chinese politics; May Fourth cultural, intellectual, and literary currents; Chiang Kai-shek and the Kuomintang; Mao Zedong and the early history of the Communist movement; social and economic changes; World War II; the Communist triumph in 1949 and major developments of the last 30 years; future problems. Open to all students.
Mr. Cohen

281 (2) A History of the Third World: 1400 to the Present
A study of Third World History with an emphasis on the persistent influence of local cultures on social and economic developments. Analyzes through time of specific Third World societies and their internal cultural, social and economic patterns. Comparison of divergent local responses to parallel domination. Case studies are taken from the Americas, the Far East, the Middle East and Africa. Open to all students.
Mr. LaRue

284 (1) The Middle East in Modern History
This course will deal with a variety of themes in the political, socioeconomic, and intellectual history of the modern Middle East. It will analyze the rise of the modern nation-states in the period following World War I and trace the background of the area's major current political conflicts: the Arab-Israeli conflict, the Iran-Iraq war, the struggle for Lebanon, the Russian occupation of Afghanistan. On the level of socioeconomic change, the analysis will focus on the transformation of society as a result of the oil boom and efforts at economic development and include topics such as the influx of migrant labor, the "separate development" of Saudi women, and the transformation of nomadic and village society. Themes in the history of ideas will include the rise of Jewish and Arab nationalism, Islamic fundamentalism, and the feminist movement in the Middle East. Novels, short stories and poetry will be among the sources used for this course. Open to all students.

Ms. Kapteijns

286 Islamic Society in Historical Perspective
This course will introduce students to the rich mosaic of Islamic society from the time of the Prophet to the First World War. Through the study of a wide variety of "building blocks" of Islamic society—from nomadic camp to metropole, from extended family to state bureaucracy, and Islamic courts of law to Sufi brotherhoods—students will gain insight into some major themes of the political, religious, and socioeconomic history of the Islamic world in this time period. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Kapteijns

309 Social History of the United States, 1600 to 1850
The evolution of American society from a few scattered colonial settlements along the East Coast to an industrializing, culturally and racially diverse nation that spanned the continent. Students will apply theories and models of social organization to selected topics covering the period from 1600 to 1850, including New England community life, the emergence of Afro-American culture, beginning of the Industrial Revolution, and political turmoil that preceded the Civil War. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken two units of history or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Jones

310 Social History of the United States, 1850-1985
The development of American society in terms of changing family organization, socioeconomic class structure, patterns of work and leisure time activities, industrialization, urbanization, ethnic groups, and social and geographical mobility: 1850 to 1980. Prerequisite: same as for 309. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Jones

314 (2) America in the Progressive Era
American society between 1890-1920, focusing on the impact of urban industrial growth and movements for social reform. Emphasis on problems that persist in American public life: political corruption, corporate wealth, presidential power, immigration, private property and public responsibility. Open to juniors and seniors, and by permission of the instructor to especially qualified sophomores.

Mr. Auerbach

315 America in the 1960s
This course will examine one of the more turbulent decades in recent American history. The "New Frontier," the "Great Society" and the early Nixon years will be explored along with the varied manifestations of political and social unrest. Civil Rights, the crisis in the nation's cities, the evolution of America's involvement in Vietnam and the impact of the war at home will be stressed. Open to juniors and seniors. Not offered in 1987-88.

321 (1) Post-War Japan
This course will trace Japan's rise from the ashes of defeat in World War II to its current prominence as an economic superpower. The challenge of recovery has affected every facet of Japanese society. We will examine how that challenge has influenced and been influenced by Japan's postwar social, political, and intellectual personality. We will also examine Japan's efforts to lead the way to a new "Information Society." Prerequisite: same as for 314.

Mr. Birt

323 (2) Imperialism and Its Effects
This course deals with the causes and effects of the expansion of Europe and the United States into Asia, Latin America, the Middle East, and Africa since the early 19th century. Classical theories about the motivations for imperialism and colonialism, new explanations of dependency. Case studies in the nature of the economic and political relationships between Western powers and Third World countries and on the impact of foreign domination upon subject peoples. Prerequisite: same as for 314. Not open to students who have taken 342.

Mr. LaRue

325 (2) The Romantic Era in Germany
German culture and society from the Napoleonic Wars to the revolutions of 1848. The course will focus on three of the major locations of German cultural life—Berlin, Vienna, and Weimar—and explore changes in art, literature, music, philosophy, and politics. We will study the social dimensions of culture as well, looking at the role of Jews and women in the salon culture of Berlin, the court at Weimar, the aristocratic patrons of Viennese culture, and the radical student movement at the universities. Among the figures and groups to be studied: in literature, Kleist, Rahel Varnhagen, Goethe, E.T.A. Hoffmann and Heine; in music, Beethoven; in architecture, Schinkel; in art, Caspar David Friedrich; and in politics, Hegel and the young Hegelians (Feuerbach and Marx). Prerequisite: same as for 314.

Mr. Knudsen

330 (2) Seminar. Medieval Kings, Tyrants and Rebels
A study of the feudal classes of Western Europe during the High Middle Ages and the role they played in defining western notions of political, religious and personal freedom. Ideas of kingship and tyranny, concepts of nobility, women and feudalism, kinship and vassalage will be examined by making use of medieval sources wherever possible: chronicles, biographies, correspondence, political treatises, epic and romantic literature. Examples will be drawn primarily from the history of England and France between the 11th and 14th centuries, but material on Germany, Italy and Spain will also be included. Open by permission of the instructor to juniors, seniors, and to especially qualified sophomores.

333 Seminar. Renaissance Florence
The Florentine Renaissance was a period of social upheaval, political constrictions, economic depression, and religious uncertainty. In what ways did the social, political, and economic crises serve as the background and impetus to the intellectual and artistic flowering? We will approach this question by examining the structure of Florentine society, and in particular the life and mentality of the patrician families whose patronage and protection fueled the "golden age" of Florentine culture. Prerequisite: same as for 330. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Park

334 (1) Seminar. Cosmos and Psyche: Visions of Natural Order in the Middle Ages
A study of ideas of natural order in medieval philosophy and literature. The course will focus on three great poems and their philosophical background: Bernard Silvester's Cosmographia, the Romance of the Rose, and Dante's Paradiso. Through them we will trace the shift from neoplatonic to Aristotelian perspectives that takes place between the 12th and the 14th centuries. We will explore such major issues as the creation and development of the idea of nature, theories of language and knowledge, and the relationship between the universe and the human mind. Prerequisite: same as for 330.

Ms. Park, Ms. Jacoff

335 (2) Seminar. Jefferson
Analysis of the life, philosophy and public career of Thomas Jefferson in the context of the 18th-century Enlightenment in Europe and America. Prerequisite: same as for 330.

Mrs. Preyer

The history of southern women, as shaped by their everyday experiences related to work, education, and family life, and by the social and economic upheavals precipitated by the Great Depression, World War II, the Civil Rights Revolution, and the emerging women's movement, with special attention to the divisive forces of racial prejudice and class conflict. Students will examine autobiographies, historical monographs, novels, and the recent documentary film series chronicling the Civil Rights movement, "Eyes on the Prize." Prerequisite: same as for 330.
Ms. Jones

337 (2) Seminar. The American Promised Land
Intensive analysis of selected texts, drawn from various disciplines and historical eras, which attempt to define the uniqueness of the American promise. Topic for 1987-88: Religion and the State. Religious freedom in American history, with emphasis on freedom of conscience, the free exercise of religion, and the "wall of separation." Particular attention to groups and individuals (Mormons, Jehovah's Witnesses, Orthodox Jews) who have resisted the secular consensus. Prerequisite: same as for 330.
Mr. Auerbach

338 Seminar. The United States and Israel
Explorations in the history of an uneasy relationship between two nations and especially its Jewish peoples, from World War I to the present. Among issues to be considered are the Zionist justification for a Jewish state, and the impact of the Balfour Declaration, Nazism, the Holocaust, the birth of Israel, and the Arab-Israel conflict on American policy. The relations of American Jews to issues of Jewish statehood will be carefully scrutinized. Prerequisite: same as for 330. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Auerbach

339 (1) Seminar. American Jewish History
The development of American Jewish life and institutions, especially since the era of mass immigration from Eastern Europe. Particular attention to the pressures, pleasures, and perils of acculturation. Historical and literary evidence will guide explorations into the social, psychological, and political implications of Jewish minority status in the United States. Prerequisite: same as for 330.
Mr. Auerbach

340 Seminar. American Legal History
Selected topics relating to the development of American law and legal institutions during the 18th and 19th centuries. Emphasis on several group research projects by the class. Prerequisite: same as for 330. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mrs. Preyer

341 (1) Seminar. The Nature and Meanings of History
Introduction to modern historical writing with an emphasis on the tendencies and counter-tendencies in the 20th-century European tradition. Particular concern with patterns of historical explanation as adopted by practicing historians: individual and collective biography, demography and family reconstruction, psycho-history, Marxism. Prerequisite: same as for 330.
Mr. Knudsen

345 Seminar. China's Current Reforms in Historical Perspective
In the years since Mao Zedong's death in 1976, China has initiated wide-ranging reforms in the economic, political, legal, educational, and cultural spheres. One way of analyzing these reforms—their causes and objectives, the problems they have encountered, their likelihood of success—is by comparing them with earlier patterns of Chinese reformism. After initial examination of the post-Mao reforms, the seminar will study major reform efforts of the 19th century, the reforms immediately preceding and succeeding the 1911 Revolution, and the reforms attempted under the Kuomintang in the 1930s. Distribution of seminar time between the post-Mao reforms and earlier Chinese reform efforts will depend on the interests of the class. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken 275, 276, or Political Science 208, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Cohen

346 (2) Seminar. China and America: The Evolution of a Troubled Relationship
Despite the long-standing myth of a "special relationship" between China and the U.S., it is arguable that from the 19th century to the present what has been most special about this relationship is the degree to which it has been marked by misunderstanding and conflict. This theme will be explored through such topics as: the treatment of Chinese in California and U.S. exclusion legislation, the rhetoric and reality of the Open Door, American intellectual and cultural influence on China in the 1920s and 1930s, China and the U.S. as allies during World War II, American intervention in the Chinese civil war, McCarthyism and the re-emergence of anti-Chinese feeling in the 1950s, the Nixon opening and the renewal of diplomatic relations, current and future problems in Sino-American relations. Open by permission of the instructor to juniors and seniors with background in either Chinese or American history.

Mr. Cohen

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study
1 or 2
Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

351 (2) Seminar. Rebels in Victorian England
Contrary to common assumptions about the Victorians, many individuals and groups vigorously combatted the status quo in the 1860s-1890s. Seminar members will choose topics to explore, such as: the women’s struggle for emancipation; the Irish fight against their oppressors; the working men’s movement for political and trades union rights; the quest for freedom of belief and unbelief; the drive to educate the masses; the challenge to laissez faire theory and practice. Prerequisite: same as for 330.

Mrs. Robinson

352 (2) Seminar. Technology and Socioeconomic Change in European History, 1700 to the Present
The rise of industrial capitalism between 1750 and 1900 wrought profound changes in the social and economic conditions of most Northern European societies. From worlds based mostly on agriculture and cottage industry for subsistence, they were transformed into a social order increasingly dominated by factory production and wage labor. Technological innovation was a crucial variable in this process of change. New agricultural techniques altered and improved agricultural output and gave rise to clearer definitions of private property. Technological innovations in manufacture revolutionized the production of textiles, the mining industry, and transportation. The combined social impact of the implementation of new technology on the lives of workers was profound, and the growing technological sophistication of the industrial production process molded the rebelliousness and strike behavior of labor organizations. The role of science and technology in the emergence of industrial capitalism was a central one. We will address such questions as the relationship between market demand and technological innovation, the connections between factors such as risk aversion, economies of scale, and the actual implementation of new techniques in manufacture. Prerequisite: same as for 330.

Ms. Gouda

356 Seminar. War and Peace and the Russians
For the Soviet Union the Second World War was a harrowing ordeal whose memory is still invoked by Soviet leaders and Western observers to explain current political behavior. This seminar will explore in depth this formative period of Soviet history, and will include the following topics: the Nazi-Soviet pact; the siege of Leningrad; the Western alliance; U.S. and British perceptions of the U.S.S.R. during the war; wartime propaganda and culture. Open by permission of the instructor to juniors and seniors who have taken 247. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Tumarkin

357 Seminar. Germany in the Twenties
Introduction to the Weimar Republic from its revolutionary beginnings in 1918 until the Depression and the Nazi takeover. Course will study the politics, society and culture of the 1920s using memoirs, plays, films, novels and pamphlets. Prerequisite: same as for 330. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Knudsen

358 (1) Seminar. Origins of the World Wars
A comparative study of the literature and the historians’ debates about the coming of war in 1914 and again in 1939. The alleged underlying origins, some of the precipitating crises, and the roles of the various powers will be examined. Special attention will be given to the equivocal position of Great Britain in both the pre-World War I and pre-World War II years. Prerequisite: same as for 330.

164 History

Directions for Election
The History Department allows majors great latitude in designing a program of study, but it is important for a program to have both breadth and depth. The Department offerings fall into three general areas: (1) the pre-modern West (ancient Greece and Rome, Europe before 1600, medieval and imperial Russia); (2) the modern West (Europe since 1600, modern Russia, the United States); and (3) the non-West (China, Japan, Africa, and the Middle East). Majors may elect courses freely, but to ensure breadth of historical perspective, the Department strongly recommends that students elect at least one unit of course work from each of these areas. To encourage depth of historical understanding, we urge majors to focus eventually upon a special field of study, such as (1) a particular geographical area, country, or culture; (2) a specific time period; (3) a particular historical approach, e.g., intellectual and cultural history, social and economic history; (4) a specific historical theme, e.g., the history of women, revolutions, colonialism. Finally we require majors to include at least one seminar in their programs.

Most Grade II courses in the Department are open to first year college students, but only such students with a strong secondary school background in European history should elect Grade II courses in European history as beginning courses. Otherwise, students thinking of majoring in history should elect 100, 101, or both.
Italian

INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR:
Italian Culture

Professor: Jacoff (Chair)
Assistant Professor: Mattii, Viano
Instructor: Manai
Lecturer: DiMartino

All courses, unless otherwise listed, are conducted in Italian. In all courses given in Italian, except seminars, some work may be required in the language laboratory.

Qualified students are encouraged to spend the junior year in Italy. See p. 65.

Attention is called to the major in Italian Culture. See Directions for Election.

100 (1-2) Elementary Italian
Development of basic language skills for the purpose of acquiring contemporary spoken Italian and a reading knowledge useful in the study of other disciplines. A general view of Italian civilization. Three periods. No credit will be given for course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily.

The Staff

202 (1) Intermediate Italian I
Review of grammar and syntax; development of vocabulary. There will be short written compositions and emphasis on the spoken language with conversations on a variety of topics. The topics will be suggested by the reading of a significant modern novel or selected short stories. The novel or stories will be supplemented by pertinent articles which clarify their themes in historical and social terms. Three periods. Prerequisite: 100 or by permission of the instructor.

The Staff

203 (2) Intermediate Italian II
Development and refinement of language skills, with equal emphasis on written and oral practice. A variety of fictional and non-fictional texts will be read. The readings will be the basis for class discussion of cultural, historical and literary issues. In this fourth semester of Italian, there will be great emphasis on critical and analytical reading skills. Three periods. Prerequisite: 202 or by permission of the instructor. Majors are encouraged to take both 203 and 205.

The Staff

205 (2) Intermediate Spoken Italian
The course develops oral skills by considering the major communicative functions for which language is used. Course activities include work in pairs and in groups, communication games, role playing and simulation exercises. Students will use both audio and video programs which will form the basis of class discussions. Three periods. Prerequisite: 202 or by permission of the instructor. Majors are encouraged to take both 203 and 205.

Ms. DiMartino

206 (1) Introduction to Modern Italian Literature
Topic for 1987-88: Images of women in Italian Literature of the 19th and 20th Centuries. The course will examine the representation in fiction of women in relation to socio-political and cultural changes. Prerequisite: 203 or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Mattii

207 (2)* Studies in Italian Renaissance Literature
An introduction to Medieval and Renaissance Italian literature through consideration of major authors such as Dante, Petrarch, Boccaccio, Machiavelli, and Castiglione. The course will explore the changing significance of the role of human love, the relationship between intellectual and civic life, and the role of literature itself. Prerequisite: 206 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Mattii

208 (2)* Italy: A Cultural Perspective (In English)
An examination of the beliefs, customs, values, social practices, and myths which constitute modern Italian culture. An understanding of the present cultural configuration within its historical perspective will be achieved through analyses of literary and sociological texts as well as audio-visual materials. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Viano

209 (2)* Studies in Italian Literature

Topic for 1987-88. The Italian Short Story. The history of an art form relevant to the development of the Italian literary tradition. Writings by Boccaccio, Bandello, Verga, Pirandello, Moravia, Calvino and Anna Banti. Prerequisite: 206 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Manai

211 (1-2) Dante (in English)

An introduction to Dante and his culture. This course presumes no special background and attempts to create a context in which Dante's poetry can be carefully explored. It concentrates on the Divine Comedy and Dante's use of his literary and philosophical sources. The centrality and encyclopedic nature of the Comedy make it a paradigmatic work for students of the Middle Ages. Since Dante has profoundly influenced several writers of the 19th and 20th centuries, students will find that knowledge of the Comedy illuminates modern literature as well. Students majoring in Italian will receive credit toward the major by doing the reading and selected writing in Italian. Open to all students who have not taken Cluster XLI 100 in 1985-86.

Ms. Jacoff

212 (2)* Literature of the Italian Renaissance (in English)

An opportunity to read certain key texts of the Italian Renaissance in depth: Boccaccio's Decameron, selected Petrarch letters and poems, Cellini's Autobiography, Castiglione's The Courtier and Machiavelli's Prince and Discourses. The focus will be on stylistic and thematic issues and on the problems of interpretation raised by these texts. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Jacoff

244 (2)* Italian Cinema as an Art Form (in English)

Besides investigating the contribution of post-war Italian cinema to the development of cinematic art, the course will explore issues that pertain to contemporary western culture: Realism vs. Modernism, Ideology and the image. If readings and papers are done in Italian, the course will count toward the major in Italian. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Viano

308 (1) The Contemporary Novel

The development of an art form in relation to the literary and intellectual history of modern Italy. Representative theoretical and fictional texts will illustrate the diversity of stylistic and thematic concerns of a variety of writers and movements. The focus will be on novels by Moravia, Vittorini, Pavese, Gadda and Calvino. Prerequisite: 209 or by permission of instructor.

Ms. Mattii

349 (2) Seminar.

Topic for 1987-88. Literature and History. The unending conflict between man and history as represented in the works by Foscolo, Manzoni, Verga, Pirandello, Tomasi di Lampedusa and Elsa Morante. Open by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Mattii

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open by permission to students who have completed two units in literature in the department.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of the department. See p. 67, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Directions for Election

Course 100 is counted toward the degree but not toward the major.

The Italian major offers students the opportunity to acquire fluency in the language and knowledge of the literature and culture of Italy. Students are urged to begin Italian in their first year. Italian 100 counts toward the degree, but not the major. Students majoring in Italian are required to take eight units above the 100 level, two of which must be at Grade III level. Students should consult with the chair about the sequence of courses they will take. Courses given in translation count toward the major when all the written work is done in Italian. Qualified students are encouraged to spend their junior year abroad on an approved program. Courses in other languages and literatures, art and history are strongly recommended to supplement work in the major.

Italian Culture

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Jacoff

The major in Italian Culture offers students the opportunity to acquire fluency in the language and to deepen their knowledge of Italy through the study of its literature, art, history, music and thought. The program for each student will be planned individually with the director. At least four units in Italian above the Grade I level, one of which must be at Grade III level, must be included in the program; in addition, the student will take at least four units above the Grade I level in related departments, one of which must be at Grade III level. Courses given in translation will count toward the major.

The following courses are available for majors in Italian Culture:

Art 220 (1)
Painting and Sculpture of the Later Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries in Southern Europe.

Art 229 (1)
Renaissance and Baroque Architecture

Art 250 (1)*

Japanese

Assistant Professor: Morley

107 (1-2) Beginning Japanese

Introduction to the modern standard Japanese language. Emphasis on developing proficiency in listening, speaking, reading and writing, using basic expressions and sentence patterns. The second-semester course presupposes the completion of the first semester, or its equivalent with the permission of the instructor. Four periods with a fifth period to be arranged. Open to all students.

Ms. Morley

111 (1) Introduction to Japanese Civilization

An interdisciplinary and topical introduction to the salient features and issues in Japanese civilization from the 7th century to the present. Topics include: indebtedness to China and to the West, the role of feudalism in modernization, development of uniquely Japanese cultural norms and social structure, emergence of Japan as a threat to and promise for the rest of the world. Approached from history, literature, art, religion, sociology, economics, and political science. Team-taught with lecturers. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Kodera, Ms. Morley

207 (1-2) Intermediate Japanese

Continuation of Japanese 107. The first semester will emphasize further development of listening and speaking skills with more complex language structures as well as proficiency in reading and writing. The second semester will emphasize reading and writing skills. 207 presupposes the satisfactory completion of 107 or the permission of the instructor. Four periods with a fifth period to be arranged. Prerequisite: 107 (1-2) or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Morley

209 (2) Japan Through Literature and Film

A study of the great works of Japanese literature in translation from the 10th century to the present, including the Tale of Genji, the Noh plays, the puppet plays of Chikamatsu, as well as contemporary fiction. The course will examine the personal dilemmas confronting individuals in each period of history through literary works and selected films with a view towards understanding the role of the individual in modern Japan.

Ms. Morley

307 (1-2) Advanced Japanese
Development and refinement of language skills with the aim of achieving fluency in verbal expression and mastery of reading and writing skills. Language laboratory attendance is required. Meets three days a week. Pre-requisite: 207 or the permission of the instructor.

Jewish Studies
AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Nathanson

The major in Jewish Studies is designed to acquaint students with the many facets of Jewish civilization, from antiquity to the present and in diverse geographic regions, through an interdisciplinary study of Jewish religion, history, philosophy, art, literature, social and political institutions and cultural patterns.

For a major in Jewish Studies, students must take Religion 140 and show proficiency in Hebrew (equivalent to at least two semesters at the second-year level). In certain cases, where students whose area of concentration necessitate another language (such as Arabic, French, Spanish, Yiddish), that language may be substituted for Hebrew in consultation with the student’s major advisor. In addition, students are expected to concentrate in some area or aspect of Jewish studies (such as religion, history or Hebrew language and literature) by taking four courses above the Grade I level, including at least two at the Grade III level. Students are encouraged to apply to participate in “Wellesley-in-Israel,” a January seminar in Jerusalem which focuses on archaeology in Israel, and which is held in cooperation with the Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

Majors devise their own programs in consultation with their faculty advisor, either the Director of the Jewish Studies Program or an appropriate faculty member from the student’s area of concentration.

In addition to Wellesley courses, students are encouraged to take courses at Brandeis University in the NEJS Program that may be applicable to the Jewish Studies major. These courses must be approved, in advance, by the corresponding department at Wellesley. See the Director of Jewish Studies for further details.
The following courses are available in Jewish Studies; for related courses, consult the Director of the Program.

Language Studies
AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Levitt

The major in Language Studies offers students who are interested in the field of linguistics, the opportunity for interdisciplinary study of questions relating to the structure, history, philosophy, sociology and psychology of language.

A major in Language Studies has a number of core requirements. Students must take a minimum of three language studies courses: Language Studies 114 (Introduction to Linguistics), and either Language Studies 237 (History and Structure of the Romance Languages) or Language Studies 238 (Linguistic Analysis of Social and Literary Expression) or Language Studies 244 (Language Form and Meaning) and Language Studies 312 (Bilingualism: An Exploration of Language, Mind and Culture) or Language Studies 322 (Child Language Acquisition). In addition, majors must elect a concentration of at least four courses above Grade 1 in a single area, including at least two units at Grade III that are approved by the Language Studies Director. Concentrations may be in one department or may be constructed across departments. In either case, the major must demonstrate intellectual coherence. Students majoring in Language Studies are strongly urged to elect basic method and theory courses in their field of concentration and to show proficiency in a foreign language at the intermediate level or above.

Students are urged to consult the MIT catalogue for additional offerings for the major.

114 (1) Introduction to Linguistics
Designed to familiarize the student with some of the essential concepts of language description. Suitable problem sets in English and in other languages will provide opportunities to study the basic systems of language organization. Changes in linguistic methodology over the last century will also be discussed. Open to all students.
Ms. Levitt

237 (2) History and Structure of the Romance Languages
Open to students of French, Italian, Spanish and Latin, this course deals with the development of the modern Romance languages from Vulgar Latin. Primary emphasis will be placed on examining this development from a linguistic point of view, stressing general principles of historical change. Some reading and comparison of early texts in each of the languages will also be included. Prerequisite: 114 or permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.
Ms. Levitt

238 (2) Sociolinguistics
An interdisciplinary course designed for students in the humanities and social sciences based on the application of linguistics to the analysis of language in its written and spoken forms. Emphasis on the way levels of social expression are conveyed by variations in the structural and semantic organization of language. Includes extensive study of women's language. Prerequisite: 114 or permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.
Ms. Levitt

244 (2) Language Form and Meaning
A study of formal approaches to the description of the syntax (form) and semantics (meaning) of language, beginning with transformational grammar and extending to current research. Topics will include some linguistic pragmatics (basic speech act theory, discourse structure). This course provides the relevant theoretical background for both language studies majors and students interested in artificial intelligence. Prerequisite: Language Studies 114.
Ms. Herskovits

312 (2) Bilingualism: An Exploration of Language, Mind and Culture
The study of bilingualism provides an opportunity to explore the relationship of language to mind and culture. The bilingual individual will be the focus for questions concerning language and mind. The detection of 'foreign' accent, the relationship of words to concepts, the organization of the mental lexicon, language specialization of the brain, and the effects of early bilingualism on cognitive functioning will be among the subjects considered. The bilingual nation will be the focus for questions dealing with language and culture. Topics will include a look at the societal conventions governing use of one language over another, a study of the effects of extended bilingualism on language development and change, and an assessment of the political and educational impact of a government's establishing official bilingualism. Prerequisite: an appropriate Grade II course in language studies, psychology, anthropology or philosophy or permission of the instructor.

Ms. Levitt

322 (1) Child Language Acquisition
Language acquisition in young children. This seminar will examine research on children's developing linguistic abilities and will evaluate current theories of language learning. Topics will include infant speech perception and production and the development of phonology, morphology, the lexicon, syntax and semantics in the young child. Data from studies of children learning languages other than English will also be considered. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken Language Studies 114 and Psychology 216, or by permission of the instructor.

Professor: Wilcox, Shuchat, Shultz (Chair)
Associate Professor: Sontag, Wing
Assistant Professor: Broiss, Blomstrom, Colleen, Morton, Parker, de Rezende, Scittown, Moutin, Hunter

Most courses meet for two periods weekly with a third period approximately every other week.

100 (1) (2) Introduction to Mathematical Thought
Topics chosen from areas such as strategies, computers, infinite sets, knots, coloring problems, number theory, geometry, group theory. Neither 100 nor 102 may be counted toward the major; both may be elected. Not open to students who have taken 115, 150, or the equivalent.
The Staff

102 (1) (2) Applications of Mathematics without Calculus
Introduction to topics such as probability and statistics, matrices and vectors, linear programming, game theory; applications in the biological and social sciences. Neither 100 nor 102 may be counted toward the major; both may be elected. Open to all students.
The Staff

103 (1) Precalculus
This course is open to students who lack the necessary preparation for 115 and provides a review of algebra, trigonometry and logarithms necessary for work in calculus. Methods of problem solving; an emphasis on development of analytic and algebraic skills. 103 does not count toward the Group C distribution requirement. Open by permission of the department.
The Staff

115 (1) (2) Calculus I
Introduction to differential and integral calculus for functions of one variable. Differentiation and integration of algebraic and transcendental functions. Applications to curve sketching, extremal problems, velocities, related rates, areas, linear approximation, and differential equations. Open to all students who have not taken an equivalent course.
The Staff

116 (1) (2) Calculus II
Theoretical basis of limits and continuity, Mean Value Theorem, inverse trigonometric functions, further integration techniques. L'Hôpital's rule, improper integrals. Applications to volumes. Infinite sequences and series of numbers, power series, Taylor series. Prerequisite: 115 or the equivalent.
The Staff

120 (1) Calculus IIA
A variant of 116 for students who have a thorough knowledge of the techniques of differentiation and integration, and familiarity with inverse trigonometric functions and the log and exponential functions. Includes a rigorous theoretical treatment of improper integrals, L'Hôpital's rule, limits of sequences, Taylor's theorem, and power series. Finishes with a new look at the foundations of calculus, with careful treatment of limits, continuity and Riemann sums. Open by permission of the department to students who have completed a year of high school calculus. A placement test on techniques of integration and differentiation will be required of everyone enrolled in the course. (Students who have studied Taylor series should elect 205.) Not open to students who have completed 115, 116 or the equivalent.
The Staff

150* Colloquium: Discovery Course in Mathematics and Its Applications
Mathematical reasoning and its applications. A discussion group in which students discover mathematical structure in several fields, including some not often recognized as mathematical in nature. Topics chosen from: network analysis, mathematics in music and art, graphing and interpretation of data, exponential growth, computer programming. Especially appropriate for students with an interest in fields requiring quantitative reasoning but who might otherwise avoid these fields because of the mathematics involved. Two 70-minute meetings and another 1-2 hour meeting weekly. Mandatory credit/noncredit. May not be counted toward the major.

Prerequisite: reasonable knowledge of high school level mathematics. For directions for applying see p. 75. Open by permission to a limited number of first year students. Not open to those who have taken 100 or calculus. Not offered in 1987-88.

205 (1) (2) Intermediate Calculus

Vectors, matrices, and determinants. Curves, functions of several variables, partial and directional derivatives, gradients, vector-valued functions of a vector variable, Jacobian matrix. First- and second-order differential equations. Prerequisite: 116, 120, or the equivalent.

The Staff

206 (1) (2) Linear Algebra

The Staff

209 (1) (2) Methods of Advanced Calculus

Inverse and implicit function theorems. Multivariable integral calculus (multiple integrals, line and surface integrals, Green’s Theorem, Gauss’ Theorem, Stokes’ Theorem, numerical methods). Introduction to complex-variable theory. Prerequisite: 205.

Mr. Levenberg, Mr. Hirschhorn

210 (1) (2) Differential Equations

First order equations, higher order linear equations, systems of linear and nonlinear equations. Existence and uniqueness theorems. Power series, Laplace transform, and numerical methods of solution. Applications to problems from various fields. Prerequisite: 205.

217 (1)* Topics in Mathematics and Economics

Applications of calculus and linear algebra to economic analysis. Topics selected from: linear and general optimization, input-output analysis, marginal analysis, analysis of market equilibrium and stability. Additionally listed in the Economics Department. Prerequisite: Economics 201 or 202 and Mathematics 205, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Shuchat

220 (2) Probability and Elementary Statistics

Topics selected from the theory of sets, discrete probability for both single and multivariate random variables, probability density for a single continuous random variable, expectations, mean, standard deviation, and sampling from a normal population. Prerequisite: 116, 120, or the equivalent.

Mr. Shuchat

225 (1) Combinatorics and Graph Theory

An introduction to combinatorial mathematics and graph theory. Students will learn discrete mathematics problem solving as well as techniques of proof, including induction. Prerequisite: 116, 120, or the equivalent.

Mr. Shultz

249 (2) Topics in the History of Geometry

This course will focus on the changes in methods and concepts that occurred in geometry in the 18th and 19th centuries in response to the unsolved problems of Greek mathematics. We will touch on axiom systems, independence of axioms, and some of the philosophical issues surrounding the discovery of non-Euclidean geometry. We will give rigorous developments, as well as concrete models, for each type of geometry, and study how Klein unified the theory using the idea of the transformation groups. The course will develop all concepts as they are needed. Students will be expected to prove theorems. Prerequisite: 205, or permission of the instructor.

Placement in Courses and Exemption Examinations

The Mathematics Department reviews elections of calculus students and places them in 103, 115, 116, 120, or 205 according to their previous courses and examination results. Students may not enroll in a course equivalent to one for which they have received high school or college credit. A special examination is not necessary for placement in an advanced course. Also see the descriptions for these courses.

Students may receive course credit towards graduation through the CEEB Advanced Placement Tests in Mathematics. Students with scores of 4 or 5 on the AB Examination or 3 on the BC Examination receive one unit of credit and are eligible for II6. Those entering with scores of 4 or 5 on the BC Examination receive two units and are eligible for 205.

Students who are well prepared in calculus may receive partial exemption from the group C distribution requirement without course credit by taking exemption examinations. Exemption examinations are offered only for II5 and II6.

Directions for Election

Students majoring in mathematics must complete II5 and II6 (or the equivalent) and at least seven units of Grade II and III courses, including 205, 206, 209, 302, 305, and one other 300 level course.

The mathematics minor is recommended for students whose primary interests lie elsewhere but who wish to take a substantial amount of mathematics beyond calculus. Two options are offered: Option 1 consists of 206, 302 or 305, and two other 200 or 300 level courses; Option 2 consists of 206, 209, and three other 200 or 300 level courses. A student who plans to add the mathematics minor to a major in another field should consult a faculty advisor in mathematics.

Students expecting to major in mathematics should complete 206 before the junior year. In order to take 310, a student must first complete 209 as well as 302.

Students expecting to do graduate work in mathematics should elect 302, 303, 305, and at least three other Grade III courses, possibly including a graduate course at MIT. They are also advised to acquire a reading knowledge of one or more of the following languages: French, German, or Russian.

Students are encouraged to elect MIT courses which are not offered by the Wellesley College mathematics department.

The department offers the following options for earning honors in the major field: (1) completion of 302, 303, 305, and three other Grade III courses, and two written comprehensive examinations; (2) two semesters of thesis work (360 and 370); or (3) participation in a two-semester seminar and a written examination on the seminar topics. An oral examination is required in all honors programs.
Medieval/Renaissance Studies

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Directors: Cox, Ferguson

The major in Medieval/Renaissance Studies enables students to explore the infinite richness and variety of Western civilization from later Greco-Roman times to the Age of the Renaissance and Reformation, as reflected in art, history, music, literature, and language. To ensure that breadth of knowledge is not achieved at the expense of depth, however, majors are required to elect at least four units of work above the Grade I level from the offerings in one department. (See the list of available courses.) Each year a seminar is offered in which more than one member of the faculty participate and which is especially designed to accommodate the needs and interests of the majors. The Majors Seminar for 1987-88 is History 334, Cosmos and Psyche. A minimum major consists of eight courses, of which at least two must be at the Grade III level.

Numerous opportunities for study abroad exist for those who wish to broaden their experience and supplement research skills through direct contact with European and Mediterranean culture. Majors who are contemplating postgraduate academic or professional careers should consult faculty advisors, who will assist them in planning a sequence of courses that will provide them with a sound background in the linguistic and critical techniques essential to further work in their chosen fields. Individual interests and needs can be accommodated through independent study projects carried out under the supervision of one or more faculty members and designed to supplement, or substitute for, advanced seminar-level work.

247 (2) Arthurian Legends
A survey of legends connected with King Arthur from the 6th century through the 15th with some attention to the new interpretations in the Renaissance, the 19th, and the 20th centuries. Special lectures by members of the Medieval/Renaissance studies program. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors; and also to first year students by permission of the instructor.

99 (1-2) Performing Music Noncredit
One half-hour private lesson per week. Students may register for 45-minute or hour lessons for an additional fee. For further information, including fees, see Performing Music: Private Instruction. See also Music 199, 299, and 344. A basic skills test is given to students wishing to enroll in Music 99. For those who do not pass this test, a corequisite to Music 99 is Music I11.

The Staff

100 (1) (2) Style in Music
A survey of principal musical styles and forms of Western music, with emphasis on the period 1700 (Bach and Handel) to the turn of the last century (Moussorgsky, Debussy, and Stravinsky). Not to be counted toward the major. Two lectures and one section meeting.

Mr. Fisk, Ms. Cumming

105 (2)* World Music
A general introduction to non-western music. Not to be counted toward the major in music. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.

106 (2)* Afro-American Music
Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.

111 (1) (2) The Language of Music
Instruction in simple musical skills, such as the reading and writing of notation, in a context that encourages students to discover for themselves the ideas underlying musical perception, systems of notation, and the elements of composition. Consideration of new ways of hearing and thinking about music. Not to be counted toward the major. Two section meetings and one 60-minute class devoted to lecture or laboratory. Open to all students.

Ms. Zallman, Mr. Jander

115 (1) (2) Musicianship
Cultivation of the ability to see and hear what is in a musical score through practice in reading, ear-training, and keyboard skills. Students develop a working understanding of tonality through writing melodies, and through reading and experiencing tonal works. Normally followed by 202. Two class meetings and one 60-minute laboratory. Open to all students who have passed the basic skills test.

Mr. Maus, Mr. Roens

199 (1-2) Performing Music—Intermediate
One 45-minute lesson per week. A minimum of six hours of practice per week is expected. Music 199 may be repeated, ordinarily for a maximum of four semesters. Not to be counted toward the major in music. For further information, including fees, see Performing Music: Private Instruction and Academic Credit. See also Music 99, 299, and 344.
Open, by audition for a limited number of spaces, to students who are taking, have taken, or have exempted Music 115. Successful completion of an additional music course is required before credit is given for a second year of 199.

Audition requirements vary, depending on the instrument. The piano requirements are described here to give a general indication of the expected standards for all instruments: all major and minor scales and arpeggios, a Bach two-part invention or movement from one of the French Suites, a movement from a Classical sonata, and a composition from either the Romantic or Modern period.

A student other than a pianist who wishes to apply for Music 199 should request detailed information concerning audition requirements for her instrument (including voice) by writing to the Chair, Department of Music.

The Staff

200 (1-2) Design in Music 2

A survey beginning with Gregorian chant and concluding with electronic music, with emphasis on live performance and on the incisive analysis of scores. One unit of credit may be given for the first semester. Three periods. Prerequisite: 202.

Mr. Jander

202 (2) Harmony I

A continuation of 115. Further development of reading and listening skills. Concentrated studies in diatonic chord progression, voice leading practice, simple melody harmonization, and figured bass symbols. Two class meetings and one 60-minute laboratory. Prerequisite: 115.

Mr. Maus

204 (1)* Counterpoint I

Writing and analysis of 16th-century modal counterpoint. A practical study based on the vocal music of the period. Offered in alternation with 304. Open to students who have taken, or exempted, 115.

Mr. Roens

205 (1)* Twentieth-Century Techniques

Studies in the language and style of the concert music of our century through analysis of smaller representative compositions of major composers. Short exercises in composition will be designed to familiarize students with the concepts of musical coherence which inform the works of these composers. Open to students who have taken or exempted Music 115. Students who can read music fluently are also invited with permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

208 (2)* The Baroque Era

Not to be counted toward the major in music. Prerequisite: 100, III, or II5. Not offered in 1987-88.

209 (1)* The Classical Era

Topic for 1987-88: Beethoven and the Web of Culture. Analysis of such works as the "Tempest" Sonata, the "Pastoral" Symphony, the Fourth Piano Concerto, the "Choral Fantasy," and the final piano sonata (op. III) and the final string quartet (op. 135) with special focus on Beethoven's subjective intentions, on the actual sources of his extra-musical ideas, and on the influence of his poetic visions on his musical forms. Not to be counted toward the major in music. Prerequisite: 100, III, or II5. Mr. Jander

210 (2)* The Romantic Era

Not to be counted toward the major. Prerequisite: 100, III, or II5. Not offered in 1987-88.

211 (2)* Instrumental Music

Topic for 1987-88: Orchestral Genres. A historical survey of instrumental music, especially orchestral genres, from the 18th to the 20th centuries, along with training in the listening skills that will enhance an understanding of the music. Works to be studied will include Bach's Brandenburg Concerto no. 5, Beethoven's Symphony no. 4, and Stravinsky's Rite of Spring, among others. Not to be counted toward the major. Prerequisite: 100, III, or II5, or by permission of the instructor. Mr. Maus

214 (2)* The Modern Era

Not to be counted toward the major. Prerequisite: 100, III, or II5 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.
215 (2)* Vocal Forms
Not to be counted toward the major. Prerequisite: 100, III, or H5 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

216 (1)* Wagner's Ring of the Nibelung
A course presenting the Ring as a Total Art Work, the consummate musical statement of the Romantic temper. Studies in Wagner's mythological and literary sources, the cultural and historical context of the tetralogy, its psychological and allegorical dimensions, and the theatrical importance of the Bayreuth Festival. The chief focus of the course will be listening closely to the entire Ring cycle in English and German, with appropriate accompanying materials (films, slides, and readings). Not to be counted toward the major. Prerequisite: Music 100 or III, or permission of the instructor. Not offered 1987-88.
Mr. Jander

222 (1)* Selected Topics
Not to be counted toward the major. Prerequisite: Music 100, III or H5 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

251 (1)* Music in the Middle Ages
Music was central to the medieval educational curriculum, to Christian liturgy, and to secular ceremony and recreation. We will consider music as a liberal art, chant and liturgy, songs of the troubadours and trouvères, early polyphony, the medieval motet, and the polyphonic chanson, with reference to the history of musical style and to the role of music in society. Prerequisite: 200 (1) or permission of the instructor.
Ms. Cumming

252 (2)* Music in the Renaissance
Sacred and secular music in Europe from the new style of Dufay and Dunstable in the early 15th century to the height of the ars perfecta of Palestrina, Lassus and Byrd and the secunda pratica of the madrigals of Marenzio and Gesualdo in the late 16th century. The course will focus on the transformation and development of genres and forms in vocal and instrumental music, with reference to cultural context and to modern scholarship in Renaissance music. Prerequisite: 200 (1) or permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

299 (1-2) Performing Music—Advanced
One hour private lesson per week. A minimum of ten hours of practice per week is expected. Music 299 may be repeated without limit. Not to be counted toward the major in music. For further information, including fees, see Performing Music: Private Instruction and Academic Credit. See also Music 99, 199, and 344.
Open by audition for a limited number of spaces, to students who have taken or exempted Music H5. One music course on the Grade II level or above must be completed for each unit of credit to be granted for Music 299. (A music course used to fulfill the requirement for Music 199 may not be counted for 299.)
A student auditioning for Music 299 is expected to demonstrate accomplishment distinctly beyond that of the Music 199 student. Students wishing to audition for 299 should request detailed audition requirements. Prerequisite: 199.
The Staff

302 (1) Harmony II
The harmonization of melodies. Improvisation and elaboration of typical harmonic phrases. A continuation of figured bass studies with emphasis on keyboard realization. Further study in the structure of classical tonality. Three class meetings and one 60-minute laboratory. Prerequisite: 202.
Ms. Zallman

304 (2)* Counterpoint II
A study of tonal counterpoint through written exercises based on examples from the works of J. S. Bach. Additional study will be devoted to developing an understanding of the role of counterpoint in classical tonal composition. Offered in alternation with 204. Prerequisite: 302. Not offered in 1987-88.
306 (2) Tonal Analysis
The normal continuation of 302. A study of the tonal forms of the 18th and 19th centuries. Three class meetings and one 60-minute laboratory. Prerequisite: 302.
Ms. Zillman

307 (2)* The Opera
A study of operatic forms, styles, and tradtions in the 18th and 19th centuries. In 1987-88 the principal, though not exclusive, emphasis will be on works by Mozart and Verdi, including Don Giovanni, Marriage of Figaro, Magic Flute, Trovatore, Masked Ball,
Aida (or Otello). Prerequisite: 200 or, with permission of the instructor, two Grade II units in the literature of music.
Mr. Herrmann

308 (2) Choral and Orchestral Conducting
A practical exposure to techniques for conducting music from the Renaissance to the present. Prerequisite: 200, 302, and 306 (which may be taken concurrently), or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

313 (1)* Twentieth-Century Analysis and Composition
A study of compositional devices of 20th-century music through the analysis of selected short examples from the literature. Students will attend Music 205 classes and will focus on composing complete pieces as a substantial part of their course assignments. Offered in alternation with 314. Open to students who have taken 115 or 204 and have taken or are

314 (2)* Tonal Composition
A study of tonal forms—the minuet, extended song forms, and the sonata—through the composition of such pieces within the style of their traditional models. Offered in alternation with 313. Prerequisite: 302.
Mr. Roens

317 (1)* Seminar. The Baroque Era
Topic for 1987-88: Music of J.S. Bach. A seminar devoted primarily to the works of J.S. Bach with some comparison to works of his contemporaries and to works in the later classical style. The focus will be primarily on structure and style in major instrumental compos-tions, such as the Preludes and Fugues of the Well-tempered Clavier and the four Orchestral Suites, with detailed analysis of individual pieces and discussion of different analytical approaches. Open to students who have taken 200 and have taken or are taking 302.
Mr. Maus

318 (2) The Classical Era
Prerequisite: 200 and 302, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

319 (2)* Seminar. The Nineteenth Century
Open to students who have taken 200 and

320 (2)* Seminar. The Twentieth Century
Open to students who have taken 200.
Ms. Zillman

323 (1) Seminar. Selected Topics.
Open to students who have taken 200 and have taken or are taking 302. Not offered in 1987-88.

344 (1) (2) Performing Music—A Special Program 1 or 2
Intensive study of interpretation and of advanced technical performance problems in the literature. One hour lesson per week plus a required performance workshop. One to four units may be counted toward the degree provided at least two units in the literature of music other than Music 200 (1-2), a prerequsite for 344, are completed. One of these units must be Grade III work, the other either Grade III or Grade II work which counts toward the major. Music 344 should ordinarily follow or be concurrent with such courses in the literature of music; not more than one unit of 344 may be elected in advance of election of these courses. Only one unit of 344 may be elected per semester. Permission to elect the first unit of 344 is granted only after the student has successfully auditioned for the department faculty upon the written recommendation of the instructor in performing music. This audition ordinarily takes place in the second semester of the sophomore or junior year. Permission to elect subsequent units is granted only to a student whose progress in 344 is judged excellent.

The Staff

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2
Directed study in analysis, composition, orchestration, or the history of music. Open to qualified juniors and seniors by permission.

360 Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2
By permission of the department. See Directions for Election and p. 67, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360.

Cross-Listed Courses

Technology Studies 202 (2)*

Directions for Election

The normal music major sequence is 115, 202, 200 (1-2), 302, and 306. Also required for the major are four additional units of Grade II or Grade III work in courses designed for the music major. Two of these units must be in music literature; at least one of the literature units must be Grade III work. Students who major in music are encouraged to explore their special areas of interest; composition, literature, performance, or theory.

Students who plan to undertake graduate study in music should be aware that a knowledge of both German and French is essential for work at that level, and a proficiency in Italian is highly desirable. Also of value are studies in European history, literature, and art.

Music majors are especially urged to develop their musicianship - through the acquisition of basic keyboard skills, through private instruction in practical music, and through involvement in the Music Department's various performing organizations.

Group instruction in basic keyboard skills including keyboard harmony, sight reading and score reading is provided to all students enrolled in any music course (including Music 100 with the instructor's permission and if space is available) and to Music 99 students with the written recommendation of their studio instructor. Ensemble sight reading on a more advanced level is also available for advanced pianists.

The department offers a choice of three programs for Honors, all entitled 370. Under Program I (two to four units of credit) the honors candidate performs independent research leading to a thesis and an oral examination. Under Program II, honors in composition, one unit is elected per semester in the senior year, these units culminating in a composition of substance and an oral examination on the honors work. Prerequisite for this program: 204, 306, distinguished work in 313, and evidence of independent work in 314; prerequisite or corequisite: 320. Program III, honors in performance, involves the election of one unit per semester in the senior year culminating in a recital, a lecture demonstration, and an essay on some aspect of performance. Participation in the Performance Workshops is mandatory for students who are concentrating in this area. Prerequisite for Program III: Music 344 (normally two units) in the junior year, and evidence that year, through public performance, of exceptional talent and accomplishment.

Performing Music

Instrument Collection

The music department owns 38 pianos (which include 27 Steinway grands, one Mason and Hamlin grand, and 5 Steinway uprights), a Fisk practice organ, a harp, and a wide assortment of modern orchestral instruments.

In addition, an unusually fine collection of early instruments, largely reproductions, is available for use by students. These include a clavichord, virginal, two harpsichords, a positive organ, fortepiano, and two Clementi pianos; a lute, eight violas da gamba, and a baroque violin; a sackbut, krummhorn, shawms, recorders, a renaissance flute, two baroque flutes, and a baroque oboe. A recent addition to the collection is an 18th-century Venetian viola made by Belosius.
Of particular interest is the new Fisk organ in Houghton Chapel, America's first 17th-century German style organ. The chapel also houses a large, three-manual Aeolian-Skinner pipe organ, and Galen Stone Tower contains a 30-bell carillon.

Performance Workshop
The performance workshop is directed by a member of the performing music faculty and gives students an opportunity to perform in an informal situation before fellow students and faculty, to discuss the music itself, and to receive helpful comments. Required for 344 students and for 370 students in Program III, the workshops are open to Wellesley students who study performing music at Wellesley and elsewhere, on the recommendation of their instructor.

Private Instruction
The music department offers private instruction in voice, piano, fortepiano, organ, harpsichord, harp, violin, viola, cello, double bass, viola da gamba, flute (baroque and modern), oboe, clarinet, bassoon, trumpet, French horn, recorder, lute, classical guitar, saxophone, and jazz piano.

Information concerning auditions and course requirements for noncredit and credit study is given above under listings for Music 99, 199, 299, and 344. Except for Music 344, auditions and the basic skills and exemption tests are ordinarily given at the start of the first semester only.

There is no charge for performing music to students enrolled in Music 344, nor to Music 199 or 299 students who are receiving financial assistance. All other Music 199 and 299 students are charged $472 for one lesson per week throughout the year. Students who contract for performing music instruction under Music 99 are charged $472 for one half-hour lesson per week throughout the year and may register for 45-minute or hour lessons for an additional fee. A fee of $35 per year is charged to performing music students for the use of a practice studio. The fee for the use of a practice studio for harpsichord and organ is $45. Performing music fees are payable in advance and are not refundable. Lessons in performing music begin in the first week of each semester.

Arrangements for lessons are made at the department office during the first week of the semester. Students may begin their performing music study at the start of the second semester only if space permits.

Academic Credit
Credit for performing music is granted only for study at Wellesley College. As enrollment in credit study is limited, the final decision for acceptance is based on the student's audition. A faculty jury determines whether or not a student may continue with performing music for credit, and at what level. One unit of credit is granted for two semesters of study in Music 199 and 299. Two semesters of credit study in performing music must be successfully completed before credit can be counted toward the degree. Of the 32 units for graduation a maximum of four units of performing music may be counted toward the degree. More than one course in performing music for credit can be taken simultaneously only by special permission of the Department.

The Music Department's 199 and 299 offerings are made possible by the Estate of Elsa Graefe Whitney '18.

Performing Organizations
The following organizations are a vital extension of the academic program of the Wellesley music department.

The Wellesley College Choir
The Wellesley College Choir, with approximately 80 members, gives concerts on and off campus during the academic year, many of them with men's choirs. Endowed funds provide for at least one joint concert each year accompanied by a professional orchestra.

The Wellesley Madrigal Singers
The Madrigal Singers are a chamber chorus of about 25 mixed voices. The organization elects its own student director.

The Collegium Musicum
The Collegium Musicum, directed by a faculty member and several assistants, specializes in the performance of early music. Members of the Collegium enjoy the use of an unusually fine collection of historical instruments. See under Performing Music: Instrument Collection.
Separate consort instruction is available in viola da gamba, renaissance winds, and recorder for both beginning and advanced players for a nominal fee of $35 per semester. Members of such groups are encouraged to take private instruction as well.

The Chamber Music Society
The Chamber Music Society, supervised by a faculty member and assistants, presents three concerts each year, and a number of diverse, informal programs.

The Wellesley College Chamber Orchestra
The Wellesley College Chamber Orchestra is a student-directed organization consisting of approximately 30 members. Its concerts include works from several periods for small orchestra, with possibilities for solo performance.

Jazz Workshop
Faculty directed sessions are scheduled throughout the year giving students an opportunity to gain experience in ensemble playing with each other and with professional guest players.

The MIT Orchestra
Through the Wellesley-MIT Cross Registration program, students on the Wellesley campus are eligible to audition for membership in the MIT Symphony Orchestra. Wellesley members of the orchestra have often held solo positions.

Philosophy
Professor: Chaplin, Congleton, Menkiti, Putnam, Stadler
Associate Professor: Flanagan, Winkler (Chair)
Visiting Associate Professor: Elgin
Assistant Professor: Doran, Moody-Adams

101 (1) (2) Introduction to Philosophy: Plato and Aristotle
An introduction to philosophy through the works of Plato and Aristotle. The course will explore a wide range of topics in metaphysics, theory of knowledge, political philosophy, and ethics. Particular emphasis will be placed on the early and middle dialogues of Plato, where Socrates is the central figure. Some consideration will also be given to the Pre-Socratics and the Sophists. Open to all students.
Ms. Congleton, Mrs. Chaplin

106 (1) (2) Introduction to Moral Philosophy
A study of the central issues in moral philosophy from Plato to the present day. Topics include the nature of morality, conceptions of justice, views of human nature and their bearing on questions of value, competing tests of right and wrong. Discussion of contemporary moral problems. Readings in several major figures in the history of moral philosophy. Open to all students.
Ms. Moody-Adams, Mrs. Stadler, Ms. Elgin

200 (1) (2) Modern Sources of Contemporary Philosophy
A study of the work of Descartes, Hume, and Kant. The course is intended to introduce students to the most influential philosophers of modern times. Key concepts, terms and arguments used by philosophers from the 17th century to the present day will be discussed. The course also provides preparation for more advanced work both in contemporary philosophy and in the history of modern philosophy. Open to all students.
Mrs. Putnam, Ms. Moody-Adams, Mr. Winkler, Ms. Congleton
202 (2)* Introduction to African Philosophy
Initiation into basic African philosophical concepts and principles. The first part of the course deals with a systematic interpretation of such questions as the Bantu African philosophical concept of Muntu and related beliefs, as well as Bantu ontology, metaphysics, and ethics. The second part centers on the relationship between philosophy and ideologies and its implications in Black African social, political, religious, and economic institutions. The approach will be comparative. Open to all students except first year students in their first semester.
Mr. Menkiti

203 (1) Philosophy of Art
An examination of some major theories of art and art criticism. Emphasis on the clarification of such key concepts as style, meaning, and truth, and on the nature of judgments and arguments about artistic beauty and excellence. Open to first year students who have taken one unit in philosophy, and to sophomores, juniors, and seniors without prerequisite.
Mrs. Studler

204 (2) Philosophy and Literature
This course examines the treatment of time, deliberation, love, and freedom in some selected works. Examined also will be the treatment of individual and social ideals, self-knowledge and self-identity, loyalty and commitment to self and others, and the problem of value revision. The course will end with some general discussion of how literature means—how to untangle the truth in fiction and the fiction in truth. Prerequisite: same as for 203.
Mr. Menkiti

207 (1) Philosophy of Language
What are the relations among thoughts, concepts and language? Or among thoughts, concepts and the world? Or between language and the world "out there"? How does language differ from other communication systems? These are some of the basic questions we will discuss as we examine various theories of meaning and of reference as well as of truth.
Ms. Elgin

Readings will be drawn from key figures who wrought "the linguistic turn"—Wittgenstein, Ryle, and Quine, along with contemporary figures such as Kripke, Putnam, and Rorty. Prerequisite: same as for 203.

209 (2) Political Philosophy
A study of historically significant arguments concerning the most rational or morally desirable form of political society. Emphasis on such topics as the relationship between the individual and the community and between ethics and politics, as well as on the bases of political authority, the scope of political obligation, and the ends which political institutions ought to pursue. Open to all students.
Ms. Moody-Adams

210 (1) Social Philosophy
An exploration of some key issues in social philosophy which will focus on such topics as the nature and value of community; the grounds for social coercion and the moral legitimacy of group rules; collective versus individual rationality; the responsibilities of persons in their roles; and obligations between generations. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors without prerequisite.
Mr. Menkiti

212 (2) Modern Jewish Philosophy
Major emphasis on the works of Spinoza and Martin Buber. Some time also devoted to thinkers of the Jewish enlightenment and to the philosophy of Franz Rosenzweig, a friend and collaborator of Buber. Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors without prerequisite.
Mrs. Putnam

215 (2) Philosophy of Mind
Topics include the mind-body relation; free will/determinism; knowledge of one's own mind and other minds; reductionism; philosophical implications of recent work in neuroscience, cognitive science, and artificial intelligence. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors.
Ms. Elgin
216 (1) (2) Logic
An introduction to the methods of symbolic logic and their application to arguments in ordinary English. Discussion of validity, implication, consistency, proof, and of such topics as the thesis of extensionality and the nature of mathematical truth. Open to all students. Mrs. Putnam, Mr. Winkler

217 (2) Philosophy of Science
A study of problems in the philosophy of the natural and social sciences, such as the growth of scientific knowledge, the reality of theoretical entities, space and time, purpose in nature, and the explanation of human action. Readings in both classical and contemporary sources. Prerequisite: same as for 203. Not offered in 1987-88.

219 (2) Personal Identity in Medieval Philosophy
Philosophers of the 12th and 13th centuries debated a question raised for them by Aristotle: Are all human beings essentially the same, differing only superficially, as do members of other species, or is there greater individuality in humans? This issue was connected to others, such as the place of humanity in the total order of the universe and the way in which human beings reason, perceive and make choices. The course will investigate these questions as they arise in the work of the Islamic philosopher Averroes, the Jewish philosopher Maimonides, and the Christian philosopher Aquinas. Some consideration of Aristotle as background. Open to all sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Ms. Congleton

220 Knowledge and Reality: Metaphysics and Epistemology in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries
A study of the history of modern philosophy, intended as a sequel to Philosophy 200. The course will concentrate on three broad themes in the works of Hobbes, Locke, Spinoza, Leibniz, and Berkeley: the existence of innate ideas and the character and scope of human knowledge; nature and substance, and the nature and existence of God; the limits of mechanism and the relationship between matter and mind. Prerequisite: 200. Not offered in 1987-88.

221 History of Modern Philosophy in the Nineteenth Century
A study of Post-Enlightenment philosophy, concentrating on the German tradition. Selected texts from Hegel, Schopenhauer, and Nietzsche will illustrate the themes of reason, history, and human nature. Some attention will also be given to the thought of John Stuart Mill and Auguste Comte. Prerequisite: 200 or other previous study of Kant accepted as equivalent by the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

222 (2) American Philosophy
The development of American philosophy from its beginnings as an attempt to come to terms with Puritanism, through the response to revolution and slavery and the development of Transcendentalism, to its culmination in Pragmatism. Pragmatism, exemplified by Peirce, James, and Dewey, as America's unique contribution to world philosophy occupies roughly half of the course. This course is intended for American studies majors as well as for philosophers. Prerequisite: 200 or American Studies 315 or by permission of the instructor. Mrs. Putnam

223 Phenomenology and Existentialism
Central themes in contemporary European philosophy with special emphasis on the contributions of Søren Kierkegaard, Edmund Husserl, Martin Heidegger, and Jean-Paul Sartre. Prerequisite: 200 or other previous study of Kant accepted as equivalent by the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

227 Philosophy and Feminism
A systematic examination of competing theories of the basis, nature, and scope of women's rights. Included will be a comparison of J. S. Mill's classical liberal treatment of women's rights in The Subjection of Women with contemporary formulation of the liberal position. Several weeks will be devoted to discussion of (class-selected) topics of contemporary interest to feminist theory. Open to all students without prerequisite. Not offered in 1987-88.
249 (1) Medical Ethics
A philosophical examination of some central problems at the interface of medicine and ethics. Exploration of the social and ethical implications of current advances in biomedical research and technology. Topics discussed will include psychosurgery, gendersurgery, genetic screening, amniocentesis, euthanasia. Prerequisite: same as for 203.
Mr. Menkiti

302* Kant
Intensive studies in the philosophy of Kant with some consideration of his position in the history of philosophy. Prerequisite: 200. Not offered in 1987-88.

303* Hume

311* Plato
Two issues in Platonic philosophy will be emphasized. The so-called "Socratic paradox" which holds that no one knowingly does evil and the theory of "forms" or "Platonic ideas." Offered in alternation with 312. Prerequisite: 101 or Greek 201 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

312 (1)* Aristotle
Intensive study of the thought of Aristotle through detailed reading of selected texts. Attention will be given especially to those works which present Aristotle’s picture of nature, human nature, and society. Aristotle’s influence on subsequent science and philosophy will be discussed briefly. Offered in alternation with 311. Prerequisite: 101 or Greek 201.
Mrs. Chaplin

314 (1) Topics in the Theory of Knowledge
Course content will vary. Topics include theories of perception and sense datum theory, truth and the problem of justification, common sense and philosophical certainty, personal knowledge and knowledge of other selves. Open to juniors and seniors or by permission of the instructor.
Ms. Elgin

326 (2) Philosophy of Law
A systematic consideration of fundamental issues in the conception and practice of law. Such recurrent themes in legal theory as the nature and function of law, the relation of law to morality, the function of rules in legal reasoning, and the connection between law and social policy are examined. Clarification of such notions as obligation, power, contract, liability, and sovereignty. Readings will cover the natural law tradition and the tradition of legal positivism, as well as such contemporary writers as Hart and Fuller. Open to juniors and seniors, or by permission of the instructor. Mr. Menkiti

328 Problems in Twentieth-Century Art and Philosophy
Twelve major artists of the last 100 years will be studied. Equal emphasis will be given to individual works and to the character of the critical debates they raise. Readings will include writings by the artists themselves, as well as relevant critical and philosophical texts. Class-selected topics will be incorporated into the syllabus. Prerequisite: 203, or another course in philosophy approved by the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

329 Artistic Wealth and Cultural Plunder
What sorts of policies or legislation are needed to ensure that "cultural properties" remain, or are put into, the right hands? How can we assess the societal or communal values of these properties (public monuments, historic landmarks, artworks, etc.)? How should rights to their private ownership be justified? What are "cultural properties" anyway? The seminar will explore the philosophical literature on property rights and, with reference to traditional philosophy and to diverse contemporary sources, explore various disputed issues involved in the preservation of a culture's identity. Prerequisite: one Grade II course in philosophy, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

336 (2) Contemporary Analytic Philosophy
A study of contemporary philosophy in the English-speaking world. Points of contact with the philosophical tradition and philosophy on the European continent will be emphasized.
Among the topics: language and the world, philosophical method, moral psychology, the self, skepticism, relativism. Prerequisite: 200.

Ms. Elgin

338 (1) Justice: The Proper Balance of Liberty and Equality
A study of recent philosophical reflection on problems of social justice. We shall discuss the views of Rawls and Dworkin that there is no conflict between liberty and demands for greater equality, Nozick’s libertarian response to these views, and communitarian critics of liberalism such as Walzer and Sandel. Some attention paid to implications of these views for issues such as welfare, health care, affirmative action, and conflicts between First Amendment freedoms and the desire for community control over values. Prerequisite: one course in moral, social, or political philosophy or in political theory, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Moody-Adams

339 (2) Contemporary Ethical Theory
Questions to be studied include: Are moral values discovered or invented? If there are objective values how do we come to know them, and if there aren’t, where does the sense of moral obligation come from? What is the nature of moral (practical) reasoning? What is the point of morality? Readings will be taken primarily from the works of 20th-century philosophers. Prerequisite: 200 or one course in moral philosophy.

Mrs. Putnam

345 Philosophy and the Human Sciences
A critical study of some major philosophical issues associated with the advent of the human sciences. Issues to be addressed include: the role of causal explanation in social science; the use of the concept of rationality within the social sciences; the method of verstehen; the adequacy of social explanations couched in terms of traditions and norms; reductionism and methodological individualism; and the status of macro-laws in social science. Prerequisite: one course in philosophy, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

349 (2) Seminar. Selected Topics in Philosophy
Topic for 1987-88: Respect for Persons. An exploration of the problems raised by practices which require us to treat persons as objects with market value. We will examine accounts of the moral status of persons, analyses of forms of value, and views on whether the body can be treated as property. Special emphasis will be given to such issues as pornography, advertising, the assessment of damages in civil cases, and proposals for the sale of organs for transplantation. Prerequisite: one course in philosophy, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Moody-Adams

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2
Open to juniors and seniors by permission.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360.

Cross-Listed Courses

Education 102 (1)
Education in Philosophical Perspective. For description and prerequisite see Education 102.

Directions for Election
Philosophy majors are expected to elect at least two courses from each of the following three areas:

Philosophy 191
philosophy. Students planning graduate work in philosophy should acquire a reading knowledge of Latin, Greek, French, or German.

The department offers the following options for earning honors in the major field: (1) writing a thesis or a set of related essays; (2) a two-semester project combining a long paper with some of the activities of a teaching assistant; (3) a program designed particularly for students who have a general competence and who wish to improve their grasp of their major field by independent study in various sectors of the field. A student electing option (2) will decide, in consultation with the department, in which course she will eventually assist and, in the term preceding her teaching, will meet with the instructor to discuss materials pertinent to the course. Option (3) involves selecting at least two related areas and one special topic for independent study. When the student is ready, she will take written examinations in her two areas and, at the end of the second term, an oral examination focusing on her special topic.

121 (1-2) Physical Education Activities

The instructional program in physical education is divided into four terms, two each semester. To complete the College work in physical education a student must earn 8 credit points. Students are strongly urged to earn the 8 credits by the end of the sophomore year. These credit points do not count as academic units toward the degree, but are required for graduation. Most activities give 2 credit points each term, but certain activities give 3 or more credit points. There are also a variety of short-term mini-classes giving half credit points. Each activity is divided into skill levels to provide instruction in homogeneous groups. Special fees are charged for a few courses and are listed in the course descriptions. More detailed information on specific course offerings, skill levels, prerequisites, and numbers of points may be found in the Department of Physical Education and Athletics Curriculum Handbook, which is distributed to each student prior to registration. The total program of activities offered in 1987-88 in very general terms follows.

(1) Scheduled throughout the first semester

- Advanced Lifesaving and Aquatic Safety
- Aquatics
- Ballet
- Horseback Riding
- Jazz
- Modern Dance
- SCUBA
- Self-defense
- Wellness
- Yoga

Physical Education and Athletics
205 (2) Sports Medicine
The course combines the study of biomechanics and anatomic kinesiology. It focuses on the effects of the mechanical forces which arise within and without the body and their relationship to injuries of the musculoskeletal system. In addition to the lectures, laboratory sessions will introduce students to the practical skills involved in evaluating injuries, determining methods of treatment and establishing protocol for rehabilitation. Academic credit only. Open to all students. Ms. Banman

Intercollegiate Program
There are opportunities for those who enjoy competition to participate in one of the intercollegiate teams presently sponsored by the Department of Physical Education and Athletics.

These teams include:
Basketball
Crew
Cross-country Running
Fencing
Field Hockey
Lacrosse
Soccer
Squash
Swimming and Diving
Tennis
Volleyball

Directions for Election
Each student is expected to complete a minimum of two terms a year until Physical Education 121 is completed. A student may elect a course which is scheduled throughout a semester, two courses concurrently, or may choose not to elect a course during some terms.

Students should select courses which meet their present and projected interests in physical activities. It is hoped that students will gain knowledge of the relation of physical activity to the maintenance of general well-being; that they will achieve a level of ability, understanding, and participation in sports, dance, and/or exercise so that they may experience satisfaction and enjoyment; and that they will be able to swim with sufficient skill to participate safely in recreational swimming and boating.

A student’s choice of activity is subject to the approval of the Department and the College Health Services. Upon recommendation of a College physician and permission of the Department, a student who has a temporary or permanent medical restriction may enroll in a modified program.

Students may continue to enroll in physical education after Physical Education 121 is completed. Members of the faculty may elect activities with permission of the Department.
Physics

Professor: Fleming (Chair), Brown
Associate Professor: Ducas
Assistant Professor: Quivers, Fourguette, Berg, Stark
Laboratory Instructor: Smith, Bauer

All courses meet for two periods of lecture weekly and all Grade I and Grade II courses have one three-hour laboratory unless otherwise noted.

100 (2) Musical Acoustics
Production, propagation and perception of sound waves in music; emphasis on understanding of musical instruments and the means of controlling their sound by the performer. No laboratory. Each student will write a term paper applying physical principles to a particular field of interest. Not to be counted toward the minimum major or to fulfill entrance requirement for medical school. Open to all students except to those who have taken [102]. Not offered in 1987-88.
Ms. Brown

101 (1)* Frontiers of Physics
A qualitative overview of the evolution of physics from classical to modern concepts. An introduction to the methodology and language of physics. No laboratory. Not to be counted toward minimum major or to fulfill entrance requirement for medical school. Open to all students.
Ms. Fleming

102 (2) Musical Acoustics with Laboratory
Same description as 100 except the course is offered with laboratory in alternate weeks and the students will write a shorter term paper. Not to be counted toward the minimum major or to fulfill entrance requirement for medical school. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.
Ms. Brown

103 (1) Physics of Whales and Porpoises
Various aspects of these unusual mammals will be explored and viewed in the light of the physical principles they embody. Areas covered include: diving, acoustics, and movement through fluids. Each student will write a final paper on a particular topic. Laboratory in alternate weeks. Not to be counted toward the minimum major or to fulfill entrance requirement for medical school. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Ducas

104 (1) Basic Concepts in Physics I
Mechanics including: statics, dynamics, and conservation laws. Introduction to waves. Discussion meetings in alternate weeks. Open to all students who do not offer physics for admission and by permission of the instructor to juniors and seniors who offer physics for admission. May not be taken in addition to 107, [105], or [109]. Prerequisite or corequisite: Mathematics 115 or 120.
Ms. Fourguette

106 (2) Basic Concepts in Physics II
Wave phenomena, electricity and magnetism, light and optics. 106 is normally a terminal course. Prerequisite: 104 or 105 and Mathematics 115 or 120.

107 (1) (2) Introductory Physics I
Principles and applications of mechanics. Includes: Newton's laws; conservation laws; rotational motion; oscillatory motion; thermodynamics and gravitation. Discussion meeting in alternate weeks. Open to students who offer physics for admission. May not be taken in addition to 104, [105] or [109]. Prerequisite: Mathematics 115 or 120.
Mr. Berg, Ms. Fleming

108 (1) (2) Introductory Physics II
Wave phenomena, electricity and magnetism, light and optics. Prerequisite: [105], 107, [109] (or 104 and by permission of the instructor) and Mathematics 116 or 120.
Mr. Stark

Physics 195
203 (2) Vibrations and Waves

Free vibrations; forced vibrations and resonance; wave motion; superposition of waves; Fourier analysis with applications. Prerequisite: 108 or permission of the instructor or [200], Mathematics 116 or 120 and Extradepartmental 216. Some computer programming experience is recommended.

Ms. Brown

204 (1) Modern Physics

Basic principles of relativity and quantum theory and of atomic and nuclear structure. Prerequisite: 108 or by permission of the instructor or [200] and Mathematics 116 or 120.

219 (2) Modern Electronics

This is primarily a laboratory course emphasizing "hands on" experience building and understanding both analog and digital electronic circuits. Intended for students in all of the natural sciences, especially physics and computer science. The approach is practical, based on the idea that electronics as practiced by scientists is really a simple art. Topics include: transistor amplifiers, op amps, digital circuits based on both combinational and sequential logic, and construction of a microcomputer based on a Z-80 microprocessor programmed in machine language. Two laboratories per week and no formal lecture appointments. Prerequisites: Physics 106 or 108 or [200] or permission of instructor.

Mr. Berg

222 (2) Medical Physics

The medical and biological applications of physics. Such areas as mechanics, electricity and magnetism, optics and thermodynamics will be applied to biological systems and medical technology. Special emphasis will be placed on modern techniques such as imaging tomography (CAT scans, ultrasound, etc.) and laser surgery. Prerequisite: 106, 108, or [200], and Mathematics 115, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Ducas

305 (2) Thermodynamics and Statistical Mechanics

The laws of thermodynamics; ideal gases; thermal radiation; Fermi and Bose gases; phase transformations; and kinetic theory. Prerequisite: 204 or by permission of the instructor. Extradepartmental 216 or Mathematics 205.

Mr. Ducas

306 (1) Mechanics

Analytic mechanics, oscillators, central forces, Lagrange's and Hamilton's equations, introduction to rigid body mechanics. Prerequisite: 203; Extradepartmental 216 or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Brown

314 (2) Electromagnetic Theory

Maxwell's equations, boundary value problems, special relativity, electromagnetic waves, and radiation. Prerequisite: [200] or 108 and 306, and Extradepartmental 216 or Mathematics 205.

Ms. Fourguette

321 (1) Quantum Mechanics

Interpretative postulates of quantum mechanics; solutions to the Schroedinger equation; operator theory; perturbation theory; scattering; matrices. Prerequisite: 204 and Extradepartmental 216; 306 or 314 are strongly recommended.

349 (2)* Application of Quantum Mechanics

Quantum mechanical techniques such as perturbation theory and the WKB method will be applied to describe phenomena in atoms and molecules. Such topics as Zeeman and Stark effects, internal level structure, one and two-photon transitions and basic non-linear optics will be discussed. Corequisite: Physics 321 or Chemistry 333, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

196 Physics
350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2
Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360.

Cross-Listed Courses

Extradepartmental 216 (1)
Mathematics for the Physical Sciences. For description and prerequisite see Extradepartmental 216.
Ms. Fourguette

Directions for Election
A major in physics should ordinarily include [200] 108, [202] or 203, 204, 305, 306, 314, and 321. Extradepartmental 216 and Mathematics 209 are additional requirements. One unit of another laboratory science is recommended. Note: the change in the Directions for Election, requiring both Extradepartmental 216 and Mathematics 209, becomes effective with the Class of 1989.

Some graduate schools require a reading knowledge of French, German or Russian.

Exemption Examination
An examination for exemption from Physics 108 is offered to students who present one admission unit in Physics. Students who pass this examination will be eligible for Grade II work in physics. No unit of credit will be given for passing this examination.

Political Science

Professor: Miller(Chair), Schechter, Stettner, Keobane\(^{\spadesuit}\), Just, Marshall
Associate Professor: Paarlberg, Krieger\(^{\spadesuit}\), Joseph, Murphy
Assistant Professor: Hope\(^{\spadesuit}\), Lib, Drucker
Instructor: Rao\(^{\spadesuit}\)
Lecturer: Entmacher, Wasserspring\(^{\spadesuit}\), Leymaster\(^{\spadesuit}\), Naauwe\(^{\spadesuit}\)

101 (1) (2) Introduction to Politics
Study of political conflict and consensus, or "who gets what, when, and how." Topics include ways in which political systems deal with problems in leadership, economic development, and social inequality. Comparison of democratic and authoritarian systems, including the United States, Great Britain, Nazi Germany, and the People's Republic of China. Emphasis on the relationship between political thought, institutions, and policy problems. Readings from Aristotle, Madison, Hitler, Marx, Lenin, and Mao as well as contemporary political analysts. Strongly recommended for all further work in political science. Open to all students.
The Staff

Comparative Politics

204 (1) Political Economy of Development and Underdevelopment
An analysis of the national and international contexts of political and economic problems in the Third World with special emphasis on the major explanations for underdevelopment and alternative strategies for development. Topics discussed include colonialism and economic dependency, nationalism, nation-building, and political change, rural development, technology transfer, population control, and the role of women in developing countries. Prerequisite: one unit in political science, economics, or European or Third World history; open to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.
Mr. Joseph
205 (1) Politics of Western Europe
A comparative study of the capitalist democracies of Western Europe. The course will focus on the capacity of political systems to adapt to new economic challenges and the increased social pressures that influence the processes of government in West Germany, Britain, and France. Readings and discussion will emphasize the institutional principles of the modern state, the rise and fall of the post-war settlement, and new social movements of the 1970's and 1980's. Prerequisite: one unit in political science or European history; open to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.
Mr. Krieger

206 (1) Politics of the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe
Study of the ideology and political organization of Soviet and Eastern European Communism since the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution. Topics include theory and practice of Marxism-Leninism and Stalinism, internal politics of the Communist Party, Soviet education and public opinion, and varieties of socialist democracy in contemporary Eastern Europe. Prerequisite: one unit in political science or Russian language and/or history. Not open to students who have taken 301.
Mr. Lib

207 (2) Politics of Latin America
The course will explore Latin American political systems focusing on the problems and limits of change in Latin America today. An examination of the broad historical, economic and cultural forces that have molded Latin American nations. Evaluation of the complex revolutionary experiences of Mexico and Cuba and the failure of revolution in Chile. Focus on the contemporary struggles for change in Central America. Contrasting examples drawn from Mexico, Cuba, Chile, Nicaragua and El Salvador. Prerequisite: one unit in political science; by permission of the instructor to other qualified students.
Ms. Wasserspring

208 (2) Politics of East Asia
An introduction to the political systems of contemporary China and Japan. Topics include the origins and evolution of the Chinese revolution; the legacy of Chairman Mao Zedong; the structure and nature of political processes in the People's Republic of China; policy issues such as rural development, the status of women and ethnic minorities, and education in socialist China; party and bureaucratic politics in post-war Japan; and the reasons for the Japanese economic "miracle." Prerequisite: one unit in political science, Asian history, or Chinese studies. Not open to students who have taken 300.
Mr. Joseph

209 (1) African Politics
An examination of the politics of Africa, with special emphasis on relations among African countries and between Africa and the rest of the world. Attention will be paid to the problems of decolonization, national integration, and to the crisis in southern Africa. Prerequisite: one unit in political science; by permission to other qualified students. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Murphy

303 (2) The Political Economy of the Welfare State
A comparative study of the foundations of social and welfare policy in Western democracies. Focus will be on the changing character of the welfare state in Europe and America: its development in the interwar years, its startling expansion after World War II, and its uncertain future today as a result of fiscal crisis and diverse political oppositions. Themes to be discussed include: state strategies for steering the capitalist economy; problems of redistribution of wealth; social security, health, and unemployment protection; and the implications of welfare policy for class, race, and gender in contemporary society. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit in American or comparative European politics or macroeconomics or European history; open to juniors and seniors without prerequisite by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mr. Krieger

198 Political Science
304 (2) Seminar. Studies in Political Leadership
A comparative study of the role of political leaders in defining choices and mobilizing support using a variety of conceptual approaches. Review of succession problems and political culture in a variety of democratic and authoritarian societies. Individual research and student reports. Open to students who have taken one Grade II unit in international relations, American or comparative politics, or by permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to instructor.
Mr. Lib

305 (1) Seminar. The Military in Politics
The seminar will focus on relations between the military and politics. Emphasis on the varieties of military involvement in politics, the causes of direct military intervention in political systems, and the consequences of military influence over political decisions. Themes include the evolution of the professional soldier, military influence in contemporary industrial society and the prevalence of military regimes in Third World nations. Case studies of the United States, Brazil, Peru, Nigeria, Ghana, Egypt. Open to juniors and seniors by permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to instructor.
Ms. Wasserspring

306 (1) Seminar. Revolutions in the Modern World
Comparative analysis of the theory and practice of revolutions in the 20th century. The seminar will consider such questions as: Why and when do revolutions occur? What are the important qualities of revolutionary leadership? How are people mobilized to join a revolutionary movement? What are some of the different strategies for the revolutionary seizure of power? Writings by such revolutionaries as Lenin, Mao, and Guevara will be studied, along with contemporary social science analyses of revolutions. Case studies will be drawn from Russia, China, Vietnam, Cuba, Chile, and Iran. Open to juniors and seniors by permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to instructor.
Mr. Joseph

307 (1) Seminar. Gender, Culture and Political Change
An examination of the impact of political change on gender and culture in the Third World. The status of women in traditional society and the role of the state in altering or reinforcing gender stereotypes will be examined. Focus on the impact of development on women's life choices and opportunities. Open to juniors and seniors by permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.
Ms. Wasserspring

309 (2) Communist Parties and Socialist Societies
An examination of a variety of political, social, and economic issues in building socialism under the leadership of a communist party. Material will be drawn from such countries as China, the Soviet Union, Poland, Yugoslavia, Cuba, Vietnam, North Korea, and Ethiopia. Topics to be considered include: routes to power, ideology, party structure and operation, succession, participation, dissent and social control, economic planning and reform, the role of the military, and women in socialist societies. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit in comparative politics or by permission of the instructor.
Mr. Joseph

American Politics and Law

200 (1) (2) American Politics
The dynamics of the American political process: constitutional developments, growth and erosion of congressional power, the rise of the presidency and the executive branch, impact of the Supreme Court, evolution of federalism, the role of political parties, elections and interest groups. Emphasis on national political institutions and on both historic and contemporary political values. The course will include analysis of a variety of contemporary policy problems, including such issues as race and sex discrimination, individual liberties, poverty, urban conflict, environmental disruption, inflation, and unemployment. Recommended for further work in American law and politics. Prerequisite: one unit in political science, economics, or American studies, or by permission of the instructor.
Mr. Schechter, Ms. Drucker

210 (1) Political Participation
The impact of voters, pressure groups, political parties and elections on American politics. Students will engage in participant observation in an election campaign or interest group. The decline of political parties and the rise of the media will be explored in the context of American elections. Prerequisite: one unit in political science or by permission of the instructor.
Ms. Just

212 (2) Urban Politics
Introduction to contemporary urban politics. Study of policy making and evaluation in the areas of education, transportation, housing, welfare, budgeting and taxation. Consideration of population shifts, regional problems, and the impact of federal policy on urban planning. Prerequisite: one unit in political science or economics or American studies. Not offered in 1987-88.

215 (1) (2) Law and the Administration of Justice
Fundamentals of the American legal process, including development of common law, courts and judges, civil and criminal proceedings, property rights, the “imperial judiciary,” criminal liability, interaction of law and politics, limits of the legal system; some comparison with other legal systems. Recommended for further work in legal studies. Prerequisite: 200 or by permission of the instructor.
Ms. Entmacher

311 (1) The Supreme Court in American Politics
Analysis of major developments in constitutional interpretation, the conflict over judicial activism, and current problems facing the Supreme Court. Emphasis will be placed on judicial review, the powers of the President and of Congress, federal-state relations, and individual rights and liberties. Each student will take part in a moot court argument of a major constitutional issue. Prerequisite: one unit in American politics, or 215, or by permission of the instructor.
Mr. Schechter

312 (2) The Criminal Justice System
An examination of how the criminal justice system works, considering the functions of police, prosecutor, defense counsel, and court in the processing of criminal cases; uses of discretionary power in regard to arrest, bail, plea bargaining, and sentencing; changing perceptions of the rights of offenders and victims; current problems in criminal law. Legal research and moot court practice. Prerequisite: 215 or 311 or by permission of the instructor.
Mr. Leymaster

313 (2) American Presidential Politics
Analysis of the central role of the president in American politics, and the development and operation of the institutions of the modern presidency. The course will focus on sources of presidential power and limitations on the chief executive, with particular emphasis on congressional relations and leadership of the federal bureaucracy. Prerequisite: 200 or 210 or by permission of the instructor.
Ms. Drucker

314 (1) Congress and the Legislative Process
An examination of the structure, operation, and political dynamics of the U.S. Congress and other contemporary legislatures. Emphasis will be on Congress: its internal politics, relations with the other branches, and responsiveness to interest groups and the public. The course will analyze the sources and limits of congressional power, and will familiarize students with the intricacies of lawmaking. Prerequisite: 200 or 210 or by permission of the instructor.
Ms. Drucker

316 (2) Mass Media and Public Opinion
Examination of the role of mass media and public opinion in American democracy. Study of American political culture, popular participation, and performance. Evaluation of the role of mass media in shaping public opinion, with special emphasis on the presidential election campaign. Discussion will focus on the organization of news-gathering, behavior and values of journalists, news production, problems of the First Amendment, reporting international affairs, and the impact of new technologies. Prerequisite: 200, or 210, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Just

317 (2) The Politics of Health Care

The effects of politics and law on health care in the United States. Examination of the allocation of health care including the debate over national health insurance and the implications of an increasing elderly population. Analysis of the political, legal, and ethical issues posed by new medical technologies. Prerequisite: same as for 311.

Ms. Entmacher

318 (1) Seminar. Conservatism and Liberalism in Contemporary American Politics

Examination of the writings of modern conservatives, neo-conservatives, liberals, and libertarians and discussion of major political conflicts. Analysis of such policy questions as the role of the Federal government in the economy, poverty and social welfare, personal liberty, property rights, capital punishment, preventive detention, affirmative action, busing, abortion, school prayer. Assessment of the impact of interest groups, the president and other political leaders, the media, and Supreme Court justices on constitutional rights and public policies. Open to juniors and seniors by permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to instructor.

Mr. Schechter

319 (2) Seminar. Executive Decision-Making: Varieties of Power

Study of the leaders of public organizations, including presidents, governors, mayors, and appointed bureaucratic executives. Exploration of theories of decision-making and executive organization. Examination of the policy environment in which public-sector executives function. Comparison of the powers and constraints on public executives with those in the private sector. Open to juniors and seniors by permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

320 (2) Seminar. Inequality and the Law

Analysis of the emerging constitutional and statutory rights of women and racial minorities. What rights have been sought? What rights have been achieved? To what extent have new legal rights been translated into actual social and governmental practices? Focus on the equal protection and due process clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment, statutes such as Title VII of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, and Supreme Court decisions during the past decade. The seminar will compare litigation with more traditional strategies for changing public policies toward employment discrimination, abortion, affirmative action, school segregation, housing and welfare. Prerequisite: one unit in American legal studies and by permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to instructor.

Mr. Schechter

336 (1) Seminar. Women, the Family and the State

Analysis of the development and evolution of public policies toward the family, and their relationship to changing assumptions about “women’s place.” Consideration of policies toward marriage and divorce; domestic violence; nontraditional families; family planning; the care and support of children; and public welfare. Prerequisite: one unit in American politics, 215 or 311, and by permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to instructor.

Ms. Entmacher

International Relations

221 (1) (2) World Politics

An introduction to the international system with emphasis on contemporary theory and practice. Analysis of the bases of power and influence, the sources of tension and conflict, and the modes of accommodation and conflict resolution. Prerequisite: one unit in history or political science.

Miss Miller, Mr. Murphy, Mr. Nawawi
222 (2) Comparative Foreign Policies
An examination of factors influencing the formulation and execution of national foreign policies in the contemporary international system. Comparisons and contrasts between rich and poor, and strong and weak countries will be stressed, especially the varying significance of domestic sources of foreign policy in Western and non-Western settings. Prerequisite: one unit in international relations or comparative politics.

Mr. Paarlberg

321 (1) The United States in World Politics
An exploration of American foreign policy since 1945. Readings will include general critiques and case studies designed to illuminate both the processes of policy formulation and the substance of policies pursued. Consideration of future prospects. Prerequisite: one unit in international relations or by permission of the instructor.

Miss Miller

322 (2) The Soviet Union in World Politics
An examination of Soviet foreign policy since 1917. Attention will be given to ideological, geo-political, economic, and domestic sources of foreign policy behavior. Soviet policy toward the Western nations, developing nations, and other communist countries will be treated. Prerequisite: one unit in international relations, 206, or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Lib

323 (1) The Politics of Economic Interdependence
A review of the politics of international economic relations, including trade, money, and multinational investment, among rich and poor countries and between East and West. Global issues discussed will include food, population, and energy, and poor country demands for a New International Economic Order. Prerequisite: one unit in international relations or comparative politics.

Mr. Paarlberg

324 (2) International Security
War as the central dilemma of international politics. Shifting causes and escalating consequences of warfare since the industrial revolution. Emphasis on the risk and avoidance of armed conflict in the contemporary period, the spread of nuclear and conventional military capabilities, arms transfer, arms competition, and arms control. Prerequisite: one unit in international relations or permission of the instructor.

Mr. Paarlberg

325 (2) Seminar. Negotiation and Bargaining
An examination of modern diplomacy in bilateral and multilateral settings from the perspectives of both theorists and practitioners. Consideration of the roles of personalities, national styles of statecraft and domestic constraints in historical and contemporary case studies from Versailles to the present. Prerequisite: one unit in international relations or by permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Miss Miller

326 (2) International Politics in the Middle East
Examination of conflict and cooperation stressing the Arab-Israeli dispute, intra-Arab politics, and the behavior of extra-regional states. Consideration of domestic problems and the roles of religion and ideology as hindrances or aids to conflict resolution. Prerequisite: same as for 321.

Mr. Murphy

327 (2) International Organization
The changing role of international institutions since the League of Nations. Emphasis on the UN, plus examination of specialized agencies, multilateral conferences and regional or functional economic and security organizations. The theory and practice of integration beyond the nation-state, as well as the creation and destruction of international regimes. Prerequisite: one unit in international relations or comparative politics.

Mr. Murphy
328 (2) Seminar. Problems in East-West Relations
An exploration of contentious issues in relations between the superpowers and their allies. Stress on diverse approaches to such questions as defense, arms control, human rights, intervention in third-world conflicts, trade and technology transfer, scientific and cultural exchanges, the role of China in world affairs, and instability in Eastern Europe. Prerequisite: one unit in international relations or by permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to instructor.
Miss Miller

329 (1) International Law
The nature and functions of international law in contemporary international society. Study of basic principles of state sovereignty, jurisdiction and recognition will provide a basis for charting the development of international law in respect of the regulation of conflict, ocean and outer space, human rights and the control of terrorism. Problems of law-making and law-observance will be illustrated by case-studies drawn from recent state practice. Prerequisite: 215 or one unit in international relations, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

331 (1) Seminar. The Politics of the World Food System
How politics shapes world food production, consumption, and trade. The seminar will include an examination of national food and food trade policies in rich and poor countries. Particular stress will be placed on the experience of India, the Soviet Union, and the United States. Also, an examination of the role of international agribusiness and private food trading companies, and of international organizations managing food trade and food assistance. Finally, an investigation of the use of food as a diplomatic weapon. Prerequisite: one unit in international relations or comparative politics. Open to juniors and seniors by permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to instructor.
Mr. Paarlberg

332 (2) Seminar. The Politics of World Energy
An analysis of how politics and technology shape world energy production and consumption. Focus on national and international aspects of energy policies in rich and poor countries. Consideration of energy as an East-West and North-South issue in world politics and of oil as a weapon in global diplomacy. Prerequisite: one unit in international relations. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.
Miss Miller

347 (1) Seminar. International Sanctions
An examination of political, economic and psychological aspects of sanctions as a form of international pressure. Topics to be discussed will include the grounds for sanctions and the objectives of states imposing them; the range of possible measures; vulnerabilities of targets; backlash and spillover effects of sanctions, and the difficulties of sustaining collective pressure inside and outside organizational frameworks. Experience with sanctions against Cuba, Rhodesia, and Iran, the Western response to crisis in Afghanistan and Poland, Arab boycotts and embargoes, and the problem of South Africa will provide case material for the course. Prerequisite: one unit in international relations. Open to juniors and seniors by permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to department chair. Not offered in 1987-88.

348 (1) Seminar. Problems in North-South Relations
An exploration of historical and contemporary relations between advanced industrial countries and less developed countries, with emphasis on imperialism, decolonization, interdependence, and superpower competition as key variables. Consideration of systemic, regional, and domestic political perspectives. Stress on the uses of trade, aid, investment and military intervention as foreign policy instruments. Prerequisite: one unit in international relations or permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to instructor.
Mr. Murphy
Political Theory and Methods

240 (1) Classical and Medieval Political Theory
Study of selected classical, medieval, and early modern writers such as Plato, Aristotle, Cicero, St. Augustine, St. Thomas Aquinas, Machiavelli, Luther, Calvin, and Hooker. Views on such questions as the nature of political man; interpretations of the concepts of freedom, justice, and equality; legitimate powers of government; best political institutions. Some attention to historical context and to importance for modern political analysis. Prerequisite: one unit in political science, philosophy, or European history. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Drucker

241 (2) Modern Political Theory
Study of political theory from the 17th to 19th centuries. Among the theorists studied are Hobbes, Locke, Hume, Rousseau, Burke, Mill, Hegel, Marx, and Nietzsche. Views on such questions as the nature of political man; interpretations of the concepts of freedom, justice, and equality; legitimate powers of government; best political institutions. Some attention to historical context and to importance for modern political analysis. Prerequisite: one unit in political science, philosophy, or European history.

Ms. Rao

242 (1) Contemporary Political Theory
Study of selected 20th-century political theories, including Existentialism, contemporary variances of Marxism, Fascism, Neoconservatism. Attention will be paid to theories leading to contemporary approaches to political science, including elite theory, group theory, functionalism, and theories of bureaucracy. Prerequisite: one unit in political theory; 241 is strongly recommended.

Mr. Krieger

249 (2) Political Science Laboratory
The role of empirical data and the use of the computer in the study of comparative politics, public opinion, and political behavior. Frequent exercises introduce students to topics in descriptive statistics, probability and sampling, questionnaire design, cross tabulation, tests of significance, regression, correlation and modeling. Emphasis is on concepts in data analysis. No previous knowledge of mathematics, statistics, or computing is required. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit in political science or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Drucker

340 (2) American Political Thought
Examination of American political writing, with emphasis given to the Constitutional period, Progressive Era, and to contemporary sources. Questions raised include: origins of American institutions, including rationale for federalism and separation of powers, role of President and Congress, judicial review, etc.; American interpretations of democracy, equality, freedom and justice; legitimate powers of central and local governments. Attention paid to historical context and to importance for modern political analysis. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit in political science, American politics, or American history, or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Stettner

341 (2) Issues and Concepts in Political Theory
Study of such political concepts as freedom, justice, equality, democracy, power, revolution, civil disobedience, and political obligation. Discussion of related issues, including implications for political systems of adopting these concepts and problems which result when these values conflict with one another. Emphasis on contemporary political problems and sources. Prerequisite: two Grade II units in political science, philosophy, or intellectual history, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

342 (1) Marxist Political Theory
Study of the fundamental concepts of Marxism as developed by Marx and Engels and explored by later classical Marxist theorists including: Lenin, Stalin, Trotsky, Gramsci, Kautsky, and Luxembourg. Attention will also be paid to the contemporary theoretical controversy surrounding both East European communism and the "Eurocommunism" of France, Italy, and Spain. Concepts to be critically examined include: alienation, the materialist view of history, the bourgeois state, the transition to socialism, the dictatorship of the proletariat, and permanent revolution versus statism. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit in political theory or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Krieger

343 (2) Seminar. Human Rights
An examination of the origins and development of human rights in Western and non-Western societies. Focus on such theorists as Locke, Hobbes, Rousseau, Burke, Paine, and Marx. Consideration of contemporary issues including anticolonialism, feminism, and economics versus political rights. Prerequisite: one unit in political theory or by permission of instructor. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to instructor.

Ms. Rao

344 (2) Feminist Political Theory
Examination of 19th and 20th-century feminist theory within the conventions and discourse of traditional political theory. Authors read will include Marx, Mill, de Beauvoir and Woolf, as well as several contemporary American, English and French theorists. Liberal, socialist, radical, historical, psychoanalytic and utopian approaches to the topic will be considered. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit in political theory, philosophy, women's studies, or modern European history.

Ms. Rao

346 (2) Seminar. Critical Theory
An examination of a tradition within 20th century political theory which derives from Marx's critique of political economy and develops insights concerning psychoanalysis, law and social change, the family, the philosophy of history, music theory, and culture. Authors read will include Horkheimer, Adorno, Marcuse, Kirchheimer, and Neumann. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit in political theory, philosophy, or modern European history. Open to juniors and seniors by permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited; apply in writing to the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Krieger

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2
Individual or group research of an exploratory or specialized nature. Students interested in independent research should request the assistance of a faculty sponsor and plan the project, readings, conferences, and method of examination with the faculty sponsor. Open to juniors and seniors by permission.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360.

Cross-Listed Courses

American Studies 315 (1)
American Studies: Political Thought in the American Constitutional Period. For description see American Studies 315.

Black Studies 214 (2)
The Supreme Court and Racial Equality. For description and prerequisite see Black Studies 214.

Extradepartmental 222 (2)
Latin American Studies: Latin American Peasantry. For description and prerequisite see Extradepartmental 222.

Directions for Election
The Political Science Department divides its courses and seminars into four sub-fields: Comparative Politics, American Politics and Law, International Relations, and Political Theory and Methods. Political Science 101, which provides an introduction to the discipline, is strongly recommended for first year students or sophomores who are considering majoring in Political Science.
In order to ensure that Political Science majors familiarize themselves with the substantive concerns and methodologies employed throughout the discipline, all majors must take one Grade II or Grade III unit in each of the four sub-fields offered by the Department. In the process of meeting this major requirement, students are encouraged to take at least one course or seminar which focuses on a culture other than their own. A major in Political Science consists of at least 8 units.

Recommended first courses in the four sub-fields are: 204 or 205; 200; 221; and 241.

In addition to the distribution requirement, the Department requires all majors to do advanced work in at least two of the four sub-fields. The minimum major shall include Grade III work in two fields and at least one of these Grade III units must be a seminar. Admission to department seminars is by written application only. Seminar applications may be obtained in the Department office. Majors are encouraged to take more than the minimum number of required Grade III courses. While units of credit taken at other institutions may be used to fulfill up to two of the four distribution units, the Grade III units required for a minimum major must be taken at Wellesley.

Although Wellesley College does not grant academic credit for participation in intern programs, students who take part in the Washington Summer Internship Program or the Los Angeles Urban Internship Program may arrange with a faculty member to undertake a unit of 350, Research or Individual Study, related to the internship experience.

Majors considering going to graduate school for a Ph.D. in Political Science should acquire a reading knowledge of two foreign languages and statistics or, as an alternative, one language plus quantitative methods.

Psychobiology

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Directors: Koff, Eichenbaum

The Departments of Psychology and Biological Sciences offer an interdepartmental major in psychobiology which provides opportunity for interdisciplinary study of the biological bases of behavior.

A major in psychobiology must include the following core courses: Psychology 101, 205, and a research methods course (207R, 210R, 212R, or 214R); Biological Sciences 110 and 111; and Psychobiology 213. (See Biological Sciences 213 or Psychology 213). Majors must elect at least one other Grade II course from each department. To be eligible for the Honors program, students must have completed all of the above by the end of the junior year. Acceptable Grade III courses in Biological Sciences are 306, 315, and 332; acceptable Grade III courses in Psychology are 318 and 319. Any other Grade III courses must be specifically approved by the directors.

Students planning graduate work in this and related fields are advised to elect at least 2 units of chemistry, 2 units of physics, and to acquire a working knowledge of computers.

101 (1) (2) Introduction to Psychology

Study of selected research problems from areas such as personality, child development, learning, cognition, and social psychology to demonstrate ways in which psychologists study behavior. Open to all students.

205 (1) (2) Statistics

The application of statistical techniques to the analysis of psychological data. Major emphasis on the understanding of statistics found in published research and as preparation for the student’s own research in more advanced courses. Three periods of combined lecture-laboratory. Additional optional periods may be arranged for review and discussion. Prerequisite: 101.

Ms. Hennessey

207 (1) (2) Developmental Psychology

Behavior and psychological development in infancy, childhood, and adolescence. Theory and research pertaining to personality, social, and cognitive development are examined. Lecture, discussion, demonstration, and observation of children. Observations at the Child Study Center required. Prerequisite: 101.

Ms. Brachfeld-Child, Ms. Hennessey

207R (1) (2) Research Methods in Developmental Psychology

An introduction to research methods appropriate to the study of human development. Individual and group projects. Laboratory. Each section typically limited to twelve students. Observations at the Child Study Center required. Prerequisite: 205 and 207.

Mrs. Clinchy, Mr. Boyatzis

208 (2) Adolescence

Consideration of physical, cognitive, social and personality development during adolescence. Prerequisite: 101.

Ms. Mansfield

210 (1) (2) Social Psychology

The individual’s behavior as it is influenced by other people and the social situation. Study of social influence, interpersonal perception, social evaluation, and various forms of social interaction. Lecture, discussion, and demonstration. Prerequisite: 101.

Ms. Akert

210R (2) Research Methods in Social Psychology

An introduction to research methods appropriate to the study of social psychology. Individual and group projects on selected topics. Laboratory. Each section typically limited to twelve students. Prerequisite: 205 and 210 or 211.

Mr. Schiavo

211 (1) Group Psychology

Study of everyday interaction of individuals in groups. Introduction to theory and research on the psychological processes related to group structure and formation, leadership, communication patterns, etc. Prerequisite: 101.

212 (1) (2) Personality

A comparison of major ways of conceiving and studying personality, including the work of Freud, Jung, behaviorists, and cultural psychologists. Students will gain hands-on experience with personality assessment tools, and familiarity with basic issues in personality theory and research. Prerequisite: 101.

Ms. Thorne, Mr. Cheek

212R (1) (2) Research Methods in Personality

An introduction to research methods appropriate to the study of personality. Individual and group projects. Laboratory. Each section typically limited to twelve students. Prerequisite: 205 and 212.

Mr. Dickstein, Ms. Thorne, Mr. Cheek
213 (1) Introduction to Psychobiology
An introduction to the study of the relationship between the nervous system and behavior with particular emphasis on the structure and function of the nervous system. Topics include basic neuroanatomy and neurophysiology, and brain mechanisms involved in such aspects of behavior as emotion, language, motivation, memory, sensation, and cognition. Emphasis on comparison of experiments with animal and human subjects in an effort to shed light on human cognitive functions. Laboratory. Prerequisite: 101 and Biological Sciences III or 109. Additionally listed in the Department of Biological Sciences.

Mrs. Koff, Mr. Eichenbaum, Ms. Paul

214R (2) Experimental Research Methods
Introduction to experimental methodology. The object of the course is the acquisition of basic research skills including hypothesis formation, experimental design, data analysis, and journal writing. Group and individual projects. Students will design and execute an independent research project. Prerequisite: 205 and one of the following, 213, 216, 217, 218, 219.

Ms. Lucas

216 (2) Psychology of Language
Introduction to the study of the mental processes involved in using language. Topics will include language comprehension, the perception and production of speech, the development of language, and animal communication. Prerequisite: 101.

Ms. Lucas

217 (1) Memory and Cognition
Cognitive psychology is the study of the capabilities and limitations of the human mind when viewed as a system for processing information. This course will examine basic issues and research in cognition focusing on memory, attention, pattern recognition, and the representation and use of conceptual knowledge. Prerequisite: 101.

Ms. Lucas

218 (2) Sensation and Perception
This course focuses on theories concerning the possible links between a physical event, the response of sensory organs, and subjective experience. Review of physical and physiological concepts, such as waves, mapping functions, neural coding, and receptive fields. Consideration of specific thresholds for seeing and hearing, how colors and shapes are perceived, and how sound is processed. Course will include laboratory demonstrations. Prerequisite: 101.

219 Learning
Conditioning, verbal learning, and memory will be discussed. There will be an emphasis on in-class exercises demonstrating principles of learning and a consideration of their relevance to everyday learning situations. Prerequisite: 101. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Furumoto

225 American Psychology in Historical Context
This course will examine the socio-cultural milieu which gave rise to modern psychology, including personalities, issues, and institutions that played a major role in shaping the field. The class will do a case study of the Wellesley Psychology Laboratory (founded in 1891) focusing on the lives of the women faculty members who directed it. Prerequisite: 101. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Furumoto

249 Seminar. The Psychology of Education
The psychology of college education. Exploration of different types of liberal arts colleges from the psychological point of view. Topics will include changes in student attitudes, values, and behavior during the college years; salient features of the college environment as perceived by students and faculty (e.g., competition, achievement); student decision-making (e.g., the major, the career); relationships among students and faculty; the social psychology of the classroom and the residence hall; innovative and traditional teaching techniques; methods of evaluating student learning; single-sex vs. coeducational colleges; the ideal college education for women. First year students and sophomores are encouraged to apply. Open by permission of the instructor to students who have taken 101. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Zimmerman

301 Psychology and Social Policy
An examination of the relevance of psychological theories and research in forming social policy. Consideration of the applicability of research to policy. Consideration of the applicability of research to policy issues such as the content of federal regulations and the construction of social programs, such as Head Start and federal regulations relating to daycare, and the effects of television violence on aggression. Open by permission of the instructor to juniors and seniors who have taken two Grade II units, excluding 205, and to other qualified students. Not offered in 1987-88.

303 (1) Psychology of Gender
This course examines how psychologists have construed and studied sex differences and gender, what we know “for sure” about gender differences, where the differences come from, and where they might go. Topics include womb and penis envy, the myth of the perfect mother, uses and meaning of feminist methodology, and new psychologies of women. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken two Grade II units, excluding 205, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Thorne

306 Advanced Personality
Not offered in 1987-88.

308 (2) Selected Topics in Clinical Psychology
Topic for 1987-88: Psychotherapy. This course compares theory and research on individual and family systems therapy. Emphasis is on the nature of the relationship between co-participants, and, where applicable, conceptions of transference, counter-transference, insight, and change. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken two Grade II units, excluding 205 and including 212, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Thorne

309 (2) Abnormal Psychology
Consideration of major theories of psychological disorders. Illustrative case materials and research findings. Selected issues on prevention and treatment of emotional problems. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken two Grade II units, including 212 and excluding 205.

Ms. Rierdan

310 (1) Seminar. Schizophrenia
The nature, causes, and treatment of schizophrenia. Schizophrenia will be distinguished from other psychological disorders with which it is frequently confused (such as multiple personality); its causes in terms of genetic, biochemical, family, and social influences will be reviewed; effective treatment of people diagnosed schizophrenic will be considered. Theoretical and research articles will be supplemented by taped interviews and films. The goals of the seminar are to increase the student’s appreciation of this particular psychological disorder and, in so doing, to broaden her understanding of the variety of functional and dysfunctional ways people attempt to resolve universal human dilemmas. Open by permission of the instructor to juniors and seniors who have taken two Grade II units, including 212, and excluding 205.

Ms. Rierdan

311 (2) Seminar. Social Psychology
Topic for 1987-88: Environmental Psychology. The focus of the seminar is on the influence of the physical environment on behavior and feelings. There will be emphasis upon relevant concepts such as crowding, privacy, territoriality, and personal space. Specific settings (e.g., classrooms, playgrounds) will be investigated. Students (in small groups) will use observation, interview, or questionnaire techniques to pursue research topics. Individual seminar reports are expected. Open by permission of the instructor to juniors and seniors who have taken two Grade II units, including either 210 or 211 and excluding 205, or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Schiavo

Psychology 209
312 (1) Seminar. Psychology of Death
An examination of the psychological meaning of death to the individual. Topics to be covered will include acquisition of the concept of death, antecedents and correlates of individual differences in concern about death, psychological processes in dying persons and their relatives, and the psychology of grief and mourning. Open by permission of the instructor to juniors and seniors who have taken two Grade II units, excluding 205.
Mr. Dickstein

317 (2) Seminar. Psychological Development in Adults
Exploration of age-related crises and dilemmas in the context of contemporary psychological theory and research. Primary focus will be on early adulthood, but selected topics in mid-life and aging will also be examined. Among the topics to be covered will be intellectual development in adulthood; changing conceptions of truth and moral value; sex differences in development. Prerequisite: same as 303.
Mrs. Clinchy

318 (2) Seminar. Brain and Behavior
Selected topics in brain-behavior relationships. Emphasis will be on the neural basis of the higher-order behaviors. Topics will include language, perception, learning, memory, hemispheric specialization, and sex differences in lateralization. Open by permission of the instructor to juniors and seniors who have taken two Grade II units, including one of the following: 213, 216, 217, 218, 219 and one other Grade II course, excluding 205.
Mr. Rosen

319 (1) Seminar. Psychobiology
Topic for 1987-88: Developmental Psychobiology. An examination of the development of the nervous system and its relation to behavior. Topics to be covered include the effects of sex hormones on the development of the brain, the effects of early experience on adult behavior, the development of sleep-wake states, the development of lateralization of the brain, and developmental disorders of the human brain. Open only by permission of the instructor to juniors and seniors who have taken two Grade II units, including one of the following: 213, 216, 217, 218, 219 and one other Grade II course, excluding 205.
Mr. Rosen

325 (2) Seminar. History of Psychology
Topic for 1987-88. Freud in His Time. The seminar will focus on the origins of psychoanalysis, exploring the influence of the political and cultural climate of fin de siècle Vienna on Freud’s theorizing. Freud’s personal relationships, including his associations with male mentors, friends, and followers as well as those with women – family members, professional associates, and patients – will be studied as a means for gaining insights into his work. The seminar will consider the thesis that Freud’s rejection of the “seduction theory” of neurosis resulted from his tangled relationship with his father. Open by permission of the instructor to juniors and seniors who have taken 101.
Ms. Furumoto

327 Selected Topics in Personality
Not offered in 1987-88.

328 Topics in Psychology
Not offered in 1987-88.

330 (1) Seminar. Cognitive Science
Cognitive Science is an interdisciplinary effort to understand and model cognitive mechanisms that use symbols to represent and manipulate knowledge. This effort encompasses work from the fields of cognitive psychology, artificial intelligence, linguistics, philosophy, and the neurosciences. The course will examine the pre-theoretical assumptions behind the research in this field. Questions will be asked about the relation of the mind to the brain, the definition of knowledge and the ability of the computer to “think.” Open to juniors and seniors by permission of the instructor.
Ms. Lucas

331 (1) Seminar. Advanced Topics in Psychology
Topic for 1987-88: The Psychology of the Self. An examination of psychological approaches to understanding the nature of the self from William James (1890) to contemporary theories, including recent developments in psychoanalytic theory. Topics will include self-awareness, self-esteem, self-presentation, self-actualization, and psychopathology of the self. Development of the self throughout the life span will be considered. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken two Grade II units, excluding 205, and by permission of the instructor to other qualified students.

Mr. Cheek

335 Seminar. Experimental Psychology
Memory in Natural Contexts. The experimental study of memory traditionally has taken place in the laboratory, where subjects recall strings of digits, nonsense syllables, or other carefully controlled stimuli. Recent studies of memory for naturally occurring events have led to a new focus on how we use memory in our everyday lives. The seminar will explore this rapidly expanding research literature. Topics include memory for emotionally salient experiences, eyewitness testimony, autobiographical memory, déjà vu, childhood amnesia, cross-cultural studies of memory, memory in early childhood and old age, and exceptional memory abilities. Students will have the opportunity to conduct original research. Prerequisite: same as 312. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Pilemner

337 (1) Seminar. The Psychology of Creativity
The purpose of this course will be 1) to explore the foundations of modern theory and research on creativity, and 2) to examine methods of stimulating creative thought and expression. The course material will include 1) psychodynamic, behavioristic, humanistic and social-psychological theories of creativity, 2) studies of creative environments, 3) personality studies of creative individuals, 4) methods of defining and assessing creativity, and 5) programs designed to increase both verbal and nonverbal creativity. Open by permission of the instructor to juniors and seniors who have taken two Grade II units, excluding 205.

Ms. Hennessey

340 (1) Applied Psychology
Topic for 1987-88. Organizational Psychology. Course uses experiential activities, cases, theory and research to examine key topics in organizational psychology including: motivation and morale, change and conflict, quality of worklife, work group dynamics, leadership, culture, and the impact of workforce demographics (gender, race, socioeconomic status). Prerequisite: same as 303. Ms. Farquhar

345 (2) Seminar. Selected Topics in Developmental Psychology
Topic for 1987-88: Developmental Psychopathology. Examination from a developmental perspective of various psychological disorders that occur in infancy, childhood, and adolescence. Disorders such as autism, parent-child problems, peer isolation, and eating disturbances will be studied in light of theory and research concerning normal development. 100 (1) (2) Introduction to Religion

A beginning course in the study of religion. Four central issues in major religious traditions of the world: 1) The tragic sense of life; 2) Religion as an agent of conflict and oppression, yet also of reconciliation and peace; 3) Personal religious experience as a means of recovering the fullness of life; and 4) Different ways of understanding the "sacred" or "holy." Materials drawn from sources both traditional and contemporary, Eastern and Western. Open to all students.

Mr. Kodera, (1); Mr. Marini and Ms. Marlow (2)

104 (1) (2) Introduction to the Hebrew Bible/Old Testament

A critical study of the Old Testament/Hebrew Bible (TaNaK) from a variety of perspectives—as a cultural expression of the ancient Near East, as a source for the history of Israel, and as the record of the evolving religious tradition of the Israelites. Attention to this tradition as the matrix of Christianity and Judaism. Emphasis upon the world views and literary craft of the authors. Open to all students.

Mr. Coogan

105 (1) (2) Introduction to the New Testament

An exploration of the writings of the New Testament as diverse expressions of early Christianity. Close reading of the texts, with particular emphasis upon the Gospels and the letters of Paul. Treatment of the literary, theological, and historical dimensions of the Christian scriptures, as well as of methods of interpretation, both ancient and modern. Special attention throughout the course to the factors which led to the break between "Christian" Jews and Judaism and to the rise of Christianity as a separate religion, as well as the effects of this break on the literature within the New Testament written thereafter. Open to all students.

Mr. Schowalter

107 (1) Crises of Belief in Modern Religion

Religious and anti-religious thinkers from the Enlightenment to the present. An examination of the impact of the natural sciences, social theory, psychology, and historical method on traditional religion. Readings in Hume, Darwin, Teilhard de Chardin, Marx, Reinhold Niebuhr, Freud, Tillich, and others. Course is taught at MIT. Open to all students.

Mr. Johnson

108 (1) (2) Introduction to Asian Religions

An introduction to the major religions of India, Tibet, China and Japan with particular attention to universal questions such as how to overcome the human predicament, how to perceive ultimate reality, and what is the meaning of death and the end of the world. Materials taken from Islam, Hinduism, Buddhism, Confucianism, Taoism, and Shinto. Comparisons made, when appropriate, with Hebrew and Christian Scriptures. Course is taught at MIT second semester. Open to all students.

Ms. Marlow (1), Mr. Kodera (2)

140 (1) Introduction to Judaism

A survey of the history of the Jewish community from its beginnings to the present. Exploration of the elements of change and continuity within the evolving Jewish community as it interacted with the larger Greco-Roman world, Islam, Christianity, and post-Enlightenment Europe and America. Consideration given to the central ideas and institutions of the Jewish tradition in historical perspective. Open to all students.

Mrs. Nathanson

Directions for Election

In a liberal arts college, the study of religion constitutes an integral part of the humanities and social sciences. Recognizing religion as an elemental expression of human life and culture, past and present, the department offers courses in the major religious traditions of the East and the West. These courses examine both the individual and the collective dimensions of religion and approach their subject from a variety of perspectives including historical and textual, theological and social scientific.

The total program of the major is designed around the principles of breadth and depth. To promote breadth, majors shall complete one course in each of three groups: Biblical, Western, and Asian. To ensure depth, majors shall concentrate in a special field of interest. The structure of this concentration shall be determined in consultation with the advisor. In individual cases, studies in the original language of religious traditions may be especially valuable. Hebrew and New Testament Greek are available in this department. Religion 199, Elementary Hebrew, cannot be credited towards the department major. However, both Religion 299, Intermediate Hebrew, and Religion 298, New Testament Greek, can be credited towards the major. Latin and Chinese are available elsewhere in the College. Majors interested in pursuing language study should consult their advisors to determine the appropriateness of such work for their programs.

Directions for Election
Course 100 is counted toward the degree but not toward the major. Courses 201, 202 are counted toward the distribution requirements in Group A and are strongly recommended to students who intend to major in Russian. However, only one of them may count toward the major. A major in Russian is expected to elect 205 or 215 in conjunction with 200 or 301, as well as three Grade III courses beyond Russian 301 and 302.
Credit toward the major is normally given for an approved summer of study in the Soviet Union as well as for approved Junior Year Abroad programs.
Students majoring in Russian should consult the chair of the department early in their college career, as should students interested in an individual major in Russian Studies.
Attention is called to History 246 and 247 and Political Science 206, 322, and 342.
Sociology

Professor: Berger

Associate Professor: Imber (Chair), Silbey

Visiting Associate Professor: Levy

Assistant Professor: Cuba, Hertz

102 (1) (2) Sociological Perspective
Introduction to the sociological perspective; its principal concepts, theories; its methodologies of examining human social behavior in relation to social institutions. The interconnection between the "micro" world of the individual and the "macro" world of social institutions. Open to all students.

Mrs. Berger, Mr. Levy

103 (1) Social Problems
An analysis of how behaviors and situations become defined as social problems, those aspects of life that are said to undermine the social order. Attention to contemporary and cross-cultural issues. Topics include: alcoholism and drug abuse; crime, poverty and over population; pollution and energy conservation. Open to all students.

Mr. Imber

111 (1) Sociology of the Family
The course looks at the rise of the modern family from a comparative perspective. Class discussion will focus on the nature and role of the family and its function for individuals and society. Students will be introduced to controversies over the definition and the "crises" of the family, the emergence of new forms, and projections about its future. The effects of work and social class on the family will be examined; dual-career couples and working-class families will be emphasized. Open to all students.

The Staff

138 (2) Deviant Behavior
Why are some behaviors and some people considered "deviant" while others are not? This introductory level course examines several theoretical perspectives of social deviance which offer different answers to this question. It focuses on deviance as an interactive process through an exploration of the way in which people enter deviant worlds, how others respond to their deviance, and how deviants cope with these responses. Open to all students.

Mrs. Silbey, The Staff

200 (1) Sociological Theory
Systematic analysis of the intellectual roots and the development of major sociological themes and theoretical positions from the Enlightenment to the present. Prerequisite: 102 and one other Grade 1 unit.

Mrs. Berger

201 (1) Social Statistics
An introduction to the use of statistics in the social sciences. Both descriptive and inferential statistics are presented as ways of organizing data for the development and testing of hypotheses and as a guide to understanding social science research. Provides the necessary background for 302. Open to all students.

Mr. Cuba

207 (1)* Criminology
Systematic examination of the meaning of crime and reactions to crime. Topics include: theories regarding the causes of crime, nature and origins of criminal laws, extent and distribution of criminal behavior, societal reactions to crime through the criminal justice system, penology and corrections. Attention to the relationships among crime, punishment and justice. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor.

Mrs. Silbey

208 (2)* Social Construction of Gender
This course discusses the ways in which the social system and its constituent institutions create, maintain and reproduce gender dichotomies. Gender is examined as one form of social stratification. The processes and mechanisms that institutionalize gender differences will be considered in a variety of contexts: political, economic, religious, educational and familial. We will examine some deliberate attempts to change gender patterns. Prerequisite: 102 or 111, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Hertz

222 Sociology
209 (2) Social Stratification
The concept of social stratification is the core concept of sociology. It describes the differences among individuals and among institutions. The course examines indicators of social mobility and social class as well as implications of race, sex, ethnicity for one's social standing and prestige. Dimensions of stratification will be analyzed at the community, national and international levels. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Levy

212* American Society
How the experience of being "American" has changed during the past century, from our agrarian roots to the foundations of the corporate state. Readings in local community studies and in social reports from de Tocqueville to the present which analyze American society in terms of an ideology of equal opportunity. Attention to populism, racial and class conflict, and social reform within the context of American Pragmatism. Prerequisite: one Grade I unit. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Imber, Mrs. Silbey

213 (1)* Law and Society
Study of a day in court and underlying factors that lead to lawful behavior. Study of legal reasoning, types of law and legal systems, and relationship of law to social class and social change. Emphasis upon the profession and practice of law including legal education, stratification within the bar, and the politics of legal services. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mrs. Silbey

215 (1)* Sociology of Popular Culture
Examination of the production, organization, and consequences of popular culture with special attention to art, sports, and media. Analysis of common cultural symbols in rock music, literature, film, advertising and games. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of instructor.

Mr. Levy

216 (2)* Sociology of Mass Media and Communications
Analysis of the assumption that the characteristics of a given society both affect and are affected by the communications media existing in that society. Focus on changes from oral to written communication, the development of mass media (newspapers, magazines, radio, television, films) and the structure of contemporary communications. The issues of ethics, media control and the professionalization of the field will be examined. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Levy

217 (2)* Power: Personal, Social, and Institutional Dimensions
The study of power extends far beyond formal politics or the use of overt force into the operation of every institution and every life: how we are influenced in subtle ways by the people around us, who makes controlling decisions in the family, how people get ahead at work, whether democratic governments, in fact, reflect the "will of the people." This course explores some of the major theoretical issues involving power (including the nature of dominant and subordinate relationships and types of legitimate authority) and examines how power operates in a variety of social settings: relations among men and women, the family, the community, the corporation, the government, cooperatives and communes. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors without prerequisite.

Mrs. Silbey

220 (1)* Urban Sociology
A survey of theoretical perspectives which social scientists have used in their analyses of city life. This course explores the metaphorical images as well as the historical realities associated with the development of urban areas and their suburban links, and reviews contemporary studies which follow from classic works on the city. Using Boston as a research setting, the class will take several trips and students will engage in independent fieldwork. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Hertz, The Staff
224 (2)* Political Sociology and Social Movements

Analysis of the social basis of power and political action in modern societies. How does one's socially structured position influence political behavior, and is political action rooted in ideological structures or material conditions? Special attention given to the relationship between the "ways of being political" and structures of power and authority. Analysis of revolutions, political movements, as well as ordinary citizen activities. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Levy

228* Sociology of Work and Occupations

Study of representative work and occupational experiences ranging from blue-collar jobs to the professions. The nature of work in traditional and contemporary societies. Socialization to work roles; the process of professionalization; work careers; and other topics. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Silbey

229 (1) Organizations and Organizational Behavior

How do organizations operate? Why do people act the way they do inside organizational settings? Analysis of organizational structure, processes, and behavior. Topics include organizational roles, managerial ideologies, the individual in the organization, power, communication, effectiveness, decision making, conflict, recruitment, mobility, fast-tracking, risk-taking, initiative, flexibility and rigidity in organizational structure, and organizational change. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor.

The Staff

231 (1)* Society and Self

How can the individual be at once cause and consequence of society? Not only is the person a social product, but s/he is also clearly unique, and in turn helps shape and modify society. This course is concerned with the relationship between the individual and society, and the behavior of persons in groups. Ways in which groups and institutions aid or inhibit individual experience will be discussed. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Levy

300 (2)* Senior Seminar. Sociological Theory and the Sociology of Knowledge

Topics in contemporary social theory. Open to seniors or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Imber, The Staff

302 (2) Research Methods

An examination of the logic of survey analysis, from the development of hypotheses and the construction of a survey instrument to the analysis and reporting of results. Emphasis is on field research experience; class participants work collectively on the design and implementation of a research project of their choice. Prerequisite: 201 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Cuba

311 (2)* Seminar. Family Studies

The Family, the State and Social Policy. Analysis of problems facing the contemporary U.S. family and potential policy directions. Discussion of the social meaning of income and the quality of family life. Emphasis on welfare, family planning, children's rights, child allowance, the impact of work on the family, day care, the elderly, the working poor, and delivery of services to families with special needs. Comparisons to other contemporary societies will serve as a foil for particular analyses. Prerequisite: III or one Grade II unit, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Hertz

314 (2)* Medical Sociology and Social Epidemiology

Definition, incidence and treatment of health disorders. Topics include: differential availability of health care; social organization of health delivery systems; role behavior of patients, professional staff and others; attitudes toward terminally ill and dying; movements for alternative health care. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Imber

320 (1)* Seminar. Utopias, Collectives, and Alternative Communities
Analysis of the social structure and processes of utopias and communities in a comparative perspective. Examination of fictional and experimental communities as an attempt to create alternative styles of living. Topics include analysis of ideational systems, the question of equality, the role and form of leadership, the organization of work, economy, gender roles and the family. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Hertz

324 (1) Seminar. Social Change
Analysis of the impact of change on the polity, economy, family, the stratificational system and living arrangements. Comparison between western and non-western societies. Particular emphasis on the social psychological dimensions of change; the processes of rationalization, development and revolution; modernization and its discontents, and the rise of the new traditionalism. Prerequisite: two Grade II units or by permission of the instructor.

Mrs. Berger

325 (1)* Science, Technology and Society
An examination of the social conditions of scientific development and controversy, and the links among scientific work, technological development and everyday life. Topics include: the interrelation of science, government and industry; sociobiology and IQ debates; the politics of science education and the ethics of science research. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Imber

329 (2) Internship in Organizations
An internship in organizational theory and analysis. Required internship assignment in organizations concerned with health, corrections, housing, planning, media, other public or private services, government and industry. The internship is utilized for participant observation of selected aspects of organizational behavior, structure, or process. Seminar sessions are focused on selected topics in organization research and on issues in participant observation. Limited to juniors and seniors. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit or by permission of the instructor. 229 is recommended. Admission by application prior to Nov. 15.

Ms. Hertz

338 (1) Seminar. Topics in Deviance, Law and Social Control
Topic for 1987-88: Law and Society. Seminar consists of close, critical reading of landmark works in the sociology of law, including Marx, Weber, Holmes, and I. Lewellyn. Writings by the American legal realists and contemporary critical legal scholars will be studied, with examples of empirical studies of the law-in-action. Issues include the nature of the legal form, the characteristics of legal reasoning, the relationship between social categories and legal terminology as well as the role of interpretation in law. Enrollment is limited. Admission by permission of the instructor. Preference will be given to students who have had some law-related instruction in sociology (138, 207, 213), philosophy, or political science.

Mrs. Sibley

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study
1 or 2
Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research
1 or 2
By permission of the department. See p. 67. Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis
Prerequisite: 360.

Directions for Election

Sociology as a discipline takes a three-pronged approach: (a) on a general level, it is concerned with patterns of human interaction and the social construction of reality; (b) on a more specific level, it studies systematically those patterned interactions which have come to assume discrete forms such as family, law, organizations; (c) on the methodological level, it explores approaches and techniques of social research and the principles on which these techniques are grounded. Sociology is concerned with making empirically valid observations and statements which promote understanding of the totality of social life.

A sociology major must include: Sociology 200, 201, 300, and 302. Permission to take these courses elsewhere must be obtained in advance from the department chair. The department discourages a minimum major with only two Grade III level courses. Students are encouraged to explore the full range of disciplines in the liberal arts, and should consult a faculty member to select courses each term and to plan a course of study over several years.

A minor in sociology consists of six courses: Sociology 102, 200, and 209 and three more courses, two of which must be on the 300 level. The plan for this option should be carefully prepared; a student wishing to add the sociology minor to the major in another field should consult a faculty advisor in sociology.

Spanish

Professor: Gascón-Vera, Roses (Chair)
Assistant Professor: Agosín, Bou, Vega
Instructor: Heptner, Rubio
Lecturer: Renjilian-Burgy

Courses of the department are normally conducted in Spanish; oral expression is stressed. The department reserves the right to place new students in the courses for which they seem best prepared regardless of the number of units they have offered for admission. Qualified sophomores and juniors are encouraged to spend a semester or a year in a Spanish-speaking country, either with Wellesley's PRESHCO Consortium Program of Hispanic Studies in Córdoba, Spain, or a non-Wellesley program. See p. 65.

100 (1-2) Elementary Spanish 2
Introduction to spoken and written Spanish; stress on audio-lingual approach through directed conversation. Extensive and varied drills. Oral presentations. Language laboratory exercises. Three periods. Open to students who do not present Spanish for admission.

The Staff

102 (1-2) Intermediate Spanish 2
Intensive review of grammar and language skills through practice in the classroom and with language laboratory exercises. Readings by contemporary Spanish and Spanish American writers. Emphasis on vocabulary building and oral and written expression. Three periods. Prerequisite: two admission units in Spanish or 100.

The Staff

201 (1) (2) Oral and Written Communication
Practice in conversation and writing to increase fluency and accuracy in the use of idiomatic Spanish. Through frequent oral presentations, written assignments, readings on Spanish culture, and the use of audio- and videotapes, students develop their ability to use Spanish comfortably in various situations. Two periods per week. Prerequisite: 102, or four admission units or by permission of the instructor.

226 Spanish

Ms. Renjilian-Bury, Ms. Agosin

202 (1) (2) Linguistic and Literary Skills
A course to serve as a transition between language study and literary analysis; speaking and writing organized around interpretations of works by modern Hispanic authors; creative writing; oral presentations on current events relating to Spain and Latin America; a review, at the advanced level, of selected problems in Spanish grammar. Two periods. Open to students presenting three admission units, 102 or 201.
The Staff

203 (1)* Modern Spanish Literature
The search for identity in Spain 1898-1936. Dominant themes and innovations in such authors as Unamuno, Valle Inclán, Baroja, A. Machado, Azorín and Ortega y Gasset. Offered in alternation with 204. Prerequisite: 201 or 202 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

204 (1)* Censorship and Creativity in Spain 1936-1987
From 1936 to the present day. The struggle for self-expression in Franco’s Spain and the transition from dictatorship to democracy. A study of the literary styles and accomplishments of contemporary authors: Miguel Hernández, Cela, Goytisolo, Gabriel Celaya, Martín Santos, and Blas de Otero. Offered in alternation with 203. Prerequisite: same as for 203.
Ms. Gascón-Vera

205 (1)* Freedom and Repression in Spanish American Literature
An introduction to the literature of the Spanish American countries with special focus on the tension between literary expression and the limiting forces of authoritarianism. The constant struggle between the writer and society and the outcome of that struggle will be examined and discussed. Close reading of poetry, chronicles, essay and drama. El Inca Garcilaso, Sor Juana de la Cruz, Rubén Darío, Gabriela Mistral, Pablo Neruda, Octavio Paz. Offered in alternation with 209. Prerequisite: same as for 203. Not offered in 1987-88.

206 (1)* Christians, Jews, and Moors: The Spirit of Spain in its Literature
Intensive study of writers and masterpieces that establish Spanish identity and create the traditions that Spain has given to the world: Poema del Cid, Selomó ibn Gabirol, Maimónides, Ben Sahl de Sevilla, La Celestina, Lazarillo de Tormes, El burlador de Sevilla (Don Juan), Garcilaso, Fray Luis de León, Cervantes, Lope de Vega, Calderón. Prerequisite: same as for 203.
Mr. Vega

207 (2)* The Struggle of the Two Spains in Literature
From the virtue-extolling El sí de las niñas by Moratin through the turbulent works of the emotion-prone Romantics Rivas, Espronceda, and Bécquer, and the biting satire of Larra, to the realistic novel of Pérez Galdós. Offered in alternation with 208. Prerequisite: same as for 203. Not offered in 1987-88.

208 (2)* Nineteenth-Century Spanish Society as Seen by the Novelist
The masters of 19th-century peninsular prose studied through such classic novels as Pepita Jiménez by Juan Valera, Mina by Pérez Galdós, Los pazos de Ulloa by the Countess Pardo Bazán and La Barraca by Blasco Ibáñez. Discussions. Student interpretation. Prerequisite: same as for 203. Offered in alternation with 207.
Mr. Bou

209 (2)* The Spanish American Short Narrative
The realistic and fantastic short stories of contemporary Spanish America. In-depth analysis of the masters Quiroga, Borges, Cortázar, Rulfo, and García Márquez. Offered in alternation with 205. Prerequisite: same as for 203. Not offered in 1987-88.
Ms. Roses
210 (1)* Chicano Literature: From the Chronicles to the Present
A survey of the major works of Chicano literature in the United States in the context of the Hispanic and American literary traditions. A study of the chronicles from Cabeza de Vaca to Padre Junípero Serra and 19th-century musical forms such as corridos. A critical analysis of the themes and styles of the contemporary renaissance in the light of each author's literary values: Luis Valdés, Alberto Urista, José Montoya, Rodolfo Anaya. Prerequisite: same as for 203. Not offered in 1987-88.

211 (2)* Caribbean Literature and Culture
An introduction to the major literary, historical, and artistic traditions of the Caribbean. Attention will focus on the Spanish-speaking island countries: Cuba, Dominican Republic, Puerto Rico. Authors will include Juan Bosch, Lydia Cabrera, Carbrera Infante, Julia de Burgos, Alejo Carpentier, Nicolás Guillén, René Marquéz, Luis Palés Matos, Pedro Juan Soto. Prerequisite: same as for 203. Not offered in 1987-88.
Ms. Renjilian-Burgy

212 (2)* The Word and the Song: Contemporary Latin American Poetry
The study of the themes and voices of Latin American poetry as they appear in the written work and the oral tradition of the folk song. Special emphasis will be on Neruda, Vallejo, Paz, Peri-Rossi. Belli, Dalton. Prerequisite: same as for 203. Not offered in 1987-88.
Ms. Agosín

215 (2) Spanish Practicum
Students are placed with various Hispanic organizations in the Boston area to increase their fluency in Spanish through personal and continued contact with the language. Classroom seminars, Hispanic guest lecturers, and films in Spanish complement the students' internship experiences. Readings by Oscar Lewis, Babin, Maldonado Denis, and others. Prerequisite: personal interview with the instructor to establish adequate language skill. Same as for 203. Not offered in 1987-88.
The Staff

220 (1)* Craft of Translation
In addition to readings on the art of translation and analysis of successful renderings of original Spanish poems and short stories, students will translate works by authors of their choice, Spanish to English and vice versa. Prerequisite: same as for 203. Not offered in 1987-88.

228 (2)* Latin American Literature: Fantasy and Revolution
The interrelation between aesthetic and sociopolitical problems in the works of contemporary Latin American writers, as seen by García Márquez, Cortázar, Paz, Donoso, and Neruda. Special attention will be given to the imaginative vision of Jorge Luis Borges. In English. Open to all students except those who have taken Spanish 307. Not offered in 1987-88.
Ms. Roses

230 (2)* Journalism in Spain
An analysis of the characteristics of journalism in Spain after Franco. We will read selections from the Madrid dailies, El País, ABC, Pueblo, and from weekly magazines such as Interviu and Cambio 16. Among the journalists to be studied are Francisco Umbral, Rosa Montero, Juan Cueto, and Maruja Torres. Not offered in 1987-88.

240 (2)* Living Women Writers of Spain, 1970-1985
A selection of readings—novels, poetry, essays, theatre—by Spanish women writers of the 1970s and 1980s. Carmen Martín Gaite, Rosa Montero, Ester Tusquets, Mercé Rodoreda, Carmen Conde. A close study of the development of their feminist consciousness and their response to the changing world around them. Prerequisite: same as for 203.
Ms. Gascón-Vera

253 (1)* The Writer and Human Rights in Latin America
The role of the Latin American writer as witness and voice for the persecuted. Through key works of poetry and prose from the sixties to the present, how literary creation treats themes such as: censorship and self-censorship; the 260 (2)* History of Latin America
The political, social, economic, and cultural evolution of the Latin American world from colonial days to the present. Emphasis on colonial institutions and their relations to historical developments in the Iberian peninsula and on the fundamental problems, especially in certain key countries, of modern and contemporary Latin America. In English. Open to sophomores who have had a course in history, and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite. Not offered in 1987-88.
Ms. Agosin

261 (1)* History of Spain
From the epic struggle between Moors and Christians for the control of the Iberian Peninsula, through the centuries of imperial Spain, to modern Spain with its split between liberals and conservatives, a split which explodes into the apocalyptic Civil War of 1936-39, the history of Spain is explored through readings, lectures, and discussions. The course ends with the study of the Franco dictatorship (1939-75) and post-Franco Spain. In English. Prerequisite: same as for 260.
Mr. Bon

301 (1)* Honor, Monarchy and Religion in the Golden Age Drama
The characteristics of the Spanish drama of the Golden Age. Analysis of ideals of love, honor, and religion as revealed in the drama. Representative masterpieces of Lope de Vega, Guillen de Castro and Ruiz de Alarcon, Tirso de Molina, Calderon. Offered in alternation with 302. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken two Grade II units including one unit in literature. Not offered in 1987-88.

302 (2)* Cervantes
A close reading of the Quixote with particular emphasis on Cervantes' invention of the novel form: creation of character, comic genius, hero versus anti-hero, levels of reality and fantasy, history versus fiction. Prerequisite: same as for 301. Not offered in 1987-88. Ms. Gascon-Vera 304 (1)* Hispanic Literature of the U.S.

A study of U.S. Hispanic writers of the Southwest and East Coast from the Spanish colonial period to the present. Political, social, racial and intellectual contexts of their times and the varied inheritances will be explored. Consideration of the literary origins and methods of their craft. Authors may include: Cabeza de Vaca, Gaspar de Villagra, Jose Villarruel, Lorna Dee Cervantes, Jose Marti, Uva Clavijo, Ana Velilla, Pedro Juan Soto, Miguel Algarin, Edward Rivera. Prerequisite: same as for 301. Not offered in 1987-88.

307 (2)* The New Novel of Latin America
Analysis and discussion of major Latin American novels from the 1960s and 1970s. Special topics will be social conflict in the novel, estheticism vs. engagement, literature as a critique of values and a search for identity. Works by Onetti, Cortazar, Fuentes, Rulfo, Carpentier, Donoso, Garcia Marquez. Prerequisite: same as for 301. Not offered in 1987-88.
Ms. Roses

311 (1)* Seminar. The Literary World of Gabriel Garcia Márquez and the Post-Boom
An in-depth study of the literary career of Gabriel Garcia Márquez, from his beginnings as a newspaper reporter in his native Colombia to his emergence as a major novelist and short story writer. Emphasis on his achievements as a Latin American writer and a universal and cosmopolitan figure. Works to be read include: El coronel no tiene quien le escriba, La mala hora, La hojarasca, Cien años de soledad, El otoño del patriarca and Cronica de una muerte anunciada. Prerequisite: same as for 301. Open to seniors.
Ms. Roses

312 (1)* Seminar. The Spanish Civil War: Literature and Society
The course will coincide with the 50th anniversary of the Spanish Civil War (1936-1939) which was the prelude to World War II. Through the study of Spanish prose, poetry, and film, the course will highlight the political, social, and cultural upheavals leading to the conflict. Particular emphasis will be given to the manifestations of oral and popular culture which developed during that epoch. Authors will include Miguel Hernández, Emilio Prados, Arturo Barea, Rosa Chacel, and Carmen Laforet; films will include “Morir en Madrid,” “Caudillo,” “Las bicicletas son para el verano,” and “Las largas vacaciones del 36.” Open to seniors and juniors by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88. Ms. Gascón-Vera

Courses 100 and 102 are counted toward the degree but not toward the major. Students who begin with 100 in college and who wish to major should consult the chair in the second semester of their first year. Students may choose to major either in Peninsular or Latin American literature or an approved combination of the two. The Peninsular major should ordinarily include: 201 or 202; 203 or 204; 206; 207 or 208; 301 or 302; Senior Seminar; either 205 or 307 and at least one additional unit of Grade III literature in Spanish. The Latin American major should ordinarily include: 201 or 202; 205; 209; 210 or 211 or 253; 307; 206 or 302; Senior Seminar; and at least one additional unit of Grade III literature in Spanish. Spanish 260 and Extradepartmental 222 or 234 are recommended for the Latin American major; Spanish 261 is recommended for the Peninsular major.

Individually planned majors in Latin American studies, which combine language and literature courses with a program of history, anthropology, political science, and economics courses, are encouraged. Students who have completed at least Spanish 201 or equivalent may apply to Wellesley’s “Programa de Estudios Hispanicos en Córdoba” (PRESHCO) for a semester or a year abroad in Spain. To be eligible, a student must be enrolled in an appropriate Spanish course the semester before she goes to Córdoba.
Technology Studies Program

Director: Silbey

Technology Studies is an experimental program of the Committee on Educational Research and Development.

The Technology Studies Program offers students whose primary interests lie in the humanities and social sciences opportunities to develop the skills necessary to understand and evaluate technological innovations. The program contains courses with such diverse topics as design and distribution of technological artifacts, nuclear power, artificial intelligence, computer modeling of music, demography and social planning, biotechnology, light and lasers, medical ethics, the history of technology, technology in the third world, and energy policy. Students can elect individual courses in the program or a set of related courses in consultation with an advisor in Technology Studies in addition to their major in an existing department or interdepartmental program.

100 (2) Medical Technology and Critical Decisions

As medical technology advances we are presented with new options in diagnosis, treatment, and prevention that require decisions on our part as individuals and citizens.

In order to make informed choices we must acquire some knowledge of both the technologies themselves and methods of decision-making. This course examines amniocentesis as an example of a private choice and public health care as an example of a public choice problem. In conjunction with these applications, the course develops the necessary scientific and engineering background, mathematical skills, and modelling methods. Relevant aspects of economics and ethics will also be considered. Students will get hands-on experience with experimental applications of the scientific and engineering principles covered. This course will satisfy one unit of group C credit.

Mr. Ducas, Mr. Shuchat

200 (1)* Introduction to Electronics and the Electronic Revolution

The fundamentals of electronics and the role of electronics in the modern technological world. Topics to be discussed will include simple circuits, components, transistors, integrated circuits, calculators and computers. Each student will build a simple device which incorporates some of the principles dealt with in class. No mathematics beyond algebra will be required. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Birney

201 (1) Television Technology and Social Impact

The course considers how economic, political and technological factors influence television programming and how television content affects the mass audience. We will observe television content through systematic observation and will learn how the television image is produced and manipulated. Students will gain experience producing or editing video material. A major project of the course is the design, conduct and analysis of an experiment in television effects. Previous coursework in social science research methods, statistics, or computer science is highly recommended.

Prerequisite: Technology Studies 100 or two units in sociology, psychology, political science, economics, computer science, physics, or biological sciences.

Mrs. Just

202 (2)* Structure in Music: Experiments in Computer Modeling

An investigation of basic musical skills and theoretical concepts using microcomputers, a simple digital sound synthesizer and the Logo programming language. Projects will involve the design and testing of algorithmic procedures for generating simple musical structures, as well as an examination of more conventional means of notating and performing music. Since the musical synthesis system to be used allows for real time signal processing, class participants may immediately compare their theoretical descriptions of musical events with the actual sequence of sounds produced by these descriptions. The relationship between standard musical notation and the language of Logo music computer procedures will be considered in detail. No prior knowledge of music theory or computer programming is expected. Technology Studies 202 does not count toward either the Music or the Computer Science Major. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Brody

207 (2) Biotechnology
This course focuses on industrial applications of recently developed biological techniques, primarily recombinant DNA. However, no prior knowledge of DNA (or biology) is expected, as all necessary background information will be discussed. Two lectures weekly, with a double period every other week for demonstration/discussion. Some hands-on experience in techniques related to recombinant DNA is included. This course fulfills Group C distribution but does not meet laboratory science requirement. Not to be counted toward minimum major in Biological Sciences. Open to all students.

Mr. Smith

208 (2)* Technological Applications of Light
The nature of light, the interaction of light with matter and the fundamentals of lasers. Applications of light in such fields as medicine, food processing, communications, defense, isotope separation, information science and solar energy storage and conversion. Emphasis will be placed on how the fundamental properties of light and light-matter interactions may be exploited for new technologies. This course fulfills Group C distribution, but does not meet laboratory science requirement. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Coleman

209 (1) Women and Technology
An examination of the impact of the new technologies of the 19th and 20th centuries on women, with a particular focus on household technology and office automation.

Ms. Chaplin

217 (2) Photographic Processes: Camera Lucida to Computer Graphics
Through a series of lectures, readings and laboratory experiences, this course will engage students both conceptually and experientially in the basic premises of photographic technology. The course will link, through student involvement, the following concerns: the cause and effect relationship between specific properties of light and light sensitive materials which are used in photographic technology; the functional and distinctive properties of various camera, optical and light sensitive systems from the camera lucida and computer graphics; the evolutionary nature of the processes as reflected in the history of research and development of the technology; the range of technical, social and cultural applications that have been made with each process; the implications of the need for a "photographic process consciousness" on the part of individuals in today's society, given the pervasive use of 35 mm still cameras, video and computer graphics systems use for both personal and professional communication. Students will explore specific properties of light and light-sensitive materials as they relate to photographic technology. Various aspects of camera, optical and light-sensitive systems will be examined. We will also consider the history and development of these photographic processes, as well as their social and cultural implications.

Mr. Swift

335 (2) Seminar: Designing Policy and Technology for the Disabled
The seminar will explore the parallel processes of policy making and technology designed to meet the needs of disabled persons. We will consider how historical events such as the Civil Rights movement and the War in Vietnam contributed to the development of public policy for the disabled, how the needs of disabled people are defined by the policy and by the scientific communities, and how institutions of higher education attempt to serve disabled students under the constraints of the law and their financial and physical resources. The seminar will explore problems of policy and technology with policy-makers, engineers, and people with disabilities. Case studies of policies or devices that have failed on one or more dimensions (e.g. institutional or consumer cost, psychological acceptance, politics) will be contrasted with successful solutions. Seminar participants will design model policies or simple devices aimed at improving the campus environment for members of the college. community who are temporarily or permanently disabled. Open to juniors and seniors by permission of instructor. Prerequisites: two units in technology studies, medical ethics, medical sociology, public policy, education, biological science, physics, linguistics, or cognitive psychology.

Theatre Studies

INDIVIDUAL MAJOR:

Theatre Studies

Professor: Barstow^M (Chair^1)

Lecturer: Taylor^P (Chair^1), Glick^P, Levenson^P

203 (2) Plays, Production, and Performance
The produced play considered as originally the creation of the dramatist but brought to completion in performance through the creative collaboration of producers, directors, designers, and actors. A brief historical survey precedes exploration of component elements of the staged production. Open to all students. Mr. Barstow

205 (1)* Acting and Scene Study
Study of the performed scene as the basic building-block of playwright, director, and actor. Scenes from significant historical genre plays, classic to contemporary, regularly rehearsed and performed for class criticism. Prerequisite: 203 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88. Offered in 1988-89. Mr. Barstow

206 (1)* Design for the Theatre
Study of the designer’s function in the production process through development of scale models of theatrical environments for specific plays. The lighting of performance as a major component of theatrical production will be included. Prerequisite: same as for 205. Majors are encouraged to take Art 100 and one or more of the following before taking 206: Art 105, 108, 209, 210. Will not be offered in 1988-89. Ms. Taylor

207 (2) * East Asian Theatre
Study of the forms, styles and practices characteristic of indigenous theatre in Bali, Thailand, Japan, China, etc. Emphasis on Noh, Bunraku, Kabuki and Beijing opera through films, slides and photo collections along with analysis of dramatic texts. Prerequisite: same as for 205. Will not be offered in 1988-89. Mr. Barstow
208 (1)* Contemporary Theatre
Late 20th-century dramatists and production styles; plays, producers, designers, and actors significant in the development of contemporary theatre. Prerequisite: 203 or by permission of the instructor. Open to juniors and seniors without prerequisite. Not offered in 1987-88. Offered in 1988-89.
Mr. Barstow

210 (2)* History of the Theatre 2
Study of theatre structures, crafts, and practices with emphasis on acting and production styles as these relate to major developments in dramatic literature. One unit of credit may be given for either semester by permission of the instructor. Prerequisite: same as for 205
Mr. Barstow

212* Images of Women in the Drama
Study of specific examples of the representation of women on the dramatic stage during various eras in a variety of cultures, focusing on what a public and popular art says and implies about women: their "nature," their roles, their place in the society reflected, their options for individuality and for activity affecting others, etc. Prerequisite: 203 or by permission of the instructor. Open to majors in Women's Studies without prerequisite. Not offered in 1987-88.

235 (1)* Looking at Ballet
A history of ballet from the Romantic ballet of the 1830s to the present. Analysis of ballets by such choreographers as Petipa, Balanchine, and Ashton. There will be filmed and taped materials each week, along with lecture and discussion. When possible, lectures will be supplemented by field trips to dance performances in the Boston area. Open to all students. Will not be offered in 1988-89.
Ms. Glick

236 (1)* Looking at Modern Dance
An analysis of modern dance focusing on what makes it "modern" and how it differs from ballet. Modern dance choreographers from Isadora Duncan and Ruth St. Denis to Martha Graham, Doris Humphrey, Paul Taylor, Merce Cunningham, and Iwyla Tharp will be discussed. Frequent films and videotapes of modern dance will be supplemented when possible by field trips to dance performances in the Boston area. Open to all students. Not offered in 1987-88. Offered in 1988-89.
Ms. Glick

315 (2)* Acting Shakespeare
Study and practice of skills and techniques for the gestural performance of complex and sonorous poetic speech in the histrionic realization of theatrical characters from Shakespeare's texts, "scenes invented merely to be spoken." Speeches and scenes performed for class criticism. Prerequisite: 203, 205 and English 112, or 223 or 224; or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88. Offered in 1988-89.
Mr. Barstow

350 (1)(2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2
Open by permission to qualified students.

Cross-Listed Courses

Black Studies 266 (2)
Black Drama. For description and prerequisite see Black Studies 266. Not offered in 1987-88.

Directions for Election
A student who wishes to pursue an interest in theatre should consult the chair of theatre studies about course selection which will emphasize dramatic literature in English and foreign languages together with the history and philosophy of art and music.
Theatre Studies

AN INDIVIDUAL MAJOR

Director: Taylor, Barstow

This major may be designed according to the provision of the Individual Major option. See p. 56. The major in Theatre Studies offers opportunity for study of the theatre through its history, literature, criticism, and related arts and through the disciplines of its practitioners; playwrights, directors, designers, actors, and producers.

The student's program in the major may be adapted to individual interests. Focus may be on the theatre and a national dramatic literature, on the theatre and related arts, or, within the general demands of the curriculum, a variety of emphases may be evolved, including work in such areas as philosophy, history, psychology, sociology, religion, and women's studies.

Theatre Studies 203 and both semesters of Theatre Studies 210 are required for the major. At least four units above Grade I should normally be elected in a literature department (Chinese, English, French, German, Greek and Latin, Italian, Russian, or Spanish), with emphasis on dramatic literature. At least two units above Grade I should normally be elected in art or music. Two of the six units thus specified (or their equivalents) must be Grade III.

Students electing to design a major in Theatre Studies often will take at least one resident semester of concentrated work in the discipline either with the National Theater Institute at the Eugene O'Neill Theater Center in Waterford, Connecticut, or at another institution in the Twelve College Exchange Program, to supplement and enrich their work at Wellesley.

Since developments in the theatre arts are the results of stage experiments, and because the theatre performance is an expression of theatre scholarship, it is expected that Theatre Studies majors will elect to complement formal study of theatre history and theory with practical experience in the extracurricular production program of the Wellesley College Theatre.

In addition to the offerings of the Theatre Studies Department, the following courses are specifically relevant to the individual major in Theatre Studies:

Women's Studies
AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Assistant Professor: Reverby* (Director), Schirmer (Acting Director), Irvine*, Chan*

A major in Women's Studies offers an opportunity for the interdisciplinary study of women's experience as it is reflected in the humanities, the sciences, and the social sciences. Women's Studies majors seek an understanding of the new intellectual frameworks that are reshaping thought about women and men. They also pursue knowledge of the female experience in diverse cultures, and across time.

A major in Women's Studies has a number of core requirements. Students must take Women's Studies 120 (Introduction to Women's Studies), and Women's Studies 222 (Women in Contemporary Society). They must also elect a course on women in a culture not their own. (A list of courses that fulfill this requirement may be obtained from the Women's Studies Director.) In addition, students will choose one course above the Grade I level in literature. And finally, majors elect a "concentration" of four courses above Grade I in a single area, including at least two units at Grade III that are approved by the Women's Studies Director. Concentrations may be in one department or may be constructed across departments. In either case, the major must demonstrate intellectual coherence. It is strongly recommended that majors elect basic method and theory courses in their field of concentration.

Majors design their own programs in consultation with two faculty advisors: the Director of Women's Studies, and an appropriate faculty member from the student's area of concentration.

The following courses are listed as Women's Studies courses. Other courses are available each semester through cross registration with MIT.

120 (1) Introduction to Women's Studies
A course designed to introduce students to the new field of Women's Studies and its impact on the various disciplines. The course considers the multiple ways in which the gender experience has been understood and is currently being studied. Beginning with a focus on how inequalities between men and women have been explained and critiqued, the course examines the impact of social structure and culture on gender and how this is expressed in anthropological, historical, and literary writings. Emphasis is placed on an understanding of the “common differences” which both unite and divide women.

Ms. Schirmer

220 (1) Women, Peace and Protest
Analysis of women's participation in the movements of nuclear disarmament, human rights and social and economic justice. Examination of the nature and history of these movements as well as their organization and ideological structure. Focus on understanding if, why, and under what circumstances gender becomes a central force in the development of these movements. Questions addressed will include 1) why and in what ways have women been central to the European peace movement, 2) how has the involvement of women helped to define the human rights movement in Latin America, 3) whether women's involvement in protest for social and economic justice has changed traditional political institutions, such as unions and political parties, and 4) the extent to which feminist theory and theories of the state have accounted for the nature of women's protest. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor.

Ms. Schirmer

222 (2) Women in Contemporary Society
This is an interdisciplinary course which examines how changes in social structure, ideology, culture and politics have affected women in the United States since World War II. Issues facing women of the Third World will be discussed to place the developments in the United States in global perspective. The “happy days” of the 1950s will be examined in contrast to the changes since the mid 1960s. The majority of the course will be spent evaluating the impact of the women's movement and examining a number of the continuing contested terrains upon which the debate and struggle over women's lives and feminism are waged. Prerequisite: 120, a social science course, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Schirmer

250 (1) Asian Women in America
This course will examine the history of Asian women in America, with particular attention to the changes in conditions of migration, refugee and legal status, work opportunities, and family structure. The stereotypes that have affected Asian American women and their psychological consequences will be explored. The course will also introduce the students to the Asian American woman's literary and artistic tradition, the various forms of feminism within the Asian American community, and the contemporary social and political issues for Asian American women. Open to all students.

Ms. Chan

310 (2) Seminar. Women, Social Policy and the State
Theoretical overview of theories of the welfare state and of perspectives on women and social policy. Examination of the nature of social policy and its historical and socio-political basis in Sweden, Denmark, Norway and Finland, which have come to be known for their comprehensive social policy measures and for their relative gender equality. Study of the extent to which women's movements in each of these countries have influenced the social and political agenda. Student research projects on social policy and women's movements in a country other than one in Scandinavia. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Schirmer

316 (2) Seminar. History and Politics of Sexuality in the United States
In recent years there has been an increasing debate over whether human sexuality is an autonomous force or a phenomenon determined by history, politics, and culture. Many historians suggest the “discourse” on female sexuality, in particular, has been conditioned by cultural norms about femininity and women's place in society, the shifting boundaries between “normality” and “deviance,” the feminist political stance on sexual autonomy, the medicalization of sexuality, and intervention of the state. This seminar will explore these issues by examining the history of sexuality in the American context. Open to juniors and seniors by permission of the instructor. 120, 222, or 320 and History 257 or Black Studies 230 is recommended.

Ms. Irvine

320 (1) Women and Health
The Women and Health course will examine various elements in the relationship between women and the health care system as it has evolved over the last 150 years, primarily in the United States. Nineteenth-century female invalidism, sexuality, birth control, abortion, childbirth practices, and self-help will be among the topics considered. We will also explore the various healing roles women have taken on: midwives, nurses, physicians, religious healers, and allied health workers. The specific ideological and structural difficulties faced by each group, and how they shifted over time, will be assessed. The last section will examine contemporary women and health care issues, analyzing both continuities and changes since the 19th century. Open to juniors and seniors by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Ms. Reverby

330 (2) Seminar. Twentieth-Century Feminist Movements
This seminar will examine the different political theories that explain the emergence of feminist political movements in the 20th century. Taking a cross-cultural perspective, the seminar will comparatively explore the particular histories of different feminist movements. Emphasis will be placed on the theories of feminism in different movements and the actual political practice of these movements. Students will be expected to lead class presentations and to complete a major research paper. Open by permission of the instructor to juniors and seniors.

The Writing Program

Since September, 1983, each entering student has been required to complete one semester of expository writing in her first year at Wellesley. Writing courses numbered 125 are offered by faculty from many departments on a variety of topics. In all sections writing is taught as a means not only of expressing ideas but also of acquiring them. Students receive instruction and practice in analysis and argument, in revision, and in the use and acknowledgement of sources. There are no exemptions from this requirement.

Continuing Education students and other transfer students who have not fulfilled a similar requirement must also complete one semester of expository writing, either Writing 125 or English 200 (Intermediate Expository Writing).

Below are short descriptions of the Writing 125 sections offered in 1987-88. Students are invited to indicate a list of preferences, which will be honored as far as possible.

English 200 sections are described in the listing of the English Department.

125A (1) Double Vision
We will examine together a number of literary texts, each presented as one half of a significant doublet: e.g., an essay of Emerson's and some passages from his Journal out of which it grew; Frost's "Design" and an earlier version of the same poem; Auden's "Musée des Beaux Arts" and the Breughel painting of Icarus which inspired it. Many of the writing assignments will call for analysis of the texts, but others will invite the student to conduct parallel experiments: e.g., to keep a journal and develop an essay out of it, to study a painting and write an essay inspired by it. The student will also take a second look at her own writing through careful processes of revision.
Ms. McAlpine, Department of English

125B (1) Whodunit
Our subject will be the detective story. We'll read the great originals Poe and Doyle, the English classics—G. K. Chesterton, Agatha

240  The Writing Program
Christie, Dorothy Sayers—and the American "hard-boiled" writers Raymond Chandler and Dashiel Hammett. We'll also read something about the history of the genre and some essays defining, celebrating, and attacking it, among them, those by Edmund Wilson, W. H. Auden, Raymond Chandler, George Orwell, and Tzvetan Todorov. Recurrent themes of discussion: the nature of the detective and the nature of the plot.

Mr. Rosenwald, Department of English

125C (1) Messages
Basic instruction in writing, revising, and editing essays, designed to include the student lacking confidence in writing, or experience in writing academic prose, or both. Short readings, both fiction and non-fiction, will provide texts for a variety of writing assignments. The emphasis in class will be on developing ideas and refining them in words on paper; individual attention, as needed, to problems with the mechanics of writing and usage. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Ms. Stubbs, Department of English

125D (1) Renaissance Theatre and Renaissance Spectacle
In addition to considering plays by major Renaissance dramatists, this course will examine other theatrical aspects of Renaissance culture, such as court masques, exorcism performances, witch trials, and triumphs.

Ms. Levine, Department of English

125E,F (1) Patterns (2 sections)
Our behavior is ruled by any number of patterns, some rational and some irrational, some explainable and some inexplicable. We will look at some patterns that frequently cause conflict and thus are of interest to writers—at superstition, at manners, and at social codes of behavior. We will examine the work of young authors and film makers from around the world who find themselves puzzled, irritated, or obsessed with the patterns of their culture. Discussion, throughout the course, will hover around the patterns and idiosyncrasies of the English language; this section of Writing 125 provides special guidance for inexperienced writers and for students whose native language is not English.

Ms. Wood, The Writing Program

125G (1) Contemporary Russian Culture: Women & Society
Through the reading of stories, memoirs, underground and official publications, as well as materials from the Western mass media, we will look at women's lives in relation to education, work, family, and friends. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Ms. Chester, Department of English

125H (1) Looking at the Law
What do we mean when we say that a law is unjust? How do we determine which laws are just? When, if ever, is violent opposition to unjust legal authority justified? What does the law have to do with morality? These are some of the questions we will confront in reading and writing about a wide array of contemporary legal problems, ranging from terrorism and other forms of violent political protest to the rights of surrogate mothers.

Mr. Williams, Department of English

125J (1) Landscape into Art, Art into Landscape
The word itself is telling: “landscape” is both a form of viewing the natural world and a means of altering it. We'll compare these complementary strategies in a selective historical survey of landscape painting and garden design. We'll focus upon 18th- and 19th-century developments (among others, English parks and French Impressionism).

Mr. Rhodes, The Writing Program

125K (1) Covering the News
In this course we will examine newspapers and newsmagazines as a way of thinking about some basic problems of writing. First we will read some ostensibly neutral news reports and see how they are shaped by the need to tell a clear and interesting story. Then we will compare reports and editorials from papers with explicit ideological biases; though they are dealing in opinions rather than simple facts, we will want to find out whether some of them aren't more persuasive than others, and if so, why. Finally, we will read some feature articles—science reports, profiles, reviews, and the like—and examine some problems underlying their appeal as pure entertainment. Along the way, we will also be reading critical writing about the press and its ideological blind spots.

The Writing Program 241

Mr. Reinert, Department of English

125L (1) Vision and Revision
This section will focus on relationships between the ideas we encounter in reading and the ideas we hold to be our own. It will include a review of English grammar. Weekly journal entries, ongoing revisions of ten to twelve short papers, and regular conferences with the instructor are required. This section is appropriate for students who have done very little writing in high school and for students whose native language is not English.

Ms. Kopec, Director of Academic Assistance

125M (1) World Benders
Stranger than science fiction, their work caused schoolteachers to gasp, the clergy to sputter, and families to divide in bitter feuds. These scientists actually recreated the world and revolutionized the way we think and behave. Who were these revolutionaries, and how did they manage to shake and reshape our ideas of ourselves and of our world? We will explore, often through their own words and those of their contemporaries, the lives and thoughts of these world benders. No specialized interest in science is necessary, only curiosity about how a handful of visionary scientists proved that things are seldom what they seem.

Mr. Umans, The Writing Program

125N (1) Law in Contemporary American Society
The aim of this course is to enable each student to improve her expository, analytic, and argumentative writing. We will read cases and articles about the ways in which courts have changed existing laws, and in so doing, have transformed our society. Readings will be selected from such cases as Brown v. Board of Education (school desegregation); Roe v. Wade (abortion); Bakke v. Regents of the University of California (“reverse discrimination”); Matter of Quinlan (withholding of life-prolonging treatment), and from recent cases on the rights of psychiatric patients, mandatory drug testing, surrogate parents, and the rights of AIDS patients.

Ms. Viti, The Writing Program

125O,P (1) Contemporary Fiction by Women (2 sections)
We’ll read a selection of short novels written by women from America and from other parts of the world. The reading list will be drawn from Union Street by Pat Barker, The Women of Brewster Place by Gloria Naylor, The Lover by Marguerite Duras, July’s People by Nadine Gordimer, Love Medicine by Louise Erdrich, and Stones for Ibarra by Harriet Doerr. Your papers—and our class discussion—will explore both issues raised by the characters’ experiences and literary techniques. The aim is to combine lively, provocative reading with a relaxed classroom atmosphere that will help you to gain confidence in your writing.

Ms. Willey, Department of English

125Q (1) Principles of Persuasion
This course will teach principles of clear, lively, and persuasive writing. We will examine—and occasionally imitate—essays by writers as varied as George Orwell, James Thurber, Jessica Mitford, and Nora Ephron. Our chief focus will be on our own persuasive writing, which may combine close observation, personal narrative, argument, and library research.

Mr. Corbett, The Writing Program

SEMESTER II

125A (2) Science and Popular Science
Scientists write about their results in different ways depending on their audience; a description of an experiment or idea presented to other scientists includes, for example, more technical language but less background information than a version intended for the general public. We will compare articles in the scientific literature with popularized accounts of the same discoveries. We will contrast, for example, an article describing the x-ray crystallography of DNA with the longer but more entertaining account in The Double Helix of the determination of DNA structure. No knowledge of any specific area of science is required, but it is recommended that you have taken or be currently enrolled in a science course.

Ms. Wolfson, Department of Chemistry

125B (2) Darwin, Marx, Freud: Pioneers of Modern Thought
An introduction to the thought of three 19th-century thinkers who have provided the historical framework for the contemporary period. Emphasis will be placed on their interpretations of human nature and history. Some attention will also be given to the psychological process of discovery, the origin of new ideas, and the process of social acceptance and assimilation of ideas.

Ms. Chaplin, Department of Philosophy

125C (2) Times and Places (Expository Writing II for ESL Students)
For anyone who hasn’t spoken English all her life, writing about time and place can be particularly difficult. This course discusses English grammar in this frame. We will read authors whose recounting of events and descriptions of place are particularly evocative, and whose grammar use reflects typical writing situations. Our writings will follow their models of grammar. Open by permission of the Coordinator of Expository Writing.

Ms. Wood, The Writing Program

125D (2) Observation in Science
The ability to make observations, and to write clearly and faithfully about those observations, is essential for all scientists. These same skills are also useful when writing about non-scientific topics. In this course we will read what others say about the science and art of observation and will observe and write about a number of scientific phenomena. No special knowledge of science is required. Mandatory credit/non credit.

Mr. Coleman, Department of Chemistry

125E (2) Opera as Drama
What is the difference between opera and spoken drama? What can opera do, and what can’t it do? How does music affect our understanding of a text? We will write and talk about these questions and others as we learn a few operas (including works by Mozart and Verdi) and consider past and present writings on opera. No previous study of music is required. Mandatory credit/non credit.

Ms. Cumming, Department of Music

125F (2) Asylums: Refuge for Society’s Misfits
This course focuses on institutions which harbor social deviants—the circumstances which seemed to demand these institutions, the elements which characterize them, the lives of those who inhabit them, and the response they engender from those who live outside their walls. It explores the lives of inmates and staff in prisons, mental hospitals, concentration camps, almshouses, and other familiar asylums. But it also encompasses a number of other settings which Erving Goffman refers to as “total institutions” — boarding schools, military academies, boot camps, convents, and monasteries. Class readings will range from fictional and journalistic accounts to scholarly analyses of life in total institutions. Supplementary sources for writing assignments will include a visit to a prison or mental hospital and the viewing of films (e.g., One Flew Over the Cuckoo’s Nest, or King of Hearts).

Mr. Cuba, Department of Sociology

125G (2) Persuasive Fictions
There are ways and ways of telling a story. We’ll look at how some of those ways—the novel of letters, for instance, or the obtrusive and self-conscious narrator—work to persuade us of ideas beyond the plot. We’ll relate some of these narratives to non-fictional pieces, examining Virginia Woolf’s Orlando, for example, along with A Room of One’s Own. Readings will also include Gertrude Stein’s “Melanchta,” Alice Walker’s The Color Purple, and John Fowles’s The French Lieutenant’s Woman.

Ms. Webb, Department of English
125H (2) Looking at the Law
What do we mean when we say that a law is unjust? How do we determine which laws are just? When, if ever, is violent opposition to unjust legal authority justified? What does the law have to do with morality? These are some of the questions we will confront in reading and writing about a wide array of contemporary legal problems, ranging from terrorism and other forms of violent political protest to the rights of surrogate mothers.
Mr. Williams, Department of English

125J (2) Messages
Basic instruction in writing, revising, and editing essays, designed to include the student lacking confidence in writing, or experience in writing academic prose, or both. Short readings, both fiction and non-fiction, will provide texts for a variety of writing assignments. The emphasis in class will be on developing ideas and refining them in words on paper; individual attention, as needed, to problems with the mechanics of writing and usage. Mandatory credit / noncredit.
Ms. Bellanca, The Writing Program

125K (2) Covering the News
In this course we will examine newspapers and newsmagazines as a way of thinking about some basic problems of writing. First we will read some ostensibly neutral news reports and see how they are shaped by the need to tell a clear and interesting story. Then we will compare reports and editorials from papers with explicit ideological biases; though they are dealing in opinions rather than simple facts, we will want to find out whether some of them aren't more persuasive than others, and if so, why. Finally, we will read some feature articles—science reports, profiles, reviews, and the like—and examine some problems underlying their appeal as pure entertainment. Along the way, we will also be reading critical writing about the press and its ideological blind spots.
Mr. Reinert, Department of English

125L (2) Whodunit
Our subject will be the detective story. We'll read the great originals Poe and Doyle, an example of the English classics—Agatha Christie—and the American "hard-boiled" writers Dashiell Hammett and Robert Parker. We'll also read something about the history of the genre and some essays defining, celebrating, and attacking it, among them, those by Edmund Wilson, W. H. Auden, and Raymond Chandler. Recurrent themes of discussion: the nature of the detective and the nature of the plot.
Ms. Wood, The Writing Program

125M (2) Fairy Tales
While most of us think of fairy tales as the diversion and entertainment of our childhoods, they also form part of our cultural and folkloric heritage. By applying to them the methods of academic disciplines like psychology or anthropology, we can discover hidden messages about ourselves and our values. By using the tools of literary analysis, we can come to appreciate the special artistry of these simple tales. Even the illustrations of different editions of fairy tales can contribute to our understanding of them. In this course, we will learn about the relevant academic approaches, about a number of individual stories, and about ourselves by reading comprehensively and in depth from the classic Blue Fairy Book, collected by Andrew Lang.
Ms. Lynch, Department of English

125N (2) The New American Poetry
Using Donald Allen's anthology The New American Poetry/The Postmoderns, this course will teach elements of clear, lively, and persuasive prose through examining the work of such poets as Charles Olson, Frank O'Hara, Barbara Guest, Denise Levertov, Joanne Kyger, and John Ashbery. These poems will provide both the content of this course and, as we look closely at them, principles of good writing that they make evident. The chief principle is that every word counts. If, as we read, we must attend to every word in a poem to get the full measure of that poem, then such attention can be carried over to help and inspire us to become the best writers we can be.

Mr. Corbett, The Writing Program

125X (2) Writing Tutorial
An individual tutorial in expository writing, taught by juniors and seniors from a variety of academic departments. An opportunity to tailor reading and writing assignments to the student’s particular needs and interests. 125X tutorial meetings are individually arranged by students with their tutors. Open to all students by permission of the instructor. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Ms. Stubbs, Department of English

Extradepartmental

The following section includes several separate courses of interest to students in various disciplines.

 Course may be elected to fulfill in part the distribution requirement in Group A

 Course may be elected to fulfill in part the distribution requirement in Group B

* Course may be elected to fulfill in part the distribution requirement in Group C

112 (2) * Evolution: Change Through Time
Study of the concepts of evolution in the physical and biological world and their impact on man's view of himself, his place in nature, and his expectations for future change. Evidence for origins and change in the universe, the earth, and life forms. Consideration of the historical development of evolutionary concepts will provide the opportunity to examine the manner in which scientific concepts are formulated, revised, and restated; what it means to be “objective” in science; and the degree to which preconceived ideas affect what we observe, record, and accept in science. Two periods for lecture and a two-period demonstration section. Meets the Group C distribution requirement as a nonlaboratory unit but does not count toward the minimum major in any Group C department. Open to all students.

Ms. Widmayer

121 (2) Into the Ocean World: Marine Studies Seminar
An introduction to the many disciplines that touch on the sea; the marine sciences, maritime history, marine politics and economics, marine art and literature. Team-taught by specialists in these areas, the course is designed to highlight the sea's complexity and the far-reaching consequences of our interactions with it. Offered by the Massachusetts Bay Marine Studies Consortium. No prerequisites. Open to two students by permission of the Consortium representative.
123 (2) Water: Planning for the Future
An interdisciplinary introduction to our most precious resource. Because of increasing demand, waste and pollution, we are depleting—and risk destroying—the limited supply of usable fresh water. This course will look at water through scientific, historical and cultural viewpoints and will survey contemporary water problems in all their dimensions—political, economic and technological. Offered by the Massachusetts Bay Marine Studies Consortium. No prerequisites. Open to two students by permission of the Consortium representative.

124 (2) Marine Mammals: Biology and Conservation
An introduction to the biology and natural history of marine mammals, with particular emphasis on whales, dolphins and seals of the western North Atlantic. Topics include evolution, anatomy, behavior, field identification, the history of whaling, and contemporary conservation issues. Offered by the Massachusetts Bay Marine Studies Consortium. Open to two students by permission of the Consortium representative.

216 (1) * Mathematics for the Physical Sciences
Mathematical preparation for advanced physical science courses. Topics include advanced integration techniques, complex numbers, vectors and tensors, vector calculus, ordinary differential equations, Fourier series and transforms, partial differential equations and special functions (Legendre, Laguerre, and Hermite polynomials, Bessel functions), matrices, operators, linear algebra, and approximation techniques. Prerequisite: Mathematics 116 or 120, and Physics 104, 105, or 109 [II].
Ms. Fourguette

222 (2) Latin American Studies: Latin American Peasantry
The peasant is at the crux of Latin American history, culture, politics, and literature. As food producer, transmitter of tradition and repository/source of oral literature, the peasant is an essential sector of contemporary Latin American society. Making important distinctions among peasantries throughout Central and South America, we shall examine peasant ideology within national boundaries. Topics: ecology and hunger, life cycle, the family and childhood, sex archetypes, world view and values, religion, government policy, revolutionary movements. Open to students who have had one course in either Political Science, Spanish or Anthropology.
Ms. Roses, Ms. Wasserspring, Ms. Bamburger

223 (1)* Women in Science
An inquiry into the emergence of modern science, the role that women have played in its development, and the biographies of some prominent women scientists. Consideration will be given to literature on sex differences in scientific ability, the role of gender in science, and the feminist critique of science. Not offered in 1987-88.
Mrs. Chaplin

225 (2) The Muses and the King: Art, History, and Music in the Age of Louis XIV
France in the reign of Louis XIV witnessed the rise of a new form of monarchy, “Government by Spectacle,” which relied to an extraordinary degree upon music and the arts to provide support for the political theology that furnished its ideological foundations. This course will focus upon the relationship between political, social, musical, and artistic developments during this period: royal absolutism, the creation of Versailles, French opera, and public pageant as an art form; the domestication of the warrior nobility, Parisian salons, chamber music, the “decorative arts,” painting, and sculpture; the Counter-Reformation, religious art, and the music of the chapels. Concerts of French Baroque music and a visit to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts will be included. Open to students who have had one unit of work in art, French literature, history, or music.
Mr. Cox, Mrs. DeLorme, Mr. Jander

231 (2) Classic American Sound Film
Close analysis of representative examples of some classic American film genres in the period from the invention of sound at the end of the 20s to the decline of the studio system in the 50s—such genres as romantic and screwball comedy, the western, film noir, the musical, the ironic weeper—followed by a brief survey of the career of one of the more individual directors, such as Preston Sturges or Orson Welles. Some attention to the studio system as an artistic and commercial institution. Several short written assignments and a longer final paper. Frequent screenings of the films under discussion; students are required to see each film at least twice. Open to all students.

Mr. Garis

234 (1) Writers Under Censorship: Literature, the State and Human Rights in Latin America
A remarkable literary renaissance has flourished in Latin America during the past twenty-five years, in the face of social and political turmoil. This course will analyze the social, political and historical background in which those works were produced under authoritarian rule. The role of the writer under state-imposed censorship and self-censorship will be among the topics examined.

Ms. Agosin, Ms. Wasserspring

259 (1) Peace and Conflict Resolution
An examination of various issues dealing with the maintenance of peace and with the resolution of conflicts. Among the topics covered will be the nature of aggression, the concept of a just war, problems caused by nuclear weapons, political aspects of peace-making, and racial and ethnic conflicts. At least half of the course will be led by guest lecturers considered experts in their respective fields. Open to all students.

Mrs. Shimony

314 (2) Pragmatic Faith
The philosophy of William James as it supports and enables religious faith. Emphasis on "foundationlessness"—a faith that springs from desire or will and seeks no foundation in revelation, reason or tradition. Course to be taught in an interdisciplinary way, moving from psychology through philosophy and literature to some of the contemporary thinkers inspired by James.

Mr. Gold, Mr. Johnson

330 (2) Witness for the Persecuted: Women Writers Today
This course will study representative works of contemporary women writers that have explored through their literature the violation of human rights and the struggle for change. Authors from several different countries such as Chile, South Africa, East Germany, and the Soviet Union will be examined. Prerequisite: a grade II level course in literature or permission of the instructor.

Ms. Agosin

334 (2)*  Seminar, The Autobiographical Impulse in Writing and Photography
An interdisciplinary study of the human desire to reveal, explore, and record the individual's self-body, and world. Attention will be given to the sources of this desire, the cultural factors that resist or shape it, the various languages and forms it adopts, and the personal and political uses to which it is put. Among the artists and thinkers studied are: Barthes, Ingmar Bergman, Freud, Anais Nin, Proust, Rousseau, Lucas Samaras, and selected photographers. Students will be required to complete a short autobiographical project. Open to juniors and seniors by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1987-88.

Mr. Stambolian

Cross-Listed Courses

Anthropology 308 (1)
Seminar for Materials Research in Archaeology and Ethnology. For description and prerequisite see Anthropology 308.

Spanish 228 (2)*
Latin American Literature; Fantasy and Revolution. Not offered in 1987-88.

Extradepartmental 247
Experimental Courses

According to College legislation, the student-faculty Committee on Educational Research and Development has the authority to recommend experimental courses and programs to Academic Council. Faculty members and students are invited to submit their ideas to the Committee. An experimental program in Technology Studies is described on p. 231. In addition, for 1987-88 the following experimental course will be offered:

325 (2) Seminar. The Art and Politics of the Nude
An interdisciplinary study of the nude in Western culture as an expression of contending myths and ideologies with emphasis on its relation to contemporary social and artistic values. Painting, photography, popular imagery, and films will be examined in conjunction with a broad range of literary, psychological, and philosophical texts selected to foster debate and to provide new methods of inquiry and analysis. Open to juniors and seniors by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Stambolian

Literature in Translation

Students should note that a number of foreign language departments offer literature courses in translation. All material and instruction is in English and no knowledge of the foreign language is required for these courses.

Travel Instructions

IF YOU DRIVE

From the West:
Take the Massachusetts Turnpike to the Weston Exit (Exit #14). Then go south on Route 128 for one-half mile to the Route 16 Exit. Follow Route 16 West to the entrance to the College, opposite the golf course (you will drive through the Town of Wellesley).

From the East:
Take the Massachusetts Turnpike to the West Newton Exit (Exit #16). Follow the above directions from Route 16 West.

From the North:
Take Route 128 South to Route 16 West Exit (Exit #22a/22). Follow the above directions from Route 16 West.

From the South:
Take Route 128 North to the Route 16 West Exit (Exit #22). Follow the above directions from Route 16 West.

IF YOU ARRIVE BY PLANE

MBTA (subway). Take the Shuttle Bus (free) at the terminal to the Airport MBTA stop, then take an inbound Blue Line car to Government Center (60¢). Go upstairs and change to a car marked "RIVERSIDE-D" on the Green Line. Get off at Woodland (the second to last stop).

From Woodland you have two options:

1. Take the Marathon Lines bus ($1.50) marked "Framingham Local" (there is regular service from Woodland) and ask the driver to let you off at Wellesley College. The bus will stop in front of Cazenove Hall, a short walk from Green Hall.

2. Take a taxi (approximately $8.50). If necessary, call Wellesley Community Taxi at 235-1600.

Allow about two hours for the trip to the College from the Airport by public transportation. Be sure to have plenty of change! Exact fare is required on bus and subway systems.

Taxi

The taxi cost from Logan Airport is approximately $30.00 including tolls if you call Wellesley Community Taxi at 235-1600 when you arrive. There is a small additional charge when more than three people share a cab. The Community Taxi Service runs from approximately 5:30 a.m. to 11:00 p.m. Other taxis may charge different rates.

IF YOU ARRIVE BY TRAIN

Get off at South Station. Take the Red Line to Park Street (60¢). Change to a car marked "RIVERSIDE-D" on the Green Line and follow the above directions from Woodland to the College.

IF YOU ARRIVE BY BUS

Greyhound, Trailways & Peter Pan
Get off the bus at the RIVERSIDE terminal (a stop prior to Boston). From there, take a taxi to the College (approximately $8.50). If necessary, call for a cab at Wellesley Community Taxi at 235-1600.

All prices quoted are subject to change.
Wellesley College admits students, without regard to race, color, religion, or national origin, to all the rights, privileges, programs, and activities generally accorded or made available to students at the College. The College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, or sexual orientation, in administration of its educational policies, scholarship and loan programs, athletic and other college-administered programs or in its employment policies.

Wellesley College, as an independent, undergraduate educational institution for women, does not discriminate on the basis of sex against its students in the educational programs or activities which it operates, and does not discriminate on the basis of sex in its employment policies, in compliance with Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, nor does the College discriminate on the basis of handicap in violation of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973.
